SALEM, N. J., Aug. 23.—A cyclone passed over this city yesterday afternoon. The damage in this county will amount to many thousand dollars.

Local Sports and Pastimes.

Civic Holiday Sports.

Monday, Sept. 3rd, is declared a public holiday in town, and so far there are no sports arranged for. This would be a good date for the return match between the Peirce and Calico representatives who played ball last civic holiday. It is proposed that the next match be a game of lacrosse, as both sides can muster more players of the national game than of baseball. Let the dry goods men and the druggists work it up and have a game on civic holiday.

The Peterborough baseball club should try to bring an outside club to town on that day. Though the K. of L. picnic will no doubt take a large crowd to Hastings, there will be plenty of people left with nothing to do who would gladly accept any means of amusement. This suggestion is thrown out to the Captain and Secretary free gratis. The Ashley nine of Belleville, Whitby, Port Hope or any other amateur club could no doubt be got.

Willow and Wicket.

A couple of the Seabright cricketing gentlemen who have been at Stony Lake ever since their match here, were in town last night, and in conversation with a local cricketer asked about the result matches here. They expressed surprise that both Hamilton and Toronto had defeated Peterborough, as they considered our club superior to either. This, it seems, is the general opinion of the whole Seabright team. It is strange that all visiting American teams carry away the same impression. The Belmonts easily defeated Peterborough last year and were in turn beaten by Toronto, yet they thought the Peterborough club the better one of the two.

The Colts and Wrighton's Lambs play to-day.

Sporting Notes.

The Ashburnhams are arranging a game of baseball with the Fenelon Falls club.

Sleepy Dan took second place in the 3 minute trot at the Woodbine races at Toronto Wednesday.

A few of the Seabright cricketers and their ladies, who have been at Stony Lake since their match here, came down from the lake last night and went on home this morning.

Bradford defeated Orillia at lacrosse yesterday by two goals to none. The Riversides apparently have their work cut out for them in their match at Bradford next week.

Police Court.

THURSDAY, Aug. 23.

This was a regular field day in Scott Act cases. Five persons, Messrs. Geo. Henry, Geo. Mitchell, T. Giroux, R. N. Roddy and M. Halpin, each pleaded guilty to a first offence and were fined $50 and costs. George Henry almost paralyzed the court by producing a $100 bill on the spot and asking for his change. This is the first instance of such prompt, unsolicited payment on record in the local court. The case against F. J. Daly was enlarged.

HIGHWAY ROBBERY

Free-booters organized in Peterborough. GOUGH BROS, at the insolvent sale to-day of T. L. BAYEUR'S large Boot and Shoe Stock, purchased the entire Stock at 57c. on the Dollar. This is dirt cheap, but it is nothing to what the price of Boots and Shoes will be for the next few weeks. The Biggest Bargains on Earth in Leather. The Stock must be run off at once. GOUGH BROS. don't want the Boots and Shoes; they want the Shop, and will practically give the Stock away. Now is the time to get Bargains—a first-class Stock—must be sold on the spot—regardless of Cost—regardless of everything but Clearing out the Store. Fall and wet weather are coming on; prepare for them by Buying your Boots at fabulous Bargains at BAYEUR'S Old Stand, George Street. GOUGH BROS. have proved themselves the Kings of the Clothing Trade, and now they have pulled on their Boots and are going to Wade in Gore from the Slaughter of this Stock of Boots and Shoes. The fruit season has now come and we must prepare to put up our fruit. Now what kind of jars are we to use? Of course, glass jars; but so many of those we had last year cracked in filling that it makes it very expensive. Oh, I remember how Mrs. Goodwife told me last year she bought her jars at "China Hall," and that she did not break a jar in filling or lose a single can of fruit. I shall buy from China Hall this season. As the price is just the same I might as well have the best.

SUN

LIFE ASSURANCE COMP'Y OF CANADA.

HEAD OFFICE, MONTREAL.

Both in Magnitude and Profitableness, the Business for 1887 has been almost everything that could be desired.

The life policies now in force are 7,128 for $10,873,777.69, on 6741 lives. We have moreover $3,207,600 00 insured under 1,840 accident policies, so that the total current contracts of the Company are 8,969 for $14,081,377.69.

The income for the year shows the very large increase of $122,331.23 over the figures of 1886, the total being $495,831.54. The revenue is now half a million dollars per annum, or as mentioned in the report, over $1,600 for every working day in the year, and even this he believed was but a mere introduction to what it will be in a few years hence. The gains from time to time are well illustrated by the following table:—

Period	Gain in income.	Gain in assets.	Gain in assurances.
1872 to 1876, four years	$ 54,611 21	$169,482 69	$1,149,743 00
1876 to 1880, four years	35,580 67	195,188 29	1,167,386 14
1880 to 1884, four years	136,976 84	363,264 31	2,902,924 90
1884 to 1887, three years	217,451 89	475,697 24	4,029,373 65
Total in 1887	$495,831 54	$1,750,004 48	$10,873,777 69

It is very pleasing to notice that the gains for the last three years only are 60 per cent. more than those of the preceding four years.

TURNBULL'S.

We have made extensive preparations in our Tailoring department for an Immense Fall Trade, and judging from the success of our Spring Trade and the way our numerous customers have been bringing in their friends to have a suit made by Mr. Weir, our Tailor, who is well and favorably known in Peterborough for a neat and perfect fit, we feel confident we will do it. Our Fall purchases of Canadian Tweeds have already arrived, which is much earlier than usual. They are exceptionally good value and are sure to please our customers. The styles of pattern are varied, comprising brown and grey mixed diagonal twills, the old pepper and salt and pin head checks, neat, solid and broken checks; loud stripes are largely shown, but we don't think they will become very popular. Our Scotch and Irish Tweeds, English Pilot Cloths and Beaver Overcoatings, we are expecting an invoice of daily. These Goods we have imported direct to insure our Customers getting the best value and the genuine article for in these days of imitation we want to be able to positively state that the goods are as represented.

During the past season we purchased small lots of Boy's and Youth's Clothing of each of the manufacturers besides our regular lines and carefully compared them as to style, quality of goods, the way they are out to fit the neck, the length of sleeves and the proportion of pants to coat and vest and have placed large orders for the best makes in a variety of styles.

As we cannot keep this notice always before you, all would do well to remember that at Turnbull's you can get a first-class suit made to order, a ready-made suit for a youth or boy, a ready-made overcoat for a man or boy guaranteed at a price that is often paid for a very inferior article that does not wear three months.

AN IMPORTANT CHANGE IN THE MILITIA REGULATIONS.

An Enlisted Man to be Granted His Leave on Request and the Payment of $30 to Cover Value of Clothing and Kit.

OTTAWA, Aug. 23.—New militia regulations have been issued and now if a man enlisted wants his leave he will be permitted to do so on payment of $30. This is supposed to cover the value of clothing and kit issued him for use as a soldier. The object of the change is to enable a man to fill a better position if successful in securing it after enlisting.

It is understood the Royal Military College opens for work on Sept. 1. A batch of cadets, numbering 24, will join that day.

The report of the Loan Companies and Building Societies in Canada, for 1887, has been issued. It opens with a review of the figures of the Canadian Loan and Investment Companies since Confederation. The assets and liabilities in 1867 amounted to $3,233,985; in 1887 they were each over $100,000,000. In 1867 the paid-up capital stock was $2,110,403; last year it was $32,125,000. The blue book gives a detailed statement of the financial affairs of the 63 loan societies in Ontario, the nine in Quebec, one each in Nova Scotia and Manitoba; in all, 74 companies.

Dr. Wm. Loux, of Russell, who recently obtained an appointment in the Inland Revenue Department, is shortly to be transferred to the Parliamentary Library, at a salary of $1100 a year.

RETALIATION WITH A BIG P.

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND SENDS A MESSAGE TO CONGRESS.

The Fisheries Treaty Being Rejected He Recommends Retaliation — Extensive Powers Asked For.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—The President, in connection with the rejection of the fishery treaty by the Senate, sent a long message to Congress yesterday afternoon containing a survey from his point of view of the condition to which the pending question is remitted. The message refers to the various alleged vexations, interferences and annoyances to which American citizens have been subjected while engaged in fishing in Canadian waters, stating that the disagreement as to the meaning of the terms of the treaty of 1818 was the cause of the friction and gave rise to the American Government's negotiations resulting in the rejected treaty which the President believes was well-suited to the exigency and its provisions adequate for security in the future from vexatious questions and for the promotion of friendly intimacy without sacrificing national pride or dignity. The message proceeds:

"The co-operation necessary for the adjustment of the long standing national differences with which we have to deal, by methods of conference and agreement, having thus been declined, I am by no means disposed to abandon the interests and rights of our people in the premises or to neglect their grievance, and therefore turn to the contemplation of a plan of retaliation as a mode which still remains of treating the situation. I am not unmindful of the gravity of the responsibility assumed in adopting this line of conduct, nor do I fail in the least to appreciate its serious consequences. It will be impossible to injure our Canadian neighbors by retaliation without inflicting some damage on ourselves. This results from our proximity, our community of interests and the inevitable commingling of business enterprises which have been developed by mtuual activity.

"Plainly stated thepolicy of national retaliation manifestly embraces the infliction of the greatest harm upon those who have injured with the least possible damage to ourselves. There is also an evident propriety as well as an evident support found in visiting upon the offending party the same measure of treatment of which we complain, and as far as possible within the same lines, and above all things the plan of retaliation if entered upon should be thorough and vigorous.

"These considerations lead me to invoke the aid and counsel of Congress and its support in such a further grant of power as seems to me necessary and desirable to render effective the policy I have indicated.

"Congress has passed a law which received Executive assent on the third day of March, 1887, providing that in case American fishing vessels being or visiting in the waters or at any of the ports of British North America should be, or lately have been, deprived of the rights which they are entitled to by treaty or law, or if they were denied of other privileges therein specified and harassed in the enjoyment of the same, the President might deny to masters and crews of the British Dominions of North America any entrance into the waters, ports or harbors of the United States and also deny entry into any port or place of the United States of any product of said Dominion or other goods coming from said Dominion to the United States.

"While I shall not hesitate upon proper occasion to execute this act, it would seem to be unnecessary to suggest that if such enforcement is limited in such a manner as shall result in the least possibly injury to our own people the effect would probably be entirely inadequate to the accomplishment of the purpose desired. I deem it my duty, therefore, to call the attention of Congress to certain particulars in the acts of the authorities of the Dominion of Canada, in addition to the general allegations already made, which appear to be in such marked contrast to the liberal and friendly disposition of our country as in my opinion to call for such legislation as will upon the principles already stated properly supplement the power to inaugurate relations already vested in the Executive."

The message then refers to the provisions of Article XXIX of the treaty of Washington providing for the transit in bond through the territory of the United States of merchandise destined for the Dominion of Canada, and the reciprocal privilege extended to goods arriving at any of the ports of the Dominion destined for the United States, and continues:

"In the year 1886 notice was received by the representatives of our Government that our fishermen would no longer be allowed to ship their fish in bond and free of duty through Canada to this country, and ever since that time such shipment has been denied. The privilege of such shipment which had been extended to our fishermen was most important, allowing them to spend the time upon the fishing grounds and doubling their opportunity for profitably prosecuting their vocation. In forbidding the transit of the catch of our fishermen over their territory in bond free of duty, the Canadian authorities deprived us of the only facility dependent upon their concession, and for which we could supply no substitute.

"During the last six years the imports and exports of the British Canadian provinces carried across our territory under the privileges granted by our laws amounted in value to about $1,070,000,000, nearly all of which were goods dutiable under our tariff laws, by far the larger part of this traffic consisting of exchanges of goods between Great Britain and her American provinces, brought to and carried from our ports in their own vessels. The treaty stipulation entered into by our Government was in harmony with laws which were then on our statute books and are still in force.

"I recommend immediate legislative action conferring upon the Executive the power to suspend by proclamation the operation of all laws and regulations permitting the transit of goods, wares, and merchandise in bond across or over the territory of the United States to or from Canada."

A long argument follows in the attempt to prove that there need be no hesitation in suspending the laws permitting transit in bond, arising from the supposition that their continuation is secured by treaty obligations, the President's contention being that the "term of years" mentioned in Article XXXIII and referred to in Article XXIX, as the limit of its duration, means the period during which Articles XVIII to XXV inclusive and Article XXX, commonly called the "Fishery Articles," should continue in force under the language of said Article XXXIII and therefore that Article XXIX terminated with the proceedings taken by the American Government in 1883 to terminate Articles XVIII to XXV inclusive and Article XXX. The President then says:

"The history of events connected with the subject makes it manifest that Canada can, if so disposed, administer its laws and protect the interests of its people without the manifestation of unfriendliness and without unneighborly treatment of our fishing vessels, and whatever is done on our part should be done in the hope that the disposition of the Canadian Government may remove the occasion of a resort to executive power. I am satisfied upon the principles which should govern retaliation our intercourse and relations with the Dominion furnish as better application than is suggested by the conditions herein presented, and that it could not be more effectively inaugurated than under the power of the suspension recommended."

The message next refers to Article XXVII of the treaty of Washington by which provision was made to secure to the citizens of the United States the use of the Welland, St. Lawrence and other canals in the Dominion of Canada on terms of equality with the inhabitants of Canada and to also secure to the subjects of Great Britain the use of the St. Clair Flats Canal on terms of equality with the inhabitants of the United States and continues:

"All our citizens, producers and consumers as well as vessel owners, were to enjoy the equality promised, and yet evidence has for some time been before the Congress, furnished by the Secretary of the Treasury, showing that while the tolls charged in the first instance are the same, all such vessels and cargoes as are destined to Canadian ports are allowed a refund of nearly the entire tolls, while those bound for American ports are not allowed any such advantage. To promise equality and then in practice make it conditional upon our vessels doing Canadian business instead of their own, is to fulfil a promise with the shadow of a performance.

"I recommend that such legislative action be taken as will give Canadian vessels navigating our canals and their cargoes precisely the advantages granted to our vessels and cargoes on Canadian canals and the same be measured by the same rule of discrimination.

"The course which I have outlined and the recommendations made relate to the honor and dignity of our country and the protection and preservation of the rights and interests of our people. A government does but half to duty when it protects its citizens and permits them to be imposed upon by the unfair and over-reaching disposition of other countries. If we invite our people to rely upon arrangements made for their benefit abroad we should see to it that they are not deceived and if we are generous and liberal to a neighboring country our people should reap the advantage of it by a return of liberality. Let us survey the ground calmly and, having put aside other means of settlement, if we enter upon a policy of retaliation let us pursue it firmly with a determination only to subserve the interests of our people and maintain the high standard and becoming pride of American citizenship.

"GROVER CLEVELAND.

"Executive Mansion, Aug. 23, 1888."

THE MESSAGE IN THE HOUSE.

How it was Received—A Retaliation Bill Immediately Offered.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—In the House the Speaker rose and laid before the House the President's message. The reading of the paper was listened to with profound attention. The Speaker referred the document to the Committee on Foreign Affairs, Mr. McCreary of Kentucky securing unanimous consent to report from that committee on the subject at any time.

Mr. Hill of Illinois moved that 15,000 copies be printed. Referred to the Committee on Printing.

Mr. Wilson (Minn.) immediately offered the following bill, which was referred to the Committee on Foreign Affairs:

An act to empower the President more effectually to carry out the purposes of an act entitled "An Act to authorize the President to protect and defend the rights of American fishermen, American trading and other vessels in certain cases, and other purposes," approved March 3, 1887, and to authorize the Presidents to protect American interests against unjust discrimination in the use of canals in the British dominions of North America.

"Be it enacted: That whenever the President may deem it his duty to exercise any of the powers given him by an act entitled An act to protect and defend the rights of American fishing vessels, etc., it shall be lawful for the President, in his discretion, by proclamation to that effect, to suspend in whole or in part the transportation of goods, wares or merchandise imported or exported from any foreign country except Canada in bond across the territory of the United States.

"Section 2. Whenever the President shall be satisfied that there is any discrimination whatever in the use of the Welland Canal, the St. Lawrence River Canals, or either of them, either by tolls, drawbacks or otherwise which is or may be detrimental to the interests of the United States or its citizens, it shall be lawful for the President to issue a proclamation to that effect, whereupon there shall be collected a toll of 20 cents per ton upon every foreign vessel and her cargo passing through the Sault Ste. Marie Canal, and the Secretary of the Treasury may authorize and direct any of the customs officers to collect the tolls. The President, when satisfied that such discrimination has ceased, may issue his proclamation to that effect in his discretion, whereupon the tolls authorized by this act shall no longer be collected.

"Section 3. The Secretary of the Treasury is authorized to make any regulations needful, to carry this act into effect."

The tellers then resumed their places but no quorum appearing, the committee rose and the House at 5 o'clock adjourned.

The Senate Wouldn't Wait.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—In the Senate Mr. Edmunds moved an adjournment.

Mr. Morgan suggested that the President intended to send an important message to the Senate.

The Presiding Officer: "The message has already been received."

Mr. Morgan: "I hope it will be submitted to the Senate before adjournment."

Mr. Edmunds: "The message can wait."

Mr. Morgan: "I ask for the yeas and nays on the motion to adjourn."

The motion was agreed to, yeas 28, nays 20, a strict party vote.

So the Senate at 4.15 adjourned till to-day.

The Queen's Glasgow Visit—The Parnell-Times Case.

GLASGOW, Aug. 23.—The Queen in a landau, accompanied by the Grand Duke of Hesse and his daughter, Princess Alice, yesterday opened the new municipal buildings and afterwards visited the Exhibition. In replying to the addresses presented to her, she expressed much pleasure at her visit to Glasgow. The city was illuminated in the evening.

Parnell v. The Times.

LONDON, Aug. 23.—Scotch lawyers report that it will be easy to delay the trial of Mr. Parnell's action against The Times until after the commission of enquiry has made its report, which it is expected will be submitted to Parliament in the early part of the season of 1889.

THE DISASTER EPIDEMIC.

TERRIBLE BOILER EXPLOSION AT MENASHA-NEENAH, WIS.

Eighteen Persons Killed Outright—Seven Fatally Injured and a Number of Others Expected to Die.

NEENAH, Wis., Aug. 23.—At 11.20 last evening the large paper mill owned by Geo. Whiting, situated on the island between this city and Menasha, was destroyed by fire. While the burning structure was surrounded by a crowd of spectators the battery of boilers exploded. The roof and the walls were thrown outward, sending a shower of bricks and timbers among the spectators. Eighteen persons were killed, seven fatally injured and a number less severely hurt, several of whom will die. The mill was a three-story structure, built four years ago at a cost of $100,000, and was operated day and night.

A corrected list of the dead is as follows: Gilbert Mericle, leaves a wife and five small children. Louis Resch, leaves a wife and three children. Jacob Vetter, leaves a wife and three children. John Hoffman, leaves a wife and three children. H. Kneike, leaves a wife and three children. M. Muntfer, leaves a wife and six children. John Moore, single. F. Sandover, leaves a wife and one child. John Weaver, leaves a wife and four children. All the above were employes of a cooper shop. Wm. Bubaine, jr., F. Schiffer, J. Neil, Jos. Bragg, L. Breaggan, S. Liebhauser, all single men.

Those badly injured and who may probably die are; M. Fisher, Carl Schiffer, Thomas Jourdain, August Heckner, John Schmitzer, Michael Zemolecki, F. Helback.

A number of men, women and boys were also injured by being hit by missiles from the explosion but none except those whose names are mentioned are seriously wounded. All of the killed will be buried at the city's expense, as they are all in poor circumstances and some of the families of the killed are destitute. Mayor Lawson has appointed a committee to solicit aid for the families of the killed. Every factory in the city is closed and will remain so until after the funerals. Flags are at half mast on all the public buildings.

Killed While Compounding Colored Fire.

BRADFORD, Pa., Aug. 23.—During a celebration last night in honor of Gov. Beaver and the Northwestern Pennsylvania G. A. R. Association, while Edward Duell, of the Manufacturers' Gas Company, was compounding colored fire in a gas pipe, it exploded and killed him instantly. Robert Hurley, who was sitting on a plasm near him, and W. H. Curtis, who was on the other side of the street, were also killed. Half a dozen other persons were badly hurt.

A Wreck on the Pennsylvania.

ASBURY PARK, N.J., Aug. 23.—A passenger train on the Pennsylvania railroad this morning ran into and totally wrecked a freight train near here. The passenger engine was wrecked. None of the passengers were killed, but several were bruised.

Drowned by Their Boat Upsetting.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Aug. 23.—Rev. E. B. C. Commins, a Presbyterian minister, and Edward C. Orth, a civil engineer, members of the American Canoe Association, were drowned on Tuesday in the Conemaugh River by the upsetting of their boat.

Another Drowning Accident.

MONTREAL, Aug. 23.—Word was received here to-day of the drowning of two young Montrealers at Knowlton Landing on Lake Memphremagog yesterday. They were Miss Ella Archibald, daughter of Mr. Archibald, baker of this city, and W. Hilton. The young people, who were engaged to be married, were out in a canoe in which a sail was hoisted, when some other parties noticed it capsize, and although help was at once sent, they could not be found. The bodies have not yet been recovered.

Accident on the Grand Trunk.

PORT HURON, Mich., Aug. 23.—Last night as freight engine No. 116, on the Grand Trunk Railway, was being switched at the yard it was accidentally pushed off into Black River. The bridge was turned at the time. The engineer and fireman saw the danger and jumped off. The engine now lies at the bottom of the river, with the cab and tender all right, but the bridge cannot be turned until the obstruction is removed, and trains accordingly, will be obliged to go round the city.

A Fatal Cave-in.

MONTREAL, Aug. 23.—While Richard Rushley was making a joint in the St. Catherine-street drain to night the earth caved in and he and a laborer named James O'Neill where buried under 2 feet of earth. They were rescued as soon as possible. O'Neill is slightly injured but Rushly died while being removed to the hospital.

Serious Accident at Guelph.

GUELPH, Aug. 23.—While Mr. James Philpotts was engaged in moving a load of furniture this afternoon his team became frightened and ran away. In his endeavor to hold them he was drawn off the load on to the horses, the wagon passing over him. His skull was laid bare for five inches and he sustained some severe bruises. His condition is critical.

Accident to a Bicycler.

YORK STATION, Ont., Aug. 24.—Between 7 and 8 o'clock last evening, Charles Doherty, of Toronto, was found lying unconscious beside his bicycle on the highway near Norway, he evidently having struck, while going at a good speed, a stone which in the twilight is hard to be seen. Dr. Britton was at once called, and on examination found that the young man had sustained fractures of the skull and right arm. Although great efforts have been made to restore him to consciousness, they have so far been unsuccessful and it is feared the injuries will prove fatal. It is thought that he must have been on the road for nearly an hour before being discovered. A conveyance is being got ready now to remove the patient to the city.

THE RESULT IN HALTON.

The result of the by-election in Halton on Wednesday, is very gratifying to Liberals. A constituency which no later than the seventh of last February returned by the large majority of 151, a supporter of Sir John Macdonald's policy and administration on August 22nd, returns an opponent of Sir John Macdonald's policy and administration by a small, but sufficient, majority of 27. That there is great significance in this result cannot be denied. The candidates were the same persons; there is nothing in that to account for the result, the riding and the electorate were the same and to a certain extent the issues were the same. At the recent election the policy of enlarged and unrestricted trade measures with the neighboring republic, was a squarely defined issue. Not only did the Liberal candidate advance that as a cardinal article of his political creed, a main plank in his political platform, but the Conservative party accepted that as the issue. No later than the day preceding their polling, the Ottawa Citizen admits that Commercial Union was an issue of the contest. The minor organs and politicans may hold out strongly for the policy of trade isolation, but the powers that control their voice and action are not so gravely opposed to unrestricted reciprocity. Sir John has publicly advocated the principle involved in it and Sir Charles Tupper was instructed to make an offer of unrestricted reciprocity to the United States; therefore it is not surprising that the rank and file of the party saw fit to favour the adoption of a rational trade policy which they see must be for their benefit and for the benefit of the country. That a few Conservatives did break away from party ties is not surprising, neither is it surprising that more did not do so. Though convinced of the wisdom of supporting a policy of enlarged trade intercourse, they had, perhaps, reason to indulge the hope that the party to which they were and had been allied might give them what they so much desired. Sir John is not so inexpert or inexperienced in political gymnastics that he is to be thought incapable of performing the flop-over which the adoption of Unrestricted Reciprocity as opposed to mutilated trade would imply. However, a change of over 175 votes within less than six months, is certainly a matter of some little significance.

THERE are now eight national parties in the United States, each of which has put up candidates for the United States Presidency; but the real battle will be between Cleveland and Harrison—or Blaine.

BRITISH foreign trade is looking up. The imports for last month amounted to £30,706,000, an increase of £1,749,000, or about 6 per cent., and the exports to £20,762,000, an increase of £1,581,000, or about 8½ per cent.

MUCH pleasure is expressed in Birmingham that Mr. Gladstone and the chief of his colleagues in Parliament have accepted the invitation of the National Liberal Federation to visit that town upon the occasion of the annual gathering in October next. The Liberal leader will be accompanied by Sir William Harcourt and Mr. John Morley, as well as, most probably, by Mr. Childers, Mr. Shaw Lefevre and Sir George Trevelyan; and it is not unlikely that either Lord Rosebery or Lord Spencer will be of the party. No stone, it may be depended, will be left unturned to give eclat to the gathering.

VANCOUVER, British Columbia, is a pushing town A few months ago it was almost totally erased from the map by fire, only one house having been left standing. But such was the recuperative energy and enterprise of the citizens that it has been more handsomely rebuilt than ever and now contains several thousand inhabitants. Another mark of its thrift and progressiveness, is the announcement by Messrs. McLagan & Co. of the issue in September, of a daily four-page journal to be called the "Vancouver Daily World." The prospectus sets forth an ambitious programme for the new publication, which we trust will be a most gratifying success in every sense. The prospectus does not announce the political standing of the new journal. Such an announcement gives gratifying indications of the immense progress of the Dominion. The prospectus of a daily newspaper coming from a place which was, a few months ago, one might say, a bowling wilderness, the home of the wandering Indian or the gaunt grizzly, shows that all these things have given place to the highest type of civilization and human progress. The new world of the west is reaching forth to the older world of the east and will, at the present rate of advancement, in a few years, give midway greeting in the heart of the Canadian continent. Our territories are illimitable, our resources inexhaustible, our progress certain—and the dreamy hopes of a few years since, of a mighty cis-Atlantic Britain, are realities, as sure as the rising of the sun.

SULTRY WINNIPEG.

Not Only the Material but the Political Atmosphere Very Hot.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 22.—Larkin of The Free Press charges the Government in an open letter with concocting the rumor that the Northern Pacific deal was off to arouse public apprehension and secure a recall in favor of the agreement, and so arranged it that if the lie failed to effect its object, the responsibility would fall upon The Free Press.

He intimates that the Government had him shadowed in St. Paul when he was handed a telegram to send to The Free Press that the deal was off, and when that failed a member of the Government told The Free Press reporter the same story.

It is believed an understanding has been arrived at between the Government and the Northern Pacific, which will enable the latter to go on with the work immediately.

The weather is sultry; 94o in the shade.

A Remarkable Spring at Sundridge.

SUNDRIDGE, Aug. 23.—Dr. Toole, in sinking a shaft for water, when down about 50 feet, struck a spring. The water is forced to the surface of the ground, carrying with it sand in such quantities that his house, which is in course of erection, and also the Orange Hall close by, are in danger of being undermined. It is estimated there has been sufficient sand thrown out in 24 hours to cover half an acre, 3 inches in depth. All efforts to stop the flow of water have been futile.

The Forth Bridge.

LONDON, Aug. 23.—The directors of the great Forth Bridge met in Edinburgh yesterday and announced that the bridge would be completed sufficiently for railroad purposes by October next. New stock amounting to $1,750,000 was ordered and issued, and a new loan of $750,000 contracted.

Uncles and Aunts, a comedy by W. Lestocq and Walter Everard, was produced a the Comedy Theatre last night. The piece is of no value, having no motive sufficient to build a play on, and being barren of incidents or characterizations. The only valuable feature was the part of Zedekiah Aspen, a superannuated beau, played by Penley, the creator of the part of the Private Secretary. His make-up was funny to grotesqueness and his acting as telling as usual. Though he made a hit, the piece is so weak that it cannot live long.

Port Hope's New Industry.

PORT HOPE, Aug. 23.—Mr. A. W. Morris of the firm of A. W. Morris & Bro. of Montreal with their western traveller have been here all day and arrangements are now complete whereby this firm are to establish a twine factory here employing 100 hands. The works will be located at the Queen's Wharf and preparations will be begun to put the premises in order next week. They are expected to be ready and in full operation by Dec. 1 next.

No Natural Gas Struck at Whitby as Yet.

WHITBY, Aug. 23.—It is officially announced that the despatches from here respecting the finding of natural gas are inaccurate in several particulars. The finding of the gas as reported is untrue. The boring of the test well is being continued and the indications thus far are considered good. While boring in the shale small veins or pockets containing gas have been struck, but this is merely surface gas, usually to be met with in the Utica formation.

A Quebec Political Rumor.

QUEBEC, Aug. 23.—The latest political rumor is that Premier Mercier is to become President of the Executive Council, under the law passed last session providing for the appointment of a President of the Council of Ministers, and that Charles Langelier will enter the Cabinet. The latter portion is not generally credited.

Still Missing.

HAMILTON, Aug. 23.—Conductor Gibson spent the whole of yesterday searching for his lost boy in the neighborhood of Grimsby. There is no doubt the lad was at the park, but is not there now. It is said that he was seen the other day at Niagara Falls, Ont. Gibson is 10 years of age. He had no reason to go away from home, and it is thought he would send word concerning his whereabouts if his mind was all right.

A Strike at St. Catharines.

ST. CATHARINES, Aug. 23.—Thirty-four out of the thirty-six employes of the Woodburn-Sarven Wheel Co. in this city went out on strike this morning against a reduction in wages ranging from 20 to 75 cents per day on a full day's pay. The men have the endorsement of the Executive Board of the District Assembly Knights of Labor and unless a settlement is effected soon the struggle promises to be a protracted one.

A Cheese Factory Burned.

NORWICH, Aug. 23.—William Morris' cheese factory, South Norwich, was burned down yesterday noon. The building and contents, together with 220 cheese, were destroyed. Loss $2500; insured in the Gore Mutual.

TORONTO TOPICS.

The Inspectors' Convention—A Missing Clerk—A Club Scandal.

TORONTO, Aug. 24.—Minister Ross again presided at the Convention of School Inspectors yesterday morning. A motion that the inspection of schools be so arranged as to be brought within the limit of the year was voted down. The teachers' reading course was a fruitful topic of discussion. The deficiency of many teachers in reading and literature was deplored, and many suggestions offered in order to bring up their average reading ability and general literary knowledge. Special examinations, however, were not favored. The discussion of entrance examinations elicited a variety of opinion, but of the seventy gentlemen present only five voted for the yearly examination, the remainder inclining to the semi-annual. The question, should third class certificates be limited to the county or continue provincial? showed that a majority favored the limitation, but the school law will not be opened for the amendment for probably two years. In the matter of the inspectors' relation to model schools, it was unanimously voted that these schools are of inestimable value to the cause of public school education. Inspectors' relation to teachers' institutes brought out strong evidence of their sympathy with them. The convention adjourned sine die at 1 o'clock.

The report of the Bureau of Industries shows an increase in the acreage of barley in Ontario of about 130,000 acres, and in yield an increase of nearly 4,000,000 bushels. While many in the trade dispute the correctness of these figures, there appears to be a pretty general opinion that the crop is somewhat larger than in 1887, and that although some of the barley is somewhat discolored, the general quality is decidedly superior to last year.

Alex. Hamilton, employed as clerk in the warehouse of Livingstone, Johnston & Co., has been missing from his home since Aug. 15. It is feared that he has met with an accident. He was known as an abstainer, and it is believed that he was not indebted to any one. He was married, and 31 years of age.

It is said that $400 are missing from the funds of the Turn-Verein, a German society of this city.

The Governor-General will arrive in Toronto by the Canadian Pacific Railway from Ottawa at 8 o'clock on Sept. 10.

To Cure a Corn.

There is no lack of so-called cures for the common ailment known as corns. The vegetable, animal, and mineral kingdoms have been ransacked for cures. It is a simple matter to remove corns without pain, for if you will go to any druggist or medicine dealer and buy a bottle of Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor and apply it as directed the thing is done. Get "Putnam's," and no other. 6m34

Certain Cure.

A cure for Cholera Morbus. A positive cure for this dangerous complaint, and for all acute or chronic forms of bowel complaint incident to summer and fall is found in Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, to be procured from any druggist or medicine dealer. 2w31d

Made on Purpose.

We are taught that everything is made to fill some purpose. The reason Burdock Blood Bitters has succeeded in being placed in the front rank of modern medicines is that it fills so well the purpose for which it was intended—that of curing diseases of the stomach, liver and blood. 2w31d

Really Understood.

The causes of summer complaint, diarrhœa, dysentery, cholera morbus, etc., are the excessive heat, eating green fruit, impure water, over exertion and sudden chill. Dr. Fowler's Wild Strawberry is an infallible and prompt remedy for all bowel complaints from whatever cause. 2w31d

A Correct Statement

is made by Miss Jane Rutherford, of Nelles Corners, Ont., who writes—"I have used your Burdock Blood Bitters for Dyspepsia and find it to be the best remedy I ever tried." B.B.B. is sold by all dealers at one dollar per bottle. 2w31d

TO THE DEAF.—A Person cured of Deafness and noises in the head of 23 years' standing by a simple remedy, will send a description of it FREE to any Person who applies to N. CHOLSON, 30 St. John Street, Montreal. dw1y

The Growth of the Hair

Should always be watched. Inattention to the hair often leads to premature grayness and baldness. When dandruff appears it should be looked after at once. By frequently using a little of Dr. Dorenwend's Great German Hair Magic, the scalp will be kept in a clean healthy condition and the strength and vigor of the hair greatly promoted. It is the only reliable. Do not be talked into using anything else. For sale by all druggists everywhere. dw

Piles! Piles! Itching Piles.

SYMPTOMS—Moisture, intense itching and stinging, most at night, worse by scratching. If allowed to continue tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate, becoming very sore. SWAYNE'S OINTMENT stops the itching and bleeding, heals ulceration, and in most cases removes the tumors. At druggists, or by mail, for 50 cents. Dr. Swayne & Son, Philadelphia. Lyman, Sons & Co., Montreal, Wholesale Agents. dw

On An Average.

It is said that during the lifetime of the average man he will endure about 500 days sickness. The best way to reduce your average is to use Burdock Blood Bitters whenever the system requires a tonic regulating and cleansing medicine. 2w31d

More C. P. R. Cars.

Two first class coaches came up last night from Crossen's Car Works to be run on the main line of the C.P. Railway. They are built in the best style with all modern improvements, upholstered in blue plush, fitted up with chairs, lavatory and a smoking compartment at each end of the car, also fitted with chairs covered with morocco leather, etc. They go forward this afternoon.

The Stationing Committees.

The Laymen of the Methodist Church Pronounce their Opinion.

A meeting of the laymen of the Methodist Church was held at Hamilton on Thursday and the following resolutions introduced:—

Moved by Mr. Thos. Hilliard, seconded by C. A. Birge, That this convention recognizes the right of Quarterly Boards to invite and ministers to accept invitations, subject always to the Stationing Committee and the Conference. Carried.

Moved by Dr. Lowry, seconded by Wm. Wilkinson, That while insisting on the right of our official board to invite ministers, we think that the custom of inviting at the end of the first or second year should be discouraged. Carried.

Moved by J. E. Carson, seconded by Jas. Lister, That this convention recognizes the true spirit of the Methodist Church to be democratic, and that we recommend that it be a recognized right of Quarterly Boards to protest against the appointment of a minister to a circuit when in the opinion of a majority of the board such an appointment be considered injudicious; and that we recommend further that such protests receive proper and just consideration from the Stationing Committee. Carried.

Moved by Thomas Hilliard, seconded by A. B. Powell, That Quarterly Boards as well as ministers be accorded by representatives the right of personal appearance before the Stationing Committee in regard to their own case. Carried.

Moved by John George, seconded by A. W. Smith, That in the opinion of this convention the laymen should have equal representation on the Stationing Committee and all the courts of the church. Carried.

Closing Days.

The sale of A. McNeil's bankrupt stock, which has been going on for the past two weeks, closes on Saturday. In order to make stock as low as possible, goods will be sold at prices that will astonish buyers. Don't miss this last opportunity to buy tweeds, underwear and gents' furnishings at prices away below wholesale cost. 3d44

Something Worth Knowing.

Buy 4 large boxes of good matches for 25 cents, at W. J. Morrow's. He continues to sell all goods cheap. Preserving sugar very cheap, 18 pound for $1.00. As I am now receiving my new importations of tea all my old lines must be sacrificed. dw

What The People Say.

Peterborough can boast of fine stores. H. S. Griffin & Co. have a model place of business, bright and cheerful and their Stock is well kept. They keep Goods as different to anything we see in other places. We can always depend on getting stylish goods there. Have you seen their Dress Goods? They keep lovely goods, and this coming Fall their stock will be better than ever. We deal there, and intend bringing our friends.

Electric Gate.

Belleville is striving hard to increase the efficiency of its fire system. The water works company have received an electric gate to be located under the stand-pipe. In case of a fire alarm, the engineer at the pump house will touch a button, when the electric battery will close the gate to the water tank, and the pressure of the pumps will be on the main pipes. A number of water meters are also being placed in factories and stores. The number of private consumers is now 235.

Charlotte Street Church.

A meeting of the official board of the Charlotte street Methodist Church was held Wednesday night, at which the salary of the pastor was fixed at $1,200. The envelope system has been abandoned or rather merged into the pew rent payments; that is, each contributor by envelope has the amount of his donations added to his pew rent instead. This system will be followed out hereafter. The board considered also the question of a parsonage for the church, but this matter was left in abeyance till the next meeting a week later.

A Budding Millionaire.

The Norwood Register says:—The workmen engaged in digging a well on Rev. Father Conway's property, Peterboro' street, made yesterday, what may perhaps turn out to be an important discovery. At a depth of 25 feet a stratum of rock was discovered, sections of which show gold in considerable quantities. As yet it would be premature to speak too hopefully of the find or of Father Conway as a prospective millionaire, but at all events there are good indications and an assay of the specimens in hand will be made at once. We hope, in the near future, to be able to congratulate Father Conway on his accession to the proprietorship of an inexhaustible gold mine.

Shorter Hours for Clerks.

At the last meeting of the local Assembly of the Knights of Labor there was a spirited discussion regarding the working hours of clerks. The generally expressed opinion was that the hours were too long and the employees in stores should be given more time for recreation. The following resolution was passed unanimously and copies of it ordered to be forwarded to the different clergymen in town for their approval:—"Resolved by this Assembly, that the hours of labor performed by the dry goods and other clerks are too long, and we would suggest to the merchants in general the propriety of closing every night, except Saturday at seven o'clock, and no later than half past nine on Saturday, and also of paying their employees on Friday, thereby avoiding the necessity of shopping on Saturday night."

A Ratepayer's Complaint.

To the Editor of the Examiner:—

DEAR SIR,—There has appeared the EXAMINER at various times local hints about the sidewalk on Stewart street, between Hunter and Simcoe, and those who have the authority did not head the matter. Those living on that street wishing to reach Hunter street in wet or muddy weather get their feet wet or muddy as the case may be by so doing.

Hoping that this matter may be looked after by the proper persons, so that it may be done before winter sets in, I remain,

Yours, etc.,

Willow and Wicket.

The Colts and Wrighton's Lambs played a match Thursday afternoon, the colts winning easily. The bowling and fielding on either side did not rise above mediocrity, but the Colts seemed to be better at the bat as a rule. A few fine catches were made, noticeably one by Mr. Parker. The fielding in general was bad. Individual mention of the scores is not necessary, the score shown who made the runs. Messrs. Nisbet and Middleton are visitors to town and both fair cricketers, but luck was against them, the former was unfortunately run out before he got a chance at the bat.

It is probable a return match will be played shortly. Appended is the score:—

Lacrosse.

A friendly (?) game of lacrosse was played Thursday afternoon between the Ætnas and Shamrocks, for the junior championship of the town. The first game opened in favor of the Shamrocks who at once made a vigorous attack upon the Ætnas' goal, but the phenomenal playing of Harvey in goal relieved them of the danger. This game lasted about forty-five minutes, and the Shamrocks showed their superior skill by keeping the ball about the Ætnas' goal most of the time, but it was only by clever dodging that McDonough got the ball past the Ætnas' defence and scored the first game for the Shamrocks. The second game was remarkable for the good play exhibited on both sides, the Ætnas trying hard to prevent defeat, while the Shamrocks were doing all in their power to administer the unpleasant dose. McDonough's playing was grand, his brilliant dodging of three men was loudly applauded by the spectators. He was the prettiest player in the field by long odds. The ball would pass up and down the field in rapid succession, till Hickey, of the Ætnas, secured the rubber and threw it on the Shamrocks' flags, and after some lively play, Mayeau passed the ball through the goal, winning the first game for the Ætnas, after fifteen minutes play. This goal was disputed by the Shamrocks, who claimed that the ball did not go within three feet of the goal; but the umpire's word was taken as final. The ball was faced for the third game, and during its progress a fight ensued which—well, the least that is said about it the better, as it was the game was discontinued, and the teams left the field. The players were:—

Ætnas.		Shamrocks.

POINTS.

This match still leaves the championship undecided. It is to be regretted the strong spirit of rivalry between the two teams should have prompted them to the disgraceful exhibition of brutal antagonism that marked the close of the game. Such scenes are only too frequent upon the lacrosse field, and they tend more than anything to kill interest in the game. If lacrosse cannot be played in a gentlemanly manner, better dig ditches for exercise. It is to be hoped when the Shamrocks and Ætnas meet again, as they probably soon will, they will try to restrain their feelings and play lacrosse as becomes young men of honor.

The Shamrocks and Ætnas will likely play another match at Hastings on Monday Sept. 3rd, at the labor demonstration picnic.

The Riversides intend going to Bradford next Wednesday if their subscription list warrants them. The Riversides are in a good position on the intermediate championship list.

The standing of the intermediate championship lacrosse clubs in this district is:—

Sporting Notes.

A meeting of the Y.M.C.A lacrosse club is called for Monday night.

Campbellford cricket club defeated Brighton Thursday, by an innings and 56 runs.

Sleepy Dan was away down on the list in the 2.37 trot at the Woodbine, Thursday.

Mr. John Stirling is in Ottawa to-day seeing the cricket match between the Ottawa team and the Irish Gentlemen.

The secretary of the Peterborough baseball club is in correspondence with Port Hope, Newcastle and Campbellford clubs, for a match here on Monday, Sept. 3rd.

A couple of Seabright, N.Y., ladies on Saturday last captained teams of junior cricketers of the Seabright club. One of the ladies, Mrs. Clark, was with the Seabright team when they visited Peterborough.

The members of the Rifle Association who intend going to Toronto and Ottawa matches put in some good practice this afternoon. The provincial (Toronto) match is Monday and the Dominion at Ottawa a week later.

Baseball.

The Millbrook Reporter says:—"A base ball game will be played on the Agricultural grounds here, on Saturday next—Peterborough vs. Millbrook." The Reporter is mistaken, as no match has been arranged with the club here.

The Havelock correspondent of the Norwood Register writes:—"On Tuesday afternoon, Aug. 21, the Ashburnham baseball team met the west end Havelock team, and after a very exciting game the home team won, the score standing 29 to 19 in favor of Havelock. Well done for the west end!"

The EXAMINER has been furnished with the score of the match, which is somewhat different from the result as published after the match:—

Ashburnham	4	2	2	1	2	7	4	6	2—30
Havelock	0	0	2	0	1	10	6	4	5—28

House Numbering.

The numbering of houses of the town will, it is expected, be completed in a few days. The number of numeral plates painted by Mr. W. S. Cocks, who has charge of the work, is over two thousand, and the highest street number is "1073 Water street."

Cheddar.

A Disastrous Fire.

The EXAMINER is indebted to Rev. Arthur E. Whatham, Church of England missionary at Cheddar, Cardiff township, in the northern part of the West Riding of Peterborough, for the following report of a serious fire in that neighborhood: Between 10 and 11 o'clock on the 11th inst., Mr. and Mrs. George Patterson were awakened by the cat jumping on the bed and scratching fiercely at the bed clothes. Mrs. Patterson awoke first and discovered, to her horror, the whole house in flames. It appears that the poor cat had her kittens in an outhouse adjoining, and it was not until her kittens were burnt to death that the mother rushed on to the bed. The house was completely burnt to the ground, the inmates only escaping with their lives, all clothes, furniture, etc., being destroyed. The neighbors have been exceedingly kind. They have hastily thrown up a shanty and have supplied the family with sundry necessaries, but still the affair is most unfortunate, as the family is very poor and very large.

Personal.

Dr. Lavelle, son of Warden Lavelle of Kingston penitentiary, is in town to-day, the guest of Dr. Clarke.

Master M. H. Minore left town this morning for three weeks' holiday with friends in Ottawa.

Miss Clara Mitchell, of Rowse's Trade Palace, with her mother and brother, left on the C.P.R. to-day for a couple of weeks' holidays at Ottawa and other cities in the east.

Mr. S. A. McMurtry, the popular manager of the Ontario Bank, Lindsay, passed through town last night on his way to Cobourg to join his wife and family, who have been spending the summer there,

Mr. Joseph Craig, of the Inland Revenue Department, Belleville, is in town to day, returning from Salmon Island, Stony Lake, where he and family have been camping for the past three weeks.

The Galt Reformer says:—"We are pleased to learn that Mr. William Scott, of Scott & Hogg, egg dealers, who has been laid up with typhoid fever for the past two or three weeks, is recovering satisfactorily and expects to be about again shortly. Mr. Scott has been in Peterborough all summer attending to the firm's business there, and returned home when threatened with serious illness a few weeks ago.

News Nuggets.

—The band will play at the park to-night.

—Petitions for the repeal of the Scott Act are in circulation in Victoria

—A twine factory is to be started at Port Hope by a Montreal firm, A. W. Morris & Bro.

—Minden cheese factory will send some of its product to the Provincial Fair at Kingston.

The latest question in travelling circles—Do you take the Lake Shore route to Toronto?

—The brick work has been begun on the extension in the rear of the corner store of the Cox block, market square.

—The annual Victoria Road R. C. picnic, under the auspices of Rev. Father McCloskey, will take place on Wednesday, Sept. 5th.

—The 11.30 C.P.R. express to-day was overflowing with excursionists taking advantage of the cheap rates to Montreal and Quebec.

—A child born in Lindsay gaol, without the protection of the marriage tie, was baptized Violet Valena. Naturally it died shortly after.

—Millbrook has her civic holiday on Wednesday next, and the firemen will make an excursion, via Peterborough, to Campbellford on that date.

—Wednesday afternoon the Oddfellows of Cobourg turned out for decoration day and decorated the graves of nineteen deceased brethren.

—Mr. O. C. Rowse's handsome new double residence, corner Charlotte and Rubidge streets is about completed and ready for occupancy.

—At Port Hope when a reporter leaves town a complimentary resolution of regret is passed by the town council to show that he is thought something of. That is the way, at least, they used Mr. Atkinson, who is leaving the Times.

—The Minden Echo says:—The Dickson Company, of Peterborough, lead the van of lumbering operations here this season, a large number of men having arrived on Monday evening in this village, on their way to the lumber shanties in Anson.

—The Minden Echo says:—The ladies and gentlemen from Toronto, Hamilton and Peterborough, at present camped at Sandy Bay, on Gull Lake, held an "At Home" on Wednesday last, when quite a number from the village paid them a visit and were most hospitably received and entertained.

—Every conductor who fails to call "all aboard" in a loud voice, should be soundly repremanded. The genial conductor on the noon C.P.R. express overlooked, doubtless unintentionally, this important precaution, and several travellers came near being left behind to-day.

The fruit season has now come and we must prepare to put up our fruit. Now what kind of jars are we to use? Of course, glass jars; but so many of those we had last year cracked in filling that it makes it very expensive. Oh, I remember how Mrs. Goodwife told me last year she bought her jars at "China Hall," and that she did not break a jar in filling or lose a single can of fruit. I shall buy from China Hall this season. As the price is just the same I might as well have the best.

TURNBULL'S.

We have made extensive preparations in our Tailoring department for an Immense Fall Trade, and judging from the success of our Spring Trade and the way our numerous customers have been bringing in their friends to have a suit made by Mr. Weir, our Tailor, who is well and favorably known in Peterborough for a neat and perfect fit, we feel confident we will do it. Our Fall purchases of Canadian Tweeds have already arrived, which is much earlier than usual. They are exceptionally good value and are sure to please our customers. The styles of pattern are varied, comprising brown and grey mixed diagonal twills, the old pepper and salt and pin head checks, neat, solid and broken checks; loud stripes are largely shown, but we don't think they will become very popular. Our Scotch and Irish Tweeds, English Pilot Cloths and Beaver Overcoatings, we are expecting an invoice of daily. These Goods we have imported direct to insure our Customers getting the best value and the genuine article for in these days of imitation we want to be able to positively state that the goods are as represented.

During the past season we purchased small lots of Boy's and Youth's Clothing of each of the manufacturers besides our regular lines and carefully compared them as to style, quality of goods, the way they are out to fit the neck, the length of sleeves and the proportion of pants to coat and vest and have placed large orders for the best makes in a variety of styles.

As we cannot keep this notice always before you, all would do well to remember that at Turnbull's you can get a first-class suit made to order, a ready-made suit for a youth or boy, a ready-made overcoat for a man or boy guaranteed at a price that is often paid for a very inferior article that does not wear three months.

PRICES AND PROSPECTS.

THE GENERAL OUTLOOK FOR FALL TRADE BRIGHT.

The Kansas Corn Crop Seriously Injured but in Other States The Yield Will be Beautiful—Large Gra'n Crops

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—Special telegrams to Bradstreet's continue to report most of the favoring features of general trade noted from week to week during August. The general outlook for the Autumn's business is bright. The Kansas corn crop has been seriously injured and will have some effect on trade at supply points, but in Nebraska, Indian corn promises to be more bountiful than ever before and all together grain crops will be large. Reports of damage to wheat in Minnesota and Dakota appear to have been somewhat exaggerated. The cyclonic storm early in the week left large aggregate losses on buildings, fences, live stock and crops, destroyed or damaged.

The wheat markets have been excited on reports of damage to the home crops, but particularly on reports of excessive shortages in the United Kingdom, and in France and elsewhere on the continent. The price of cash No. 2 red at New York advanced 5¾ cents, and "Dollar wheat" is freely predicted. The bull side of the market certainly has never had better statistical backing since 1879. Speculative trading at New York this week aggregates 80,000,000 bushels against 25,597,000 last week and 85,000,000 bushels during panic week in June, 1887. The export demand is active. Shipments of wheat (and flour as wheat) both coasts this week aggregate 2,236,020 bushels, in the like week last year the total was 4,021,000 bushels. Exports July to date are 16,441,308 bushels, one year ago the corresponding total (eight weeks) was 32,949,899 bushels.

Stock speculation at New York is dull, but prices exhibit a continued tendency to advance on the crop prospects and anticipated increase of railroad traffic. A large foreign purchase of railroad bonds aided the bullish feeling. Money at New York grows firmer and is in slightly better demand. Call loans 1½ @ 2 per cent. Commercial paper rates slightly higher at 5 @ 5½ per cent for best names and indorsed bills receivable.

Business Disasters.

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—The increase in the number of failures continues. For four weeks past the record covers 770 in the United States against 602 last year. The business failures occurring throughout the country during the last seven days, as reported to Dun, Wiman & Co. to-day, number for the United States 187 and for Canada 27, or a total of 214 as compared with a total of 210 last week and 233 the week previous to the last. For the corresponding week of last year the figures were 185, made up of 153 in the United States and 32 Canada.

Drowning at St. Hilda.

ST. CATHARINES, Aug. 21.—While walking along the tow path of the canal between here and Pt. Dalhousie, Albert England, the 10-year-old son of Tailor Charles England of this city, stubbed his toe and fell into the water and was drowned. The body has been recovered.

THE SENATE TAKES TIME

TO LISTEN TO PRESIDENT CLEVELAND'S MESSAGE.

A Tedious Lot of Speeches—Republicans Consider the Retaliation Act of 1887 Adequate.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—The message from the President on the subject of the rejection of the Fisheries Treaty was laid before the Senate to-day and was read in full. The reading was listened to by Senators on both sides of the chamber with close attention. When it came to a close Mr. Sherman (Rep., O.) moved that it be printed and referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations.

Mr. Edmunds: "On that I would like to say a word, although I am in favor of it. If I had been five or six years younger than I am I should have been surprised at that message, but I am not and I am only very highly gratified at the patriotic expression of hopes, wishes, almost intentions, of the President of the United States in reference to the protection of American interests and American rights, but the peculiarity of the situation, as it seems to me, is that having a statute providing for self-defence approved by the President of the United States and passed by the substantially unanimous vote of both Houses—if that made any difference to his duty in faithfully executing the laws—and after full consideration of all its points and bearings, the extent to which it should go, the object for which it should be limited and the circumstances under which it should be brought into play, eighteen months in round numbers have gone by and we are now informed by the President of the United States—for I take it that is what he means, although no word of that kind is in the message—that no step of any kind has been taken to carry into execution the plain provisions of that law. It is true that the law did not require the President to put it into effect in the way of self-defence, (as I prefer to call it rather than retaliation,) until a case should have arisen of wrong and in justice which should satisfy him that American rights and interests were being unjustly dealt with. Now what has happened since the passage of that Act? If nothing has happened, if there have been no instances of injustice, of denial of American rights, of unjust treament of American citizens in the provinces of the Dominion, then of course the President is entirely right in taking no step in respect to the matter. However, in his opinion, as he now states it, there have been instances of denial of just rights to American citizens engaged in the business discussed in the Act of 1887. Why is it that the President has not taken any step in the exercise of the powers which the law imposed upon himsadinthe exercise of the high duty which the constitution imposes upon him?

Mr. Edmunds proceeded to inquire why, with the whole power of the law in his hands, the President, having knowledge of infringements upon American rights, had remained silent and inactive. The senator claimed that the Retaliation Act of 1887 was fully adequate to the protection of American rights and interests, and thought it a pity that the act, the force or weakness of which had never been tested by the first step, had been permitted to remain in innocuous desuetude.

Mr. Hoar (Rep., Mass.) asked how it was that the President in negotiating the treaty had been dumb in regard to Canadian violations of the treaty of 1871. Had the President believed all the time he was urging the treaty as a complete solution of the matter that it was not complete? It was idle for the President at this time to undertake to cover up his surrender by coming to the front in regard to this matter.

Mr. Morgan (Dem., Ala.) said no exhibition of the caucus carcass could lessen the effect of the message on the honest American mind. The purpose of all this opposition had been to entrap the President and force him to do the bidding of the minority of the people represented in the senate by the majority. They had even threatened him with impeachment if he dared disobey their commands. He was gratified that the President was not alarmed at this and the people would like him better for this message. The Act of 1887 was prepared so as to throw all responsibility on the President.

Mr. Hale (Rep., Me.) asked Mr. Morgan whether in view of the President's message he did not believe that it would have been better in laying the keel of the present negotiations to have included in them the subject matters which now seemed so grievous in the eyes of the President, would it not have been better to have had an all-embracing treaty?

Mr. Morgan replied that an all-embracing treaty would include the Behring Sea, the Monroe doctrine, the Clayton-Bulwer treaty, and quite a number of matters.

Mr. Hale: "And why not if these are involved in our relations with Canada?"

Mr. Morgan: "I could give several answers to your question. The first answer is that they are not kindred subjects." Mr. Morgan went on to say that if the President were given the power to prohibit the passage of goods in bond, the subject would be touched at the core and two sets of people would be convinced—the railroad owners and the Canadians. Then we would have peace.

During Senator Morgan's speech he yielded to Senator Hoar to offer the following resolution, which was laid over:

"Resolved, that the President be requested, if not in his judgement incompatible with public interests, to communicate to the Senate copies of all communications to the Government of Great Britain remonstrating with that Government against the wrongs and unfair treatment of our fishermen in refunding to vessels and cargoes which pass through the Welland and other canals nearly the entire toll if they are destined to Canadian ports while those bound for American ports are not allowed any such advantages, and the breach of the engagement contained in the treaty of 1871, whereby Great Britain promised to the United States equality in the matter of such canal transportation. Also copies of any demand made by his direction on Great Britain for the redress of such wrongs and the replies of Great Britain to such communications and demands."

Mr. Hale characterized the message as a desperate expedient to recover lost ground and a confession of the weakness of the Administration's attitude as to the treaty.

Mr. Sherman (Rep., O.) thought the message was a movement to gain ground. He said the discrimination in tolls on Canadian canals ought not to be submitted to. Said the Senator:

"If we deal with the Canadians on principles of justice and right we will win their favor rather than provoke opposition. I believe the result of such a mode of dealing would be the union of the Dominion of Canada and the Republic of the United States, and that would be best for all."

The debate was closed by a controversy between Senators Beck and Sherman about the financial policy of the present administration.

15,000 Copies to be Printed.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—In the House to-day the resolution was adopted for printing 15,000 copies of the President's message.

What They Say in London.

LONDON, Aug. 24.—The Pall Mall Gazette suspends opinion on the real significance of Mr. Cleveland's message but says it looks ugly.

The Star (T. P. O'Connor's paper) says it has no fear of a war over the matter but is of the opinion that serious friction is certain to result.

The Globe asks if Mr. Cleveland has attempted a bid for the Irish vote.

The St. James Gazette says the position is awkard and unpleasant for both countries. The retaliation threatened is so illogical and unreasonable that it is difficult to understand its precise cause and meaning. Two plausible explanations occur. It may have been intended to influence votes or merely to bluff Canada into granting the American demands. There is no doubt that the matter is a serious one for Canada, not merely local affairs are concerned but Imperial interests are involved. England must and will supply proper safeguards for her Canadian interests. It is difficult to suppose that the matter will be allowed to end otherwise than in a perfectly friendly manner.

At the Capital.

OTTAWA, Aug. 24.—With reference to the President's message Sir A. P. Caron to-day said: "I do not anticipate any trouble. It is probably a case of the President going the Republicans one better. Cleveland, as I understand it, asks for increased power in regard to a point, which in my judgment it may not be necessary to inaugurate.

Hon. C. H. Tupper was seen, and expressed the opinion that the Republicans are attempting to score in the Presidential campaign because of the favorable attitude President Cleveland assumed in regard to a settlement of the fishery dispute. The result of a retaliatory measure would be to increase the inter-provincial trade, which the canal system would stimulate. He considers that the views of the Government are very well outlined in the budget speech of Sir Charles Tupper in 1887, in which he pointed out that the Canadian Pacific railway, the canal system and the channels of trade are likely to promote a stream of trade throughout the country and console us for whatever loss would result from retaliation.

Mr. George Johnson said: "We have the Intercolonial railway and the Temiscouata railway bringing St. John and Halifax into close all rail communication with the interior provinces. Our merchants should meet the threat of retaliation by at once calling to Great Britain and other parts of Europe and ordering their goods via Halifax or St. John instead of via United States ports. Last year this was done in several instances when the Retaliatory Bill was threatened, and no doubt the plan will be adopted more generally for this autumn's importations. I understood at the time from several Toronto firms that by changing the route they saved money as well as made protest against the threatened action of the United States authorities. The transit trade over the United States, to and from Canada, has been on the wane for some time. In 1883 it amounted to nearly seventy million dollars of goods transported. Last year it was under thirty-four million dollars and in 1886 it was thirty-one million. An agitation like the President's message ought to bring the whole volume of our trans-United States trade into our channel.

J. R. Black, the lumberman, thought the bill would not come in force, and even if it did the consequences would not be disastrous. "We have the lumber and the Americans must get it. The sword is two edged and will cut both ways. The passage of the bill will kill shipments of lumber to the New York and Boston markets, but it has got to be exported, and the result will be that it will be shipped from Montreal and St. Lawrence River ports during the summer months and Halifax during the winter. This of course will be Canada's gain.

Mr. E. B. Eddy of the Eddy Manufacturing Company did not think the president's policy was going to do Canadian lumbermen much harm. He added, "I would prefer that you should wait until I have an interview with President Grover Cleveland, as I intend doing, and then I will be able to tell you all about it."

Some agents of American export lumber companies doing business with the Canadian lumbermen were seen. Their impression is that the passage of the bill would be a serious thing for them. It simply meant the removal of the shipping yards from Boston and New York to Montreal and Halifax.

Fishermen's Opinions.

GLOUCESTER, Mass., Aug. 25.—A crowd of vessel-owners congregated in the Merchants' exchange yesterday, talking over the President's message. It was the general opinion among business men that no one here wanted retaliation as outlined in the message. An embargo on Canadian fish and the same treatment as Americans receive would be all that would be required to settle the difficulty between the two countries. On the other hand the men who man the vessels are unanimous in their opinions that what the President had proposed is just right. Some of the skippers think the treaty should not have been rejected, because it could have been amended so as to make it satisfactory to all concerned.

Scott Act Convictions in Wellington.

PALMERSTON, Aug. 24.—Police Magistrate Lowes of Rothsay held court here to-day when he heard the charges which had been preferred against three hotelkeepers of this town, Alexander, Watt and Leopard for violation of the Scott Act. A warrant was issued for the arrest of Alexander. The constables on going to execute the warrant found the door barred. They secured a fence rail and battered in the door and after arresting the proprietor they took him to the court room where without being allowed time to secure legal advice he was tried and convicted as were the others. Watts and Alexander were fined $100 each, with the option of two months in jail, and Leopard $50.

A Blaze at Ridgetown.

RIDGETOWN, Aug. 24.—Early this morning a barn owned by Thos. Brown, dentist, was destroyed by fire, and the main building of the Grand Central Hotel was badly scorched. Loss under $1000, covered by insurance. The cook of the hotel was badly burned in escaping from her room.

A Suspension at Almonte.

MONTREAL, Aug. 24.—Messrs. Cantlie Ewin & Co., of this city, selling agents for Elliott & Son., woollen manufacturers of Almonte have received word that the firm has suspended.

IMPORTS AND EXPORTS.

THE DUTY COLLECTED ON THE FOREIGN DURING JULY $2,043,928.

Postoffice Saving Bank Balance $21,538,728 —The Writ for Montreal East to be Issued Immediately.

OTTAWA, Aug. 24.—The Commissioner of Customs has issued a circular to the collectors of the various ports in Canada instructing them that crates, boxes and other inside boxes and packages, containing fruits which have been put on the free list by order-in-council or otherwise, are subjected to a duty of 20 per cent. of their cost under the provisions of section 8 of the tariff now in force. The issuing of the circular was rendered necessary because the matter was not properly understood and many packages have escaped duty.

Hon. C. H. Tupper, Minister of Marine, left this morning for Halifax.

The writ for the Montreal East election is expected to be issued without delay.

Hon. Mr. Carling, Minister of Agriculture, last evening received a cable from the High Commissioner in London stating that the Queen paid a special visit to the Canadian court in the Glasgow exhibition and made a careful examination of the exhibits of the country, taking great interest in the grain, minerals, timber and natural history. The decorations of the court were greatly admired by the royal party.

Hon. Mr. Thompson, Minister of Justice, accompanied Mrs. Thompson as far as Montreal to-day on the way to Halifax.

Sir A. P. Caron has gone to Quebec.

The square timbermen of the Ottawa take a different view of the action of mawlust than do the lumber kings. It is said that the bay is so choaked up at Papineauville as to make rafting there almost impracticable and a deputation composed of Alonzo Wright and Mayor Major, of Papineauville have represented to the Government that the dredging operations at that point should be gone on with.

The Gazette to-morrow will contain notice of the expropriation of a lot of land on the line of the Cape Breton Railway.

Letters patent of incorporation have been granted to the Sarnia Towing and Transportation Co.

The statement of goods imported in Canada for July, exclusive of British Columbia, shows as follows:

Dutiable Goods	$6,272,630
Coin and Bullion	213,298
Free Goods	3,140,975
Total	$9,626,743
Duty Collected	$2,043,928.6

The total exports of goods from the Dominion of Canada during July were:

Produce of Canada	$6,931,272
" of other countries	709,941
Total	$7,641,213

Superintendent Pottinger of the Intercolonial Railway, who has been acting chief engineer of Government railways during the absence of Collingwood Schrieber, leaves next week for Moncton.

The postoffice saving bank account for July shows a credit balance of $21,538,728. The balance in the hand of the Finance Minister June 30 was $20,689,032.

AFFAIRS IN HAMILTON.

Enforcement of the Early Closing By-Law —Doctors in Court.

HAMILTON, Aug. 25.—After a good deal of delay the police have decided to prosecute the storekeepers who have failed to comply with the Early Closing By-Laws, and yesterday morning several persons from each of the offending classes of business appeared before the police magistrate charged with breaking the law. As the police were not ready to proceed, the cases were adjourned until next Tuesday.

Judge Muir held a special court yesterday for the trial of Stephen Clarkson, charged with the larceny of a quantity of silver ware, belonging to John Templar, on Aug. 3, 1887. A large number of witnesses were examined and a strong case was made out against the defendant, who was sent to gaol for one month.

Amongst yesterday morning's Police Court cases was one in which Drs. Gariller, Dillabough and McConachie were charged with a breach of the Health Act in failing to report a case of scarlatina which they attended. As the doctors declared the sickness was not contagious, the magistrate dismissed the case.

Mr. George S. Papps' house, was entered by a burglar last night, who found the effort so wearisome that he lay down on one of the beds and slept. The family were away. The burglar left with nothing but the cheerful recollection of a soft bed and comfortable sleep.

WINNIPEG WIRELETS.

The Northern Pacific Concedes the Modifications Demanded.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 24.—It is announced to-night that the modifications in the Northern Pacific agreement asked by the Government have been conceded by the representatives of the company and a new contract is being prepared. So soon as it is completed the company will commence work.

Neither the company nor the Government will have any trouble about the ratification of the contract.

A caucus of Government supporters will be held Monday when it is said an effort will be made to read The Free Press out of the party. That paper has a bitter attack on the contract again this morning.

The weather continues oppressively warm and is splendid for harvesting.

Nicol Kingsmill, solicitor for the Hudson Bay Road, left for New York to-day where he will meet Mr. Ross, who floated the scheme in London. Both are expected here next Thursday.

Lecore's Case.

CAYUGA, Aug. 22.—Joseph Lecor, the Italian who was arrested about a year ago on suspicion of having murdered Mrs. Daly and her two children and then burning down the house to conceal his crime, has become hopelessly insane and will be removed to the Toronto Insane Asylum.

The Spreckles Contract Renewed.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 21.—The New Zealand Parliament has voted to renew the contract for a year with the Spreckles line between San Francisco, New Zealand and Australia.

THE FOLLY OF IT.

The Hamilton Times in discussing the assumption that the monopolists of the United States are not averse to a war, as that would keep up the excuse for protection, thus discourses:—

Just think of it! A war between two Christian, English-speaking nations, the wealthiest and most highly civilized in the world, nominally because of a dispute with regard to the catching of fish within a league of the Nova Scotia shore, but really in order that a few protected manufacturers might continue to make exorbitant profits by overcharging their fellow countrymen for goods! It is said that nearly all the fishermen in the New England fleet are Canadians, who return to their homes in the winter with their earnings, so that there is really little question of the protection of American labor actually engaged in the fisheries. The majority of the people of both Canada and the United States live so remote from the Atlantic seaboard that they really know very little about the merits of the fishery dispute. Yet on a question like this it is possible that one angry word might lead to another, that one overt act might invite retaliation from the other side, until war should be actually declared—war involving the loss of thousands of lives and the destruction of hundreds of millions of dollars worth of property. Britain could not subdue the United States, the United States could not send a force within gunshot of Britain; yet each country could do infinite harm to the other, and the wheels of civilization could be stopped for a quarter of a century. British gunboats could batter Portland, Boston, New York and Baltimore; Washington and New Orleans could be taken as they have been taken before. On the other hand Brockville, Cobourg, Port Hope, Toronto, Hamilton and other Canadian cities would be laid waste, and all for what—in order that a new war debt might be incurred, with the incidental effect of making the rich men in the United States richer, while making poor men poorer.

HON. OLIVER MOWAT, Premier of Ontario, and His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor, arrived at Rimouski on Monday night and will arrive in Toronto to-day.

THE Reformers of East Northumberland intend holding a convention in Warkworth on Tuesday, the 28th of August, to select a candidate to contest the seat left vacant by the death of the late Richard Clarke.

IT is doubtful, says the Cobourg World, whether there is another constituency in the Province, or, indeed, in the Dominion, that has had so many elections as East Northumberland. Since confederation an election has been holden in the Riding on an average every year. And before the next session of the Ontario Legislature, another election will be held to fill the seat rendered vacant by the untimely death of Richard Clark.

THE Dominion Government is calling for tenders for the new drill shed at Regina to replace the one burned last winter. The new shed is to cost $30,000. And yet the 57th Battalion can't get Sir Adolph Caron to appropriate even $30 towards making the Peterborough drill shed fit to use during the winter. The present shed would make a capital skating rink during the winter, but though Sir Adolphe shows a disposition to let the volunteers slide, he has intimated no intention of putting them on skates. Thus the drill shed is useless, and the 57th battalion has to pass the whole winter without an opportunity of drilling.

"JIM" HILL, the autocrat of the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railroad, is a native of the Niagara district. He was born near Fonthill, and went to school in his young days to Rev. Mr. Wetherald, so well known in St. Catharines. He is said to be worth $20,000,000. He was poor when he commenced railroading. And yet there are those who maintain that in the event of open markets being made between Canada and the United States, Canadian manufacturers could not compete successfully with the Yankees. Taken man for man the Canadians are as astute, enterprising and wide awake as the "Americans." The trouble is the field for the exercise of the energies of Canadians is restricted by an absurd customs line and they haven't a chance to show what they can do.

Keene.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The grand Roman Catholic picnic under the auspices of St. Mary's Church, Keene, will be held in McNeil's grove, adjoining Keene station, G.T.R., on Wednesday, August 29th. An efficient committee have charge of full list of sports and games. Orchestra and large platform for dancing. Admission to grounds, 25c.; Committee—M. Keenaley, E. Foley, D. Wallace and John Carew.

The Presbyterian choir picnic turned out to be a grand success. Everybody seemed to enjoy themselves. The choir afforded fine music for the crowd. After landing at Jubilee, the picnic party amused themselves by dancing and exploring the island. Leaving there, they proceeded to Gore's Landing and then to Idyl Wild, where they had supper and more dancing and a good time in general. They arrived in Keene at about 8.15, realising about $17.

The farmers who skimmed their milk before sending it to the factory regretted it very much. It will be a lesson to them in future.

Refuse to Pay the Minister Sent to Them —A District Meeting.

The Simcoe Reformer says: The financial district meeting of the Methodist church, Simcoe district, was held at Jarvis on Tuesday last. All the circuits were represented by ministers and laymen. A lengthy discussion was had on the Simcoe difficulty. The general consensus of opinion of both ministers and laymen was that Rev. Mr. Colling ought to be removed from Simcoe. The lay representative for Simcoe stated that any action taken by the conference authorities which would result in the immediate removal of Mr. Colling would be acceptable to the Simcoe church for this year. Mr. Colling stated that there has been no change in matters since he came to Simcoe. Twenty-four members of the Official Board of twenty-five were opposed to him, as were also eleven out of a trust board of twelve members, and that nearly all of the membership and regular congregation absented themselves from his church services, but still he would have nothing to do with removing himself. Throughout the discussion not one member of the district meeting expressed an opinion of Mr. Colling's remaining in Simcoe.

The regular meeting of the Quarterly Official Board of the Methodist church was held on Monday evening. There were twenty members present. In accordance with the decision arrived at some time ago, a resolution, refusing to make any appropriation for ministerial support, was unanimously adopted.

A Dish of New Ps

Take at once Pierce's Purgative Pellets.

Oh, yes, indeed! These are the P's for you, poor sick man or woman. Nothing like them for keeping the bowels and stomach regulated and in order—tiny, sugar-coated granules, scarcely larger than mustard seeds. They work gently but thoroughly. c

The GIANT CLOTHIERS Still Pounding Down the High Prices!

GOUGH BROTHERS

The Wonderful Cheap Men, with both heels on the High-Priced Sharks, who are under the thumb of the Wholesale Shoddy Houses. We are going to fire a Tirade of Prices at them this Month, that will Besiege our place of business with anxious buyers and Break them all up. Regardless of Price, we will Slaughter $15,000 worth of Clothing and Furnishing Goods.

HERE ARE SOME OF THE CUT PRICES:

176 Serge Suits, warranted Indigo dye, $2.95, former price $5.00
508 All Wool Waterloo Tweed Suits, $3.75, sold elsewhere for $8.00
238 Scotch Tweed Suits, $10.00, worth $18.00
327 Fancy Worsted Suits, $6.90, worth $13.00
2200 Pairs of Pants, ranging in price from 17c. to $4.00.

GENTLE READER, do not get alarmed, our prices may knock you into the belief that GOUGHS are going to fail. One would naturally suppose that no legitimate dealer could sell Goods at the prices we are selling without a bust. Rest assured, the Tireless, Sleepless, Wide Awake GOUGH'S are looking forward for some big haul. They are not going to fail as you might think, although they candidly admit they want $15,000. The secret is this—we are on the trail of a tottering wholesale house who wants money. We made them a bid of 37½c. on the Dollar cash down for 3500 Overcoats and 1200 Suits; our offer, after hard fighting, has been accepted, and as the money must be raised, we have decided to run the Greatest Slaughter Sale that was ever inaugurated.

DURING AUGUST

Goods will be sold at Half Price, and Buyers of Clothing can save 100 per cent on every purchase. Step in and see our MEN'S PANTS, All Wool, for $1.05, the most brilliant, sun-bright pageant in the bargain line that ever delighted human vision. We show piles upon piles of Glittering Clothing. Oceans of Bewildering Styles in Furnishing Goods. Pyramids of rare and unique designs in all the leading styles in Collars and Cuffs. In a word if you want to spend a few happy moments, step into our Mammoth Clothing House, and wade through our Massive Aggregations of Bargains. We will show you stacks at Goods, enough to make you dizzy, and at figures that knock High Prices silly.

Valuable Properties for Sale suitable for Building Sites, Residences, Market Gardens, &c.

We have been instructed to offer for sale the following valuable properties:—

1st.—East Half of Lot No. 1 in 2nd Concession of the Township of Thorah, County of Ontario. 100 acres all cleared, soil good clay loam, house and barn on farm, which is situated about three and a half miles from Beaverton. Price $4500.

2nd.—The Erskine Homestead, being the North Part of Block "U" Ashburnham, containing about 14 acres, and having a frontage of about 333 feet on Concession street, and 2340 on the Road leading to Norwood. This property has on it a large dwelling house, barns, stables, and outbuildings. It is well situated for putting on the market in Building Lots, and can be subdivided to advantage. The land immediately south of it has been sub-divided and Lots are selling rapidly and buildings being erected.

3rd.—Block "Z" Ashburnham, containing about 36 acres, having a frontage of about 500 feet on Concession street. It is within a short distance from town, and is well adapted for sub-division into Building Lots.

4th—Fifteen Acres of Land in Monaghan on the Gravel Road, about 3 miles from town with brick dwelling house 34x44, containing 10 rooms and usual outbuildings. There is a good orchard on the place, and the soil first-class, suitable for a market garden, or residence for a retired farmer.

5th.—The residence of Mrs. F. W. Hamilton, situated on Brock Street, Peterborough, on Court House hill, there is about ¾ of an acre of land, well stocked with fruit trees, &c.; soil, first-class. The residence is large, with the usual outbuildings.

6th—Erin Cottage being the West half of Park Lot No. 14 in Lot 13 in 13th Monaghan, now in the town limits, containing about 5 acres of land. There is a comfortable brick cottage with usual outbuildings on the land, which is now occupied by Mr. Elias Thompson.

Offers in writing for the purchase of any of the above properties will be received by the undersigned, and any further particulars may be obtained from them.

The Irish Gentlemen in the Lead at Ottawa Cricket Yesterday.

OTTAWA, Aug. 25.—The cricket match between the Gentlemen of Ireland and Ottawa was fairly attended yesterday. The visitors went to bat first scoring 150 runs in the first innings, the highest scores being Hines 61, E. Fitzgerald 28, D. Cronin 24 and J. Dunn 16. The Ottawas offered but little resistance to the brilliant bowling of the Irishmen, the best batters Little, R. T. A. Bell, J. H. Sankler, J. Brunnell, Turson, Hale and L. Case being put out for 33 runs for nine wickets. The match continues to-day.

SMALLEY'S GOSSIP.

Gladstone Quoted Against Gladstone—About Marriage.

LONDON, Aug. 24.—Gladstone's comparison between Balfour and King Bomba has brought out some curious evidence. King Bomba, said Gladstone on Monday, did not put his political prisoners into the company of felons. A correspondent of The Times showed yesterday that Gladstone in his famous letters thirty-seven years ago to Lord Aberdeen quoted a case where he did. Gladstone replies to-day: "My statement was absolutely correct," but admits a single case which he had forgotten. The Times, however, declines to let him off. A single slip of memory would be nothing, but Gladstone wrote in 1851: "I have walked among a crowd of between three and four hundred Neapolitan prisoners—murderers, thieves and all kinds of ordinary criminals, some condemned, some uncondemned, and the politically accused, indiscriminately. The political prisoners could have a separate chamber by paying, but there was no division between them." Again, in answering at the time a critic who alleged that political offenders are kept separate from common felons, Gladstone said: "I might refer to my own ocular testimony, but it is enough to say that here again the Neapolitan government is silent." The Times naturally makes the most of this. What Gladstone's reply will be remains to be seen.

Another American lady, signing herself "A Yankee Matron," sends her opinions of marriage to The Daily Telegraph. She points out the superiority of American husbands in thoughtful attention to their wives. Upon this The St. James' Gazette says "Some time ago a well-known man of letters wrote in these pages to vindicate the superiority of American manners, and said Americans were more polite than Englishmen which we believe to be true, especially where women are concerned." The Telegraph not content with English estimates of marriage as a failure, has interviewed Zola, but with little result. A letter from Dumas is equally wide of the point. "Marriage," says Dumas, "is not compulsory. Why all this fuss? Let those marry who like, and the rest remain single."

To Cure a Corn.

There is no lack of so-called cures for the common ailment known as corns. The vegetable, animal, and mineral kingdoms have been ransacked for cures. It is a simple matter to remove corns without pain, for if you will go to any druggist or medicine dealer and buy a bottle of Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor and apply it as directed the thing is done. Get "Putnam's," and no other. 6w34

Certain Cure.

A cure for Cholera Morbus. A positive cure for this dangerous complaint, and for all acute or chronic forms of bowel complaint incident to summer and fall is found in Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, to be procured from any druggist or medicine dealer. 2w31d

Made on Purpose.

We are taught that everything is made to fill some purpose. The reason Burdock Blood Bitters has succeeded in being placed in the front rank of modern medicines is that it fills so well the purpose for which it was intended—that of curing diseases of the stomach, liver and blood. 2w31d

Easily Understood.

The causes of summer complaint, diarrhœa, dysentery, cholera morbus, etc., are the excessive heat, eating green fruit, impure water, over exertion and sudden chill. Dr. Fowler's Wild Strawberry is an infallible and prompt remedy for all bowel complaints from whatever cause. 2w31d

A Correct Statement

is made by Miss Jas. Rutherford, of Nelles Corners, Ont., who writes—"I have used your Burdock Blood Bitters for Dyspepsia and find it to be the best remedy I ever tried." B.B.B. is sold by all dealers at one dollar per bottle. 2w31d

TO THE DEAF.—A Person cured of Deafness and noises in the head of 23 years' standing by a simple remedy, will send a description of it FREE to any Person who applies to NICHOLSON, 30 St. John Street, Montreal. dwly

The Growth of the Hair

Should always be watched. Inattention to the hair often leads to premature greyness and baldness. When dandruff appears it should be looked after at once. By frequently using a little of Dr. Dorenwend's Great German Hair Magic, the scalp will be kept in a clean healthy condition and the strength and vigor of the hair greatly promoted. It is the only reliable. Do not be talked into using anything else. For sale by all druggists everywhere. dw

Piles! Piles! Itching Piles.

SYMPTOMS—Moisture, intense itching and stinging, most at night, worse by scratching. If allowed to continue tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate, becoming very sore. SWAYNE'S OINTMENT stops the itching and bleeding, heals ulceration, and in most cases removes the tumors. At druggists, or by mail, for 50 cents. Dr. Swayne & Son, Philadelphia. Lymans, Sons & Co., Montreal, Wholesale Agents. dw

On An Average.

It is said that during the lifetime of the average man he will endure about 500 days sickness. The best way to reduce your average is to use Burdock Blood Bitters whenever the system requires a tonic regulating and cleansing medicine. 2w31d

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria,
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria,
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria,
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

SUN

LIFE ASSURANCE COMP'Y OF CANADA.

HEAD OFFICE, MONTREAL.

Both in Magnitude and Profitableness, the Business for 1887 has been almost everything that could be desired.

The life policies now in force are 7,128 for $10,873,777.69, on 6741 lives. We have moreover $3,207,000 00 insured under 1,840 accident policies, so that the total current contracts of the Company are 8 969 for $14,081,377 69.

The income for the year shows the very large increase of $122,331.23 over the figures of 1886, the total being $495,831.54. The revenue is now half a million dollars per annum, or as mentioned in the report, over $1,600 for every working day in the year, and even this he believed was but a mere introduction to what it will be in a few years hence. The gains from time to time are well illustrated by the following table:—

Period	Gain in income.	Gain in assets.	Gain in assurances.
1872 to 1876, four years	$ 54,611 21	$109,482 60	$1,149,743 00
1876 to 1880, four years	28,580 67	195,168 20	1,167,386 14
1880 to 1884, four years	130 976 84	368,264 31	2,962,924 90
1884 to 1887, three years	217,451 99	475,807 24	4,029,373 65
Total in 1887	$495 831 54	$1,150,664 48	$10,873,777 69

It is very pleasing to notice that the gains for the last three years only are 60 per cent. more than those of the preceding four years.

From Hamilton Plains.

An excursion party of about 200 people invaded town yesterday afternoon. They came up the river on the steamer "Beaver" and scow, and after remaining in town about an hour and a half returned home. It was a private farmers' excursion gotten up by Mr. McLeod, of Hamilton Plains, and included people from Hamilton Plains, Gore's Landing, Camborne and Harwood.

A Novelty.

Gardener MacLennan has fitted up the fountain in the court house park with a novel and amusing contrivance. Over the nozzle is the figure of an old lady working a churn at vigorous speed, the water supplying the motor power. Every visitor to the park stops to watch the toy.

C.P.R. Freight Cars.

There have arrived at the C.P.R station here this season three hundred and sixty new freight cars from Crossen's car works, Cobourg, and sixty more are on the way. This makes four hundred and twenty of the one thousand cars which the Crossens have contracted to build for the C.P.R., and, in addition, 1,000 more are being built at another factory.

A Novel Window Plant.

In a corner of one of the windows of the Grand Central Hotel, facing the street, a little plant has sprouted up to the height of half an inch. The street dust has gathered there till there is sufficient to give root to a seed that has been blown on it, which, watered by the hose used for sprinkling the sidewalk, has sprouted and is growing nicely. The boys about the hotel guard their little plant carefully and consider it quite a curiosity.

Ambitious Havelock.

Havelock Wants a Public School of Her Own.

This morning a deputation of three Havelock gentlemen arrived in town and had a conference with Mr. J. Coyle Brown, Inspector of Public Schools for the county, with a view of having a village school established in Havelock, whose rapid growth demands school accommodation which is not provided by the nearest available school, No. 6, Belmont. For about a year the school matter has been canvassed among the villagers, and on Saturday evening, the 18th inst., a large public meeting was held and the projected new school was endorsed by a two-thirds majority. The nearest school is three quarters of a mile distant from the centre of the village. This school was in existence before there was a village of Havelock, and consequently the establishment of a new school cannot seriously affect its attendance. The school population of Havelock (between the ages of five and sixteen) is of such importance, that it is estimated about 150 pupils would attend the school, therefore the need of a school is beyond question. There is no difficulty about securing a site. Mr. Wm. Matheson offers a site on Oak street, about a quarter of a mile from the railway track and the noise of trains. There is a probability that the matter will be arranged, for the inspector, will inquire into the facts and visit the village in about a week to settle the matter. It is to be hoped that the enterprising villagers will succeed in their aspirations for a suitable and sufficient school.

The village of Havelock is flourishing. Four years ago there was no such a place, now the village has a population of quite 700 persons, and the cry is still they come; there is not a vacant house in the village, indeed many houses contain two families. There are about fifteen new houses going up this season. Two new blacksmith shops are in course of erection.

The Presbyterian mission here under the fostering care of Rev. Mr. Madill is prospering. The congregation is large and continually increasing, and at no very distant date a more spacious place of worship will have to be provided, and the missionary station will give way to an established church and congregation.

Students, Attention!

The Business College re-opens Monday, August 27th, 9 a.m.

A Quiet Wedding.

Yesterday Mr. John Johnston, a commercial traveller of Toronto, and Miss Adeliade Maybee, of Port Hope, came to town and were quietly married by Rev. S. J. Shorey. They went away right after the wedding. The marriage is registered at the local registar's office.

Something Worth Knowing.

Buy 4 large boxes of good matches for 25 cents, at W. J. Morrow's. He continues to sell all goods cheap. Preserving sugar very cheap, 18 pound for $1.00. As I am now receiving my new importations of tea all my old lines must be sacrificed. dw

Around the Town Buildings.

It is probable there will be a meeting of the council Monday night.

The Roman Catholic demand upon the town for separate school purposes this year is $2,500, some $200 less than last year.

All parties having accounts against the town are requested to send in their bills at once, as the finance committee wish to know the extent of all outstanding liabilities of the town before the estimates are brought down.

What The People Say.

Peterborough can boast of fine stores. H. S. Griffin & Co. have a model place of business, bright and cheerful, and their Stock is well kept. They keep Goods so different to anything we see in other places. We can always depend on getting stylish goods there. Have you seen their Dress Goods? They keep lovely goods, and this coming Fall their stock will be better than ever. We deal there, and intend bringing our friends.

Closing Days.

The sale of A. McNeil's bankrupt stock, which has been going on for the past two weeks, closes on Saturday. In order to make stock as low as possible, goods will be sold at prices that will astonish buyers. Don't miss this last opportunity to buy tweeds, underwear and gents' furnishings at prices away below wholesale cost. 3d44

Building Notes.

Ground was broken this morning for a handsome new brick residence on the corner of Aylmer and Dalhousie streets for Mr. H. C. Winch. Mr. A. Rutherford is the contractor. It is proposed to subsequently erect a row of residences along the whole front of the block. These will be valuable residence sites. Mr. W. H. Law will occupy the one already begun.

Work on the new Nicholls' hospital building is progressing rapidly. To-day a portion of the roof is being put on.

Auction Sale.

The sale of A. McNeil's bankrupt stock closes on Saturday, and on Monday morning at 10 o'clock, the furniture and shop furnishings will be sold by public auction. It embraces seven stoves and pipes, three sewing machines, cutting board counter, tables, sofa, desk, chairs, dry earth closet, gas fixtures, fashion plates, deer's head, window blinds, irons, etc., etc. Sale without reserve. Everything must be sold. 3d44

"Form, Riflemen, Form."

Peterborough riflemen are wide awake this year and have their ball's eye open for some of the prizes at the Toronto and Ottawa meetings. On Monday Capt. Hill goes to Toronto to compete in the matches of the Ontario Rifle Association. On the Monday following, Sept. 3rd, the following marksmen will attend the meeting of the Dominion Rifle Association, Ottawa:—Capt. W. H. Hill, Capt. R. M. Deanistoun, Sergt. W. A. Mason, Sergt. A. Blade, Private D. Cameron, Private Geo. Fitzgerald and possibly some others. They will enter for three several team competitions, and of course will have a crack at the individual prizes.

The Horticultural Exhibition.

It has been decided by the directors of the Horticultural Society to hold the annual exhibition on Thursday next, August 30th. This was the date originally fixed, with the understanding that if the season proved unfavorable or late the exhibition would be postponed. This was done, and the date was afterwards announced for a week or so later. Then the matter was taken up by writers in the public press, who contended that the date ought never to have been postponed in the interests of the exhibition. The directors, wishing to avoid all clashing and to accord with the popular voice, at a meeting Thursday night decided to return to the original date, and now the exhibition is announced to be held at the Charlotte street rink next Thursday. The directors will spare no pains to make this the most successful show yet held. The band will be in attendance and other attractions will be provided.

Some Business Colleges.

Reprinted from "The Office."

EVERY BUSINESS MAN in the country must feel an interest in the schools in which the boys and young men are receiving their training for their commercial careers. Accordingly a bird's eye view of what some of the colleges are doing, based upon personal correspondence with the principals, and more particularly upon catalogues and announcements which we have received from the institutions named, cannot fail to interest our readers.

R. C. Spencer is the principal of the Milwaukee Business College. He is the oldest of the Spencer brothers, sons of the author of the widely advertised Spencerian penmanship. He commenced his career as a commercial teacher some thirty-seven years ago, and is widely known as an enlightened educator, not only in commercial branches, but also in political science. He is also a public-spirited citizen, interested in various educational movements, among which may be mentioned the development of speech in deaf mutes. The institution above referred to opened on August 1 for the current term, with prospects of a large attendance.

George Soule's Commercial College and Literary Institute is recognized as the leading business school of New Orleans. Mr. Soule is known by his friends to be a man of sterling moral worth, of fine literary attainments and of excellent business ability. His school is his pet and accordingly partakes of the spirit of its conductor. From the catalogue before us we learn that unusual attention is given in this institution to the moral and physical training of the pupils, in the belief that intellectuality alone is only one-third of life.

If enthusiasm and energy are able to achieve success, Frank Goodman, principal of the Nashville, Tenn., College, should be on the high road to prosperity. He is a stirring, wide-awake and progressive man in the prime of his activities, and always has an eye open to the possibilities of advancement of his pupils and his college. His efforts in preparing young men for business life have been eminently successful, and many a one has him to thank for his start on a successful business career.

The handsome and elaborate catalogue of the Burlington, Iowa, Business College, indicates that G. W. Elliot, the principal, believes in compelling attention to his advertisements. This college, established but a few years since, has already become one of the most prominent in the section of the country in which it is located. Its success in securing a large patronage is evidence of its value educationally. Reading between the lines of the book before us we see the same quality of energy displayed in the management of this institution as prosperous business men show in all lines of trade. The book is handsomely illustrated, including a photo print of the residence of the principal.

Prof. H. Russell, of Joliet, Ill., looks after the business educational interests of the young men and women of that city. This gentleman is sometimes described by his friends as a New York State Yankee, full of vigor and good spirits, and having the happy faculty of inspiring his pupils with the best ambition. The circular before us indicates that the school over which he presides does its share in teaching the rising generation the art of business management.

And last but not least is the Sawyer Business College and Shorthand Institute, of Peterborough, Canada. Principal Bannell Sawyer, C.A., the founder, is a man of experience and general fitness for the position he occupies. This is evidenced by over three years of successful work done under his presidency, including the many excellent positions held by successful graduates the country over. Another evidence of the patronage received by this institution is the fact that Mr. G. S. Bean, B.A., B.Sc., a man of education and ability after several years of professional experience has been admitted to the firm formerly Bannell Sawyer & Co., now Sawyer & Bean. We shall look for still greater success attending the career of this institution.

On the Tapis.

The organization of a mutual fire insurance company for the county of Peterborough, with head offices in town, is talked of and may become a reality, not because of any dissatisfaction with the present offices represented here, which are always willing and ready to meet the views of their patrons, so far as it is in their power to do so, but because of a general desire to have a home institution, managed carefully and economically, with a view to assisting in the building up of the town's interests. It is believed there is no reason why this cannot be done in Peterborough as well as in Galt, Waterloo, Guelph, and other places which might be mentioned and which have become very successful and important concerns, known all over the province. We have the insurance men who could take the management and fill the bill in every particular.

A Huge Horse Shipment.

This morning a huge stock-train consisting of twenty-three palace horse cars halted at the C.P.R. station here en route for the Western States, with a load of 250 horses for different points. These horses were purchased by three different dealers, Messrs. Singmaster, Perry and Stubbs, in England, France and Scotland. The horses comprise mares and stallions; of the latter there were some magnificent Norman Percherons and Clydesdales. There was also a car of Shetland ponies, diminutive little equine beauties, some of them about the size of a robust Newfoundland dog. The stock was well cared for by two men to each car besides the two super-cargoes. The palace horse cars are as comfortable as any stable in the land, and the animals can eat as they travel. This heavy train was drawn by the three-driver mogul engine, 413, Uptergrove at the throttle, and Matthews conductor. The run from Montreal was made in fifteen hours.

News Nuggets.

—Lakefield's civic holiday is Sept. 5th.

—Young's Point rejoices in a 23 pound lunge.

—There was no police court to-day nor anything of interest in police circles.

—A meeting of the Y.M.C.A. lacrosse club is called for Monday night.

—A "gay bridegroom" at Alnwick, named Cole, was aged 80 years.

—Lakefield held a public meeting the other night to consider better fire protection for the village. They adjourned to meet again.

—The band played in the park last night and of course greatly pleased the crowd of people assembled.

—The weather record of this week shows another remarkable atmospheric revolution. The warm wave Friday night put everyone in a melting mood.

—The market was very large to-day. Fruit and vegetables sold at regulation prices, which means that every dealer had a price of his own. Butter went at 24 and 25c., eggs, 15c.

—The Fenelon Falls Record, a new weekly published by Mr. Geo. H. Small, has made its appearance. It is neatly printed and a good looking sample of the country newspaper.

—A game of lacrosse was played on Thursday at Norwood between the home team and Madoc, which resulted in favor of the former by three goals to one. The first game was secured by the winners in 10 minutes, the second by Madoc in 20 minutes, and the remaining two by Norwood in 10 minutes respectively.

Personal.

Mr. B. Shortly and family are spending a week at Mr. Hall's cottage, Stony Lake.

Mr. F. Hobbs, advertising agent for the Toronto Exhibition, is in town to-day, looking after the advertising interests of that concern. He reports the prospects good this year for a fine show, with splendid attractions.

Sad Drowning Accident.

A Port Hope Young Lady Drowned in the Lake—Her Escort Nearly Dead When Rescued.

(Special by Telephone.)

PORT HOPE, Aug. 25.—Last night about eight o'clock Mr. Robinson, American Consul at this port, and Miss Lillie Holland, went out canoeing on the lake. The water was very rough at the time, and shortly after rounding the east pier, the people on the wharf were terrified to hear piercing cries for help from that direction. Although it was very dark and nothing could be seen at any distance, two young men, Messrs. Archie Quirk and Hector Reid, at imminent risk went to the rescue. They were just in time to save Mr. Robinson, who was found clinging to the upturned canoe, half dead from exhaustion and strangling. The waves were running high, and he could not have held out any longer. It was his "death grip" on the craft that saved his life. Miss Holland could nowhere be seen, and though the lake in the vicinity is being dragged, at the time of this message her body has not been recovered. Mr. Robinson is in a precarious condition but it is thought will recover. The accident has caused great excitement in the town, though no blame is attached to Mr. Robinson, as the young lady insisted upon accompanying him in the canoe.

A. C. A. Officers.

Col. H. C. Rogers and Mr. Geo. W. Hatton, of Peterborough, have been elected to important positions in the American Canoe Association. At the recent Lake George meet, the annual election of officers took place. Col. Rogers was proposed as Commodore by Mr. Stevens, of New York, and he was unanimously elected. The appointment was received with the greatest satisfaction in camp, especially among those of the American contingent who had met Mr. Rogers at former meets of the Association. Mr. Geo. W. Hatton was unanimously elected Secretary, it being considered better to have the Secretary and Commodore living in the same town. Messrs. Rogers and Hatton are to be congratulated.

HIGHWAY ROBBERY

Free-booters organized in Peterborough. GOUGH BROS, at the insolvent sale to-day of T. L. BAYEUR'S large Boot and Shoe Stock, purchased the entire Stock at 57c. on the Dollar. This is dirt cheap, but it is nothing to what the price of Boots and Shoes will be for the next few weeks. The Biggest Bargains on Earth in Leather. The Stock must be run off at once. GOUGH BROS. don't want the Boots and Shoes; they want the Shop, and will practically give the Stock away. Now is the time to get Bargains—a first-class Stock—must be sold on the spot—regardless of Cost—regardless of everything but Clearing out the Store. Fall and wet weather are coming on; prepare for them by Buying your Boots at fabulous Bargains at BAYEUR'S Old Stand, George Street. GOUGH BROS. have proved themselves the Kings of the Clothing Trade, and now they have pulled on their Boots and are going to Wade in Gore from the Slaughter of this Stock of Boots and Shoes. "Come One, come all, these Boots must fly; if Bargains Big will make you Buy."

The fruit season has now come and we must prepare to put up our fruit. Now what kind of jars are we to use? Of course, glass jars; but so many of these we had last year cracked in filling that it makes it very expensive. Oh, I remember how Mrs. Goodwife told me last year she bought her jars at "China Hall," and that she did not break a jar in filling or lose a single can of fruit. I shall buy from China Hall this season. As the price is just the same I might as well have the best.

RARE BUSINESS OPPORTUNITY

Only Limited Capital Required.

TO any young man or woman in Canada, possessed of average intelligence, and having had a fairly good Common School education, an opportunity is here presented to lay the foundation of a successful commercial career. We send you out into the world better equipped to earn a livlihood than can any other similar institution in the country. Hundreds of book-keepers and others to-day occupying responsible and lucrative situations, can look back with sincere satisfaction upon the time spent in this College. They tell us so.

Our system of teaching is founded upon approved business principles, so that the student while under our charge is one of the leading actors in a miniature business world. He is merchant and banker; he buys and sells; he makes money and he loses it—just as do his models of a larger growth. Book-keeping, Arithmetic, Penmanship, Shorthand, Typewriting, and Business Correspondence are thoroughly and practically taught by experienced teachers. Lectures on COMMERCIAL LAW, BANKING AND BUSINESS CUSTOMS AND ETHICS, by prominent lawyers, business men and bankers, are now important features of our curriculum. In short, there is sufficient of the actual business world introduced into our course of studies so to make the change from the College to the Counting House seem quite natural to the graduate.

The principal capital required for this RARE BUSINESS OPPORTUNITY is average ability, and honest, earnest work while in the school-room, for we have no patent process of making book keepers and accountants. Nor do we promise, as a bait, to find employment for our graduates. It has been our privilege to help many a young man and woman into what has proved important and remunerative positions of trust, and it shall continue to be our pleasure so to assist all worthy and competent students. But we guarantee nothing but a sound and practical business education.

OUR FALL SESSION COMMENCES

TURNBULL'S.

We have made extensive preparations in our Tailoring department for an Immense Fall Trade, and judging from the success of our Spring Trade and the way our numerous customers have been bringing in their friends to have a suit made by Mr. Weir, our Tailor, who is well and favorably known in Peterborough for a neat and perfect fit, we feel confident we will do it. Our Fall purchases of Canadian Tweeds have already arrived, which is much earlier than usual. They are exceptionally good value and are sure to please our customers. The styles of pattern are varied, comprising brown and grey mixed diagonal twills, the old pepper and salt and pin head checks, neat, solid and broken checks; loud stripes are largely shown, but we don't think they will become very popular. Our Scotch and Irish Tweeds, English Pilot Cloths and Beaver Overcoatings, we are expecting on invoice of daily. These Goods we have imported direct to insure our Customers getting the best value and the genuine article for in these days of imitation we want to be able to positively state that the goods are as represented.

During the past season we purchased small lots of Boy's and Youth's Clothing of each of the manufacturers besides our regular lines and carefully compared them as to style, quality of goods, the way they are cut to fit the neck, the length of sleeves and the proportion of pants to coat and vest and have placed large orders for the best makes in a variety of styles.

As we cannot keep this notice always before you, all would do well to remember that at Turnbull's you can get a first-class suit made to order, a ready-made suit for a youth or boy, a ready-made overcoat for a man or boy guaranteed at a price that is often paid for a very inferior article that does not wear three months.

BROKER COX ARRESTED.

A SUNDAY NIGHT EVENT AT NIAGARA-ON-THE-LAKE.

The Toronto Ex-Financier Apprehended on A Charge of Embezzling $10,000 of Central Bank Funds.

NIAGARA-ON-THE-LAKE, Aug. 27.—E. S. Cox of Central Bank fame was arrested by Constable Reid on the wharf here at 6.45 this afternoon. When arrested he demanded to see the warrant and the constable could not show one, but he had a telegram saying that there was a warrant out for his arrest. Mr. Cox said it was a lie; there was not a warrant out. He resisted Reid's efforts to take him and he was assisted by a man named Moffatt, of the yacht Vivid, who choked the constable. Several more persons off the yacht whose names are not known also assisted Mr. Cox, but their assistance was of no avail, as Reid demanded assistance from several parties standing around and it was given. As soon as the yachtsmen saw Mr. Cox taken away they immediately hoisted sail and left. Mr. Cox was taken to the Town Hall, where he is held in custody awaiting the arrival of an officer from Toronto.

Cox Charged With Embezzlement.

TORONTO, Aug. 27.—The talk of the town to-day is the arrest of Broker E. S. Cox at Niagara-on-the-Lake yesterday evening. The immediate cause of Mr. Cox's arrest is embezzlement, and Mr. W. H. Howland and Mr. Wm. Gooderham, liquidators of the plundered Central Bank, are his accusers. A warrant has been in Inspector Stark's keeping at headquarters ever since Jan. 20 last for Mr. Cox's arrest. Of the existence of this warrant only half-a-dozen persons in Toronto were aware: Police Magistrate Denison, who issued it, Chief Grasett, Inspector Stark, Detective Sergeant Reburn and the liquidators and their solicitor, Mr. W. A. Foster, Q. C. The warrant recites that "on Nov. 7, 1887, E. Strachan Cox, being a trustee of the sum of $10,000, the property of the Central Bank of Canada, for the use of the said bank, did unlawfully and with intent to defraud, convert and appropriate the same to his own use."

Mr. Cox has been away from Toronto since about Jan. 14 last. At that time he left the city to attend a special meeting of the International Baseball Association at Buffalo and he never returned.

Detective McGrath left by the first boat this morning to bring the prisoner to Toronto.

ANOTHER ABSCONDER ARRESTED.

Forger Bergen Sent Back to Baltimore—Burglaries at Montreal.

MONTREAL, Aug. 26.—Extradition papers in the case of Bergen, the Baltimore forger, arrived yesterday and Detective Hall left for Baltimore with the prisoner last night.

The seizure against Lawrence Hague has been withdrawn and his seat on the stock exchange can now be sold.

Security to the amount of $34,000 has been found for the release of James Goss, arrested on a capias, and he will now be set at liberty.

W. E. Elliott, the insolvent oil merchant who absconded some months ago leaving his bondsmen in an unenviable position, has just been arrested, he having returned to the city recently to see his brother.

There were a number of small burglaries in the city last night.

Dry Goods Assignment.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 27.—Ira W. Ingerton, a dry goods dealer, has made a voluntary assignment. Assets consist of the stock and valuable fixtures, and will amount to about $150,000. Liabilities about $200,000.

THE RETALIATION PUZZLE.

WILL ENGAGE BOTH HOUSES OF CONGRESS THIS WEEK.

The Plumed Knight Discusses Cleveland's Message as One of the Issues of the Campaign.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—It is probable that the President's message and the legislation he has asked for will occupy most of the time of Congress this week. It is understood that several speeches will be delivered in the Senate on the subject and that it will come up immediately after the morning hour to-morrow. The message is now on the desk of the President of the Senate, with a motion by Mr. Sherman to refer it to the Committee on Foreign Relations. The talk will also turn upon the resolution of Mr. Hoar, calling upon the State Department for the correspondence had with Canada relating to the fisheries troubles.

If the Foreign Affairs Committee is able to get a quorum it may report back to the House during the week the Wilson retaliatory bill, with the result of transferring in part to the House the interest which followed the debate last week upon the President's message.

One Benefit of Non-Intercourse.

OTTAWA, Aug. 25.—It is claimed in Government circles that one effect of the policy of non-intercourse on the part of the United States will be to insure the completion of the Hudson Bay Railway giving the Northwest another outlet for the wheat crop.

BLAINE TALKS.

A Reiteration of Familiar Arguments—His Story of the Fisheries Controversy.

LEWISTON, Me., Aug. 26.—The second public address of Mr. Blaine on the political issues of the campaign was delivered in the City Hall at Lewiston last night. Mr. Blain said:

"I did not appen to have an opportunity of reading the full text of President Cleveland's message on the fisheries subject until this morning, and, with all due respect to the Chief Executive of the nation, I must say that, considering all the circumstances, it is the most extraordinary document that ever was sent from the White House to the Capitol. Here are the main facts of the issue between Canada and the United States or, perhaps, to speak more exactly, between Great Britain and the United States in respect to the fisheries:

"It was our belief, and still is, that after the articles of the Treaty of Washington relating to the fisheries had expired, the Canadian Government behaved in an unneighborly, unseemly and unjust manner towards our fishermen in refusing them rights which they had enjoyed by long prescription. In order to bring the government of the Dominion to a just appreciation of the subject, Congress authorized the President, in the spring of 1887, to adopt, at his discretion, a policy of suitable retaliation, directing, among other things, that whenever and so long as American vessels were deprived of commercial privileges in the ports of Canada, Canadian vessels should be deprived of like privileges in the ports of the United States. This, if a may indulge in appropriate slang, was a genuine tit-for-tat policy, in which the punishment was admirably fitted to the crime. President Cleveland declined to enforce the policy and allowed outrage after outrage upon our fishing vessels to go unredressed. He was beat upon negotiation of some kind with England, even against the express will and wish of the United States Senate and in defiance of the large share in the treaty-making power which the Constitution assigns to the Senate. Finally, without the consent of the Senate, and practically against its protest, the President organized a commission to frame a treaty that should settle all points of dispute. He thus gave what was never intended by the Constitution, a partisan side to an international discussion. It was never designed by the founders of our government that intercourse with foreign nations should be conducted by Republicans or Democrats, or by Whigs, or by Federalists. It should only be by the nation as a whole.

"Why should the railways of the United States, that annually transport $50,000,000 of Canadian goods in transit, be deprived of their business and endure a large loss on account of a sudden whim of the President? Why should the transit from Detroit to Buffalo and New York over both American and Canadian lines of rail be suspended when it has no relation whatever to the fishery question? Why should the large traffic between Quebec and Montreal on the one hand and Portland on the other by which Portland becomes the winter port of Canada, be summarily stopped at the caprice of the President, because of his chagrin in over the course of an independent, but, as he considers, refractory Senate? Is it the design of the President to make the fishery question odious by embarrassing commercial relations and commercial exchange along 3,000 miles of frontier, and to inflict upon American communities a needless, a vexatious and a perilous confusion of trade?

"If Congress will give him the enactments which he asks, he will give them retaliation until they cry "Hold, enough," and will allow him to settle the fishery question in the precise manner in which the Senate now contemptuously rejects. Or, after all, fellow-citizens, is not the President's position a mere political device to divert the attention of the American people from his free trade message and from the Mills Tariff bill? Is not blunder on the fisheries to be the plan of campaign for the Democratic party? Are not permits for bravado to be issued by the political agents of the administration, marked on the back 'Good till after the first Tuesday of November.'?

"It is plainly apparent from the text of the Constitution itself that the wise men who framed it intended that the ordinary legislative power should be committed to the majority, however small, but that no treaty could be framed without the overwhelming support of public opinion. They provided, therefore, that it should require in all cases two-thirds of the Senate to ratify a treaty, but despite this the national administration went ahead regardless of results and negotiated a treaty so repugnant to the American instinct of national self-respect that, instead of securing a ratification by two-thirds of the Senate, it was absolutely rejected by a majority vote. What then? At the first rebound the President has leaped so far over on the other side that he asks authority to cripple all our commercial relations with Canada, from Passamaquody Bay to Vancouver's Island. Having for three years offered to waive the rights of the fishermen and the national dignity at the same time, the President desires now to cross over to the other side of the question and out-Herod Herod in his demands for redress. He seems eager to-day to discharge a whole battery of Krupp guns on the question, when last year a blank cartridge from a pocket pistol would have settled the whole affair. After subjecting the country month after month to the humiliation of an unprecedented surrender, the President's supporters, with the zeal of new converts, rather with the extravagant enthusiasm of pretenders, are now manifesting such renewal and deep and keen sense of the wrongs we have experienced from Great Britain in Canada in the matter of the fisheries, that they exceed the President's extraordinary somersault, and in the slang of the Democratic leaders, they are 'thirsting for gore.' The Democratic papers were but a short time ago telling Massachusetts and Maine that their contemptible little question over a few codfish on the banks of Newfoundland was not worth consideration in the national Congress, and that if they kept annoying the country about it they would in the end, drive Congress into giving the full markets of the United States to all fishermen of the Dominion."

Mr. Blaine then referred at length to the matter of the Johnson-Clarendon treaty, which was rejected by the Senate, and the subsequent adjustment of the Alabama claims, saying that history would repeat itself. He claimed that the Democrats had never been fortunate in their diplomatic relations with Great Britain and said if it had not been for the blundering of that party the Stars and Stripes would to-day float over the Pacific front from the Gulf of California to Behring Straits.

He concluded as follows:

"President Cleveland is exactly following Presidents of his party in his negotiations with Great Britain, an abomination of bluster and of surrender, both of which are equally inconsonant with the dignity of a nation conscious of its great power. We certainly do not desire a continuance of the diplomacy which, after studying a subject for three years, can radically change the position of the national administration between Wednesday afternoon and Thursday morning. On Wednesday the President was still urging the Senate, through the entire body of Democratic Senators, to surrender all our rights in the fisheries by agreeing to the treaty, and on Thursday he put those Senators to shame by directly reversing the position he had strenuously held for three preceding years. I do not believe the American people will submit to such trifling with a great question. I believe, rather, that they will commit the government to the great party which from the first day of Lincoln's administration to the last hour of President Arthur's has maintained the force and prestige and right of the union against rebellion at home and aggression from abroad and did it without bravado or bluster on the one hand and without humiliating surrender on the other."

Candidate Thurman's Speech.

CHICAGO, Aug. 26.—At the Democratic demonstration at Cheltenham Beach yesterday, Hon. A. G. Thurman, Democratic candidate for Vice-President, spoke as follows:

"We have within the last few days heard not a little about a message of the President to the Congress of the United States—[Hurrahs for Cleveland]—on the subject of the rejection of the fisheries treaty so-called. Now, my friends, allow me to say a word upon that subject. I have no copy of the fisheries treaty in my possession here; I therefore cannot discuss it, for I would not discuss it from mere recollection; and I have no copy of the President's message down here and therefore cannot read or quote from it; but this I want to say to you: Some years ago this country was greatly agitated by a party called the Know-nothing party. It was a party whose the Irishman was an abomination of abominations [laughter], and if he were a Catholic Irishman he was the accursed of the earth [a voice, "We don't want it again"]; but now, strange to say, those men, who, a few years ago were Know-nothings, and the most abusive of men of the Irish, the Germans and of all foreign-born people, but of the Irish especially, are seeking to court what is called the Irish vote, to get the Irishmen to vote against the men who stood firm by them in defence of their right. ["They can't do it."] in defence of everything that was alleged against them. ["They never will"] No, I hope not. Now they are seeking to get their votes by misrepresenting Cleveland and asserting that he is under British influence. ["They will never get it."] My friends, there never was a more false assertion made by mortal man than that Grover Cleveland is under British influence. You might as well undertake to tell me that Washington was under British influence as that Grover Cleveland is. [Cheers.] If any man thinks for a moment that there is anything in that charge worth investigating, all I have to say to him is, read the President's message sent to Congress this very week, and if you can then say that he is under British influence you can say that white is black and black is white. [Cheers and great applause.] No, my friends, Grover Cleveland knows too well what are the interests of this country. He has too much sympathy with the American people, native and naturalized, to be under any false or improper influence of any country on the face of the globe, or under the influence of any country except his own."

MR. VAN HORNE INTERVIEWED.

He Says American Interests Would Be Damaged Far More than Canadian.

ST. PAUL, Aug. 26.—W. C. Van Horne, President of the Canadian Pacific Railway, being interviewed for The Pioneer Press on the proposals contained in the President's message said:

"The policy of non intercourse between the United States and Canada would damage American railroad interests between two and three dollars where it would injure Canadian interests one. All the Michigan roads would be heavily damaged. New England lines would be hurt, particularly those depending on Canadian lines for an outlet, and the same is true of the lines centering at Niagara, which would have to look to the notoriously illiteral Vanderbilt system for a western connection, or to the Erie, which is a competitor for the very business it would be asked to take west. Roads like the Wabash would also suffer. Roads running north-east from Chicago would only be injured indirectly in the proportion that their business goes on the Grand Trunk. The "Soo" and Duluth, South Shore and Atlantic would of course be heavy losers. However the transfer of flour and breadstuffs for export would not be hindered, as it does not go into Canada.

"Lake interests would be damaged. Since Secretary Manning's order of July, 1886, all the lake business from Duluth, Milwaukee and Chicago to Sarnia, Collingwood and other Canadian railroad ports has gone in American bottoms, and this would be knocked in the head.

"On the Canadian side the blow would fall rather heavily on the Grand Trunk lines but to the Canadian Pacific would be comparatively slight. There is no money for us in American freight anyway, and we could of course hold the passenger business. We would lose the advantages given by the lines to the "Soo" and that is about all. The balance to all this damage is found only in the advantages which would accrue to the New York Central, the Pennsylvania and the Baltimore and Ohio."

On the question of the general commercial damage to each country, Mr. Van Horne thought that American interests would suffer twenty times more than Canadian.

Fatal Accident at Hull.

OTTAWA, Aug. 26.—Yesterday a man named Thomas Rousselle, aged 36, whilst working at a rip saw in the planing mills of the E. B. Eddy Manufacturing Co. at Hull, was struck by a piece of three feet strip, which flew from the saw on his breast directly over the heart, and he expired in two or three minutes.

A Big Gold Brick.

HALIFAX, Aug. 26.—The first brick of gold from the Malaga mine was brought into Liverpool yesterday. It weighs about 460 ounces and is worth about $9,000. This is one of the largest bricks ever seen in Nova Scotia.

Illness of Senator McCallum.

DUNNVILLE, Aug. 25. Senator McCallum is quite low with an abcess in the throat. The doctors say there is no immediate cause for anxiety, but he can get no sleep or rest.

BEER PERMITS IN THE NORTHWEST TERRITORIES.

Hotels Demanding Compensation for the Destruction of their Property by the Volunteers.

OTTAWA, Aug. 26.—Permits are being issued to hotels in the Northwest having a capacity of 12 bedrooms and stabling for 5 horses to import and sell beer containing 4 per cent. of alcohol, the Government to receive a duty of 10 cents per gallon.

Advices have been received by the Government from Mr. Macdowall, M.P. for Saskatchewan, who recently made a tour of his constituency visiting the halfbreeds at Batoche that some of the Metis who took an active part in the rebellion have asked for a compensation for the destruction of their property by the volunteers. They also claim scrip for all children born up to March, 1885.

The Militia Department has refused the application of the Scotia Guards to attend the Burns celebration in Albany, N.Y., owing to the existence of an order-in-Council forbidding militia in Uniform to visit the United States.

Dr. John Thornburn of the geological survey staff has been informed by Prof. Hitchcock of Hanover University that the contemplated trip to the Northwest Territories by members of the American Association for the advancement of science has fallen through, owing to insufficiency of notice. The annual meeting in 1889 is arranged to take place at Toronto and an excursion will then take place.

Mr. John Lowe of the Agricultural Department is expected home on Monday.

Mr. W. Gibbens, who has acted as business manager of The Citizen for the last five years and who is about to assume control of The Cornwall Standard, was given a banquet by The Citizen's employes on Saturday evening at the Grand Union. He was also presented with a costly diamond pin.

Hon. J. A. Chapleau returns to the city to-morrow.

Hon. John Carling has gone to London.

Talmage at Grimsby.

GRIMSBY PARK, Aug. 26.—Rev. Chancellor Sims, D.D., LL.D., of Syracuse preached in the Temple this morning on "Righteousness the Crowning Glory of a Man's Life." In the afternoon Rev. Dr. T. DeWitt Talmage preached on Paul being let down by a rope in a basket. Before the sermon Dr. Talmage said:

"I wish to make an apology. I was announced to preach here last Sunday and lecture here last Monday. I made a memorandum in my diary Grimsby Park Aug. 26 and 27. I was at a loss to know how the mistake occurred until I saw yesterday my own letter to Rev. Manly Benson and I now find the mistake is my own not Rev. Mr. Benson's or President Phelp's. I hope all the newspapers of this country will print what I say here and now on this subject. I suppose some of you have made a mistake in your life, God only makes no mistakes."

Drowning Accident at Hamilton.

HAMILTON, Aug. 26.—A drowning accident occurred on the bay this afternoon about 4 o'clock. Thomas McManus, his brother James and William and Benjamin Mulvale hired a boat from Morris' boat-house and proceeded to the foot of Wellington-street to bathe. While the young men were undressing the boat drifted into deep water and when they jumped in, Thomas McManus, not being able to swim, sank immediately. One of the Mulvale boys caught him and put him on top of the boat which had upset, but he slipped off and sank to rise no more. The body was recovered about fifteen minutes later, but all efforts to restore him proved unsuccessful. The unfortunate young man was about 23 years old and the principal support of a widowed mother, who resides at 82½ Wellington-street north.

Narrow Escape from Death.

MEADOWVALE, Ont., Aug. 26.—The railway bridge on the Canadian Pacific Railway over the Credit River, near this place, which is being replaced by a new iron structure, collapsed yesterday morning just after the express train going north had passed over it and while a freight train was going across. When the engine was well on the bridge it gave way and the locomotive and two or three freight cars went through the bridge and to the bottom of the river. The engineer and his mate had a miraculous escape from being either crushed to death or drowned. They came up out of the water with a few slight scratches.

Montreal's Mortality.

MONTREAL, Aug. 26.—The annual report of the Medical Health Officer, Dr. Laberge, which has just been issued shows the number of deaths in this city during 1887 to have been 5286 or 27.96 per 1000 of the population. In 1886 the percentage was 23.36. The mortality was greatest among the French Canadians being 32.79 per 1000, other Catholics 25.51 and Protestants 18.63. There were 1743 deaths from zymotic diseases, but none from smallpox while in 1886 there were 70. Of the dead 1422 were under 6 months old, 1092 between 6 months and 5 years, 481 between 5 and 20, 615 between 20 and 40, 462 between 40 and 60, 222 between 60 and 70, 224 between 70 and 80, 136 between 80 and 90 and 29 between 90 and 100.

RELATIATORY MEASURES.

The message of President Cleveland advising relatiatory trade measures against Canada cannot at first blush have much more interest for Canadians than the publication of any other campaign document in reference to the presidental election. There is reason to hope that the extent of retaliation will be confined largely to that between the two great political parties of the United States. The republican senate felt themselves in duty bound to veto the treaty negotiated between the government of Great Britain and the U.S. President Cleveland's administration was a party to this treaty and the Republicans sought to make a point with the Anglophobic voters of the United States, and it is probable that their rejection of the treaty would tell in their favour with a certain class. Therefore the Democrats party must do something to checkmate their political opponents, and Cleveland's threat of retaliation is the means employed. Previous to the negotiation of the treaty of 1888, Congress passed a retaliation act which practically provided for non-intercourse in commercial matters between Canada and the United States. This practically shut Canadian ships out of United States harbours, and called for a cessation of railway traffic between these two states. It was supposed that the treaty of 1888 nullified this ridiculous measure, but the rejection of the treaty brings about the status quo ante and we are practically threatened with retaliation. If the act were carried into effect, especially if supplemented by the enlarged powers demanded by President Cleveland's late message, it would prove a serious disturbance to international trade interests yet not, perhaps so serious as might at first be thought. Retaliation would cut both ways, and would injure the commercial interests of the United States as well as those of Canada. The policy of non-intercourse has to a considerable extent been the policy of both countries so far as high customs duties could avail in this direction and if the country has suffered by a partial application of trade restriction there is no doubt that complete commercial occlusion would have a very serious effect. But fortunately the threat of retaliation may be regarded as largely bunsombe, a thorough-going campaign document, intended to influence the election of the president of the United States, and it is probable that after the 6th of next November, retaliation talk and retaliation legislation will be things of the past. If rational trade relations, such as the Liberals of Canada and, it is to be believed, a large portion of the thinking people of the country are in favour of, had subsisted between the two countries, this threatening trouble could not have arisen. For there is the bare possibility that serious complications may arise, and the remarks with which the Empire concludes an article on the subject, though intended to apply in a Jingo sense, are a propos to the commercial situation :— "Yet our eyes are being opened to the possibilities, and we will be an exceedingly foolish people if we fail to remember and to lay to heart the lessons that are now being impressed upon us."

HON. SENATOR VIDAL.

In the Saturday edition of the Mail, the town of Sarnia is written up. The following sketch of Hon. Senator Vidal, father-in-law of Mr. D.B. Gardiner of this town, is given:—

HON. ALEXANDER VIDAL.

Mr. Alex. Vidal, Senator, is a descendant of a family originally from Spain, removing thence to England in the 18th century. He is a son of Capt. Richard Vidal, of the royal navy, and was born in Berkshire, England, on the 4th August 1819. He was educated at the Royal Mathematical school, Christ's Hospital, London; accompanied his father to Upper Canada in 1834; settled in Sarnia in the following year; practiced the profession of a provincial land surveyor from 1843 to 1852; was manager of the Sarnia branch of the Bank of Upper Canada from the latter date until 1866, and held the same position in the service of the Bank of Montreal, from 1866 until 1875, when he resigned. He has held the office of county treasurer since 1853, being the only treasurer that Lambton ever had. He sat for St. Clair Division in the Legislative Council of Canada from September 1863, until the union in 1867, and was called to the Senate in 1873. He is a Conservative and a Prohibitionist, and the leader in the Senate on all measures having reference to the temperance question. He was chairman of the Dominion Prohibitionary Convention, held at Montreal in September, 1875, and is president of the Dominion Alliance for the suppression of the liquor traffic, having held that position since the organization of the Alliance. He is vice-president of the Sarnia branch of the Bible Society and the Tract Society. He is also an elder of the Canada Presbyterian Church, and one of the foremost men in the county in religious and benevolent enterprise. Elsewhere we present a view of "Oakhurst," Senator Vidal's residence, which was erected in 1875 from plans designed by the owner. It stands upon the east bank of the River St. Clair, within a stone's throw of the stream, and is surrounded by a wealth of shade, fruit, and ornamatal trees, shrubs and flowers.

A SMALL-SIZED REBELLION.

Colorado Settlers Arm Themselves and Attack Officers of the Law.

TRINIDAD, Col., Aug. 27.—What may prove a long and bloody struggle opened last week on the Maxwell grant at Stonewall, forty miles west of Trinidad. The sheriff's posse sent to keep the peace was met by the armed settlers in numbers estimated at from 200 to 500 men. The settlers demanded the arms of the posse, which were refused. The posse took up quarters in the Pool Hotel, a large frame building. The settlers endeavored to force an entrance, when the posse opened fire. R. D. Russell, one of the oldest settlers, fell dead, and two or three other settlers were wounded. The building was soon riddled with balls. The witnesses who gave this information left while the conflict was still going on. The citizens are greatly excited. The sheriff is gathering men in numbers to go to the relief of the posse. It is believed that the building will be burned and the dozen besieged deputies put to death before morning. The settlers come from the tributaries of the Purgatoire River; from Vermejo, N. M., and also from the Costilla grant in those mountain fastnesses. It seems useless to oppose them with other militia or regular troops. Public sentiment in Trinidad is entirely with the settlers. The settler cavalry is composed of both Americans and Mexicans. The Mexicans are painted as if for war.

Fatal Boiler Explosion.

CORRY, Pa., Aug. 26.—A terrible boiler explosion occurred yesterday afternoon on the Frank Stranhan farm, 9 miles southwest of Corry, by which two men lost their lives and two others were seriously injured. It was a threshing machine boiler owned by Samuel Boutwell and had been running but little since last fall. Friday the water got low in the boiler and the crown sheet which was repaired recently and thought to be safe was burned. When the explosion took place Engineer Wm. Clough was standing on the top of the boiler trying to start the engine off the centre. The steam gauge indicated 60 pounds. Clough was blown some distance and instantly killed. Arthur McCreaf, one of the workmen, was thrown 90 feet and injured so that he died last evening. Perry Corry and Jefferson Boutwell were also seriously injured. The boiler was thrown through a barn a distance of 60 feet and the threshing machine completely wrecked. Competent men say there was at least 100 pounds of steam pressure on the boiler at the time of the explosion.

The Little Seed.

A little seed lay in the earth's path;
A little shoot bowed in the spring wind's wrath;
A little shrub grew, by its roots held fast;
Then the sturdy tree braved all the winter's blast.

A little cough started—was only light;
A little chill shivered the hours of night;
A little pain came and began to grow.
Then consumption laid all his brave strength low.

Be wise in time. Check the little cough, cure the little chill, dispel the little pain, ere the little ailment becomes the strong, unconquerable giant of disease. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, taken in time, is a remedy for these ills. s

NOT YET SATISFIED.

The Winnipeg Call and Free From Assault The Railway Agreement.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 27.—Notwithstanding the concessions made by the Northern Pacific in modification of the agreement with the Government, The Free Press and The Call bitterly attack it and claim they do not meet all the objections to the contract which is now completed and only awaits signatures and ratification, when the work will be commenced. There is no doubt but that the Legislature will ratify it. The railway company has asked for Customs facilities.

Reports from different parts of the country state that grain cutting is now general and the damage done the crops has been insignificant.

About 2500 bottles of Carling's ale, seized by the police at Broadview, have been destroyed.

A man named McArthur is said to have been attacked with hydrophobia at Portage, but he became sane again

Preferred Death to Disease.

LOGANSPORT, Aug. 27.—Miss Frank Wingard, a rather handsome young woman, swallowed a dose of morphine Saturday evening and died at 12 o'clock yesterday from the effects of the drug. Miss Wingard has been employed at Mrs. Morrow's boarding house, on North-street, since early last spring. Saturday evening she called at Kilmick's drug store and after procuring the morphine she went to her room and prepared for the last final act. Seating herself at a table she wrote a note to her sister, saying that she had taken morphine because she had been deceived. She was 17 years of age.

A Terrain Man Killed in Montreal.

LAPERA, Aug. 27.—Friday night, as a train on the Chicago and Grand Trunk Railway was approaching him, Jeremiah Nickerson, of Sarnia, Ont., attempted to cross the track, in the city, ahead of it. He was struck by the locomotive and frightfully mangled, his head being severed from his body. He was only 29 years old and leaves a wife and two children.

The Authorities in the Dark.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—The authorities of the postoffice are still at sea regarding what became of the $10,000 that was missed a week ago from a money package that came from Portland, Oregon.

A Railway Employe's Terrible Death.

OLEAN, N.Y., Aug. 26.—George Battles, a Western New York and Pennsylvania Railroad employe, was killed and his body terribly mangled yesterday morning by an engine in the yard here. He was a fireman on the road and leaves a wife and five children.

To Cure a Corn.

There is no lack of so-called cures for the common ailment known as corns. The vegetable, animal, and mineral kingdoms have been ransacked for cures. It is a simple matter to remove corns without pain, for if you will go to any druggist or shoedealer and buy a bottle of Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor and apply it as directed the thing is done. Get "Putnam's," and no other. dw

Nature Makes No Mistakes.

Nature's own remedy for bowel complaints, cholera morbus, colic, cramps, vomiting, cholera-infantum, diarrhœa dysentery, and all diseases of a like nature belonging to the summer season, is Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, which can be obtained from all dealers in medicine. Price, 35 cents. 6dw35

Over 300.

"I take much pleasure in stating that since using Burdock Blood Bitters, I have entirely recovered. I suffered from impure blood and had over 300 boils. I can confidently recommend B. B. B. to any sufferer from the same complaint." David F. Mott, Spring Valley, Ont. 6dw35

Nothing But the Truth.

Sirs,—I have found Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry to be the best remedy I ever used for dysentery and all summer complaints among children, and I think it is recommended none too highly. Miss A. Keogh, Victoria Vale, Annapolis Co., N. S. 6dw35

Like Magic.

"It always acted like magic. I had scarcely ever need to give the second dose of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry for summer complaints." Mrs. Walter Govenlock, Ethel, Ont. 6dw35

The Growth of the Hair

Should always be watched. Inattention to the hair often leads to premature baldness and baldness. When dandruff appears it should be looked after at once. By frequently using a little of Dr. Devereynod's Great German Hair Magic, the scalp will be kept in a clean healthy condition and the growth and vigor of the hair greatly promoted. It is the only remedy. Do not be misled by anything anything else. For sale by all druggists everywhere. dw

Piles! Piles! Itching Piles.

SYMPTOMS—Moisture, intense itching and stinging, most at night; worse by scratching. It allowed to continue tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate, becoming very sore. SWAYNE'S OINTMENT stops the itching and bleeding, heals ulceration, and in most cases removes the tumors. At druggists, or by mail, for 50 cents. Dr. Swayne & Son, Philadelphia. Lymans, Sons & Co., Montreal, Wholesale Agents. dw is generally a victim of confirmed dyspepsia or indigestion, caused by eating too rapidly, bolting food without chewing it sufficiently, overloading the stomach, etc. Burdock Blood Bitters cures dyspepsia and all kindred diseases. 6dw35

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria,
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria,
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria,
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

We not only make pieces for ladies who are bald, but further who have fine heads of hair. These pieces are made to save trouble of curling ones own hair, every lady who sees them recognises the advantage of wearing them.

Every accommodation is offered to the patrons of this establishment. We have private rooms where ladies can have their hair dressed in any style. We have also a most complete Gents' Hair Dressing Department.

At present the establishment is being thoroughly overhauled, and is being extensively enlarged. Everything will be in good running order about the middle of August and it will be one of the principal places of interest to visitors to Toronto.

Everyone is cordially invited to call and have a look over this establishment, as it is the largest and most complete in America.

Remember the place, A. DORENWEND, Paris Hair Works, 103 and 105 Yonge street, between King and Adelaide streets. Look out for the merry go-round in the window.

DRUNKENNESS

Or the Liquor Habit Positively Cured by Administering Dr. Haines' Golden Specific.

It can be given in a cup of tea or coffee without the knowledge of the person taking it; it is absolutely harmless, and will effect a permanent and speedy cure, whether the patient is a moderate drinker or an alcoholic wreck. It has been given in thousands of cases, and in every instance a perfect cure has followed. It never fails. The system once impregnated with the Specific, it becomes an utter impossibility for the liquor appetite to exist. For circular and full particulars, address GOLDEN SPECIFIC CO., 185 Race street, Cincinnati, Ohio. eodw

SUN

LIFE ASSURANCE COMP'Y OF CANADA.

HEAD OFFICE, MONTREAL.

Both in Magnitude and Profitableness, the Business for 1887 has been almost everything that could be desired.

The life policies now in force are 7,128 for $10,673,777.69, on 6741 lives. We have moreover $3,207,000 00 insured under 1,340 accident policies, so that the total current contracts of the Company are 8 069 for $14,081,377 69.

The income for the year shows the very large increase of $122,231.23 over the figures of 1886, the total being $495,831.54. The revenue is now half a million dollars per annum, or as mentioned in the report, over $1,600 for every working day in the year, and even this be believed was but a mere introduction to what it will be in a few years hence. The gains from time to time are well illustrated by the following table:—

Period	Gain in income.	Gain in assets.	Gain in assurances.
1872 to 1876, four years	$ 54,611 21	$169,482 69	$1,149,743 69
1876 to 1880, four years	38,580 67	195,188 29	1,467,286 14
1880 to 1884, four years	126 976 84	263,264 31	2,982,924 90
1884 to 1887, three years	217,451 80	475,807 24	4,029,375 65
Total in 1887	$495,831 54	$1,750,694 48	$10,673,777 69

It is very pleasing to notice that the gains for the last three years only are 60 per cent. more than those of the preceding four years.

The Hilarious Harry.

Harry Lindley and his dramatic company, after a six months' successful trip in the United States, have returned to Canada once more. They will play this week at Bradburn's Opera House, presenting a splendid programme each night. To-night the play will be "Calamity Jane," a comedy of the first water, that, in Harry's hands, will be certain to please a critical audience.

THE best paper in A. L. DAVIS & Co.'s exercise books for five and ten cents. d

The Provincial.

An agitation to have the Provincial Exhibition abolished is being renewed. The Legislature last session decided to withdraw the grant to the institution, but as Kingston has been promised the fair this fall, the money was voted. Complaints are numerous that the Provincial is a mismanaged affair all through, and writers in the public press demand its abolition regeneration. The former alternative seems to be the impending fate of the Provincial.

George Street Church.

Sunday night services were attended by a very large congregation. The pastor, Rev. M. L. Pearson, preached a sermon specially to young men, taking for his subject the story of Joseph, whose character he upheld as a model for all young men to copy. After the sermon, Miss Miller, of Rochester, sang a beautiful solo in excellent voice.

Next Sunday evening, the pastor announced, he would preach a sermon upon the subject, "the church of God likened to a boat race." He said he had been following out the recent aquatic events and had observed in them many valuable suggestions.

A Hallelujah Band.

The Salvation Army band is making itself heard in town these days, and is rapidly becoming a musical organization of no mean order. It numbers about eight instruments and two drums. One of the players who appeared on Sunday is a little boy apparently about seven years old, who has to take long strides in order to keep step with the others. As he toots away as his alto horn, his little cheeks puff out and his eyes threaten to bulge out of their sockets, but he trudges merrily along and plays with scarcely a mistake. It is said several lady members will soon make their appearance in the band and play instruments.

Addresses to the Electors.

Mr. Stratton concluded his series of meetings in the back townships by addressing the electors at Union Creek on Saturday night. Meetings have been held at Ventress' school house, Harvey; Ford's school house, Cavendish; Swamp Lake and Union school houses, Galway. These meetings were more largely attended than the campaign meetings convened under the excitement of the general election, and go to show that the people appreciate the manifestation of a real interest in their welfare. Mr. E. B. Hall, of Stratton & Hall, barristers, accompanied Mr. Stratton, and made supplementary addresses to the electors.

Around Chicago.

Last week's number of the Chicago British American has the following items:—

We had a call this week from Mr. Choate, formerly of the Casey House, Peterborough, Ont., who is staying in this city.

J. F. Walton, of Pullman, Ill., is away for holidays. Cobourg and Peterborough, Ont., are his points of destination.

Among the expert carvers employed in the Pullman works are Harry C. Walton and his brother, R. E. Walton. They are from Peterborough and Cobourg, Ont., and are in receipt of good salaries.

Another Physician

By reference to card in the proper column of this issue, it will be seen that Dr. Goldsmith has taken possession of the residence on Brock street purchased from Mr. J. F. McWilliams, and has opened an office for the practice of his profession in Peterborough. Dr. Goldsmith spent six years in Campbellford and thirteen in Warkworth and is just now returned from London, where he sought successfully to enlarge his medical knowledge, having taken three new degrees. He spent a good portion of his time as a hospital devoting special attention to diseases of the eye, ear and throat, and will make a specialty of these diseases in his practice in Peterborough, which, it is to be hoped, will be lucrative and successful.

A Peculiar Storm.

The storm on Sunday night cleared the sultry atmosphere and was followed by another cold wave. About ten o'clock there was the slightest sprinkle of large drops of water in town, while in Ashburnham it rained heavily for five minutes.

Shipping Brick.

Messrs. Mark Curtis & Son on Tuesday shipped a scow-load of 18,000 bricks to Rosseneath, the second shipment of a similar kind within a fortnight. Last year these yards turned out thirteen hundred thousand bricks, this season the total out-put will be over a million and a half.

After the Wife-Beating Horse Thief.

Mr. Mansfield, reeve of Galway, is on the trail of Ritchie, the party who stole his horse and buggy, and will soon run him to earth as the thing has been traced. It appears he took the new road for Ventress' school house, to Beckboro, thence over to the Berleigh and thence in a northwestern direction towards the Belleville and Kingston district.

A. L. DAVIS & Co.'s is the place to buy your school books. d

School Re-Opening.

The public schools and Collegiate Institute re-opened to-day, and were dismissed at noon. The attendance in the public schools is good, but there seems to be a falling off at the Collegiate Institute. This the Principal thinks is due to the fact that some people believe they will have to pay a months' fee if they send their children to the Institute for even the few days there are still left in August, and postpone their beginning for another week. They need have no fears of this kind. The departmental regulations only recognize ten months of school work, so that the fees for August, a holiday month, cannot be charged anyone.

Another Big Property Purchase.

Mr. John Carlisle is a restless and pushing real estate dealer and builder. In respect to his operations in Ashburnham he may be called a town builder. Upon the property he purchased last year, and divided into lots, fifteen new houses have gone up. This new purchase is part of the Erskine property, two blocks east of the Dickson Company's mills, and will at once be subdivided into building lots—in fact the plan of the property is about ready. These lots will be within easy reach of the post office and business centre of the town. As they will be put in the market at very easy figures and on easy terms of payment this will present an excellent opportunity for those desiring to secure a home.

ALL your school books can be bought at A. L. DAVIS & Co.'s. Buy from them and save running to two or three places. d

Sporting Notes.

A meeting of the Y.M.C.A. lacrosse club is called for this evening.

The Colts and Lambs play their return match this afternoon.

The weekly run of the bicycle club last Friday night was a failure. Only one member, the captain, turned out. Now he is kept busy collecting fines from the delinquent wheelmen.

Mr. H. LeBrun, who is holidaying at Old Orchard Beach, was on the yacht Dusty, that won first prize in the regatta at that place on Tuesday of last week. Though a pretty big weight for a small sloop, Harry didn't prove the craft's Jonah, by any means.

On Wednesday afternoon a baseball match will be played on the P.A.A.A. grounds, between the office clerks and students of the town and a nine selected from the dry goods and druggists' teams. Play will begin about three o'clock.

The Peterborough baseball club is arranging a match with Campbellford. They will probably visit that village on the 30th or Sept. 5th.

Mr. C. Shaw, of the bank of Toronto, was one of the Lachine crew who paddled at the Lake St. Louis races Saturday, and came in fourth. No word has been received in town as to the result of the single canoe race in which he was to compete.

Too Much Whistling Yet.

To the Editor of the Examiner:—

SIR,—Although several letters have appeared in the newspapers on the subject of the whistling nuisance on the railway here, and the assurance said to have been made to the mayor that it should be abated, it continues to a great extent, especially during the night, when the engineers seem to delight to make as much noise as possible by continuous whistling. Scarcely a night passes without this being the case.

I hope that Messrs. Moore and Douglas will adhere to their determination to have the nuisance completely stopped, notwithstanding the nasty, sneering, uncalled-for remarks of the "Times" of a few days ago.

Yours truly,
CITIZEN.

Personal.

The Peterborough representatives at the annual meeting of the A.C.A. were Messrs. E. B. Edwards and I. Wright.

Messrs. Jas. Lowe, despatcher, and F. S. Hill, of the engineers' department, Midland Railway, left this morning for Portland on a holiday trip.

A message has been received from Ashbury Park that Mrs. Nicholls is much better. This will be joyful news to her many friends and relatives in town.

Mr. W. H. Stevens, Secretary of the Y.M.C.A., has returned from his holidays, which he spent at his home Sherbrooke, Que.

Rev. Father Connolly, who conducted the priest's retreat at the Cathedral here, performed a like service for the priests of the diocese of Toronto.

Rev. W. K. Anderson, Baptist minister of Lindsay, passed a few hours in town today. He was en route to Caledonia Springs for a few weeks holidays.

Mrs. John McKee and children returned home Saturday evening. Mrs. McKee is much improved in health, and her many friends will be pleased to learn that she will be able to be among them as formerly and expects soon fully restored to her usual good health.

Are Men Dying Out.

The Problem Evolved by a Southern Statistician—A Prohibited Way Full of Women.

A statistist of New Orleans recently announced that he had—by means of figures which were to him most conclusive—arrived at the startling belief that eventually there would be no men left on the earth,—women alone surviving.

A Montreal paper took the matter up and got a physicians' opinion to the effect that the men were really dying off faster than the women, and for various reasons.

The EXAMINER had a talk with a well-known sanitary physician of Peterborough this morning on the subject. The doctor smiled at the broad belief of the southern scientist, and said that though such a state of affairs could never be, it was an undoubted fact that the death rate was much higher among men than women. The vital statistics of Peterborough, as well as other cities and places where the records are kept, proved this fact. Last month, for instance, as was published in the EXAMINER of Friday, there were 9 male deaths to 3 females.

"Do you think it possible that women alone might be left to inhabit the earth, as this New Orleans doctor states?"

"No, it's hardly possible and for this reason. As the males would decrease, there would of course be fewer marriages and consequently less births. Statistics show that the birth rate of males is greater than that of females, while their death rate is also much higher. If the birth rate was to decrease it would of course affect both sexes. To the very last there would be about the same ratio of men to women as there are at the present day."

"What are men's chances for life compared with women's?"

"Not nearly so good. From various causes the death rate among men is much higher, though women are the weaker and more fragile of the two sexes. Yet it seems that the women's very weakness is their strength. Men rush off into dangers and excitements, give themselves over to vice and vicious habits, relying on their strength to carry them through. Women are less hardy and they know it. They are sheltered and protected, or at least ought to be, by the men. Married women of course live the longest of any of their sex."

"Then you believe that marriage is conducive to longevity of life?"

"Undoubtedly. Why, did you ever see a very old spinster lady? Very seldom, I'll warrant, while it is no uncommon thing to see an aged grandmother up in the eighties and nineties. It is my experience that maiden ladies seldom, if ever, live beyond 50 years. They seem to fret themselves to death; shrivel up and blow away."

"Naturally, how does the length of life of men and women compare?"

"Men are stronger and ought to live longer than women, but for the reasons I have mentioned it is the opposite way. In some localities, of course, the death rate among women is greater. In the large cities of the north, where the women enter more into the duties of men, and are thrust at a tender age into factories and workshops, their lives are considerably shortened by the hardships they undergo. But wherever women are protected and shielded from the vicissitudes of life, they generally live longer. That there are more males born and more females survive is indisputable, but whether man is, by reason of his headstrong ways, his passions and his vices, to be finally swept off the scene, is a matter for more figuring than I have at present time to give to the question."

Police Court.

MONDAY, Aug. 27.

It Thos. Ritchie does not become a better boy after his police court experience this morning, it will be because his conscience never felt the pangs of remorse nor his heart the wholesome fear of the law that should restrain his evil inclinations. Officer Stewart arrested him yesterday for being drunk and disorderly, and though he strenuously denied that he was guilty of either he hung his head abashed and could not deny the charge that he was a wayward young man and had already been before the "beak" several times. Magistrate Edmison admonished him that he must mend his ways, and reproved him for his neglect of his mother, who was obliged to support him. In answer to questions Ritchie said he had not worked for a month and a half. The magistrate spoke severely of Ritchie's loose, indolent, and drunken habits, and said he intended to trifle no longer with him. Something must be done to save him from ruin. His former convictions had done him no good; he would give him one more and a last chance, by administering a heavy fine and warning him that if he appeared in court again he would be sent to a reformatory for three years to learn a trade and become a respectable member of society. The magistrate said that if he occupied the bench much longer he intended to put a stop to this street loafing, on Sunday especially. He read the delinquent before him a lecture upon the subject, and wound up by fining him $10 and costs, giving him ten days to earn the money. This case should be a warning to other young men who are given to the same pernicious habit.

Geo. Flack lives on Edinburgh street and spoils the effect of his six days industrious labor during the week by occasionally going off on a "bender" on Sunday. He was charged this morning with this offence, but it being his first appearance in court, and having a family to support, he was dismissed with a warning.

Petition of the Priests.

They Ask for Certain Privileges in Regard to the Appointment of an Archbishop.

Some time ago, says the Globe, the priests of the Toronto diocese sent a petition to Rome in which they asked for privileges similar to those extended to priests in the United States, namely:—

1. That in due number of immovable rectors be appointed, possessed of the proper qualifications, who cannot be removed from their mission except for canonical cause.

2. That appointment to such missions or parishes be given only to priests who, when the choice is being made, show the greatest fitness, due regard being had to seniority, knowledge and piety.

3. That in making the choice the examiners of the clergy and consulters of the diocese will preside.

4. That when the See is vacant, and names are to be submitted to the Holy See, and consultors and immovable rectors may have a voice by proposing the bishops of the Province, three names to be presented to the Holy See, the right being reserved to them (the bishops) of objecting in writing against any of the candidates.

As there are within the diocese and province quite a number of priests who are remarkable for their knowledge, ability, piety and zeal, and we are convinced that their being passed over in the selection of a successor to the late archbishop would give occasion of much adverse remark in the public journals, and would be besides the cause of much grumbling among the people, it would be pleasing to all if one of the above men were selected archbishop.

Father Rooney has now received a reply to this petition, the effect of which is that after the appointment of a successor to the late archbishop a synod of the bishops of the Province of Ontario will be convened when the privileges petitioned for by the priests will be granted.

Literary Notes.

SCRIBNER'S MAGAZINE for September is an exceptionally interesting number. Its illustrations are, if possible, more artistic and finely finished, both in composition and execution, than those of any of the preceding numbers, while its letter press is full of interest, in the way of providing instructive and entertaining reading matter. It contains articles on a wide range of popular subjects by the Hon. Hugh McCulloch, ex-Secretary of the Treasury; General Horace Porter, W. H. Mallock, author of "Is Life Worth Living?"; R. C. Bunner, author of "The Midge," Robert Louis Stevenson, Will H. Low, Henry James, Thomas Wentworth Higginson, and other writers of distinction in prose and verse. This number is enriched with more than one hundred superb illustrations. The following table of contents gives a partial idea of the excellence of the September number:

"Show Your Tickets!"—Passenger Station, Philadelphia—Frontispiece; from a drawing by Walter Shirlaw, engraved by Peakwell. Scenes in Cyprus—By W. H. Mallock; with illustrations from photographs taken by the author, engraved by Hoskin, 9 headpieces, E. Clemens, Andrew, and others. A Jar of Rose Leaves—By Thomas Wentworth Higginson. Memories of Some Contemporaries—By Hugh McCulloch. A Summer Evening—By James Herbert Morse. Railway Passenger Travel—By General Horace Porter; with illustrations from designs by E. Blum, F. C. Jones, Chas. Broughton, J. D. Woodward and others; engraved by Van Ness, Butler, E. Clement and Delorme. A London Life—In four parts, conclusion; by Henry James. The Lost Friend—By Nora Perry. Silver and Gold—By Edith M. Thomas. Presidential Campaign Medals—By Gustav Kobbe; with illustrations from pieces in the cabinets of Robert Hewitt, William Pellion, and the American Numismatic and Archæological Society of New York. A Second-Hand Story—By H. C. Bunner. First Harvests—Chapters XXVII.-XXXI, by F. J. Stimson, (to be continued.) Fuji: The Sacred Mountain—By Percival Lowell; with an illustration from a painting by J. H. Twachtman, engraved by Elbridge Kingsley. The Modern Greeks—By Thomas D. Seymour; with illustrations from drawings by F. D. Millet and Kenyon Cox, and from a painting from E. H. Blashfield. A Letter to a Young Gentleman who proposes to embrace the career of art; by Robert Louis Stevenson. A letter to the same young gentleman; by Will H. Low.

Indian River.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The farmers here are nearly through harvesting, and a few have threshed. The grain is turning out splendidly.

Mr. Patrick Heffernan, of the township of Douro, brought in the first load of new spring wheat to Duff's warehouse here, and it is a better sample than the spring wheat of last year.

Miss E. Backet, of Peterborough, was visiting her friends here on her way home from Old Orchard Beach, where she had gone a few weeks for the good of her health.

There is some talk of a branch railway line to be built from here to Warsaw and North Dummer. Some prominent gentlemen from Peterborough were here last week prospecting, and they are certain before one year from now the iron horse will be in Warsaw.

There were fifteen thoroughbred Clydesdale horses went through here on their way west from Aberdeen, Scotland. Five of them were the property of Mr. Russell, of the township of Markham; the others were for the vicinity of Toronto. The farmers of Western Ontario seem to lead the van in importing thoroughbred horses.

The C.P.R. has a gang of men working in the gravel pit west of here, and when they feel inclined to give another open air concert it would be more enjoyable to the inhabitants of the village if they would have it a little earlier in the evening.

News Nuggets.

—A meeting of the town council will be held to-night.

The fruit season has now come and we must prepare to put up our fruit. Now what kind of jars are we to use? Of course, glass jars; but so many of those we had last year cracked in filling that it makes it very expensive. Oh, I remember how Mrs. Goodwife told me last year she bought her jars at "China Hall," and that she did not break a jar in filling or lose a single can of fruit. I shall buy from China Hall this season. As the price is just the same I might as well have the best.

TURNBULL'S.

We have made extensive preparations in our Tailoring department for an Immense Fall Trade, and judging from the success of our Spring Trade and the way our numerous customers have been bringing in their friends to have a suit made by Mr. Weir, our Tailor, who is well and favorably known in Peterborough for a neat and perfect fit, we feel confident we will do it. Our Fall purchases of Canadian Tweeds have already arrived, which is much earlier than usual. They are exceptionally good value and are sure to please our customers. The styles of pattern are varied, comprising brown and grey mixed diagonal twills, the old pepper and salt and pin head checks, neat, solid and broken checks; loud stripes are largely shown, but we don't think they will become very popular. Our Scotch and Irish Tweeds, English Pilot Cloths and Beaver Overcoatings, we are expecting an invoice of daily. These Goods we have imported direct to insure our Customers getting the best value and the genuine article for in these days of imitation we want to be able to positively state that the goods are as represented.

During the past season we purchased small lots of Boy's and Youth's Clothing of each of the manufacturers besides our regular lines and carefully compared them as to style, quality of goods, the way they are cut to fit the neck, the length of sleeves and the proportion of pants to coat and vest and have placed large orders for the best makes in a variety of styles.

As we cannot keep this notice always before you, all would do well to remember that at Turnbull's you can get a first-class suit made to order, a ready-made suit for a youth or boy, a ready-made overcoat for a man or boy guaranteed at a price that is often paid for a very inferior article that does not wear three months.

SEVERE THUNDER STORMS.

A Number of Barns in Oxford and Middlesex Struck by Lightning.

INGERSOLL, Aug. 28.—A series of severe thunder storms passed over Ingersoll and the country to the south Sunday afternoon. It is reported that six barns were struck by lightning, but as yet the particulars of only three have been received. The first barn was that of M. McGee, on the town line between Deerham and Dorchester. The barn contained the season's crop. The next was Stephen Halphin's barn, on the town line between West Oxford and Deerham. The barn was also full of grain and was totally destroyed. The third was a new barn owned by Wm. Shelton, on the first concession of Deerham. It was valued at $600, and was insured in the Western for $200 on the barn and $300 on the contents. This barn was also full and was totally destroyed. A good deal of hail accompanied the downpour, and it is reported that it was much more severe and did considerable damage to fruit to the south of this point.

Lost the Season's Crop.

RIDGETOWN, Aug. 28.—Last night during a severe thunder storm a barn belonging to Benjamin Weaver, a farmer living about a mile from this place, was struck by lightning and totally consumed, together with a large quantity of hay and grain. The dwelling house, which was close to the barn, narrowly escaped destruction. The loss is about $1,400, no insurance.

Disastrous Results Near Montreal.

MONTREAL, Aug. 28.—A number of barns were struck by lightning and destroyed in the immediate vicinity of Montreal during Saturday night and Sunday's thunder storm.

AGAINST RAILROAD MONOPOLY.

A Resolution Passed by the Municipal Board of Trade.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 27.—A largely attended meeting of the Board of Trade to-day passed a resolution to the effect that the control of the provincial railways should not be abandoned by the Government without arranging for ample facilities being given, on reasonable terms, to everyroad wishing to enter the province to compete for trade. The vote was 35 to 5, prominent Reformers and Conservatives supporting the resolution in strong speeches.

The Government declares that the modified contract sweeps away all opposition and anticipates its ratification by a very large majority.

The Free Press continues to oppose it strongly, pointing out numerous alleged defects and claiming that it is a complete giveaway to the Northern Pacific.

Last week 415 immigrants arrived here. The weather continues very hot.

BELLEVILLE BRIEFS.

A Young Man Fatally Injured—Keyser Remanded Until Friday.

BELLEVILLE, Aug. 28.—Henry Keyser, who was to have been sentenced yesterday for attempting to ravish his brother's wife was further remanded until Friday.

Wesley Cummings, a young man who was acting as substitute for the driver of a horse which hauls dump cars on the double track, was fatally injured yesterday morning. The horse being frightened by a passing train Cummings ran to stop it, but fell in front of the four cars, all of which passed over him, so seriously injuring his right leg and left arm that amputation of both was found to be necessary. The unfortunate man, who is but 21 years of age, and the son of a widowed mother, will probably die, as his internal injuries are serious. Another man named Richard Jones, employed in coupling dump cars, had one of his hands badly crushed.

GALLAGHEL LET 'ER GO.

And His Wagon Was Smashed—Stabbing Affray at Hamilton.

HAMILTON, Aug. 27.—A team belonging to Gallagher was coming down the mountain with a load of brick on Saturday afternoon when the tongue of the wagon broke and the horses ran away. The wagon came down the Johnstreet hill at a terrible rate and upset near the Church of the Ascension. The driver jumped off, and the horses broke away from the wagon and were not injured, but the outfit was entirely smashed.

It is doubtful whether little Lillie Parker, who was injured a week ago by a heavy piece of iron falling on her, will recover.

About 8 o'clock on Saturday night James Laing, a rolling mill employe, was attacked on Stuart-street by a gang of fellow-workmen who were drunk and ugly and stabbed in the shoulder and head. At the Police Court this morning Pat Dowse was charged with the assault and William Dowse with aiding. Laing not being able to appear, the prisoners were remanded until Thursday.

On Saturday Sydney Grant fell into the canal while attempting to jump ashore from his steam yacht. He was unable to swim and as the current was running strong at the time would probably have drowned had it not been for a young lady aboard the yacht who threw him a rope.

On the night of Aug. 22 a boy named Thomas Edwards was knocked down by two men at the corner of Bay and Mulberry-streets and robbed of $2.65. To-day Wm. Ringer, was arrested, charged with assault and robbery, and admitted his guilt. The other party is a young bootblack named Alfred Goff, who was one of a gang of disorderly lads arrested by constable Blakely last week and is now doing time in jail.

The toll road arbitration opened to-day. The session was taken up with arguments on the question whether the road company shall be allowed to collect tolls pending the investigation.

The Garrick Club will give a public dramatic performance this fall in aid of some city charity. THE MARKETS REVIEWED.

Leading Features at Home and Abroad—A Scarcity of Good Butter.

TORONTO, Aug. 28.—Business was quiet on the St. Lawrence market yesterday morning. The supply was small and there was no change in prices. Tomatoes still kept up in price. Pickling cucumbers sold at 20c to 30c per hundred. The supply of apples was small and they sold at $1.25 to $1.75 per barrel. Eggs are quoted at 17c and butter 18c to 26c. All the good butter that can be got is wanted.

Buffalo cheese market reports 4750 boxes sold at 8¾c and 300 boxes on commission, the market being weak and the offerings 6850 boxes, including 1800 boxes of Cloverfield, which were not sold. At Little Falls the transactions were 56 lots at 8¼c, 71 lots at 8¼c, 3 lots at private terms and 7 lots on commission, total 8952 boxes. Thirty packages of creamery butter sold at 20c to 21c, with the bulk at 21c, and eighteen packages of farm dairy at 18c to 19c. The Utica market was unexpectedly lively, the transactions being 13,915 boxes and the ruling price 8¾c.

On the hay market a few loads changed hands at $21 per ton. Straw brought $11 to $13. Between 400 and 500 bushels of oats were offered on the grain market and sold at an average of 37c. One load of wild goose wheat brought 78½c per bushel. No barley was offered.

At the Board of Trade call board 98 cents was offered for No. 2 red winter, but no transactions were made.

JOINED THE BANKERS' COLONY.

A Michigan Financier's Elopement—Supposed to be in Canada.

HILLSDALE, Mich., Aug. 28.—Charles W. Waldron of this city, who, with B. Northrup owns a savings bank at Reading and with Hon. Ezra L. Koon a private bank in this city, disappeared from here Wednesday morning. Yesterday afternoon the fact leaked out that he had gone to Canada with Mrs. Bidwell of Quincy. He took some of the assets of both banks and disposed of most of his personal property. Mr. Koon is abundantly able to satisfy depositors and all deposits will be paid. There was little or no run on the bank yesterday morning and all is quiet now. Mr. Northrup will meet all the obligations on the Reading Bank. Waldron leaves a wife and two children and before going away he deeded his wife a small portion of his property.

CONGRESSIONAL SNARES

SET FOR PRESIDENT CLEVELAND YESTERDAY.

Both Houses Engaged with the Retaliation Muddle—Interesting Discussion in the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—Senator Edmunds (Rep., Vt.) to-day proposed the following as an amendment intended to be added to the resolution of Senator Hoar (Rep., Mass.) calling on the President to communicate to Congress all remonstrances, if any, which he has addressed to Canada in regard to discrimination against American vessels passing through Canadian canals:

"That there be communicated to the senate copies of all papers, correspondence and information touching the matter of the refusal of the British Government, or that of any of her North American dominions to allow entry at Dominion exports of American fish or other cargoes for transportation in bond to the United States, since July 1, 1885, and also that he communicate to the Senate what instances have occurred since March 3, 1887, of wrongs against American vessels in the ports or waters of British North America and what steps, if any, have been taken in respect thereto."

Proceedings in the House.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—In the House today Mr. Davis (Rep. Mass.) introduced a resolution requesting the President to communicate to the House copies of all communications addressed by his direction to the Government of Great Britain, remonstrating with that Government against the wrongs and unfair treatment of our citizens by the action of the Canadian Government in refunding to vessels and cargoes which pass through the Welland and other Canadian canals nearly the entire tolls if they are destined to Canadian ports, while those bound to American ports are not allowed any such advantage, and against the breach of the treaty of 1871, whereby Great Britain promised to the United States equality in the matter of canal transportation. The President is also called upon for copies of any demand made by his direction upon Great Britain for redress of such wrongs and the replies of Great Britain to such communications or demands.

No Quorum.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—The House Committee on Foreign Affairs attempted to meet to-day, according to order, to consider the President's message on the Fisheries Treaty. Only six members responded to the roll call. As a quorum did not appear no effort was made to transact any business, and the proceedings were confined to an informal discussion which was mainly interesting from the fact that it revealed a strong disposition on the part of the three Democratic and three Republican members present to divide on party lines. This discussion related to Article XXIX of the Treaty of Washington with legislation that has been enacted touching entries of goods in bond at United States ports for Canadian consumption. The President's message and accompanying documents were not at hand when the committee met, and it is probable that several days will be consumed in preliminary discussion before the point of action is reached. Chairman Belmont sent this telegram from Bar Harbor which was read to the committeemen present. "I will certainly return to take part in the consideration by the committee of the Retaliation Bill. I cannot reach Washington Monday, but if there is an adjourned meeting I will be present."

The House Committee on Foreign Affairs will meet again to-morrow, when it is believed a quorum can be obtained. A large part of to-day's session was consumed in a discussion as to how far Congress might go in the matter of retaliatory legislation while observing existing stipulations of the Treaty of Washington. Acting Chairman McCreary expounded the President's position and endorsed his recommendations as proposing legislation strictly within the power of Congress.

Mr. Hitt (Rep., Ill.), who enjoys the distinction of having been a member of the committee in 1883 when it recommended and secured the passage of the joint resolutions terminating the fishery articles of the Treaty of Washington, explained at length the understanding of the members as that time of the effect of the resolution. He said that they were unanimously of the opinion that their action did not in any way affect the articles relating to railway transportation. Citing the records he pointed out that when Mr. Rice reported the resolution in the House Mr. Washburne had inquired particularly upon that point, and had been assured by Mr. Rice, speaking for the committee, that the railroad articles were in no way affected. Following up his argument, which was intended to demonstrate that Congress could not without violating the treaty, unless it first gave the requisite four years' notice of termination, put in operation the retaliatory legislation directed against Canadian goods imported in bond, recommended by the President. Mr. Hitt endeavored to show that the same question had arisen in the Senate. To avoid any misunderstanding on the subject he said Mr. Edmunds had then proposed an amendment to the resolution expressly declaring that it did not apply to any other than the fishery articles of the treaty.

A flaw in the Wilson-Morgan Bill was brought to light during the discussion. It appears that the terms "British possessions in North America" and "Canada" are used synonymously in the text. It was suggested that the effect would be, if enacted into law, to except Newfoundland, which is one of the possessions but not a part of Canada, from the operations of the law.

A Legal Question.

OTTAWA, Aug. 27.—The opinion in well informed legal circles here is that President Cleveland's proposed abolition of the bonding system cannot be legally effected without two years' notice being given of such intention. In the notice given for the termination of the fishery articles of the Treaty of Washington, Article XXIX, referring to bonding was not included. In the proclamation issued by President Arthur, dated Jan. 31, 1888, he specifies the various articles which are terminated, but the twenty-ninth is not one of them.

Merely a Political Manoeuvre.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 27.—Goldwin Smith says that he does not attach any significance to Cleveland's message, it being merely a political manoeuvre.

Mr. Chamberlain Silent.

LONDON, Aug. 27.—Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain on being questioned by a press correspondent in relation to the rejection of the Fisheries Treaty by the United States Senate, said he did not propose to comment upon the Senate's action, which had long been foreseen.

TALE OF THE BARK GYFIE

TOLD BY TWELVE OF HER CREW AT NEW YORK.

A Villainous Captain and First Mate Accused of Repeated Attempts to Scuttle the Ship.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Twelve sailors of the bark Gyfie, who were brought to this city by the steamer Persian Monarch, appeared before the British consul yesterday morning and told a strange tale of the villainy of the captain of the Gyfie which ended in his scuttling the bark with the help of the first mate. The story is as follows:

We left Quebec for Greenock, Scotland, and when in the Gulf of St. Lawrence the bark sprung a leak. It was not of much importance and we were willing to man the pumps and keep on our course but Captain Tait insisted on changing our course and we headed for St. John's, Nfld, arriving there on July 19. An immediate survey was ordered by Captain Tait and after being repaired we resumed our voyage on Aug. 16.

On the night of Aug. 19 we again sprung a leak. The pumps were manned and worked until daylight, when they suddenly gave out. Several of the men investigated and found that the pumps had been tampered with and rendered useless. This aroused the suspicion of the forecastle and Steward Brown was ordered to watch Captain Tait. Brown says he did so and shortly before noon on Aug. 20, saw the captain and first mate go into the hold through the fore hatch. The steward event forward and getting down saw the mate on his knees close to the skin of the vessel with an augur in his hand and the captain standing over him. All this time there were four feet of water in the hold. The steward started aft and reported what he had seen to the men and it was determined to watch the captain and mate still longer. Their patience was soon rewarded, as od that afternoon the captain and mate again entered the hold, this time through the after hatch. What they did in the hold no one knows but the men believe that additional holes were bored in the side in the after part of the ship.

On the night of Aug. 20 a sailor named Lyons sighted the Persian Monarch and on reporting it to the deck was ordered by the captain to tell all hands to prepare to leave the ship. There was then ten feet of water in the hold. When the men got on deck with their dunnage the captain called them aft into the cabin and made them all sign a paper to the effect that the vessel was unseaworthy. "There is now ten feet in the hold," said the captain, "but when you get aboard the steamer I want you to say that there are fifteen feet of water in the hold."

When all hands got on deck the captain sent Boatswain Bergaust and six men to saturate the deck, upper woodwork and cordage with paraffine, which was done. He said he wanted to fire the ship before leaving her. When the steamer's boat came up the officer in charge came aboard and saw the paraffine. He asked why the stuff had been scattered about and the captain explained. All hands with the exception of Second Mate Robinson took to the boats, the latter saying he would stick to the ship as long as a plank of her floated. He did not consider her unseaworthy, he said, and though the chances were poor he would try to take the vessel into some port. The officer of the Persian Monarch knowing nothing then of the story of the scuttling, thought Robinson crazy and tried to persuade him to leave the bark but he persisted and remained on the vessel.

When the boats reached the steamer the captain, evidently becoming frightened, decided to return to his ship and called upon the men to return with him. All refused but the first mate. Immediately after the captain and mate had returned to their ship the steamer sailed on her course, leaving the ship about 500 miles south by east of Newfoundland.

The men also claim that it was common talk in St. Johns that the bark would never reach port. They say that was also their own opinion and consequently they refused to sail on her. The St. Johns police, however, compelled them to return to the vessel.

TORONTO TOPICS.

Broker Cox Lodged in the Cells—Fatal Accident to a Workman.

TORONTO, Aug. 28.—Nearly 3000 persons gathered at the Cibola's wharf yesterday afternoon to catch a glimpse of Broker E. S. Cox upon his arrival from Niagara. He was at once hustled into a carriage between Detective McGrath and Sergeant Detective Reburn and taken to police headquarters, where he was lodged in the cage. He will be arraigned in the Police Court to-day.

The remains of the late Alfred Medcalf was interred yesterday afternoon in St. James' Cemetery in the presence of a large concourse of people. The District and private Orange lodges sent large contingents. Rev. E. A. Stafford conducted the service. It was one of the largest funerals seen in Toronto for years.

MORE ELECTRIC LIGHTS.

It is Proposed to Light the Whole Town by Electricity.

School Matters Ventilated by the Town Council — Applications for the Vacant Town Offices—Enquiry to be Made Regarding Railway Whistling — The Simcoe Street Bridge Again—Report of the Council Proceedings.

At the regular meeting of the town council Monday night, there were present Mayor Stevenson and Councillors Cahill, Davidson, Kelly, A. Hall, Yelland, Moore, Douglass, Langford and Hartley.

Communications were read as follows:

The directors of the Mechanic's Institute applied for a renewal of the grant to the library of the Institute—Referred to the Finance Committee.

Mr. E. Phelan complained that the Simcoe street bridge was higher than his hotel and injured his property.—Received.

Mr. M. O'Brien applied for relief of dog tax as his animal had been shot. The matter was referred to the Court of Revision.

PETITIONS AND APPLICATIONS.

Mr. Peter Henry applied for the position of clerk of the police court.—Referred to the committee on appointments.

Mr. Joseph Griffin's application for an auctioneer's license for the rest of the year at a proportionate rate, to the length of time of the license, caused considerable discussion. Mr. Kelly moved that it be granted, while Mr. Davidson moved in amendment that the regular license fee be charged for the balance of the year, and in case a license was taken out next year, half the license fee of last year be refunded. The amendment was carried.

A number of property owners on Weller street asked the council to authorise the extension of the water service on Weller street, and the placing of a couple of hydrants on the street.—Referred to the Fire, Water and Light Committee.

Mr. W. H. Roberts and some others asked for a new sidewalk on the east side of Stewart street, from Macdonel to Murray street, and a small footbridge across the creek on the end of the street.—Referred to the Street and Bridge Committee.

Mr. R. W. Errett applied for the positions, either one or all of them, of clerk, treasurer and police court clerk of the town.—Committee on appointments.

Mr. W. H. Wrighton applied to be appointed to the position of town clerk and treasurer.—Committee on appointments.

Wm. Taylor and a large number of others asked for the extension of the water mains on Albert street for fire purposes.—Fire, Water and Light Committee.

A number of residents on Aylmer street petitioned the council to have the embankment on the east side between Murray street and McDonnel street lowered and the street widened so that they could boulevard it and plant trees.—Street and Bridge Committee.

Mr. W. B. Ferguson asked for the contract of the corporation's supply of coal at the rate of $6.25 per ton.—Referred to the Property Committee.

The Separate School Board's demand of $2,500 was referred to the Finance Committee.

The Secretary of the School Board sent in a demand for $4,200 for public schools, and $7,240 for the Institute. The communication was received.

Mr. H. Sherwood offered to lower the Simcoe street bridge for the sum of $75.—Referred to the Street and Bridge Committee

SCHOOL MATTERS.

Mr. Davidson, speaking of the demand of the school board for $4,000 and $1,000 extra, the former to be placed on the roll for next year, said he thought that would be too much to hamper the ratepayers with all at once. Next year they would probably spend $10,000 on a school building, and he proposed that the board be asked to submit the matter to the people for the raising of the amount by debentures.

Mr. Moore wanted to know if the board had power to incur any large expenses like this without consulting the council.

The Mayor replied that he didn't know the law on the subject, but he would say for the board that they did not intend to undertake any extraordinary expenditure without consulting the council. But the $4,000 put down to the roll of next year was demanded by the government for repairs to the Institute, and the secretary had just put it down as a sort of post-script, probably without any instruction from the Board. The Board believed they could make the necessary alterations for less than the government estimate, but the repairs had to be made just the same. The Board had requested the government not to press them this year in the matter of the improvements, explaining to them that it would have to be submitted to the people. Next year the board would put it before the council and the people, and they would then have the opportunity of saying whether the standing of the Institute should be kept up or allowed to lapse into a high school.

Mr. Davidson moved, seconded by Mr. Moore, that the demand of the school board for running expenses be granted, and that the items of school site and building improvements be referred back to the school board, and would advise submitting a by-law to the people to raise the necessary amount and any other important expenditures.

The mover and seconder explained that this was to spread the expenditure over a term of years so that the Board would not be burdened with it in one year. The motion was carried, with a vigorous "no" from Mr. Hartley, who foresaw in it death to the north ward school scheme.

LABOR DAY.

An invitation from the committee of the trades and labor unions of the town, for the council to attend the demonstration at Hastings on Sept. 3rd, was received from Robert McGregor, secretary. On motion of Mr. Cahill, seconded by Mr. Hartley, the invitation was accepted.

SIMCOE STREET BRIDGE.

Mr. Langford, Chairman of the Street and Bridge Committee, referring to the matter of the Simcoe street bridge, said he had inspected the bridge with Mr. Belcher and Mr. Sherwood, the latter of whom thought it could easily be lowered. However, the engineer had no report on the subject.

Mr. Moore thought it better in that case to leave the matter to a special committee.

Mr. Phelan was heard. He explained what damage the bridge did his property; he said he had notified the engineer of it before the bridge was built, but he was not listened to. Mr. Phelan said he wanted the bridge lowered to the level of the street.

Mr. Hartley moved that the matter be referred to the Street and Bridge Committee to report upon immediately.—Carried.

FINANCE.

Mr. Davidson presented the report of the Finance Committee, recommending payment of the following accounts:—E. Shortley, $5.25; Kingan & Co., $22.23; W. G. Bain & Co., $1.35; Salisbury & Bros., $1.75; Little Lake Cemetery Co., $2.50; Electric Light Co. (3 months,) $436.25; Nicholls Hospital, June, $76.64; P. Connal & Co., $31.55; Dickson & Co., $654.50; Geo. Hilliard, $414.60.

The report was adopted.

CHARITY.

Mr. A. Hall, chairman, reported an expenditure by the charity committee during July and August of $54.75, divided as follows:—No. 1 Ward, $15.25; No. 2, $10; No. 3, $10; No. 4, $13.50. The report was adopted, and Mr. Hall further reported regarding the case of Wm. Coarse, suffering from cancer, that he was still in gaol and the physician reported that it would not be advisable to move him. The Toronto hospital authorities offered to take him on certain terms, but it was thought just as cheap and comfortable for him to remain where he was.

ELECTRIC LIGHTS.

Mr. Hall also presented the following report:—

Your Fire, Water and Light Committee beg leave to report and recommend that the petition of Meldrum & Davidson, A. W. Brodie and others be granted, to have three hydrants placed on Race street, or one on London street east, and two on Race street as your committee see best to place them.

Your committee have considered the matter of lighting the outlying streets with electric light, and would recommend the council to take the number required at the reduced rate of $60 per annum, and cancel the gas lamps where not required; and that the committee be authorized to have them put up as soon as possible; and that the gas lamps not required, terminate on December 1st, 1888.

ADAM HALL,
Chairman.

Mr. Hall stated that the committee thought the electric lights should be placed as follows:—One each at Auburn, corner Cemetery and Water streets, George and Argyle, Smith and Water, Edinborough and Reid, London and Reid, Brock and Reid, Brock and Stewart, Hunter and Downie, Charlotte and Rubidge, Sherbrooke and Park, Dalhousie and Park, Albert and Park, Aylmer and Townsend, George and Perry, Lake and Water, and Lake and Aylmer streets—sixteen new lights, or a total of 37 in town. That was as far as the committee had yet gone, but the circuit had not yet been completed. This would mean an expenditure of $2,340, but as a great number of gas lamps would be cancelled, he estimated that the actual increase upon the amount expended at present for lights would be about $95.

Mr. Cahill and Mr. Kelly thought there might be some chance for improvement in the placing of the lights.

Mr. Kelly and Mr. Douglass complained that the west end had been passed over entirely.

Mr. Kelly suggested, and in it he was backed by Mr. Moore, that in the centre of the town, at least, the lights should be kept burning all night.

After some further discussion, the report was received and laid over till next meeting.

MOTIONS.

Mr. Kelly moved that the chairman of the Property Committee be instructed to have the hands on the east side of the clock placed in running order.—Carried.

Mr. Langford, in presenting his motion, said the building of the new bridges on Charlotte street had cut off the the drinking places at the creek, and there were no places to water horses except at the hotels. He moved, seconded by Mr. Hartley, that a couple of troughs for horses be placed in the centre of the town. The motion was laid on the table as a notice of motion.

Moved by Mr. Moore, seconded by Mr. Douglass, that it be referred to the Finance Committee to look into the official books of the late treasurer, and if it is found that they are in an incomplete state and not posted up until the time of his death, that said committee make arrangements to have such work done by a competent accountant and employ auditors to audit said books, and that the committee have power to act.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Moore, seconded by Mr. Douglass, that the clerk be directed to communicate with the secretary of the Railway Committee of the Privy Council of Canada, and enquire if any action has been taken with respect to the resolution of this council regarding the excessive use of the steam whistles on locomotives passing through the town, and urge upon the said Railway Committee early action in the matter, as the railways contreing here have not abated the nuisance.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Cahill, seconded by Mr. Davidson, that the advisability of making the new sidewalks now being put down or about to be put down on George street, being made two or more feet wider, be referred to to the Street and Bridge Committee with power to act.—Carried.

The council adjourned till Wednesday evening, Sept. 5th.

The cleansing, antiseptic and healing qualities of Dr. Sage's Remedy are unequalled. b

A MONTREALER FOUND DROWNED.

Another Crossing Accident—Gabriel Dumont to be Presented With a Purse.

MONTREAL, Aug. 28.—The body of Joseph Archambault, the contractor, who had been missing since Thursday, was found last night in the Lachine Canal.

A farmer named Barthelemy Dufresne was struck by a Canadian Pacific Railway locomotive while he was driving across the railway track yesterday and is now in a precarious condition.

Gabriel Dumont returns to the Northwest in a fortnight. Before leaving he will be presented with a well-filled purse by his numerous admirers in this city.

A warrant has been issued for the arrest of an American named George Van Loer, who has been running an employment agency here and who has been swindling a large number of people out of their 50 cents, $1 or $2 which they paid him for the prospect of future employment. Van Leer has skipped.

James Guest, the insolvent wine merchant who was arrested on a capias, is still in jail, not having been able to procure bail as yet.

Desormeaux & Co. of this city have just purchased the water power at St. Jerome and will establish a glove and mitt factroy there.

LIFE ASSURANCE COMPY OF CANADA.

HEAD OFFICE, MONTREAL.

Both in Magnitude and Profitableness, the Business for 1887 has been almost everything that could be desired.

The life policies now in force are 7,128 for $10,873,777.69, on 6741 lives. We have moreover $3,207,600 00 insured under 1,840 accident policies, so that the total current contracts of the Company are 8,969 for $14,081,377.69.

The income for the year shows the very large increase of $122,331.23 over the figures of 1886, the total being $495,831.54. The revenue is now half a million dollars per annum, or as mentioned in the report, over $1,600 for every working day in the year, and even this he believed was but a mere introduction to what it will be in a few years hence. The gains from time to time are well illustrated by the following table:—

Period	Gain in income.	Gain in assets.	Gain in assurances.
1872 to 1876, four years	$ 54,611 21	$169,432 69	$1,149,743 00
1876 to 1880, four years	38,580 67	195,188 29	1,167,386 14
1880 to 1884, four years	136,976 84	363,284 31	2,962,924 90
1884 to 1887, three years	217,451 89	475,607 24	4,029,373 65
Total in 1887	$495,831 54	$1,750,004 48	$10,873,777 69

It is very pleasing to notice that the gains for the last three years only are 60 per cent. more than those of the preceding four years.

Police Pointers.

The police found a trunk lying in front of a George street harness shop last night, where it had been left to be called for. It was put in a place of safety.

Mrs. Joseph Valois sought the aid of the police last night. It appears she had had a row with her husband, and when she called at the station bore marks of vigorous punishment on her nose, which was out and scratched until it presented a sorry spectacle. A police court case may result.

Trent Valley Canal Matters.

Mr. A. F. Wood, M.P.P., North Hastings, valuator of the Trent Valley Canal, is in town to-day, on official business. He has been instructed by the Dominion government to investigate the claim of Mr. W. H. Hall, for damage said to have been sustained by him by the shutting off of the water at the time of the construction of the Buckhorn Locks. Evidence will be taken in Peterborough in a few days. Mr. Poussette has charge of the matter in the interests of Mr. Hall.

Horticultural Society's Exhibition.

Intending exhibitors are informed that the secretary will be in attendance at the Charlotte street Skating Rink on Wednesday from 3 to 6 for the purpose of receiving entries for the exhibition to be held at the same place the afternoon and evening of the following day, when the Fire Brigade Band will be in attendance during the show. The band will also give a promenade concert in the evening. The prospects for an excellent exhibition are good, and it is hoped that the public will encourage the Society by a liberal patronage of the exhibition. The Society's exertions are wholly in the interests of the public as implied in the beautifying of the town, and their efforts are worthy of generous support.

A Good Man Gone.

The following from the St. Catharines Evening Star, refers to a brother of Mrs. Smith, wife of Mr. G. A. Smith of the Bank of Commerce, town:—Word was brought to the city this morning that Mr. Frank Wyatt, one of the best known and most useful men of the County of Lincoln had breathed his last after a gallant fight against that grim monarch of diseases, consumption. Mr. Wyatt was of English birth, but he had spent the greater part of a very active and useful life in the vicinity of St. Catharines, his home in Louth near the top of the Fifteenth hill being well-known to almost every resident of the district. A man of rare ability and energetic thought, Mr. Wyatt's name has for years been intimately associated with the politics of the county, he having served the township of Louth in the office of reeve for the past nine years, during which time he had also served the county by filling the warden's chair in the county council, with honor to himself and credit to that body. Mr. Wyatt leaves a wife and family of seven children. The funeral takes place on Tuesday afternoon.

Almost A Fire.

Last night about eleven o'clock the planking of the Hunter street bridge over the creek was observed to be on fire, the result of a carelessly thrown cigar stub. A few minutes more and the bridge would have been in flames.

A Lad Missing.

Master William Robinson, son of Mr. John Robinson, an employee of Hamilton's foundry, has been missing since tea-time last night. Although diligent search has been made to-day, up to the hour of publication, no tidings of the missing boy has been secured.

Don't blunder past The Pantry Store and get disappointed in bargains.

Returned to Kingston.

Mr. W. Reeves, of Kingston, who purchased the bankrupt stock of Mr. A. McNeil and has conducted a clearing sale at the old stand for the past few weeks, yesterday returned to the Limestone City with the remnant of the stock yet unsold. Mr. Andrien, who assisted him here, also returned to Kingston.

Keep Off the Streets.

The police have started a crusade against street loafing, and have abandoned the old "move on" remedy for one that it is hoped will prove more effective. A number of young men who are in the habit of spending their evenings on the street corners, have received summons to appear before the police magistrate on Thursday to answer to the charge. The police intend to prosecute this system until the pernicious custom is abolished.

Stolen Property Recovered.

Yesterday Chief Rossel received a message from Stirling to arrest a man on the Grand Junction train for the theft of two watches. The train was in when the message came, and though the thief escaped, the chief succeeded in recovering a watch and chain valued at $125, which had been left with an hotel man for security. The other had been pawned at Hoard's station for a railway ticket to Peterborough.

A Great Day for Scotchmen.

On Thursday, August 30th, the nineteenth annual convention of the North American United Caledonia Associations will be held at Albany, N.Y. A feature of the proceedings will be the unveiling of a statue of Robert Burns, Scotia's darling poet, in Washington Park. The statue is the McPherson legacy to the city of Albany. The Peterborough St. Andrew's Society have received a very handsome invitation card to attend the ceremony, and it is probable they will be represented by Dr. Massie, of Colborne, member of the local branch. Cheap railway and hotel rates have been procured for delegates.

A. L. Davis & Co.' is the place to buy your school books. d

A Clothing Store Burglarized.

This morning Mr. Geo. Ball, George street, discovered that his store had been entered during the night and a quantity of clothing extracted. Entrance was gained through a back window, the top half of which was broken and the stick that held up the sash removed. Mr. Ball misses four suits of clothes that had just been made up, besides a quantity of web cloth taken from the shelves. The burglars left a pair of pants belonging to one of the suits. There is no clue to the burglary as yet.

Minor Accidents.

Mr. J. Alexander, a carpenter employed on Mr. Cox's new buildings on Hunter street, next the post office, the other day fell from a scaffold and received a severe wound on the head that has since laid him up until to-day.

Yesterday Mr. Wm. Munro, the genial bar-tender at the the Grand Central hotel, had his face badly cut by the bursting of a pop bottle. His lower lip was cut to the bone and had to be stitched. His cheek also received a severe cut.

Mr. Fred Robinson gets around with a limp now, as the result of a horse stepping heavily on his foot last night.

The Horse Thief Sighted.

Mr. Stratton received the following postal card from Mr. Hugh Drain, of Norwood, this morning:—

I see by the EXAMINER that Mr. Mansfield, Reeve of Galway, lost his horse and buggy. A man calling himself Ritchie stopped here last week and fed his horse which horse (and buggy) answered the description of the one stolen. Ritchie is a middle aged man with long beard and said he was going to Hastings village, where he had a daughter. We are making enquiries about him, and if we find his whereabouts will advise you. I do not know Mr. Mansfield's address, therefore I write you that you may notify Mr. Mansfield.

Yours truly,
HUGH DRAIN.

A Bad Runaway Accident.

Mr. T. Cavanagh, of the Belmoral hotel, had a narrow escape from death Monday afternoon. He had his handsome team of grey horses, that he is fitting up for the Industrial Exhibition, out for exercise, and after a preliminary spin pulled up at the hotel entrance to take Mrs. Cavanagh for a drive. While waiting, the greys, which are high-spirited animals, became restless and anxious to be off. To get a better grip on the reins, Mr. Cavanagh leaned forward in the buggy and wound the lines round his hands. In doing this the reins slackened for an instant and one of the horses got the bit in his teeth and both started off at runaway speed up Charlotte street. At the corner of George street Mr. Cavanagh had the presence of mind to recollect that the upturned bridge on Charlotte street would bring certain disaster to himself, and endeavored to turn his horses down the street. They were going at such a rate of speed that this could not be accomplished, and, running too close to the sidewalk, the buggy struck and was overturned in a flash. Mr. Cavanagh was thrown violently through the window of Moore's marble works, smashing the glass and cutting himself severely. But he was jerked out again almost as soon as he was thrown in; the lines being wound round his hands, he could not free himself, and in an instant he was pulled back through the window by the horses. Fortunately at this juncture one of the animals fell over some bags of potatoes lying in front of Mr. Brown's store, and before the runaways could go any further they were stopped and Mr. Cavanagh's life saved. He was immediately taken to the hotel and Doctors Collins, King and Haliday at once summoned. It was found that there was a deep cut in Mr. Cavanagh's back, directly over the liver, and a scalp wound in the head six inches long, besides minor cuts and bruises all over the body. Dr. King is surgeon in charge, and after an examination of the patient this morning believes that he will recover.

Local Sports and Pastimes.

Willow and Wicket.

The Colts are beginning to think of tackling the first eleven for a match. Their victories over the veterans have been so decisive that they are looking around for foemen more worthy of their steel. The Colts played a good all round game Monday afternoon. The bowling of Hamilton and Pearson, particularly the former, was very destructive, only one man reaching double figures. Thirteen men were played on each side, and game was called at six o'clock, when there were yet three wickets of the Colts to fall. Their win was by 118 runs and 3 wickets. Sterling got the most wickets for his side, though his bowling seemed the most productive of runs. Messrs. Strickland, Minore and Parker all tried their hand at trundling the ball. For the Colts Pearson, Hamilton, Hodge and Dumble made the scores. Pearson played a fine game throughout. The scores are

A CHALLENGE.

The Colts have issued a challenge to the first eleven to play a match game on Saturday next, Sept. 1st, provided no foreign match has been arranged for. The Colts exclude Ray and Stratton, and as Day is out of town and Logan has gone back to school, they hope to be able to give the remainder a close game at least.

Lacrosse.

A meeting of the Y.M.C.A. lacrosse club was held Monday night. It was decided to begin regular morning practice on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, in order to be in trim for their next matches. Port Hope will be asked to play here on the 11th or 13th of September, and Lindsay on the 18th or 20th. The members of the club are requested to turn out for practice to-morrow morning.

The following team will represent the Riversides in their match at Bradford to-morrow:—C. J. Phelan, J. Joyl, F. Stephenson, A. Butler, T. Meagher, M. Halpin, F. Larone, J. Begley, F. Pakenham, Dr. Brennan, T. Duncan and A. Rose; J. Coughlin, field captain.

Baseball.

The Port Hope baseball club will play in Peterborough next Monday (civic holiday) on the athletic grounds.

Garden Hill plays at Port Hope on Friday.

To-morrow (Wednesday) afternoon the office clerks will play a nine of the druggists and dry goods men on the P.A.A.A. grounds. There will be a good game and lots of fun. A small admission fee will be charged, just enough to cover expenses.

Aquatic.

A letter has been received from Mr. C. Shaw, stating that he had lost the canoe race at Montreal on Saturday which he had hoped to win. It was a tandem, in which he and his partner, Mr. Shearwood, came in third. They lay their defeat to lack of practice and being in poor condition. However, Mr. Shaw won the single canoe race, which affords him consolation. He will probably return home Friday.

Miss G. Hall received to-day an elegant red cedar paddle which she won at the A.C.A. races last month. It has the word "Couchiching" painted on the blade.

Police Court.

TUESDAY, Aug. 28.

George Wheeler laid a complaint of assault against Robert Wainwright, but the evidence showed that the plaintiff was rather the aggressor. He claimed that Mr. Wainwright owed him an account, and haunted the defendant's butcher shop to get it. It would appear that he was drunk most of the time, and used abusive and insulting language that the proprietor resented by forcibly ejecting him from the shop. Wheeler then sought balm for his wounded parts by applying to law, but the magistrate held that Mr. Wainwright's vigorous kicks were justifiable and so dismissed the case. The plaintiff was half drunk while in court and gave very confusing evidence. Mr. W. H. Moore conducted the defence.

Personal.

Mr. E. D. Gough, Toronto's great clothier, is in town to-day.

Mr. A. White, of Toronto, traffic manager of the G.T.R., is in town to-day.

Mr. D. H. Moore, Mrs. Moore and family left to-day for a month's visit in the western States.

Mr. Aaron Cox returned home to-day from an extended trip through Manitoba and the west.

Mr. Wm. Logan, of Nugent's drug store, is spending his holidays at his home in Fenelon Falls.

Mr. J. M. Kennedy, of the Wallaceburg Herald and Record, and Mrs. Kennedy are in town visiting friends.

Mr. Poussette, Q.C., left for Albany, N. Y., this morning to conduct the examination for the plaintiffs in the now celebrated case of Scott v. Benedict.

Mr. Joseph Parker of Batly, Yorkshire England, and father of Mr. J. S. Parker, organist of St. Paul's church, is in town on a visit to his son.

Prof. Doucet, Mrs. Doucet and son, are absent this week on a visit to Montreal, Quebec and the lower St. Lawrence. They expect to return home on Saturday night.

Mr. C. C. Hampshire, organist of St. George's Church, St. Catharine's, who, with Mrs. Hampshire and child, has been spending a fortnight in town, left for home this morning. On Sunday, both morning and evening, Mr. Hampshire took the organ of St. John's, with great acceptability.

The Lindsay Warder says:—"It is with pleasure we learn that Mr. Gallon has been appointed to the important position of Inspector of Agencies for Eastern Ontario for the Manufacturers' Life Insurance Company, for which district Wilson & Morrison, of Peterborough, are managers. We do not doubt that Mr. Gallon will prove a success in his new undertaking, and wish he may prosper."

News Nuggets.

—An excursion party from Harwood and vicinity visited town Monday afternoon.

—Mrs. Everett, Aylmer street, fell down cellar on Saturday evening and was pretty severely cut.

—Millbrook has her civic holiday to-morrow (Wednesday), and the firemen will make an excursion, via Peterborough, to Campbellford.

—The body of Miss Lillie Holland, drowned at Port Hope on Friday, has not yet been recovered.

—The bills proclaiming Monday next a public holiday are issued and may be seen about the streets.

Campbellford.

A correspondent of the press writes as follows:—

Doctor Goldsmith has sold his drug store and residence to Dr. Gallagher, who had charge while he was in England, for the sum of $6,000 and has removed to Peterborough, where I understand he has purchased the residence of Mr. John B. McWilliams. Many are the regrets expressed by the people of this town and vicinity at his departure. He has been a resident here for the last six years, and has earned for himself a reputation both as a citizen and physician of which he may well feel proud. As a physician he has been eminently successful, and as a citizen, I may say that by his urbanity, generality and liberality he has made friends of all and foes of none. He is liberal in the fullest and highest sense of the term, ever ready to visit the poor and minister to their necessities, even when he had no hope of compensation, as attestatively as if they were rich. Having made up his mind to remove to Peterborough, and in order the better to qualify himself for future and extended usefulness in his profession, he went to London, England, in September and returned last June, having spent eight or nine months in the hospitals and colleges of that metropolis. The doctor and his good lady carry with them the esteem and good wishes of the whole community.

The fruit season has now come and we must prepare to put up our fruit. Now what kind of jars are we to use? Of course, glass jars; but so many of those we had last year cracked in filling that it makes it very expensive. Oh, I remember how Mrs. Goodwife told me last year she bought her jars at "China Hall," and that she did not break a jar in filling or lose a single can of fruit. I shall buy from China Hall this season. As the price is just the same I might as well have the best.

CORSETS

Every lady purchasing CORSETS and wishing to get the Best Article for the least outlay, should visit TURNBULL'S, as he always keeps in stock the Best Makes from all the leading manufacturers. Some makes are peculiarly adapted to suit a particular style of figure. Below we enumerate a few lines from which you can select in any size from 18 to 30. Larger sizes procured on short notice.

THE YATISI CORSET

is modelled from a design of one of the most celebrated Parisian makers. It gives a lady that ease and grace so much admired in French ladies.

The YATISI CORSET owing to the peculiar diagonal elasticity of the cloth will fit the wearer perfectly the first time worn, no matter what her style of form is, either long or short waisted. To ladies wishing to lace light and not feel uncomfortable at the bust or hips, they are indispensible.

The YATISI CORSET does not stretch at the waist; requires no breaking in; fits comfortable the first time worn, as it gives to every motion of the wearer. It will outlast any of the old style rigid Corsets.

The YATISI CORSET can be worn ten days and if not found satisfactory in every respect the money will be refunded at TURNBULL'S.

THE CORALINE CORSET

What is Coraline? Coraline is composed of a bundle of stiff and and very elastic fibres like bristles tightly bound with strong thread. Coraline contains no sizing of any kind but its stiffness exists in the natural fibre and is permanent. Look for the Coraline Corset at TURNBULL'S, every pair stamped.

BALL'S CORSETS.

These Corsets need no breaking in—invalids can wear them with ease and comfort, as they do not compress the vital parts of the wearer. They fit a great variety of forms owing to their peculiar construction—they are very durable. They have the endorsement of every physician who has examined them. Every pair warranted—the money refunded if not satisfactory after wearing them three weeks at TURNBULL'S.

THE PARISENNE.

The PARISENNE is a new make which is becoming very popular. It is something after the style of the old French Corded Corset—is shorter waisted than most of the other makes, which makes it adapted for a stout figure.

Everything desirable in the Corset line always to be found at TURNBULL'S at prices that are never beaten.

NO ACTION TO BE TAKEN.

IN THE CASE OF THE AILSA CRAIG POSTMASTER.

The Time for the Completion of the New Departmental Building at the Capital Extended to Jan. 1, 1889.

OTTAWA, Aug. 29.—The Postoffice Department will take no action in regard to the case of Shackelton Hay, postmaster at Ailsa Craig, who assigned recently on account of a banking business which he carried on. The amount due to depositors is said to be $20,000. Hay's accounts with the Government are clear and there are no deficiencies. In addition to this his sureties express their willingness to continue to act.

Mr. John Lowe, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, has returned to the city from Manitoba. He reports that very little damage has been done to the grain crop, and estimates the yield at 20,000,000 bushels. The Canadian Pacific Railway are making every effort possible to move the crop, and among other things are erecting an elevator at Port Arthur, to which reference has already been made, with a capacity of 1,500,000 bushels.

The time for the completion of the new Departmental Building has been extended to Jan. 1.

It is understood that the final evidence in the arbitration case between the Government and the Canadian Pacific respecting the Onderdonk section will be taken in Ottawa.

Mr. Schrieber, Superintendent of Government railways, has resumed his duties here.

Hon. J. H. Pope, Minister of Railways, has returned from the Eastern Townships.

Senator McInnes of Hamilton and Mr. G. R. Pugsley, President of the Regina and Long Lake Railway, are in the city on Government business.

Hon. John Carling has returned to the city.

Great preparations are being made to give Sir Hector Langevin a warm reception at Aylmer on Saturday on the occasion of laying the corner stone of the new postoffice building.

MOROCCO FLOWING WITH BLOOD.

War to the Death Between Muley Hassan and His Rebellious Subjects.

LONDON, Aug. 29.—There is now war to the death between Muley Hassan, the Sultan of Morocco, and his rebellious subjects. Their last outrage was more than his barbarous nature could stand, and he has set out to avenge his cousin Prince Muley's death in a wholesale manner. Some time ago the Sultan sent to the rebels at their request Prince Muley, with an escort of 200 horsemen, to collect tribute and receive their submission, but the rebels, remembering how Muley Hassan put to death their companions whom they sent as a peace deputation, decoyed the prince and his escort into ambush and murdered them to a man. The Sultan himself has gone in pursuit of the rebels, and poor Morocco flows with blood.

The outraged monarch has allowed his troops to sack and burn the rebels' villages and to commit whatever depredations they pleased in the latter territory. The troops have availed themselves of the privilege, and have plundered towns, ravished women, killed children and old people and have enslaved numerous captives. The Sultan is now believed to be besieged by the rebels, whom he has pursued in his wild rage. The country is in a terrible condition and a famine is beginning to make itself felt throughout the land, and half of the people are in a rebellious state.

MANITOBA'S LEGISLATURE

OPENING OF THE SESSION YESTERDAY.

The Speech from the Throne—Debate on the Address in Reply Begun—The Railroad Lobby Gathering.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 29.—The opening of the Legislature by Governor Schultz yesterday a terncon attracted a large crowd.

Mr. Winram, M.P.P. for Manitou, was elected Speaker.

The speech from the Throne was very brief, referring to the long residence of the Governor in the province and his satisfaction at its progress and development. It announced that the Government had made arraagements which, if ratified, will secure competitive railway rates and foreshadowed amendments to the municipal, school and land titles acts.

Notice of appointment was given to investigate the conduct of Provincial Auditor Nursey.

Business will be rushed through, the debate on the speech, commencing last night, and night sessions being held till the close of the session.

Mr. Sefton moved the address endorsing the Northern Pacific contract.

Mr. Lagemadiere seconded in French.

Mr. Norquay denounced the contract and said it was a complete give-away on the part of the province. He taunted the Government with cowardice in not referring in the speech to the Hudson Bay Railway scheme, whose cause he upheld.

Premier Greenway moved the adjournment of the debate.

It is likely that the House will prorogue Saturday. In the meantime the Hudson Bay men are hustling to get the chief promoters here in time to submit a scheme.

The situation is further complicated by the arrival of Vice-President Clough, of the Manitoba road, with an offer to the Government to step into the Northern Pacific's shoes and give running power to all railways, or to lease the lines the Government might build, giving a maximum rate to Duluth.

Doubtless the offer will not be entertained, although the Northern Pacific contract will be warmly opposed by several leading supporters of the Government.

The Bucket Shop Cases to be Reviewed in the High Court of Justice.

TORONTO, Aug. 29.—An application was made yesterday to Mr. Justice Falconbridge, sitting in chambers of the High Court of Justice, for a certiorari to bring up for review the conviction under the Bucket Shop Act of the employes of Hanrahan & Co. His lordship granted the writ asked, and the argument to quash the convictions will come up before the full court early next month.

Since the publication on Saturday of the great concessions made to the Church in Ontario by the Holy See, the bishops of the province feel themselves constrained to entirely re-construct the nominations to the vacant sees of Hamilton and Toronto made by them at Toronto over a month ago, and accordingly the bishops will meet at Kingston to-day and to-morrow for that purpose. Bishop Walsh, who arrived in Toronto Monday night, spent yesterday at the palace and left for Kingston last night where Bishop Dowling of Peterboro will join him and Bishop Cleary.

Yesterday morning Mr. Michael Basso conveyed fifteen more destitute Italians to the granite quarry near Peterboro, where through his and Consul Gianelli's efforts work has been procured for them. Several of the men formed a part of the gang of 74 deserted in this city by Alphonso Balastini, and in connection with whom Alphonso Del Santo is wanted by the police.

The examination for solicitors was held yesterday. Thirty-eight students wrote. The result will be announced to-day. The examination for barrister takes place to-day. Thirty-three students will write.

A meeting of Lancashire Lads was held yesterday at the office of Ald. John Hallam to draft an address to the Governor-General and make arrangements for its presentation on the occasion of his visit here to open the exhibition. The address will be illuminated and on vellum, with the coat of arms of Lord Stanley) Lancashire, Manchester and Liverpool. The border will be emblematic of the trade and commerce of Lancashire and contain the names of Lancashire worthies.

Hon. Wilfred and Mme. Laurier came to town from St. Thomas yesterday morning and left for their Quebec home on the Montreal express last evening.

Sir Hector Langevin and Sir John S. D. Thompson arrived in the city last night from the capital on their way to the Hagersville picnic.

Hon. Oliver Mowat arrived in the city last night.

THE RETALIATION SCHEME.

President Cleveland's Course Denounced by New York Republicans.

SARATOGA, N.Y., Aug. 29.—The Republican State Convention yesterday afternoon unanimously tendered the party nomination for Governor to ex-Senator Warner Miller, and for Lieut. Governor to Col. S. V. R. Cruger. The platform contains this clause: "The Republican Senators in Congress in rejecting the treaty relative to the fisheries, negotiated with Great Britain, acted in accordance with the dictates of a just patriotism and worthily asserted American rights and the national honor, while the message of President Cleveland, transmitted on Aug. 23, is a confession that his administration has been grossly negligent of its duties in the protection of American fishermen, and has invited new annoyance and aggressions on the part of the Canadians by the failure to make manful protest and to employ the peaceful means of self-defence committed to him. The Republican party favors a foreign policy which shall do no wrong to the weakest neighbor and shall brook no indignity from any power on earth, and by insisting on fair play on sea and land shall through justice insure peace with all nations.

A Blaze in Orangeville.

ORANGEVILLE, Aug. 29.—About 6 o'clock last evening fire broke out in the dry goods store occupied by William Judge. The flames spread rapidly thence to the confectionery store owned by Mrs. Medley. These buildings were both gutted. The upper stories were used as dressmaking and tailor's establishments. While this fire was raging and the firemen hard at work flames burst forth in the waterworks, having caught from some defect in the flues. After working hard about an hour the fire was extinguished. The total loss is not known, but it is partly covered by insurance. There is no clue yet as to how the fire originated.

Serious Cave-in at Woodstock.

WOODSTOCK, Aug. 29.—About 6 o'clock this evening a laboring man named George Cleaver, who was working on a sewer on Vansittart-avenue, nearly lost his life by its caving in. Although no bones are broken it is feared he will not recover. Another laborer who was with him escaped.

A Customs Case.

OTTAWA, Aug. 29.—Some time ago a lumberman operating in Michigan imported into Canada some oak timber of a description covered by the Customs free list, but notwithstanding this, duty was charged on the same. This has been paid under protest, and the case has been referred to the Exchequer Court for a definition of law. The amount involved is $10,000.

BROKER E. B. COX IN COURT.

Bail Refused and the Ex-Financier Lodged in Jail.

TORONTO, Aug. 29.—There was a big crowd in the Police Court building when Edward Strachan Cox was arraigned before Ald. Baxter, J. P., on a charge of defrauding the Central Bank, or, as the information reads, that "In this city, in the month of November last, the said Cox did unlawfully defraud the Central Bank of $10,000, and converted the same to his own use." Gaily and smilingly the ex-President of the Baseball Association tripped upstairs from the cells and into the dock, from which vantage point he nodded to his numerous acquaintances in court. Messrs. Howland and Gooderham surveyed the scene from a corner of the room. Mr. Murdoch and Mr. Galt appeared for the captive and Mr. Badgerow for the Crown. The latter asked for a week's adjournment.

"We have no objection to the remand, but I now make application that the defendant be admitted to bail," replied Mr. Murdoch, who then entered into an argument sustaining his application. His argument was based upon the fact that the offence charged is a misdemeanor and not a felony, and is therefore a bailable offence. Law points were quoted to prove this. To this Mr. Baxter replied that this misdemeanor was so near a felony in magnitude that he would decline to grant bail, though Mr. Murdoch might apply to a Superior Court judge for it. "Remanded to Sept. 4," said the Court, and Cox lightly, almost gaily, tripped down the stairway to the cells, and the large crowd diminished.

Later on, Mr. T. P. Galt, one of the counsel for Cox, during a lull in the proceedings arose and asked for permission to address His Worship. He did so as follows: "Before Your Worship finally disposes of the matter of bail in the case of Mr. Cox I desire to call your attention to the serious consequences that may result from a persistance of your refusal. The information laid does not disclose a criminal offence. Any justice, therefore, who refuses bail leaves himself open to action. I therefore ask a reconsideration of your decision, and respectfully request that you consult one or more Superior Court judges at Osgoode Hall." This the Magistrate, after deliberating the points, consented to.

At the afternoon session, after further argument, Justice Baxter said: "I have thought the matter over carefully and cautiously and see no reason to alter my decision. No evidence has been offered and I do not feel justified in accepting bail. The Crown refuses to consent, and the responsibility lies with me and that makes me more guarded. I may say that my own conviction has been strengthened by an interview with Judge McMahon and the Deputy Attorney-General, and I must not hesitate to deny bail."

When the Magistrate made his announcement Mr. Cox for the first time showed trepidation. His face flushed and his fingers twitched nervously as he stroked his moustache in his excitement.

On leaving the Police Court Lawyers Murdoch and Galt drove rapidly to the residence of Mr. Justice McMahon, where a formal application was made for a writ of habeas corpus. Mr. Murdoch argued that there was no offence disclosed in the information cognizable to the law, statutory or otherwise. The charge at most only amounted to a misdemeanor. His Lordship raised the point as to whether or not it was a proper case for habeas corpus, as there was merely a remand and no evidence had been taken. He asked the counsel to produce authority, and allowed them to renew the application before him to-day at Osgoode Hall.

At 5 o'clock Cox was taken to the jail in charge of Detective Davis.

THE EARLY-CLOSING FIASCO.

All the Bylaws Except One Repealed by the Hamilton City Council.

HAMILTON, Aug. 28.—At the meeting of the City Council last night, all the early-closing bylaws, except the one relating to dealers in hats, caps and gentlemen's furnishings, were repealed, and consequently at the Police Court this morning a number of merchants, who were charged with infractions of the bylaws, were discharged.

A picnic will be held at Oaklands to-morrow under the auspices of the Wentworth Farmers' Institute.

Last evening when the Macassa arrived at the beach, Mrs. John Barry of Detroit, a relative of Capt. Campbell, stumbled off the gang plank in the dark and fell between the vessel and the pier. Capt. Campbell immediately climbed down, and bracing himself against the wale of the steamer, caught Mrs. Barry as she rose to the surface and held her until help arrived.

This morning Alfred Goff, a graduate of the Stephenson Industrial Home, Gravesend, Wm. Ringer and Frank Badeau, were charged with assaulting and robbing a small boy named Thos. Edwards and stealing $2.65 from him. After considerable indecision they all pleaded guilty, with the qualification that the amount was only $1.50. They heard that Edwards had the money and they laid for him on Bay-street north. When he arrived they knocked him down and gagged and robbed him in the most approved style The magistrate gave them six months in the Central Prison.

A man giving his name as Samuel Pearsell was arrested by the police yesterday on suspicion of having stolen a horse and buggy from Mr. Wm. Dixon of Toronto. Pearsell sold the buggy, a fine one, to Mr. Paine, butcher, for $15, and put the horse up at a livery stable. He was arrested at the Stuart-street station as he was about to leave on the express for the Bridge.

The Orange Grand Lodge.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 29.—The fifty-ninth session of the Supreme Orange Grand Lodge of British North America opened in the Oddfellows' Hall yesterday afternoon, Grand Master N. Clark Wallace, M.P. for North York, presiding. There is a large attendance of members, including representatives from all parts of Ontario. John Small, M. P. for East Toronto, and Mayor Clarke arrived this morning. The reading of Grand Master Wallace's address and appointment of committee's occupied nearly all the afternoon session and the Grand lodge adjourned

THE WORLD OF LONDON.

EDMUND YATES' GOSSIP ABOUT MEN AND AFFAIRS.

He Thinks the British Fleet Notoriously Inefficient—The Royal Farm—Queen Victoria's Famous Herd.

LONDON, Aug. 29.—Unless the naval manœuvres are simply a mischievous and costly farce, those of this year ought once and for all to drive the Government and the country from the fool's paradise. It used to be held that our navy was under the normal strength if it was weaker than that of any two powers. It may be conjectured that the estimates which would be necessary would scarcely be accepted now without comment and opposition, but while we have a fleet which is notoriously insufficient for the protection of our own islands, to say nothing of our dominions beyond the sea, we cannot rationally expect to retain our own in the councils of the world.

The Queen had another motive in choosing Blythwood as the place of sojourn in Scotland than its proximity to Glasgow. The late Duke of Albany was a very great college friend of Walter Douglas Campbell, Sir Archibald's youngest brother. The visit of the Duke and Duchess of Albany after their marriage was to Blythwood. The friendship between the duke and Mr. Campbell was a very sincere one and lasted from the time they were contemporaries at college. It is a sad pleasure to the Queen, though she thoroughly enjoys revisiting the place connected with some one of her royal family who is dead.

The Queen contemplates erecting new buildings on the royal farm at Abergeldie mains, near Balmoral, where her famous herd of Aberdeen-Angus cattle is kept. The present buildings are very old and defective and most inconveniently arranged, but she merely holds it on lease, with the castle and shootings and fishings of Abergeldie, from H. M. Gordon. The lease was lately renewed. The necessary improvements will be carried out before next spring. The farm extends to 130 acres and is fairly good land, which is judiciously enriched and managed. The Queen has twelve cows with their calves, two yearling heifers and two bulls, one of which is the well-known Squire of Strichen, who was bought for Her Majesty a few months ago at the sale of the East Town herd. The best cow is Princess Irene, who was bred on the farm. She is a magnificent beast and took the first prize at the Royal Northern show. Another beauty is her half-sister, Princess Alice, also bred by the Queen.

Lord Dufferin leaves Bombay Dec. 14. He will not pay any visit to England before taking up his residence at Rome, where he is expected to arrive in time for King Humbert's reception on New Year's day.

By the death of Lord Paget I lose a very old friend. One of my earliest recollections in seeing him was, a young man of 24, in my father's sanctum measuring heights against M. Bibin, a Belgian giant, then playing at the Adelphi. He was a kindly, genial creature, familiar with all kinds and conditions of men, a good-humored laugh on his rubicund face, lifting the ends of his ragged, dyed moustache and lighting his weary eyes. He was a great supporter, in a gratis-for-nothing sense, of theatricals, and was known to everyone, from the manager to the humblest extra, and liked by all with whom he came in contact—by the Queen and by the black-faced stokers of the North-western Railway, of which he was a director. He took a great delight in riding on the engine.

"'Aven't seen you on the kettle lately, my lord?" said a driver just about to start from Euston to Lord Alfred, to whom I was talking. "Hullo, Bill!" replied his genial lordship, recognizing his friend and heartily grasping his hand. His popularity with the people was frequently of great value to Lord Alfred Paget—never so much so as on the arrival of the Princess Alexandra in London. The enormous crowds surging around the carriages, much pressed and trampled by soldiers and police were kept in good temper by the remarks of the jolly chief marshal. He confessed afterwards that he was seriously alarmed, and never was so glad as when the princess arrived safely at her journey's end.

Prof. Von Angeli has been summoned to Potsdam to paint a life size portrait of Emperor William, as a present from the Kaiser to Queen Victoria, who possesses quite a gallery of portraits by Angeli.

Henry Richard was buried in Abney park cemetery because he expressed a wish that his grave should be near those of Mr. Morley and Sir Hugh Owen. At the funeral of the latter Mr. Richard pronounced a touching eulogy on an old comrade in the very chapel where so many Liberal politicians assembled on Friday.

The house at Tichborne park has been undergoing great alterations to suit the taste of Sir Henry Tichborne and his young wife. It is not a very imposing edifice. The park around it, with the lake and water lilies, which was the scene of a little love story on which the lawyers in the great Tichborne trial laid their rough hands, is beautiful.

The Freeman's Journal announces gayly that the line of evidence with regard to the forged letters is complete. The Times is not likely to shrink from the responsibility, nor will Walter nor Buckle fail to put in an appearance. It is not necessary for either of them to be called as a witness. The people to give evidence are those who were the intermediaries or who carried on the negotiations. EDMUND YATES.

King Milan's Divorce Case.

LONDON, Aug. 28.—The proceedings for divorce between the King and Queen of Servia will open Sept. 1. A network of political intrigue envraps the whole affair. Russian and Austrian diplomats are specially active around Belgrade. A large array of distinguished counsel is engaged on either side. The case takes on the importance of a political event.

East Northumberland Liberals.

WARKWORTH, Aug. 29.—At the Reform convention held here yesterday, Caleb A. Mallory of Warkworth, warden of the united counties, was unanimously chosen as the Reform candidate to contest the riding in the coming election to fill the vacancy in the Local House caused by the death of the late Mr. Richard Clarke.

PLOT AND COUNTERPLOT.

This is perhaps not an inappropriate term to apply to the action of the Republican Senate of the United States and the counterblast of President Cleveland. The senate makes a move on the political chess board and Grover seeks to checkmate it. Purely political purposes seem to be involved in these two actions and the dread of pessimists that the retaliation message is an indication of genuine hostile feeling towards Canada does not seem to be well founded. To any person reading the following from the New York Times, a Cleveland organ, the situation would seem to be freighted with menace. "If Canada takes the President's action either "as 'bluff' or as political tactics it has an entirely mistaken view of the man's character and of the public sentiment of this country. It is quite true that the position he "has taken is for him and his party 'good "politics,' but not only because it is in accord with the popular feeling and the national sense of what is just and right. "Canadians will make another mistake if "they exaggerate and distort the purpose "which President Cleveland has expressed "and construe it as a declaration of hostility "to Canada. When their newspapers speak "of it as an attempt to coerce them into a "surrender of any of their rights they talk "nonsense. If the President had the power "he asks for, it would depend entirely upon "Canada whether it would be used or not. "She may feel entirely confident that it "would not be used wantonly or without "good reason, or to an extent not justified "by her course. We can withdraw the privilege of transportation in bond whenever "it suits our purpose. It does not depend "on Canada's consent. If it hurts us as well "as her that is our business. The Canadian people may as well look at this thing "soberly and calmly and not get unduly excited. Above all they would do well to "avoid the matter of assuming that it is a "mere matter of politics, for President "Cleveland has a way of meaning what he "says and pursuing the course he marks out "for himself with firmness and courage, and "in this case he has the sentiment of the "country behind him most unmistakeably. "He threatens no aggression; he invites no "attack; he leaves theories aside and faces "the condition, and in this case the condition "will be what Canada sees fit to make it." But a little sober reflection will show that it is the cue of the Democratic organs to make the people of the United States believe that President Cleveland's message is an informal declaration of hate and hostility to everything British. Unless this is done the buncombe wouldn't take. The Yankee voter may like to be fooled, but he doesn't want to have an undue exposure of the deus ex machina. He wants at least to make believe that his reason is convinced, or, rather, that his passion and prejudice have been sufficiently pandered to. Therefore, the organs must make the people believe, rightly or wrongly, that President Cleveland's fulminations are not mere stage thunder. Naturally enough, the Republicans, alarmed at the dangerous capacity of Cleveland's blood and buncombe message as a vote-maker, point out how injuriously it threatens to affect United States interests, and thus incidentally furnish proof that so suicidal a course as is proposed could not be taken seriously, but only as a political expedient. Mr. Blaine, the real candidate for the presidency of the United States in the republican interests, says of Cleveland's message, as it counsels the folly of non-intercourse of Canada:—"Why should the railways of the United States, that annually transport $50,000,000 of Canadian goods in transit, be deprived of their business and endure a large loss on account of a sudden whim of the President? Why should the transit from Detroit to Buffalo and New York over both American and Canadian lines of rail be suspended, when it has no relation whatever to the fishery question? Why should the large traffic between Quebec and Montreal on the one hand and Portland on the other, by which Portland becomes the winter gateway of Canada, be summarily stopped at the caprice of the President because of his chagrin over the course of an independent, but, as he considers, a refractory Senate? Is it the design of the President to make the fishery question odious by embarrassing commercial relations and commercial exchange along 3,000 miles of frontier, and to inflict upon American communities a needless, a vexatious and a perilous confusion of trade?"

THE Empire states that the Hon. Mr. Foster, Minister of Finance, will deliver an address upon "The Relation of the College to the General Education of the Country" to-day at the jubilee celebration of Acadia College, Wolfville, N.S. The organ omits to tell us whether the Minister's interest in education, like his interest in temperance, depends upon the receipt of $10 per address delivered on the subject. Certainly a great financier like Mr. Foster, who did not hesitate to tap the temperance till, in its interests, would not omit to treat the cause of education with similar liberality—of demand.

ACCIDENTALLY CREMATED.

The Latest Montreal Combine—Poisoned by Canned Mackerel.

MONTREAL, Aug. 28.—At a fire which occurred in Charles Bouchard's house on St. Andre-street this morning, the dead remains of a child were nearly cremated. A lighted candle set fire to the light draperies around the coffin and before it could be extinguished the remains were badly burned. There was about $500 damage done to the house.

The latest combine is among the wholesale fruit men.

P. Benadoin, grocer of Point St. Charles, and three of his assistants were poisoned through eating some canned mackerel a day or two ago. The explanation is that in soldering the ends of tins, acid, which is used instead of resin, got into the fish.

John Humble, charged with attempt to murder the colored man Miners, was to-day again remanded for eight days. Miners is recovering and Humble will be able to get out on bail in a few days.

A warrant has been issued for the arrest of a man named Power, on the charge of deliberately throwing a man named Davis into the river with the intention of drowning him. Davis' brother, who makes the complaint, states that jealousy was the cause of the act. His brother had been foreman in the same concern of which Power now holds the foremanship. Lately Power was afraid that Davis would again take his place. The accused has not yet been found.

The inquest on the body of Jean Baptiste Rheaume, killed by a horse falling upon him in an excavation off Shearer-street on Saturday, was resumed to-day, when the jury returned this verdict:

"We condemn the corporation of Montreal for negligence for not having erected a strong barrier around the excavation where Rheaume met his death. Further we recommend that the city of Montreal in future protect every excavation in streets made by it with a strong inclosure so as to secure the lives of its employes and to prevent accidents."

At a meeting of the Fire Committee this afternoon the City Clerk was authorized to advertise for applications for Chief of the Fire Brigade. Applicants are to be able to speak the two languages and are not to exceed 45 years of age. Applications are to be received until Sept. 7.

The assessed value of real estate in the city of Montreal, according to the assessors who have just completed their labors, is $109,584,395. Of this $18,460,570 is exempt from taxation.

The Lake Gives up Its Dead.

MONTREAL, Aug. 28.—The body of Miss Archibald, of Montreal, who, with Wm. Hilton, was drowned in Lake Memphremagog last week, has been recovered.

"Just Hear That Child Scream!"

said Mrs. Smith to her sister, Mrs. Davis, as the sound o' a child's shrieks came across the garden from a neighbor's house. "What kind of a woman have you for a neighbor? Does she abuse her children"? "No, indeed," replied Mrs Davis. "She is one of the most tender mothers in existence. But you see, she believes in the old-fashioned styles of doctoring. When a child needs physic, she fills a spoon with some nauseous dose, lays the little victim flat on her lap, holds his nose till he is forced to open his mouth for breath, when down goes the dreadful mess. Then comes the yells." "No wonder", said Mrs. Smith, "Why doesn't she use Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets? They are effective without being harsh, and are as easy to take as sugar plums. I always give them to my children." "And so do I," said Mrs Davis. c

Another Victory At Cricket for the Irish Gentlemen.

ORILLIA, Aug. 29.—The cricket match between the Irish Gentlemen and Orillia and District was resumed yesterday morning. When stumps were drawn the previous night it looked as if the home team stood a pretty fair chance of knocking the Irishmen's 144 runs in the first innings out, as only three wickets had fallen for 62 runs. But this morning the visitors did great work, and when the last wicket fell the Northern Counties had only made 121 runs. The Irish Gentlemen made 239 for nine wickets in their second innings, when time was called and the match was therefore decided in favor of the Irishmen by 22 runs on the first innings.

HE WAS HARD TO SUIT.

How a Chicago Bride Scared Her Man from Court to Court.

CHICAGO, Aug. 29.—Marriage License Clerk Salmonsen issued a license to Charles A. Hurd and Lena Burr on August 10, but they were not married until ten days later. It wasn't Mr. Hurd's fault. During the ten days which elapsed he wasn't doing anything but trying to get married. He worked every day at it, leaving his sign-painting business to run itself. First he went to Justice Eberhardt's office with Lena on his arm. A minute later the bride turned and fled like a frightened fawn, and her lover could not persuade her to return or explain her caprice. Early the next morning they went to exchange vows before another justice. Again the fair Lena ran away. During the three succeeding days the couple visited three other justices, but in each instance the result was the same. On Monday they called on Justice Blume, who tied the knot, and did it in a hurry at the groom's special request. The latter has since obtained from his wife an explanation of her capricious conduct. She did not want to be married by one justice because he wore spectacles. Another was too small, another was bald-headed, another more so, and another looked too cross. Justice Blume, however, came up to the bride's ideal of a judge, and she stood her ground.

DRUNKENNESS

Or the Liquor Habit Positively Cured by Administering Dr. Haines' Golden Specific.

It can be given in a cup of tea or coffee without the knowledge of the person taking it; it is absolutely harmless, and will effect a permanent and speedy cure, whether the patient is a moderate drinker or an alcoholic wreck. It has been given in thousands of cases, and in every instance a perfect cure has followed. It never fails. The system once impregnated with the Specific, it becomes an utter impossibility for the liquor appetite to exist. The Daily Examiner.

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 29, 1888.

The Weather.

Moderate winds, fair and a little warmer.

A GREAT FLANNEL SALE will be inaugurated and continued throughout the season at the Golden Lion. They are actually selling the finest quality of military and navy flannels from 10c to 12½c less than regular prices.

Expanding.

An evidence of the growth and prosperity of the Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Company's business, is furnished in their advertisement for tenders for the erection of a large addition to their workshop. The addition will be a brick building 160x24 feet, two stories in height.

Nice Line of Presents.

A beautiful line of plush goods just received at A. L. Davis & Co.'s, which were bought at very low prices, and will be sold accordingly.

The Opera House.

"Divorce" was presented at the Opera House Tuesday night by the Lindley Company, and as an after-dish "Lindley's Grocery," a roaring farce, wound up the evening's entertainment. To-night "Zeppa, the Child of the Mines," will be played, followed by the farce "Family Jars," with Harry Lindley in the leading role. The company are drawing good houses.

Millbrook's Holiday.

The Millbrook fire brigade and band in uniform, accompanied by a large number of excursionists, came up on the 8.15 train to-day, changing cars here for Campbellford, where they will spend the day. This is Millbrook's civic holiday. The village band played a couple of selections while waiting at the station, and rendered them very nicely too. The band is a credit to the village.

SEE HERE NOW! Bring along your good butter and get the highest price at The Pantry.

Flowers and Fruit.

To-morrow the annual exhibition of the Peterborough and Ashburnham Horticultural Society will be held at the Charlotte street Skating Rink. The prize list is larger and more complete this year than ever before, and the public are asked to encourage a worthy institution by a liberal patronage. The Fire Brigade Band will be in attendance during the afternoon and evening. This year's exhibition promises to be the most successful yet held, if the entries made with the secretary are any guarantee.

A Brace of Accidents.

This forenoon Mr John Lewis, an employee of Stabler & Donnell's sash factory, while operating a jointer had the four fingers of his left hand ground to pieces in the knives. The fingers were taken off close to the hand, and the wounds were dressed by a physician.

Tuesday afternoon Mr. John Johnston, of North Monaghan, while working at a summer fallow on his farm, fell and dislocated his hip joint. Dr. Kincaid is in attendance.

The Manufacturers Accident Insurance Company, Wilson & Morrison agents, have cheap rates and large indemnities. No one should be without an accident policy.

An Inspector's Troubles.

The Belleville Intelligencer says:—Mr. Robt. Rollins, Milk Inspector in Peterborough district, sampled the milk, as it arrived at the factory, of a patron of the Keene Factory. The result of the other test aroused his suspicions and he went to the farmer's house about milking time. When he arrived they had just finished and emptied the milk of some eight cows into a can. Mr. Rollins explained his business, when the farmer said, "You can't sample any milk here," and straightway he dumped the contents of the can upon the ground. He will have a case in court to defend, where he will learn to his sorrow that the penalty for preventing or hindering a test is as great as for tampering with the milk. The penalty for preventing or hindering is from $10 to $100, as the Magistrate directs.

The Work of Wolves.

Harry Perkins hails from "away beyond sundown," or more properly from a locality about 60 miles north of Haliburton. He is at present in town, the lumbering and hunting season not being yet fully begun. When Harry is in a talkative mood he can spin yarns with any veteran salt, though of course his experiences are confined to the backwoods, where escapes from wolves and deer hunting exploits are frequent. Talking of deer hunting last night, he said that the deer were being exterminated not by the hunters but by wolves. He says it is no uncommon thing in winter to go into a "grove" and find half a dozen dead deer, mangled and half eaten by wolves. The hunters do not kill enough to be of any effect; it is the wolves that are gradually destroying the last remnant of the once monarchs of the forest. He thinks the government should increase the bounty, for there are plenty of hunters and trappers in the woods who, if there were any money in it, would devote there time to killing the wolves instead of game. He says if this were done the country would soon again teem with game of all kinds. He remarked that it was a shame the way the deer were being slaughtered, and the government ought to put a stop to it, not by prohibiting hunting but by increasing the bounty on wolves' heads sufficiently to make their killing an object. All sportsmen will, no doubt, be glad if the government take this matter up.

Removed.

W. W. Johnston has removed the Alexander stock to H. S. Griffin's late stand, 410 George street, where he intends keeping a full assortment of dry goods and millinery.

Expanding.

MR. DEFF'S Private School on Brock street is undergoing alteration, which will give increased accommodation for pupils. The autumn session will commence on Monday, the 3rd September. d

Port Hope Knitting Works.

Will open a branch store on Simcoe street opposite Hall, Innes & Co.'s on Saturday, 1st Sept., with a great variety of hosiery and underclothing at manufacturers prices. dw

Interesting to the Boys.

J. J. Sheehy has just received another shipment of white jersey shirts, laced fronts, suitable for little kids who intend visiting the back lakes. 415 George street.

Otemis,

The best 5c. cigar in town, at C. LeGros cigar store and barber shop. d

Something Worth Knowing.

Buy 4 large boxes of good matches for 25 cents, at W. J. Morrow's. He continues to sell all goods cheap. Preserving sugar very cheap, 18 pound for $1.00. As I am now receiving my new importations of tea all my old lines must be sacrificed. dw

The Canadian Militia.

New militia regulations have been issued at Ottawa, and now if a man enlisted wants his leave he will be permitted to do so on payment of $30. This is supposed to cover the value of clothing and kit issued him for use as a soldier. The object of the change is to enable a man to fill a better position if successful in securing it after enlisting.

The "Record's" Record.

The Fenelon Falls Record :—The Peterborough Central Exhibition will be held in the town of Peterborough on Sept. 25th, 26th and 27th. Three thousand dollars will be offered in prizes and the show promises to be the best in Canada outside the cities. Mr. E. C. Hill left with us a handsomely printed advertisement of the show which is a credit to the office in which it was printed, the Peterborough EXAMINER.

"Zeppa."

The Quebec Chronicle says:—"This play treats of life in the mines of Colorado, the heroine being a waif, brought up untutored and wild amidst the gold-seekers of that region. She is artless and full of humor, and yet has a vein of love, pathos and tenderness. The other characters are typical of miners' camps in a new country. Miss Flint is undoubtedly clever in the leading role, and Lindley's Judge is exaggerated enough in all conscience." This play will receive its first presentation in Peterborough this evening by the Lindley Company.

Milk Matters.

Mr. Robert Rollins, milk Inspector for the Eastern Ontario Dairyman's Association, was in Belleville Saturday, and was seen by the Ontario. He has been visiting the factories about Lindsay and Fenelon Falls and found very few dishonest patrons. At the latter place there were only two milk and water farmers. The Inspector ferreted out five patrons of the Cramahe factory who were either deluting or skimming their milk. One of these is a gentleman high up on the political ladder of fame and is pretty well-known in East Northumberland. Two of the Morganston and two of the Keene patrons were trapped. Nearly all of them settled rather than appear in court.

Full line of Collegiate Institute books on hand at A. L. Davis & Co.'s.

Canada's Great Fair.

The Toronto Industrial Exhibition, which runs from Sept. 10th to the 22nd, will have, in addition to a very full display of live stock, agricultural and manufacturing products, a number of special displays of interest. Among these will be a large collection of grain and vegetables from the Government Farm at Ottawa and exhibits by British Columbia, Manitoba and the North-west Territories and Algoma, of the various products of these districts. The programme of amusements has been prepared on a scale never before attempted in Canada. Exceptionally low rates will be given by the railways during the Fair.

The Durham Battery.

The Canadian Militia Gazette of August 23rd says:—The complete returns, published below, of this year's shifting ordnance competition, carried on by the different batteries in camp, for prizes offered by the Dominion Artillery Association, show the Growski cup to be still without a permanent owner, and Gananoque to have secured temporary possession for this year. This cup becomes the property of any battery winning it twice in succession, a difficult feat which none has yet been able to accomplish. In the first competition, in 1884, the Quebec Field Battery won; in 1885 the cup passed to the Kingston Battery; in 1886 Durham was victorious, and in 1887 the same battery came near putting an end to the contest, for while it was adjudged second Durham was only a fifth of a second of time behind the Ottawa Battery, the winner on that occasion. This year again Durham pushes the winner, being only 2½ seconds behind in time, and taking second place in the list of twelve batteries which competed. The prizes awarded on the following scores are:—

	min	sec.
Cup and $30, Gananoque Field Battery	2	46 2
$20, Durham Field Battery	2	48.8
$10, Hamilton Field Battery	2	58.05

The Union Sunday Schools.

The Coldspring's and River Road Union Sunday schools joined forces Tuesday and had their first annual excursion and picnic to Jubilee Point on the steamer Golden Eye. Owing to a misunderstanding the day's pleasure was considerably marred by a number of intending excursionists being unavoidably left behind. The committee say they arranged with Mr. Calcutt for the steamer and soon, but on the morning of the picnic only the steamer was in waiting. The result was that about one hundred people had to be left behind, there not being room enough on the boat. The steamer was to call at several points down the river and pick up the excursionists, but several of the last calling places had to be omitted. At the landing opposite Savigay's grove about fifty were left, while more were left at Wallace's Point, Oak Orchard and Campbelltown. However, a number afterwards came down on the Beaver. Much disappointment was caused, but whether Mr. Calcutt or the committee blundered, it was no doubt owing to a misunderstanding on either side. Those who attended the picnic, about 300 in all, enjoyed themselves thoroughly. The day was beautiful and the facilities for sport and enjoyment afforded on the Point were eagerly taken advantage of. A committee of young ladies, Misses Georgie Stewart, Linda Kennedy, Eva Stewart, Sarah Welsh, Susie Matchett and Jane Ambrose, supplied tea and hot water, and helped otherwise to make the day enjoyable. A committee of gentlemen, Messrs. Geo. Stewart, D. Kennedy, Robt. Hanbidge, R. A. Ward, Alex. Matchett, Jas. Rose and I. Richardson managed the excursion, and barring the disappointment above mentioned, everything passed off smoothly and pleasantly. The boat left Peterborough wharf, where a number of people from the town got aboard, about 7.30, reaching the Point about 11.45. The return home was accomplished by nine o'clock. The excursion party included a number of fine singers, and the way back was enlivened by the best of vocal music.

The "Swag" Recovered.

Buried in a Sawdust Bed, it is Discovered by Accident—A Suspect Arrested.

By the merest accident the goods stolen from Ball's clothing store Monday night were recovered yesterday afternoon. The inspector of tanks on the C.P.R. paid the Peterborough station a visit yesterday, and on examining the water tank in the yard had occasion to dig up some sawdust underneath it. The spade struck an unyielding substance and on investigation it proved to be a quantity of clothing. Mr. Ball was notified and he identified the goods as belonging to him.

A young lad was arrested on suspicion of being the thief. Later in the evening, about dusk, Mr. Ball visited the spot and found the boy coming from the tank with sawdust clinging to his clothes. He was questioned, and while this was going on a dark figure was seen to emerge from under the tank and glide away into the darkness. The boy was pressed for answers, but said he knew nothing about the clothes and that there was no man with him. This sawdust bed under the tank is frequented by tramps and used as a sleeping place. Nothing could be got from the boy except that his name was William Roach, he was about 12 years old and lived in Toronto.

He was placed in the cells and this morning brought before P. M. Dumble. The lad said he lived "over the Don" in Toronto with his mother; he couldn't (or wouldn't) tell the street he lived on or who his neighbors were. He even denied being near the sawdust bed at all, and when asked where the particles of sawdust on his hat came from, said he "didn't know." Young Roach is evidently a city tough of the first water. He tells a different story almost every time he is questioned. He was remanded for a week, and it is hoped in the meantime more may be learned about him

A QUERY.

The lad says he has an uncle named Joseph Roach living in Ottawa, who keeps a cigar store on Arthur street. Will anyone well acquainted in Ottawa, who knows aught of Arthur street or the Mr. Joseph Roach in question, please give Chief Rossel the information? The authorities are endeavoring to find out more about the boy, but he has shown himself such a brazen-faced liar that they dare not believe anything he says.

A New Government Craft.

A Steam Tug Built for the T.V.C Waters by the Ontario Canoe Company.

About two months ago work was begun at the Ontario Canoe Company's factory upon the construction of a new steam tug for the navigation of the Trent Valley Canal waters. By instruction from the government, Mr. J. Z. Rogers designed the craft and superintended its building, and to-day the finishing touches were completed and the vessel loaded on a couple of flat cars and taken to Lakefield, where it will be launched as soon as possible.

The boat is 50 feet long, 10 feet wide, 5½ feet deep, and has a draught of 3½ feet. Its burthen is between 12 and 15 tons. It is built on the lines of a steam tug, and has a 20 horse power engine and 36 inch screw. The engine, boiler, etc., were supplied by the Polson Co., of Toronto. An overhead deck, or rather awning, is supported by stanchions along the side, and next spring it is intended to build small cabins fore and aft. At present the craft has no cabin, and is very plain and unpretentious in appearance. It is painted white, and the hull below the water line red. The workmanship is of the best, as the boat was built with a special view to strength and solidity. Mr. Fred Long was the ship carpenter.

The new boat, which has not yet been given a name, will be controlled locally by Mr. R. B Rogers, T.V.C. agent. It will be placed in commission as soon as launched.

To-morrow Night.

To the Editor of the Examiner :—

DEAR SIR,—I am glad to know by your local last night that the prospects of having a good exhibition to-morrow are encouraging and I hope all intending exhibitors will do their utmost to make it a success, and that the public will turn out well and visit the skating rink in the evening, and show their appreciation of the efforts of the Horticultural Society to foster a taste for what is beautiful, and also to furnish them with such a pleasant resort as the Court House Park is.

Yours truly,
HORTICULTURAL.

Police Court.

WEDNESDAY, Aug. 29.

Joseph Valois was charged by his wife with beating and cruelly ill-treating her on Monday night. The defendant was fined $5 and costs. Mrs. Valois declared she would never live with her husband again, and the latter agreed that that arrangement would suit him perfectly. The family have periodical rows, and both parties bore marks of their latest squabble while in court to-day.

East Northumberland Elections.

Dr. Massie, of Colborne, was in town today en route to Toronto. He attended the Liberal convention at Warkworth yesterday for the nomination of a candidate for the position of representative in the local legislature for East Northumberland, rendered vacant by the death of the late incumbent, Mr. Clarke, M.P.P. There was a large and enthusiastic meeting, and thirteen nominations were made, Mr. Caleb A. Mallory being the final choice. Mr. Mallory is a brother of Dr. Mallory, and is Reeve of Percy and Warden of the United Counties of Northumberland and Durham. He is a man of municipal experience and popularity. He will make a strong run, and is considered by Dr. Massie to be the best man they could have elected.

A Truant's Tale.

Willie Robinson returned home last night to the great relief of his anxious parents. He said he had fallen in with another boy who was scheming school, who induced him to walk out in the country to look for shells in a sand pit. Willie went along, but when he wanted to return home his companion refused to return with him, fearing a thrashing from his parents for his truancy. Young Robinson did not known the way home, and so had to stay as long as his chum chose to keep him. They both came back last night.

Victims of Accidents.

Albert Bradshaw, the brakeman injured at Hastings, is doing favorably.

James Begg, the man who fell from the hotel window a week ago, is still at the hospital. He is now considered out of danger.

Mr. T. Cavanagh is much better to-day and no serious consequences are feared from the injuries he received in the runaway accident.

The Bishops Meeting.

Kingston Whig of Tuesday:—The Bishops of Peterborough and London arrived here on a visit to the Bishop of Kingston. It was reported that the prelates were to assemble for the purpose of conferring together and selecting the names of suitable persons to fill the vacant archbishopric, but such is not the case. The document containing the names is probably already in the hands of Cardinal Simeoni, as it was transmitted some time ago.

A Patent Purchased.

The Hastings Star says that Mr. S. Mirfield, of that village, has sold the patent right for Ontario, of a bold back device invented by him. The purchaser is Mr. Wm. Feist, of Peterborough, and the price paid was $1,500.

Personal.

Mr. D. W. Dumble has returned from his tour through the Northwest.

Mr. and Mrs. John McKee went to Stony Lake this morning for a brief outing.

Mr. Levi McConnell, of Squires' Creek, died suddenly in the court room at Stirling on Tuesday.

Messrs. John and Edward Sheridan, formerly Peterborough boys who are now living in Brooklyn, N.Y., are the guests of Mr. Thos. Henry, Sherbrooke street.

The Port Hope Times says:—Mr. Albert Brown, formerly of this town, but now of Peterborough, is spending a few days here with his mother, who, we regret to learn, is not just at present enjoying very good health.

The Port Hope Guide says:—Mr. Alfred Wright, of the G.T.R., Detroit, arrived in town Sunday night, spent yesterday with his father and went north to Peterborough this morning.

News Nuggets.

—George street is being treated to a new sidewalk. It was greatly needed.

—The directors of the Central Exhibition meet at the council chamber Thursday afternoon.

—Next Monday is Hastings' civic holiday. The village will prepare to receive the Knights of Labor excursion.

—Mr. Wm. Breckenbridge has the contract for making the excavations for the new St. Joseph's hospital in Ashburnham.

—The Little Britain correspondent of the Post has coined a new word. He refers to a wedding as "another of those happifying events."

—The band gave its regular weekly concert in the park last night. It goes without saying that there was a large and highly delighted crowd present.

—The Riverside lacrosse team left for Bradford this morning. May the best of luck attend them. If they win the match they will head the list in this district, as the clubs are all tied in percentage.

Keene.

From Our Own Correspondent.)

The unsaved army are in full blast now, their number having increased to six. They are raising quite a commotion. One of their number was kicked out of the barracks last Saturday night equipped in the latest style of dress, viz., a long tail'd coat.

Some of the boys around the village are making themselves as they think quite popular, but if they do not confine their work to more manly acts they will be apt to get into trouble.

Some of the sportsmen of the village have started to frighten the ducks again.

The farmers in this vicinity are, as a general thing, through harvesting and the yield has been much larger than they had at first anticipated.

A Relic Found.

This morning one of the hands in Mr. H. LeBrun's clothing store was moving a quantity of goods piled on top of a tier of shelves at the rear end of the shop, and behind them found an old gray flannel shirt, apparently one discarded by a tramp. This is no doubt another relic of the burglary there this spring. The trousers were found on the floor the morning after the burglary, where they had been left, and the shirt tossed up behind the goods, by the burglar, who donned a complete new outfit at Mr. LeBrun's expense and took away jewellery and silk handkerchiefs besides.

The fruit season has now come and we must prepare to put up our fruit. Now what kind of jars are we to use? Of course, glass jars; but so many of those we had last year cracked in filling that it makes it very expensive. Oh, I remember how Mrs. Goodwife told me last year she bought her jars at "China Hall," and that she did not break a jar in filling or lose a single can of fruit. I shall buy from China Hall this season. As the price is just the same I might as well have the best.

CORSETS

Every lady purchasing CORSETS and wishing to get the Best Article for the least outlay, should visit TURNBULL'S, as he always keeps in stock the Best Makes from all the leading manufacturers. Some makes are peculiarly adapted to suit a particular style of figure. Below we enumerate a few lines from which you can select in any size from 18 to 30. Larger sizes procured on short notice.

THE YATISI CORSET

is modelled from a design of one of the most celebrated Parisian makers. It gives a lady that ease and grace so much admired in French ladies.

The YATISI CORSET owing to the peculiar diagonal elasticity of the cloth will fit the wearer perfectly the first time worn, no matter what her style of form is, either long or short waisted. To ladies wishing to lace light and not feel uncomfortable at the bust or hips, they are indispensible.

The YATISI CORSET does not stretch at the waist; requires no breaking in; fits comfortable the first time worn, as it gives to every motion of the wearer. It will outlast any of the old style rigid Corsets.

The YATISI CORSET can be worn ten days and if not found satisfactory in every respect the money will be refunded at TURNBULL'S.

THE CORALINE CORSET

What is Coraline? Coraline is composed of a bundle of stiff and and very elastic fibres like bristles tightly bound with strong thread. Coraline contains no sizing of any kind but its stiffness exists in the natural fibre and is permanent. Look for the Coraline Corset at TURNBULL'S, every pair stamped.

BALL'S CORSETS.

These Corsets need no breaking in—invalids can wear them with ease and comfort, as they do not compress the vital parts of the wearer. They fit a great variety of forms owing to their peculiar construction—they are very durable. They have the endorsement of every physician who has examined them. Every pair warranted—the money refunded if not satisfactory after wearing them three weeks at TURNBULL'S.

THE PARISENNE.

The PARISENNE is a new make which is becoming very popular. It is something after the style of the old French Corded Corset—is shorter waisted than most of the other makes, which makes it adapted for a stout figure.

Everything desirable in the Corset line always to be found at TURNBULL'S at prices that are never beaten.

TOPICS FROM THE CAPITAL

GEN. MIDDLETON TRYING TO SETTLE THE G.G.F.G'S TROUBLE.

A Large Number of Entries for the Dominion Rifle Matches—Analysing Adulterated American Lard.

OTTAWA, Aug. 29.—Sir A. P. Caron has returned to the city. Sir John returns today, it is reported, much improved in health. Hon. Mr. Foster and Hon. C. H. Tupper are expected Saturday.

The following are among the successful tenderers for supplying public buildings with coal: for Ottawa, G. F. Thompson; Toronto, Crane & Co.; Niagara, Carlson & Co.

Hon. J. J. C. Abbott and two daughters, and Hon. G. W. Allan, Speaker of the Senate, passed through the city yesterday, en route to Vancouver, B.C.

The detachment of Mounted Police stationed for some time in the Kootenay (B.C.) District have returned to Fort McLeod, N. W. T.

The chief analyst of the Inland Revenue Department is making an analysis of samples of American lard said to be adulterated with cotton seed oil.

It is understood that the Pacific Railway Claims Commission will hear further evidence on Dec. 3, when it is more than likely Sir John and the Minister of Railways will be examined. Sir Charles Tupper's testimony will probably be taken in England.

Major-General Sir Frederick Middleton is making an effort to settle the trouble in the G. G. F. G's. He declares no breach of discipline has been committed.

Sir Hector has sent Mr. Hamel, C.E., and a party of engineers to survey and report upon the site of the proposed bridge across the Ottawa River at Deschenes, two miles below Aylmer.

The Canadian lumbermen are complaining that the new regulation just enforced by the Department of Customs is giving them a great deal of unnecessary trouble in the shipment of export lumber to the United States. It appears that up to the present time a "train load" of lumber, whatever the number of cars, was entered as one entry to the Canadian Customs outward and also in the American Customs. So far as Canadian outward entry is concerned the entry does not cost anything, being made simply for statistical purposes. With American entry it is different. These entries are made at the office of the American Consul and are paid for. The Canadian Customs Department have now issued an order that an outward entry shall in future be made for every carload of lumber exported. The lumbermen intend waiting on the Minister of Customs with reference to the matter.

The entries for the Dominion rifle matches opened to day. Already a very large number have been made, Teams from British Columbia, Manitoba and the Northwest Territories will compete.

Professor Fream of The Mark Lane Express and Mr. Henry Moore of Bell's Messenger expressed themselves as delighted with what they saw during their inspection of the experimental farm yesterday. They admitted that there was nothing like it to be seen in England, commented upon the extensive character of the operations and thought the results would be a very important matter for the farmers of this country.

The Daily Collision.

STAUNTON, Va., Aug. 30.—A collision between freight trains on the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad yesterday morning, near Clifton Forge, resulted in the death of two brakesmen and one engineer. The other engineer was seriously injured.

SIR CHARLES CREATED A BARONET

More Honors for the Gentlemen Who Represented the Fisheries Treaty.

LONDON, Aug. 30.—Sir Charles Tupper has been created a baronet, Minister West has had the Grand Cross of the Order of St. Michael and St. George conferred upon him, and Messrs. Thompson (the Canadian Minister of Justice, as already announced), Winter and Burne, Secretaries of the British plenipotentiaries, have been elected Commanders of the same order. The honors have been conferred in recognition of the services rendered by the recipients as members of the Fisheries Commission.

SIR CHARLES TUPPER, BT.

Hon. Sir Charles Tupper, G.C.M.G., C.B., D.C.L., Bt., High Commissioner at London for the Dominion of Canada, was born at Amherst, N.S., on July 2, 1821. He studied medicine in Edinburgh, Scotland, and received the degree of M.D. in 1843. In 1855 he was chosen to represent Cumberland County, N.S., in the Legislature, and in 1864, on the retirement of the Hon. Mr. Johnston to the bench, he became Premier. Dr. Tupper took a leading part in the confederation movement, attending the Quebec conference and afterwards going to England, when the question was discussed before the members of the Imperial Government. In 1872 he became Minister of Inland Revenue, and in 1873, Minister of Customs, which office he surrendered soon afterwards, on the defeat of the Conservative ministry. In 1878 Dr. Tupper was appointed Minister of Public Works and was at the head of the department until it was divided; he then took the portfolio of Railways and Canals. In 1879 he was created a Knight of the Order of St. Michael and St. George. In 1883 he was appointed High Commissioner for Canada at the Court of St. James in London, retaining his position as Minister of Railways and Canals. At the last general election he was returned by his old constituency, and was appointed Finance Minister, resigning this position at the close of last session and returning to England as High Commissioner for the Dominion.

HE FELL IN LOVE WITH HIS WIFE.

A Toronto Chinaman's Little Love Affair—How Ching-a-Ling Won His Bride.

TORONTO, Aug. 30.—There is said to be a regular traffic in Chinese women among the traders and Chinese of the Pacific Province, and so openly has the shameless bargaining been carried on that the Christian people of that country started a Rescue Home to abate the evil. The traffic is still, however, indulged in, and reports from Victoria state that scores of these women have been forcibly kidnapped and sold into slavery, or into bondage much worse. For the first time in the history of the city, Toronto is now able to boast of having within her limits a Chinese woman, and she was brought here under somewhat extraordinary circumstances, being discovered finally by Staff-Inspector Archabold. Some months ago a Chinaman of Toronto, who is pretty well-off financially, and whose name is something like Hoof-Poof, made up his mind to secure a Chinese woman, and for this purpose dispatched a Celestial named Ching-a-Ling to Victoria, B. C., to kidnap one for him, handing him over $400 for that purpose.

Ching-a-Ling started for the scene of his exploits at once, and on last Friday returned to Toronto with a pretty little Chinese woman. A jealous acquaintance, however, unfolded the tale to Inspector Archabold, who made the fullest inquiries and learned that when Ching-a-Ling arrived at Victoria he found it impossible to carry out his scheme of abduction, and so in order to carry out his contract with Hoof-Poof married the proposed victim. By the time he reached Toronto, however, he presumably fell in love with his wife and refused to hand her over to the tender mercies of Mr. Hoof-Poof. The latter called a meeting of his friends and made a demand that Ching-a-Ling should either pay him $800, double the amount he had advanced, or hand over the bride. Ching-a-Ling, however, declined to meet the demand in either one way or the other, and still clings to his wife and the $400.

Inspector Archabold has assured Ching-a-Ling that he and his wife will receive the fullest protection from the police so long as he does not attempt to traffic with his bride, and Hoof-Poof who is vowing vengeance, is inconsolable. Those who know the ways of the Chinese are satisfied that the end of this remarkable case has not yet been reached, and that there will probably be a tragedy before the honeymoon is over.

Yesterday morning the Inspector received the following dispatch from Rev. J. E. Starr, of Victoria, formerly of the Berkeley Street Methodist Church in this city:

"To Inspector Archabold:

"Ching-a-Ling, a Chinese man, of Toronto, has kidnapped a Chinese woman and has taken her to your city. Spot him."

The spotting, however, had been done before the receipt of Mr. Starr's message, and the Inspector hopes that the pretty little foreign bride may be allowed to enjoy her peculiarly-won husband in peace.

The Flour Output.

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 30.—The Northwestern Miller says the idleness of several mills last week was quite apparent in the flour output, the figures being the smallest since April. The total production of the week was 145,300 barrels against 164,900 barrels the week before and 107,000 for the corresponding time in 1887. Prices of flour have been steadily advanced during the week and the patents are generally held $5.50 for Boston and New England points. Orders are coming in an irregular way, though when taken altogether they make a considerable volume. Millers see in this the urgent need of flour by buyers, but that they are holding off just as long as they can and are buying from hand to mouth. The manufacturer, however, is firm and stands ready to elevate values. Trade is still light, though recent sales show that present values are more believed in than formerly. Ocean freights have been given another advance the past week and restrict business a good deal. The exports of flour for the week ending Saturday were 46,900 barrels against 67,000 the preceding week. The wheat crop matures and the extent of the damage from frost is more apparent.

Forster and Ireland.

LONDON, Aug. 30.—Mr. Gladstone has an article in the Nineteenth Century entitled "Mr. Forster and Ireland." He declares that his aim is to place clearly before the world the episode of Mr. Parnell's release from Kilmainham Jail and Mr. Forster's conviction therewith. Mr. Forster he says, imposed the condition upon which he believed the suspects might be released, the condition being that they should not attempt intimidation. The resignation of Mr. Forster remains an unsolved riddle. The Government, he declares, were without option in the matter.

Evictions on the Clanricarde Estate.

DUBLIN, Aug. 30.—Five families were evicted on the Clanricarde estate at Woodford yesterday. The work was done by a force of soldiers and police. An aged sick woman, who was evicted, was carried to a place of shelter by some English visitors. The sum of $100 has been subscribed to the Parnell fund at Waterford.

WHISKY AND WATER

THE IRON CHANCELLOR'S ONLY DRINK AT PRESENT.

Bismarck Said to be Suffering Also in Mind—What Lobanoheve Has to Say About Balfour and Dillon.

LONDON, Aug. 30.—Prince Bismarck has been seriously out of health for the last two months. He was much tried by Emperor William's death and by the conflicts which incessantly prevailed during the reign of his successor. He has lately suffered from insomnia, and has been well dosed with bromide of ammonia draughts. He walks very little and has quite lost his appetite. Some time ago the Prince ceased to observe the regimen prescribed by Dr. Schweninger. He commenced to smoke incessantly and drank ten or twelve tumblers of beer every day. These irregularities thoroughly upset his digestive organs, and he became fearfully irritable, the result being that Dr. Schweninger is again in command at Friedrichsruhe, and that his patient is confined to a nourishing but very simple diet. The only drink allowed is a little weak whisky and water.

I hear, moreover, from a well-informed correspondent in Germany that Prince Bismarck is suffering severely in mind as well as in body. The young and headstrong Emperor has completely emancipated himself from the Chancellor's control, for the hasty journey to Russia was undertaken against Bismarck's wishes, and he strongly disapproves of the impending expedition to Rome. What, however, has most deeply wounded and enraged Prince Bismarck is the retirement of Count von Moltke, which in reality took place in consequence of a hint that such a step would be highly acceptable to the Emperor, who desired to promote his friend, Gen. Count Waldersee. The latter is an object of Bismarck's deep aversion, for not only is he a consummate soldier, but also a shrewd and active politician. Both he and his clever wife exercise great influence over the Emperor and Empress, and the Count, who is the most prominent member of the war party, is known to differ from the Chancellor on many points.

It really looks as if Mr. Balfour was going to carry out his promise, or understanding, or whatever you may choose to call it, with Wilfred Blunt, and kill Dillon. Dillon is losing weight at the rate of half a pound a week in Dundalk jail. I am afraid that at this rate Dillon will not last long. He has not many half pounds to lose. His mind—assuredly a great and generous mind, if ever there was one—has at the best of times been, as Sydney Smith would have said, "almost indecently exposed by his frail and delicate body." Now the question is: "Does Balfour mean to kill Dillon?" Balfour told Blunt that he thought if Dillon were to be put into jail he would probably die. He was put into jail and he is probably dying. My own opinion is that Dillon will die out of jail like Mandeville, and that when he is dead, some Dr. Barr will be forthcoming to say that it was "the comforts of home" and his family doctor that killed him. If Dillon dies in jail or of "home comforts just after his release, he will die deliberately slaughtered by Balfour just as indubitably as if Balfour were to go to Dundalk and stick a knife into him. If he does die, the verdict will be one of wilful murder against Balfour—the only verdict which a conscientious coroner's jury can by any possibility return.

The great deer forests of Glenstrathfarar, in Invernessshire, belonging to Lord Lovat, which was leased for several years by Winans, who lately has been engaged in litigation with his landlord, in which he was signally worsted, has now been divided. Glenstrathfarar was left to Mr. Winans at £5,750 a year, and he enjoyed the distinction of possessing the highest rented shooting in Scotland.

I am sorry to see that the Duchess of Teck not only patronized "Professor" Baldwin's performance last week, but aggravated the offence by taking her children with her. A lady in her position ought to know the risks of the entertainment and ought to feel that when an unfortunate man is dashed to pieces, as in the ordinary course of things he must be sooner or later, the guilt of his death will rest upon the spectators who have aided and abetted him in risking his life.

With reference to the persistent misstatements respecting Adelina Patti's success in South America, I may say that I have before me a certificate, signed by Mr. Meyer and bearing the official stamp of Messrs. Abbey and Grau, showing that the gross receipts of Patti's season of the twenty-four performances at Buenos Ayres amounted to $370,883, or about £75,000.

Sir Wilford and Lady Brett have left Esher for a tour through the United States and Canada. They will not return home till the middle of March.

TO DISCUSS RETALIATION

A MEETING OF COUNCIL TO BE HELD ON SATURDAY.

All the Ministers Except Hon. Mr. Bowell To Be Present — United States Senator George at Washington Yesterday Makes The Judicious Grieve.

OTTAWA, Aug. 30.—The retaliation question will be discussed at a Cabinet meeting Saturday, when every member of the Government, with the exception of Hon. Mackenzie Bowell, will be present.

Senator Senator George.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—In the Senate after the discussion of an appropriation bill, Mr. George (Dem., Miss.) took the floor, saying that he desired to make some remarks on the fisheries question. After reviewing each of the twenty-seven treaties between the United States and Great Britain to show that not one of them had proposed to settle all the points in controversy and that that had not been an objection to the ratification of any of them, he came down to the question of retaliation and asked whether the act of March 3, 1887, was a sufficient act of retaliation. The answer he gave was that it was not because it did not cover all the ground the United States had for retaliation. There were wrongs committed by Canada against the United States for which the act of 1887 could not be put in force and one of them was that mentioned by the President in regard to the inequality of tolls on the Canadian canals. There would have to be an additional act of Congress for that. The President's recommendation in that respect had to be adopted or else the claim for equality of tolls on the Canada canals had to be abandoned.

Mr. Frye (Rep., Me.) inquired whether Canadian vessels could not be kept out of the Sault Ste. Marie canal.

Mr. George did not know of any reason to the contrary but such a little partial retaliation would amount to nothing. If retaliation were resorted to it should be made adequate and efficient.

"Are you aware," Mr. Frye persisted, "that Sir John Macdonald"—

"I do not," Mr. George broke in, "know anything about Sir John Macdonald."

"He is the head of the Canadian Government," Mr. Frye explained, "and he declares that there is no discrimination against us in the Canadian canals."

At this point Mr. George assented to the request of Mr. Allison to have a vote taken on the conference report on the Sundry Civil bill, and after this was disposed of Mr. George resumed the floor and proceeded with the discussion of the President's retaliation message. He said that under the act of March 3, 1887, the President could not deny the right of transit over American territory to goods going from foreign countries to Canada, or goods going from Canada through the United States intended for foreign countries, and he said in a message sent to Congress on Dec. 5, 1870, President Grant had recommended the very thing which President Cleveland now recommends.

Without concluding his speech Mr. George yielded the floor and the regular business was proceeded with.

Blaine on Cleveland's Flop.

CALAIS, Me., Aug. 30.—Hon. James G. Blaine addressed an audience of from 3000 to 5000 people in this city this afternoon. Commenting on President Cleveland's retaliatory message he asked why it might not be reasoned that as soon as the Senate defeats the Mills Bill the President will not make another summersault and change as radically in regard to tariffs as he has in regard to the fisheries. Mr. Blaine asked: "May not his letter of acceptance disclose such a radical but temporary change as will show him a protectionist up to the point of a prohibitory tariff? Would it be a whit more inconsistent than his sudden conversion on the fisheries?" We had nothing against Canada. They do as they have a right to do and he neither disputed their right nor envied their position.

"If they come with us they can have what we have, but it is a wrong against the rights of American citizens that millions of men who owe the United States no allegiance, who are not of us but choose to be foreign to us, shall have the same share in our markets and the same privileges of trade under our flag that we have."

The Job Was Too Large.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—Representative Belmont has added Mr. Morrow and himself to the sub-committee on Foreign Affairs which has been charged with the duty of collecting information regarding the treaties concerning Canada and the United States.

A Negro Villian Lynched.

BELLEFONTAINE, Miss., Aug. 30.—On Saturday night a negro known as Pony Poe forced an entrance into the residence of Mrs. Blissett, a widow, and assaulted her and her young daughter and also the daughter of a neighbor aged 14. The next day the sheriff arrested him at a religious meeting where he was taking part in the services. While the sheriff's posse was en route to jail with the prisoner a mob overpowered them and took the wretch to the scene of his crime, where they hanged him. He confessed his guilt. He further stated that a few years ago he criminally assaulted a white woman in Mississippi, but made his escape. Poe was the leader of the negroes in Webster County, had taught school and was last year a candidate for the tax assessorship.

The Burns Statue at Albany.

ALBANY, N.Y., Aug. 30.—The bronze statue of Burns, by Charles Calverdi, was successfully placed on its Scotch and American granite pedestal in Washington Park yesterday. It will be unveiled with appropriate ceremonies to-day. It is the gift of Miss Mary McPherson, and costs $25,000. It is anticipated the event will bring together the largest number of Scotchmen ever gathered in America at one time.

Excitement in the Hop Market.

CANAJOHARIE, N. Y., Aug. 30.—There is much excitement in the hop market. A large grower of Waterville has just sold his 1888 crop at 25 cents per pound, an advance of 10 cents within one week.

THE LIBERAL LEADER'S ONTARIO TOUR.

"Observer" in the Globe thus deals with the recent tour through Ontario of Hon. Wilfred Laurier, leader of Her Majesty's Loyal Opposition in the House of Commons:

Mr. Laurier has completed his tour of Ontario. He has travelled nearly one thousand miles, addressed four great meetings, received sixteen addresses, visited the Counties of Halton, York, Muskoka, Parry Sound, Simcoe, Ontario, Victoria, Wellington, Huron and Elgin. It was his desire to travel in the character of a tourist rather than in that of a politician. He was more anxious to know the country and the people than to receive recognition as a party leader. He had, perhaps, a special desire to meet in an informal way his fellow Liberals of Ontario; a special anxiety to get a frank expression of their opinions, and a special sensitiveness as to the general feeling entertained for himself in the position imposed upon him by the unanimous vote of the Parliamentary party.

Speaking frankly, it would perhaps be too much to say that at the opening of the last session of Parliament the Liberal Parliamentary party were a unit in favor of Mr. Laurier as successor to the great orator and Liberal leader who had broken down in the service of a people that were none too grateful. Speaking as frankly again, the fact stands out beyond doubt or cavil that before the session had closed he had won the loyal allegiance of every Liberal in Parliament, and that had a vote been taken every hand would have gone up and every tongue spoken with enthusiasm for the new chief, and every man insisted that he might hold his position. In fact it was so insisted, resolutely and enthusiastically at the last Liberal caucus of the session. He had shown himself thoughtful, prudent, firm, courteous, strong in debate and capable in management. He is not rashly aggressive, but he surrenders no principle. He has no faith in the devices and intrigues of petty partisanship, and he would rather argue against men's convictions than question their motives. He believes that every member of his party should do his work, and that the business of the session should be specialised, that every proposal and every act and every expenditure should have thorough, honest criticism and investigation, that the large view is the one that prevails with the people, that what is best for the party is best for the country.

Mr. Laurier is not satisfied with the mere approval of his followers in Parliament. He is anxious to get the opinions of the Liberals of the constituences. He wants to know the people and to consult with the people in order intelligently and wisely to promote in Parliament the true interests of the country. Well, he has met the people of Ontario at many points, and he has shaken hands and exchanged views with many of the veteran workers in the cause of Reform, the men that have grown grey under the leadership of George Brown and Alexander Mackenzie and Edward Blake, and who do not forget that the heads of their fellow-Liberals of Quebec have whited under the same grand leaders; and they have welcomed with enthusiasm and given their utmost confidence to the brilliant French Canadian who came to them from the sister Province with the sanction of their Parliamentary representatives as their leader in the great fight for enlarged markets and cheap supplies and reduced taxation.

It has been the writer's privilege to hear the opinions of the people at every point Mr. Laurier has visited. And everywhere he has won completely the allegiance of Liberals and the respect and good-will of opponents. Perhaps he found his great reputation as an orator almost an embarrassment. In the brief, gossipy speeches he had often to make he could not display his powers to the full. And he is a man who will not strain after effect. Speaking frankly once more these short extempore speeches in the English tongue were a new experience to him and at first he did not do himself justice. But he gained steadily in confidence and ease and finish, and a few experiments enabled him to get complete control of his English and his eloquence, and he charmed everywhere by his graceful, polished sentences and encouraged and inspired by his fine presence, and hopeful words, and unaffected friendliness and manliness.

Madame Laurier has left an equally favorable impression on the people. The wife of the leader is one of those women that all men respect and all women esteem. Always cordial, unaffected and womanly, she talks to no one from an elevation, and is quite as much at home with a farmer in his working clothes as with a townsman in full dress. And she speaks English quite as well as her husband. If Mr. Laurier ever had his eye on the leadership it must have been when he chose his wife. She was born to the position. She has tact and judgment and enthusiasm, and at least in respect of their wives the old leader of the Conservative party has no advantage over his brilliant young opponent.

Everywhere that Mr. Laurier has gone he has found the Liberals full of hope and courage. Never was the party in grander fighting spirit. Although it is the off season for politics, his four great meetings at Oakville, Cannington, Guelph and St. Thomas were splendid manifestations of strength and enthusiasm, and greatly encouraged the leader resolutely to prosecute to a decisive triumph the great fight against Taxation and Restriction and Monopoly upon which he has entered. For Mr. Laurier will fight. That is the impression he has left on the people everywhere. The Liberals will follow him in assured confidence that he will not shirk or weaken or compromise in any crisis of the conflict. He will fight upon the one issue of Reciprocity and Reduced Taxation. His opponents will force him upon no other ground. He will ignore the party quarrels of the past and make the one vital question supreme before the people. It is his intention until the next general election to devote two or three months of each year to steady campaigning in the different Provinces of the Dominion. Probably next year he and the Hon. L. H. Davies will give six weeks to the Maritime Provinces, visiting every important point, and putting the merits of the Liberal policy frankly before the people. He will do the same with the other Provinces.

He has found that Reciprocity is the one subject the people want to hear discussed. They listen with absorbed attention to every speech dealing with the advantages of free trade relations with the United States. The system of Protection has outgrown every vestige of its popularity with the agricultural population. Thousands of the farmers are not in as good position as they were ten years ago, and they are looking eagerly to Reciprocity for redress and relief. The lumbering interest is solid for Reciprocity. It has been found that the one view held in the lumbering district is that Continental Free Trade will secure better prices for lumber and give better wages to all engaged in the industry. In the mining districts the people are looking for Reciprocity to encourage American capital to come in and develop our mineral resources. At every place visited manufacturers were found ready for Continental Free Trade and anxious for free access to the markets of the Continent. All that Mr. Laurier has seen or heard has convinced him that the Liberals have adopted a sound, wise, beneficial policy, and encouraged him to more vigorous fighting, and all that the Liberals of Ontario have seen and heard of Mr. Laurier has the more convinced them that the Parliamentary party did well when they promoted him to the leadership and has encouraged them to more enthusiastic following. The outlook in Ontario is bright for Reciprocity and Reform.

Peterborough Markets.

[Supplied by W. H. Wrighton, Grain and Produce Dealer & General Grocer, George St.]

WEDNESDAY, 29th Aug.

Nothing doing in grain of any account. Any new wheat will bring 85c for spring and 92c for fall. Oats are lower, 40c being about top price. On the market—Butter continues high, 20c to 24c; potatoes are lower, selling 70c to 80c per bag; eggs weaker and lower, 14c to 15c being all that can be got, in lots 13c to 14c. Other commodities unchanged.

Grain Market.

MONTREAL, Aug. 27th.—The feeling in wheat early in the day was rather easier, but improved later in sympathy with an advance in the West and stronger reports from abroad. A private despatch from Liverpool to a prominent shipper here says: "The market easier on reports from America and better weather here: think dullness will not continue." In the West millers are paying as high as 97c for red winter, which means about $1.11 laid down here, and holders of round lots do not care to offer at less than $1 f.o.b. On the spot No. 1 Northern is offered at $1.10, with buyers at $1.09, and it is said that $1.09½ would bring out a round lot. Peas are very dull, 85c per 66 lbs. is offered. Oats are quiet but steady. Quotations are firm as follows:—Canada red winter, $1.08 @ $1.09; Canada white winter, $1.08@$1.09; No. 1 Manitoba hard, $1.12@$1.14; No. 2 do., $1.10; No. 1 Northern, $1.09½@$1.10½; oats, 46c per 32 lbs.; peas, 85c@88c per 66 lbs.; barley, 65c@70 per bushel; corn, 60c per bushel in bond. White beans, $2.20@$2.30 per bushel.

CHEESE—Receipts 1,243 boxes. A more lively feeling is reported all round to-day. Enquiries from England are numerous, but do not result in business, as the replies do not bring forward orders. The cable shows the Liverpool market unchanged at 46 shillings per cwt. A few choice lots of country makes were taken at the boat this morning at 8¾c, which is an improvement of fully ¼ cent per lb, and in the country also better prices are being paid. A shipper accounts for this advance by saying that a prominent operator, who is often on the bear back, is now covering his short sales of July makes.

The Little Seed.

A little seed lay in the carter's path;
A little shoot bowed in the strong wind's wrath;
A little shrub grew, by its roots hold fast;
Then the stout tree braved all the winter's blast.

A little cough started—'twas only light;
A little chill shivered the hours of night;
A little pain came and began to grow.
Then consumption laid all his brave strength low.

Be wise in time. Check the little cough, cure the little chill, dispel the little pain, ere the little ailment becomes the strong, unconquerable giant of disease. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, taken in time, is a remedy for these ills. a

A BOGUS AGENT.

How Charles Dayton Swindled Several Toronto Tradesmen.

TORONTO, Aug 30. Il a days ago one Charles Dayton arrived in Toronto. He put up at the Rossin House, and introduced himself to Chief Clerk Craig as "contracting agent" for Buffalo Bill's Wild West Show, and was well equipped with printed forms of contract so as to give an air of reality to his movements. Dayton dressed well, wore diamonds, could talk like a book agent and made lots of friends around the bar. He was "a jolly fellow well met" with plenty of men about town. But Mr. Dayton did not let business slide. He made contracts for Buffalo Bill—his successor. Welch—one Thompson, butcher, he made a contract for twelve hundred pounds of beef daily for two weeks—enough to feed a thousand men per day, at eight cents a pound. The gormandizing beef and mutton dealer gave Mr. Dayton an advance of $25, with a promise of $50 more when Mr. Buffalo Bill paid for the beef. Two other butchers were also done up for a similar amount. A well-known hay dealer was also victimized, but afterwards made Dayton return the loan. A reporter grew suspicious of Dayton, and yesterday morning despatched the following telegram to his old friend Buffalo Bill.

COPY.

Toronto,
Aug. 30, 1888.

Hon. Wm. F. Cody,
Philadelphia, Pa.

"Is Charles Dayton authorized to make contracts for your appearance here Sept. 10th. Wire, reply quick."

To which the following reply was received:

BELMONT, Pa., Aug. 29, 1888.

—— Toronto: "Chas. Dayton is a fraud. I have no agents in Canada."

W. F. CODY
(Buffalo Bill).

Mr. Dayton was shown M. Cody's telegram last night at the Rossin House. He said nothing but walked towards the entrance with Chief Clerk Craig and disappeared down King-street. Dayton is a dapper little fellow—every inch a rascal. Besides the reporter, Detective Newhall also investigated the matter with the same result. There is no doubt but Dayton secured a lot of cash in Toronto as he had a call in the Rossin House safe. He drove round in riverets with a woman whom he introduced as his victims as his wife. Look out for him.

DRUNKENNESS

Or the Liquor Habit Positively Cured by Administering Dr. Haines' Golden Specific.

It can be given in a cup of tea or coffee without the knowledge of the person taking it; it is absolutely harmless, and will effect a permanent and speedy cure, whether the patient is a moderate drinker or an alcoholic wreck. It has been given in thousands of cases, and in every instance a perfect cure has followed. It never fails. The system once impregnated with the Specific, it becomes an utter impossibility for the liquor appetite to exist. Campbellford Mission.

Rev. W. C. Bradshaw, of Peterborough, says the Herald, intends holding a mission in Christ's Church, Campbellford, commencing on Tuesday, September 18th, and ending on Wednesday, the 26th. The purpose of these services is to awaken the careless, soften the impenitent, guide the doubting, comfort and help the weak-hearted and to strengthen all God's people. On Sunday, Sept. 23rd, Rev. Mr. Bradshaw will preach morning and evening. All are invited to attend.

A Foot Crushed.

Yesterday afternoon Mr. Chas. McConkey, of Bridgenorth, one of Mr. Wesley Kelly's teamsters, fell from a load of lumber that he was driving from Bridgenorth to town and the hind wheel of the heavily-loaded wagon passed over one of his feet, crushing it severely. His fall was caused by the breaking down of his seat. Dr. Kincaid, who is attending, does not think amputation will be necessary.

The Manufacturers Accident Insurance Company, Wilson & Morrison agents, have cheap rates and large indemnities. No one should be without an accident policy.

The Post Office Building.

It is no fault of the architectual design or construction of the post office building that the bricks underneath the stone work present unsightly smears of dirty white of a most disfiguring character. Nor is it the fault of the bricks used. After the bricks had been rubbed down and cleaned the stone cutters did their work, and the limestone dust resulting, washed down by the rains, blotched and smeared the brick work with unsightly patches—a hideous ornamentation not at all in the architect's plans. Now that that the stone work has been washed clean if the bricks were again rubbed down they would maintain their colour, and the disfigurement of a beautiful block of buildings would be at an end. What about the clock for the post office tower? Are we to have one or not? With the present altitude of the tower, however, and especially with the new block erected to the west, the clock dials might as well be placed in the cellar as in the openings in the tower, that is as far as the public getting a sight at them is concerned.

A Warsaw Sensation.

A Teacher Savagely Assaults a Child.

On Wednesday a teacher named Kelley, of Toronto, in charge of the senior department of the Warsaw public school, undertook to subdue a pupil by means more forcible than human. He assaulted a twelve-year old son of Mr. John Lewery, throwing the child, who is anything but strong, upon the floor and choking him savagely. He would release his grip and ask the lad if he would "give in," and on not receiving a satisfactory answer would renew the choking. This was continued till the affrighted pupils fled from the school room. Instead of showing contrition for his brutality, Kelley is said to have asserted that he would "do it again." This (Thursday) morning a meeting of the trustees was held and Kelley tendered his resignation. But he will not be allowed to escape so easily. The father entered a complaint of assault with A. R. Kidd, Esq., Reeve of Dummer, and the evidence to prove the assault will be submitted to him.

Rev. Father Lynch's Keene Picnic.

A Very Pleasant and Profitable Gathering.

The first annual picnic held under the auspices of Rev. Father Lynch, pastor, was held in Mr. Welsh's Grove, near Keene, on Wednesday. It was a splendid success in every respect. The beautiful maple grove held a very large gathering, which enjoyed itself to the utmost in the various ways incidental to picnic occasions. The refreshments, provided by the ladies of the congregation, although they represented only fourteen families, were exceptionally excellent in variety, quality and abundance. The large attendance included about seventy five from Peterborough, who went down on the morning or afternoon Grand Junction trains or drove by road. There was a fine dancing platform, and dancing to good music engaged the attention of the youngsters, while sports and athletic games were joined in by the more muscular Christians present. A shooting gallery, on the portable principle, yielded a good revenue and lashins of good fun. J. Dolan, W. Back, P. D. Doran distinguished themselves, and even the ladies with their usual success in gaining their points, entered into competition with the gentlemen and both covered themselves with glory and the target with bullseyes. Rev. Father Lynch's picture, whose sale was manipulated by Messrs. T. Dolan and John Hackett, yielded a revenue of fifty dollars. A handsome ring to be given to the most popular young lady was won by Miss Carey, daughter of Mr. Redmond Carey. The matter was settled by voting and the votes were bought just like a real election at a rather more moderate figure. The picnic showed how the people of the vicinity manifested a community of interest in its success. The gathering was pretty evenly divided—nationalities and religions. The financial success of the affair was most gratifying. It is estimated that the gross proceeds will very nearly approach, if they do not quite reach, $500. The proceeds are devoted to the organ fund of the Keene church. Rev Father Lynch and the congregation are to be congratulated upon the handsome outcome, both in pleasure and profit, of their joint endeavors in connection with their first annual picnic.

At The Opera House.

That Harry Lindley's popularity is not on the wane is evidenced by the large audiences that he is drawing at the opera house this week. Every night the attendance is larger. To-night a play which blends the "Lime Kiln Club" and "Over the Hills to the Poor House" will be presented. This is one of Harry's best plays, and one well suited to his company.

Examiner Bindery.

Merchants and business men, now is the time to call at the EXAMINER bindery and leave your orders for journals, day books, ledgers, invoice books, cheque books, and all blank books used in business. Don't wait till the moment you want to use them. All blank books last longer for not being used immediately after being finished.

Horticultural Society's Exhibition.

The indications are that this exhibition now going forward at the Charlotte street skating rink, will be a great success. There are 400 entries, as compared with 300 last year. The exhibits are of great merit, too, especially in flowers, cut and living. There are magnificent displays in both these classes, there being some of the finest bouquets ever shown at any exhibition in town. Ladies' fancy work is well represented; the show of fruit and vegetables is good, and fine arts and penmanship and amateur photography are well represented. The exhibits are well worthy a visit and careful inspection, and it is probable there will be a large number of spectators out to-night, especially with the presence of the Band in a fine programme of selections, added to the attractions of the exhibits. Let everyone who enjoys the beautiful and the useful turn out to-night and help the society, which deserves so well of the public in the important work it is doing.

A Wheel Within a Wheel.

During fair week next month, an exhibition within an exhibition will demand the attention and patronage of the citizens. It is proposed that on the evening of the 26th Sergt.-Major Rundle's drill and calisthenic classes of the Collegiate Institute give an exhibition. The entertainment will be on a more ambitious scale than the former one given with such success by these classes. The programme will include many new features, among which will be about thirty young ladies in uniform, who will appear in some most interesting movements. Swords and rifles will also be placed in the hands of the cadets, and gymnastic and other exercises will be presented. One of the objects of this exhibition, aside from the giving of pleasure to the public, will be to procure funds for uniforming all the classes. It is expected that the public will heartily co-operate with Major Rundle and the pupils. These drill and calisthenic exercises are not mere display—they have a much more substantial raison d'etre and result. The physical development of the pupils is vastly promoted, and the frames of the girls especially are strengthened in a manner which their ordinary habits of life and the usages of society in regard to the department and bearing of ladies utterly debar them from enjoying. There is, besides, a moral advantage, not to be lost sight of in connection with school life. Both girls and boys are taught habits of discipline which they carry into school, and there is better order, and the large portion of the teacher's time, under ordinary circumstances devoted to the maintenance of discipline, can be directed to the work of instruction, pure and simple. On these grounds the public support is claimed and will no doubt be freely extended. Further and more definite particulars as to the character of the entertainment will be learned in a few days.

The exports of wheat from the Atlantic coast thus far this week have been 174,198 bushels more than for the same days last week, and the exports of flour 76,727 barrels more.

The crop news from Europe is the worst received in years. Reports from Great Britain, France, Italy, Germany, Roumania and Italy show a deficiency of 20 to 30 per cent in the wheat yield. Potatoes, Hay, and all cereal growths are more or less injured.

It is said at Minneapolis that extensive inquiries in regard to probable yield of wheat result in a general average of 12.6 bushels per acre in Minnesota and 14.5 bushels for Dakota. These averages, applied to the area as estimated by the Department of Agriculture, suggest 38,000,000 for Minnesota, against 36,299,000 bushels reported for last year, and 58,000,000 for Dakota, against 52,408,000 last year—a total of 96,000,000 this season, against 89,000,000 last year.

A Glimpse of Manitoba.

Mr. Dumble Gives His Views of the Prairie Province—Personal Observations on a Two Weeks Tour.

About two weeks ago Mr. D. W. Dumble left Peterborough to make a tour of Manitoba, and in Toronto he joined the Colonist excursion over the C.P.R. Mr. Dumble returned yesterday, and the EXAMINER took the first opportunity of interviewing him and obtaining his views regarding the great prairie provinces. On the reporter stating his business Mr. Dumble opened out at once and began:

"The first impression of the 600 Ontario farmers who went up to Manitoba was that the scenery along the North Shore was about the most valuable property of that country. There was constantly expressed the wonder how a railway running over 1200 or 1300 miles of rock and wilderness could ever be made to pay.

WINNIPEG IS IMPROVED

in the character of its buildings, and the streets are vastly improved by the construction of block pavements extending for miles. The postoffice is a magnificent structure as is also the city hall. A number of very fine stone warehouses have been erected by the merchants. There had been a somewhat heavy frost on the 8th of August, and after we arrived all Winnipeg and the whole country were intensely anxious as to its effect on the crops. In a few days assuring reports came in that very little injury had been done, and then, believing that that frost would be the heaviest they would have, the people grew hopeful again. Before we left the harvest was well under way and a buoyant feeling pervaded the whole community. The crop is magnificent in wheat, oats and barley, and is extensive beyond the realization of any ppeole who haven't seen it. From Winnipeg westward to Virden, about 250 miles, and then down south to the Antlers and eastward along the South Western railway to Winnipeg, appeared

ONE SOLID WHEAT FIELD.

Along the South Western numerous towns have sprung up, from several of which last year were shipped six or seven hundred thousand bushels of grain. In these towns new elevators have been erected to meet the demand for this season. The increased price of wheat and the increased facilities for getting out the grain will put Manitoba on its feet. Nowhere did we find people dissatisfied with the country. On the other hand very many expressed themselves as unwilling to come back to Ontario. Besides the grain growing, the country has become suited for dairying purposes, and when creameries and cheese factories are established an important source of wealth will be developed.

LANDS FOR SETTLEMENT

are still plentiful, but the greater part of the valuable land is in the hands of the Hudson Bay Company and the railway companies, who ask from $3 to $7 per acre. And while on the one hand the country may coax our own Ontario farmers away from us, it will on the other hand afford an extensive field for the merchant and for the manufacturer. And to-day beyond our conception Ontario is benefitting from the trade of that country. As Ontario must continue to be a manufacturing country the further development of Manitoba will insure the further increased mercantile prosperity of Ontario. And instead of regretting the loss of our farmers we should rejoice at the knowledge that we are planting in the west consumers for our wares and manufactures. And as soon as Ontario is developed, agriculturally speaking, Manitoba for trade purposes is our own."

"How about the Northwest?"

"West of the South Western railway are very extensive settlements for a hundred or more miles. These people went in there expecting the early construction of that branch of the C.P.R. They have waited a long time and are getting despondent and anxious about their future. As there are and a large development of agriculture, it is a wonder why the C.P.R. Company does not push on that branch. So far as we could judge the C. P. R. is using every effort to push settlement along the main line, I suppose, confident that the splendid character of Southern Manitoba will secure its own settlement. Of the Northwest I know little. The general impression in Manitoba is that their own section is far superior. The railway facilities are poor and the supplies are not good. The people who are beyond the reach of railways are withholding their efforts as they have no means of getting out their grain. The true policy of that country is branch railways. That is the only way it can be properly developed."

"How are politics regarded in Manitoba?"

"The politics of the country at present seems to be Manitoba first, but the Tories are only

QUIET FOR A TIME.

They are not generous to Premier Greenway and will take the first opportunity to improve their position, and as soon as they can accomplish their railway purposes they will be Tories again."

"Is there still much agitation over the railway question?"

"Yes, it is still a live issue. There is a general desire to be free from the control of these great railway corporations, but the difficulty is to do it, and in dealing with the Northern Pacific they feel that they are bringing in the Grand Trunk, which has always been in close alliance with the Northern Pacific and the competitor of the C. P. R.

Police Court.

THURSDAY, Aug. 30.

Five young men were ranged in front of the police magistrate this morning, charged with "obstructing the highway by loitering on the streets." They all pleaded not guilty, and Officer Stewart was called upon to witness against them. He said they were hanging about the street corners in groups and he had told each of them to move on two or three times. They would move a few feet until the "cop" was out of sight, and then return to their old stand. The defendants all denied that they were loafing on the streets or that the officer had ever told them to move on. Some tall swearing was done, and if what the boys state is true, P. C. Stewart must be a confirmed Ananias. But the police magistrate couldn't see it that way, and four of them were fined $1 each, the fifth being given the benefit of a doubt and dismissed. The four convicted are:—

Russell, John Wilson jr., Jas. Shannon and H. Thompson. Geo. Fady was dismissed. Three others, Geo. Spencely, Geo. Trotter and Jas. Telford did not appear in answer to their summons. The magistrate severely reprimanded the defendants for their hoodlum habit of loafing on street corners, and gave the police open instructions to arrest anyone hanging around at night or swearing and using profane language. A word to the wise in this case ought to be sufficient.

Wm. Flannery was found drunk last night and this morning dismissed, it being his first offence.

W. Sailsbury was charged with obstructing the highway by leaving goods on the sidewalk. The defendant showed that the goods had been left out by the store boy in his absence and without his knowledge. The case was dismissed.

F. J. Daly admitted a first offece against the Scott Act and was fined $50 and costs.

CHICAGO, Aug. 27.—Wheat was a decidedly mixed commodity to-day, the feeling before the market opened was weak, on easier foreign advices and fine weather in England. We rather counted on 90c being touched for December, but had evidently marked too low; sales were made at 90½c, then sharply rallied a cent, closing firm at 91⅛c December, with September relatively stronger at 90⅝c. We are inclined to look on a while, as there must soon be a movement of the spring crop, and freights are advancing so rapidly that the advance will be checked or else foreign markets must further advance.

News Nuggets.

—Port Hope still clings to its darling twine factory project.

—The Bay of Quinte Bee Keepers' Association is in session at Belleville.

—The Millbrook excursionists passed through town again last night after having spent their holiday in Campbellford.

—The Athletics, of Cobourg, were beaten by the Atlantics, of Port Hope, at baseball Tuesday by 18 to 8.

—The new steam tug built by the Ontario Canoe Company was to have been launched at Lakefield to-day.

—A runaway on Aylmer street last night fortunately resulted only in damage to the phaeton. A little girl was upset but not much hurt.

—Mr. Samuel D. Robinson, of Welcome, and Mr. John Walter fell from a scaffold at the former's new house at Quay's, and both were injured, Mr. Robinson seriously.

—The Indians of Chemong Lake are having their annual pic-nic to-day. A number of Rice Lake Indians drove through town today bound for the happy pic-nic grounds.

—At the Campbellford cheese market, held on Friday, 1,268 boxes were offered, nearly all of which were July make and some August. The best offer made was 8½ cents. No sales took place. Buyers present—Messrs. Bird, Russel and Whitton. A few private sales took place after the market closed.

Personal.

Among those who have just past their solicitors' examination at Osgoode Hall, are Mr. R. M. Dennistoun, Peterborough, and Mr. W. A. F. Campbell, formerly in Poussette & Rogers' office.

Mr. Gordon J. Smith, of the law office of Hall & Hayes, leaves Friday night for Toronto, where he will enter the office of Hobson, Henderson & Bell. Mr. Smith will be greatly missed in town. He was very popular amongst his associates.

Mr. John Millar, B.A., is expected home from his European trip. He will spend a few weeks in town and reside during the winter in Toronto, where he will study law.

Local Sports and Pastimes.

Baseball.

The office clerks and druggists didn't play Wednesday afternoon, the latter not appearing. The office clerks paraded in front of the grand stand amidst thunders of applause and claimed the game by a score of 153 to 0 Then the Corkers and Slashers went at it, and after four innings the score stood 7 to 11 in favor of the Slashers. The Corkers battery was Stevenson and Kincaid; the Slashers at first employed Giroux and Pearson, but Cameron was substituted and, with the assistance of the umpire, won the game for his side. Two balls were uncovered, and then the game was stopped just as the umpire fainted under the oppressive weight on his conscience. Some good double plays of interest were made, the one made by a batter who struck a foul and the umpire at the same clip, being specially admired. The attendance of spectators was something less than 3,000.

The Ashburnham baseball club expect the Havelock club up next Monday to play a return match.

The Port Hope-Peterborough game next Monday will be a good one.

Lacrosse.

The Riversides were defeated by three straight games at Bradford yesterday. The boys say they were never used so roughly in all their lives. They were "slugged" unmercifully by the Bradfords, who pounded out a victory at their opponents' expense. The Bradfords comprised the pick of the district, and no wonder they beat the Riversides. This defeat places the Bradfords at the top of the list and the Riversides at the foot. The return match will be watched with interest. The telegraphic report says that "the home club won by grand team play." It also gives Joyal, Stephenson, Phelan and Butler credit for playing a good game for the Riversides.

Sporting Notes.

In the three minute trot at the St. Catherines races yesterday, Sleepy Dan took third place. He came in first in one heat.

The Colts and Wrighton's Lambs play their return match Friday.

Mr. W. A. Stratton is in Toronto playing with the All Canada cricket team against the Irish Gentlemen.

The fruit season has now come and we must prepare to put up our fruit. Now what kind of jars are we to use? Of course, glass jars; but so many of those we had last year cracked in filling that it makes it very expensive. Oh, I remember how Mrs. Goodwife told me last year she bought her jars at "China Hall," and that she did not break a jar in filling or lose a single can of fruit. I shall buy from China Hall this season. As the price is just the same I might as well have the best.

CORSETS

Every lady purchasing CORSETS and wishing to get the Best Article for the least outlay, should visit TURNBULL'S, as he always keeps in stock the Best Makes from all the leading manufacturers. Some makes are peculiarly adapted to suit a particular style of figure. Below we enumerate a few lines from which you can select in any size from 18 to 30. Larger sizes procured on short notice.

THE YATISI CORSET

is modelled from a design of one of the most celebrated Parisian makers. It gives a lady that ease and grace so much admired in French ladies.

The YATISI CORSET owing to the peculiar diagonal elasticity of the cloth will fit the wearer perfectly the first time worn, no matter what her style of form is, either long or short waisted. To ladies wishing to lace light and not feel uncomfortable at the bust or hips, they are indispensible.

The YATISI CORSET does not stretch at the waist; requires no breaking in; fits comfortable the first time worn, as it gives to every motion of the wearer. It will outlast any of the old style rigid Corsets.

The YATISI CORSET can be worn ten days and if not found satisfactory in every respect the money will be refunded at TURNBULL'S.

THE CORALINE CORSET

What is Coraline? Coraline is composed of a bundle of stiff and and very elastic fibres like bristles tightly bound with strong thread. Coraline contains no sizing of any kind but its stiffness exists in the natural fibre and is permanent. Look for the Coraline Corset at TURNBULL'S, every pair stamped.

BALL'S CORSETS.

These Corsets need no breaking in—invalids can wear them with ease and comfort, as they do not compress the vital parts of the wearer. They fit a great variety of forms owing to their peculiar construction—they are very durable. They have the endorsement of every physician who has examined them. Every pair warranted—the money refunded if not satisfactory after wearing them three weeks at TURNBULL'S.

THE PARISENNE.

The PARISENNE is a new make which is becoming very popular. It is something after the style of the old French Corded Corset—is shorter waisted than most of the other makes, which makes it adapted for a stout figure.

Everything desirable in the Corset line always to be found at TURNBULL'S at prices that are never beaten.

"C" BATTERY AT VICTORIA

A REPORT OF THE ATHENA TRIP EXPECTED NEXT WEEK.

The Newfoundland Delegates to be at the Capital about the Middle of September —The D. R. A. Meeting.

OTTAWA, Aug. 31.—The Newfoundland delegates will probably leave the Island during the first week of September, and be in Ottawa about the middle of the month.

Adjt.-General Powell has received a telegram from Colonel Holmes, Commandant of "C" Battery, stating that the battery returned to Victoria from the Skeena River on Saturday. The men are all well. The official report of the trip will probably reach here early next week.

Pending the return of the Minister of Customs Lieutenant Chamberlain of the 43rd Battalion has paid $25 duty on the cup won at Wimbledon and got the cup. On the return of the Minister he will apply for a refund, which may be made by order-in-council. It is possible that the raising of the point whether or not duty should be levied on trophies will lead to an amendment of the act next session admitting all such articles free.

Present indications are that the Dominion Rifle Association meeting which opens here on Monday will be the largest ever known. Teams will be present from every province and from the territories and entries are now pouring in to the secretary from all quarters.

Commissioner of Customs Johnson has written the Secretary of the Canada Central Exhibition to say that arrangements will be made for the admission in bond of goods from the United States intended for exhibition only. In cases of sales duty will be charged.

J. R. Booth & Co. have purchased for $46,000 the Moore timber limits comprising about ninety square miles on Lake Nipissing adjoining the Booth reserve on Sturgeon River.

A BRILLIANT METEOR.

The Beautiful Sight Vouchsafed to Residents of the Ambitious City.

HAMILTON, Aug. 30.—As Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Williams were going along Stinson-street last night about 6.30 they noticed the pathway in front of them becoming brilliantly illuminated and looking suddenly round towards the north they expected to find that an electric light had flashed up but were surprised to see an immense meteor soaring across the northwestern sky. It was of great magnitude and had all the brilliancy of an electric light, while behind it remained a pathway of fire. The sight was a beautiful one and such as is not frequently seen.

A Shooter at Whitby.

WHITBY, Aug. 30.—At 9.25 last night a beautiful meteor, traveling from south to north, burst west of the town, showing brilliant blue light and leaving a long train of sparks.

Canadian Pacific Railway Changes.

NIPISSING, Aug. 31.—Important changes on the Canadian Pacific Railway in the Nipissing district are said to be under consideration. The announcements of the alleged changes are rather contradictory. One is that the Ottawa and Montreal section will be sold and the official headquarters removed to North Bay. The other indicates that Sudbury will become, on the completion of the Claremont Branch, the official headquarters of the Eastern Division, and that the chief divisional points east of the Sault will be Carleton Place, Mattawa and Sudbury. These are the hopes that buoy the hearts of Nipissing [illegible]

MORE RETALIATION TALK.

U. S. SENATORS STILL DEBATING CLEVELAND'S MESSAGE.

Mr. Interstate Cullom Defends Himself With the Belief That Canada is Pretty Nearly Ripe for Absorption.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—In the Senate yesterday, replying to the assertion made by Mr. Edmunds in his speech last week that the President had a right to suspend the operation of Section 3006 of the revised statutes, which allows the transit of goods between the United States and Canada without the payment of duty, Mr. George (Dem., Miss.) argued that if the President were to undertake to suspend the operation of that section he would be assuming an autocratic power, such as is possessed only by some potentates in Europe and Asia. The President could not abrogate a solemn enactment of Congress, absolute in its terms, without any contingency whatever.

Mr. Cullom (Rep., Ill.) addressed the Senate on the same subject. In his opening remarks he spoke of the United States being destined to dominate the American continent and expressed the opinion that in the not far distant future the Canadian provinces would become part of the United States. The rejection of the Fisheries Treaty by the Senate had met, he said, with the approval of a large majority of the people of the country. The retaliation message might be fairly taken as evidence that even the President has become satisfied that the treaty was a mistake. To retrieve what he had lost by that mistake, the President had launched out into a broader sea and would find himself in deeper water than before and with greater dangers. Mr. Cullom then addressed himself to the details of the subject, going extensively into the question as to whether the Secretary of the Treasury had not the power to prohibit shipment from Canada to United States ports for exportation. He argued that the Secretary of the Treasury had the power practically to prohibit such transit by establishing such rules and regulations as would make it inconvenient.

As to the discrimination against American vessels on Canadian canals, that difficulty, if it existed, might have been remedied by a remonstrance addressed to the British Government. It would be time enough when such remonstrance proved unavailing for the President to apply to Congress for additional legislation. When he (Cullom) applied the message to the situation and saw how little the excuses there was for it, it became more and more apparent that it has been inspired by political necessity. It might be regarded as Mr. Cleveland's long delayed letter of acceptance, because it betrayed clearly his anxiety for another term of office and his fear that he would not be elected. His change of front on the fisheries question showed that Mr. Cleveland and his party were in desperate straits politically, they saw defeat staring them in the face and were seeking to divert attention. The whole movement was a political movement.

Mr. Cullom offered a resolution which was laid over, desiring the Secretary of the Treasury to inform the Senate whether the transit in bond over or across the territory of the United States without payment of duties on goods, etc., coming from Canadian ports has been permitted since July 1, 1885, as Article XXIX of the Treaty of 1818 and section 3 of the act of March 1, 1873, are said to have ceased to be in force, if so by what authority of law.

THE RETALIATION BILL.

A Substitute Unanimously Adopted by the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—The Committee on Foreign Affairs to-day received the report of the sub-committee on the Retaliation Bill. The chairman, Mr. Belmont, said that in these questions the committee had always acted without regard to partisanship, and he hoped it would continue to do so. He referred to the fact that a bill introduced by himself two years ago, containing a restrictive railroad provision, had been adopted by the House almost unanimously, though the railroad section was subsequently stricken out in the Senate. The committee unanimously adopted the amended bill reported by the sub-committee. Mr. Belmont having been absent when the consideration of the subject was begun, expressed the opinion that it would be proper for Mr. McCreary to report the bill to the House. It is understood to be the intention to call it up for action on Saturday. The following is the text of the substitute bill:

Sec. 1. Be it enacted, etc.: That whenever the President may deem it his duty to exercise any of the powers given to him by an act entitled, "An act to authorise the President of the United States to protect and defend the rights of American fishing vessels, American fishermen, American trading and other vessels in certain cases, and for other purposes," approved March 3, 1887, it shall be lawful for the President, in his discretion, by proclamation to that effect, to suspend, in whole or in part, the transportation across the territory of the United States, in bond or without the payment of duty of goods, wares and merchandise imported or exported from any foreign country from or to the British dominions in North America.

Sec. 2. That whenever the President shall be satisfied that there is any discrimination whatever in the use of the Welland Canal, the St. Lawerence River Canal, the Chambly Canal or either of them, whether by tolls, drawbacks, re-fund of tolls or otherwise, which is or may be detrimental to the interests of the United States or any of its citizens, it shall be lawful for the President in his discretion to issue a proclamation to that effect, whereupon there shall be collected a toll of 20 cents a ton upon every foreign vessel and her cargo passing through either the Sault Ste. Marie Canal or the St. Clair Flats Canal, and the Secretary of the Treasury may authorize and direct any of the Customs officers to collect the tolls levied under this act, or the President may in his discretion, when he is satisfied there is any such discrimination, prohibit the use of said canals to any such foreign vessel. The President when satisfied that such discrimination has ceased may issue his proclamation to that effect in his discretion, whereupon the tolls authorised by this act shall no longer be collected and said prohibition, if ordered, shall cease.

Sec. 3. That the Secretary of the Treasury is authorised to make any regulations needful to carry this act into effect.

At only one point was there anything like a difference between the Democrat and Republican members. This was upon a proposition coming from the Republicans that courtesy to Great Britain required that it should be notified that Article XXIX of the Treaty of Washington has been practically nullified and abrogated upon the refusal or denial of the rights of American citizens in Canadian ports. Upon this proposition there was a division on party lines, resulting in its defeat by a vote of 30 to 8.

When the question came on ordering a favorable report on the substitute bill, there was not a negative vote. The Republican members do not expect that the bill will meet with any opposition from their side of the House when it is called up, although the proposition which was rejected to-day may be renewed and serve as the basis of some speeches, in which the position will be taken that the President already has sufficient power to do what he desires in the way of retaliation.

KILLED OLD "PAP" RILAND.

A Famous Mining Character of Colorado Mysteriously Slain.

DUTZERO, Col., Aug. 31.—Early yesterday morning "Pap" Riland was shot at his ranch on Sweetwater Creek by C. A. Babcock. He died last evening from the effects of his wounds. "Pap" Riland was one of the characters of Western Colorado. His ranch on the Sweetwater was the first located in this region. For nine years it has been a landmark and stopping place for hunters and tourists. It is situated in the heart of an extensive natural mountain meadow. In the early days of California Gulch "Pap" Riland was among the prospectors. Twenty-five years ago he was one of the pioneers of Summit County. Hardly a mining camp in that part of the State has enjoyed even a temporary boom but that he hastened to the scene eager to be among the first to win the imaginary bonanza prize. More than once he struck it. Unfortunately he always held off and would not sell when his claims could be disposed of at handsome figures. He was a typical prospector of the sanguine variety. All the old-timers west of the continental divide knew him intimately.

Sorely disappointed with his ill luck in mining, he at last resolved to take life easy, and settled contentedly at his Sweetwater ranch. His income from wintering horses was fully sufficient for all his needs. What occasioned the shooting will never be known. It is another of the mysterious tragedies of which the isolated mountains of Colorado have been the scene. Babcock and "Pap" were alone when the murder occurred. Babcock left him right after the shooting, came down from the ranch to Dotzero, a distance of sixteen miles, and took the train to Glenwood Springs, where he gave himself up. The story he tells is that he was forced to shoot his aged victim in self-defence. James M. Riland, a well-known journalist of Colorado, is the son of the dead pioneer. He is engaged on The Ute Chief, of Glenwood Spring. An elder son, who is married, lives at Dubuque, Iowa, which is the former home of the family. Probably his son will take the body there for final burial.

THE COTTON COMBINES

MONTREAL, Aug. 31.—The Dominion Cotton Manufacturers' Association, which has been in session here this week, has passed this resolution:

"Owing to the withdrawal of the St. Croix mill from the Association without any satisfactory reasons being given for refusing to continue longer in it, and the Chambly cotton mill declining to join, while regretting the course adopted by these as injurious to the general interests of the Cotton Association and also likely to cause general annoyance to the general trade, it is decided that for the present the question of prices be left open for all mills to deal with as they think best. The great object of the Association has been to fix a minimum price at which the first quality of goods could be produced especially suited to the wants of the general trade of the Dominion, and during the continuance of the Association, the quality and variety of the goods manufactured, have been of a superior character to many classes produced immediately before the formation of the Association."

It Got a Boom.

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—The President's recent message to Congress, recommending retaliation in the matter of the Canadian fishery dispute, received a big boom at the meeting under the auspices of the New York Democracy at the Cooper Union last night. More than 30,000 people crowded into the hall. Senator Gray, of Delaware, was the principal speaker.

TORONTO TOPICS.

Justice MacMahon Refuses to Grant Bail to Broker Cox.

TORONTO, Aug. 31.—Mr. Justice MacMahon yesterday refused the writ of habeas corpus applied for on behalf of Broker E. S. Cox and declined to admit the ex-financier to bail. A warrant which had been sent up from Oakville at the instance of Mrs. H. B. Graham, charging Cox with defrauding her out of $700, was withdrawn yesterday, the matter having been settled. Mr. W. R. Bingham, of the Hub, says he is going to take criminal proceedings against Cox.

The chair in the Ontario Agricultural College, made vacant by the resignation of Prof. Brown a short time ago, was filled yesterday, Mr. Thomas Shaw, of Hamilton, being appointed Professor of Agriculture and Farm Manager.

Emma Lucas, the 7-year-old daughter of Mr. T. Lucas, died early yesterday morning and the physicians say she had been poisoned by a dose of belladonna. Where the child got hold of the bottle is a mystery.

Wm. Anderson, Herbert Stone and John Henry were up for stealing handkerchiefs, a silver watch and some money from the residence of G. H. Forbes, 24 Caer-Howell-street, on civic holiday. There was much evidence for the prosecution, but it was very contradictory. A witness for Henry said he went to Niagara with him that day and they were at Niagara all day, thus flatly contradicting all former evidence. This evidence brought consternation to the prosecution, but Detective Burrows relieved it by swearing that he saw Henry after the Cibola left that morning. William Graham was the witness who swore to the Niagara trip, and he was arrested for perjury after he left the stand. Henry and Stone were sent to the Penitentiary for two and a half years, and Anderson to the Central for six months.

William Brown and Robt. Davis were tried for breaking into the houses of Walter S. Lee and Arthur W. Godson. Davis was also tried for stealing a bicycle from Arthur Taylor. They pleaded guilty in every case. Brown was reminded of prior convictions and was sentenced to the Kingston Penitentiary for six years and Davis for three.

The Dominion Wholesale Grocers' Guild have decided that no compromise shall be made with any retail grocer who asks for one on account of having been burned out, unless his stock to the value of 50 per cent. of his liabilities was covered by insurance.

MANITOBA'S BIG CHANCE.

THE OLD WORLD SHORT OF WHEAT THIS YEAR.

A Deficiency of from 70,000,000 to 80,000,000 Bushels—The United States not in a Position to Supply the Demand.

LONDON, Aug. 31.—It now seems to be a fact that the old world needs from 70,000,000 to 80,000,000 bushels of wheat more than the harvest of the year will produce. To put it in another way, the countries which always have to buy wheat must this year buy some 270,000,000 bushels, while the countries raising more than they consume will have about 295,000,000 bushels to sell. The annual international grain market, held in Vienna on Monday, gave estimates of the yield of the world, which varied only in a few particulars from those already given, the chief differences being in unimportant countries. On the other hand, the real state of the French harvest seems much worse than reported at Vienna, and the same is even more obviously true of England. Tuesday's terrific storm of wind and rain ended whatever chance remained of decent crops in Great Britain, and the English must now import at least 170,000,000 bushels. France, which, next to the United States, is the greatest wheat producer in the world, has one of the worst wheat crops ever reaped. A week ago it was estimated that she would need to import 68,000,000 bushels. Now, since the fresh storm and the discovery by the threshings of the bad quality of the grain, the shortage is put at 80,000,000 by the Mercuriale des Halles, and at 96,000,000 by Bollack, Sarasin & Co. What makes the matter worse is that very little, if any, of this can be made good by Algiers, where the grasshopper has decimated the crop. Germany, Italy and the Netherlands must buy more wheat than usual this year from the great exporting countries.

The wheat market in England is still a curiously parochial affair, dependent upon all sorts of local conditions and influences. Liverpool generally follows New York and San Francisco, but London is more concerned in the Baltic trade and not so easily moved by American quotations, and, like Leeds, Rochester and Newcastle-on-Tyne, thinks most of the local crops and demand. Hence prices for the past week have been much affected by the capricious weather, a bright day frightening buyers, a heavy rain stiffening sellers; but yesterday's storm has so knocked out what remained of the English crop that this can no longer be the case. Already we catch a glimpse of what the wheat shortage means by the discovery that bread has gone up a penny on a quartern loaf in many parts of London since Monday.

The northern workhouse authorities have their hands full with an army of Irish laborers who are accustomed to come to England for the harvest. This year they find no work for them to do, and the laborers have no means with which to get home. What adds to the sinister aspect of the outlook is the sad failure of the potato crop in many parts of England and all along the west coast of Ireland. This alone would have made a hard winter here. Combined with dear bread it is a gloomy enough outlook. One of the first results of the shortage will be a vigorous demand in France for a remission of the import duty on wheat on the part of big towns and a strenuous resistance by the wheat-raising districts where the farmers see no reason why the tariff should not enable them to profit by the distress of their brethren in the towns. In yesterday's London market wheat ruled firm without much selling, but holders were asking an advance of 3 cents a bushel on white and 2 cents on red winter, which latter is said over here to be of an inferior quality.

Little to Spare in the United States.

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—The Times says editorially: Judging from our special reports from the wheat producing states published this morning, the United States will not be in a position to furnish very much of the 70,000,000 or 80,000,000 bushels of wheat which will be required to meet the deficiency caused by the poor crops in the old world. The weather has been unfavorable here as in Europe to large harvests of the principal food cereal, but so far as can be learned we shall have ample wheat for home consumption, with possibly some, if not a great deal, to spare, to supply a portion of the demand across the ocean. If we cannot feed the world it is pleasant to know we can feed ourselves.

FIRES OF A DAY.

A Spark From a Steam Thresher Causes a $700 Blaze Near Stevensville.

STEVENSVILLE, Ont., Aug. 31.—The barns belonging to W. L. Spalding, of Bertie township were burnt Wednesday afternoon. The fire is supposed to have caught from a spark from a steam thresher. About 1000 bushels of threshed grain, some stock, and almost the whole of the agricultural implements, including a separator, belonging to John Deanshower, were destroyed. Loss about $700; insured in the London Mutual.

The Seaforth Foundry Burnt.

SEAFORTH, Aug. 31.—The Seaforth Foundry owned by Thomas Hendrie, was burned yesterday morning at 3 o'clock. The origin of the fire is unknown. Loss, $7000; insurance, $1500.

A $10,000 Loss at Chatham.

CHATHAM, Aug. 31.—The saw mill and two dwellings at Chatham Centre, owned by Wm. Flater were burned Monday night. Loss about $10,000. Insured in the British American for $1000 and the Mercantile for $500.

A Nova Scotia Blaze.

HALIFAX, Aug. 31.—F. W. Beckman's extensive lumber mill at Beaverbank was destroyed by fire Monday afternoon, together with a large quantity of lumber piled near the building. The mill was insured for $2000 and the lumber for $3000, both in the Commercial Union, but whether this covers the loss is not known.

BERLIN, Aug. 31.—In the election in this city, in the sixth district, Herr Liebknecht (socialist) was successful, receiving 26,067 votes out of a total of 41,791.

FLOWERS AND FRUIT.

The Most Excellent Exhibition Yet.

The Horticultural Society Excels Itself—Magnificent Display of Flowers both Growing and Gathered—Ladies Work and Fine Art Creditably Represented The Awards of the Judges—The Prize List.

Thursday afternoon and evening the best exhibition in all respects ever given by the Peterborough and Ashburnham Horticultural Society was made in the Charlotte street skating and curling rink—a spacious building excellently adapted to the purpose. But it may not be amiss to point out that the arrangement of the exhibits, particularly the flowers, could have been made to better advantage, and there was in the evening a regrettable deficiency of lights. The manner in which the pictures were hung tended more to subdue than to display their best points. There was complaint made of insufficiency of table space. But this is, perhaps, less the fault of the management than of the exhibitors. If the latter had furnished the former with an estimate of the space required, there is not the least doubt that the directors would have made every effort to meet their wants. These remarks are made in no carping spirit, for the EXAMINER is well known as a staunch friend of the Society, and friendly frankness prompts the pointing out of these slight defects.

As was remarked before, the show of flowers was uniquely excellent. Our local florists were out with splendid displays, and the number of private exhibitors shows that the society is having its effect in extending taste for floriculture. The out flower display was simply grand. Of course the season could not give a very large display of vegetables or fruit, but both classes showed better than could be hoped.

Ladies work was not largely represented, but the excellence of quality made up for the fewness of specimens.

Fine arts were very creditably represented, some really meritorious samples being hung. Criticism is not to the point and the prize list will give an idea of the more excellent of the work.

Mr. R. M. Roy was alone with a very fine and large collection of first-class photographs—principally landscape and scenic. A pen and ink sketch by the same artistic hand was worthy of the high praise it received.

Mr. Bannell Sawyer of the Peterborough Business College was on hand with a splendid display of plain and ornamental penmanship. Mr. Elcome showed a fine case of rare birds and other specimens of taxidermy.

The attendance in the afternoon and evening was hardly what could be wished, but the absence of large numbers from town and counter attractions largely, account for the limited number of visitors.

The Fire Brigade band was present in the evening and rendered some half dozen selections in their usual excellent manner. The musical critics were much entertained with the basso solo in the last selection rendered. Altogether the exhibition was the most successful yet given, the entries this year being 400 against 300 last year. Following is the

The Irish Cricketers at Toronto—Ball Games Yesterday.

TORONTO, Aug. 31.—The cricket match between the Gentlemen of Ireland and the Gentlemen of Canada was commenced yesterday, the latter going to bat first and running up a score of 114. The Irishmen then went in and when time was called at 6 o'clock had made 155 for four wickets.

THE PREMIER AT THE CAPITAL.

Notes of Politicians and Politics—A Contested Election.

OTTAWA, Aug. 31.—Sir John MacDonald returned to the city yesterday from Dalhousie, apparently improved in health. He was met at the depot by several friends and driven at once to his temporary residence in Daly street where he will live until the alterations at Earnscliffe are completed. Sir John declined to say anything about retaliation.

Sir Hector Langevin and Sir John Sparrow Thompson reached the capital last evening from Toronto. Nearly all the members are now in town. The Cabinet will meet on Saturday.

DAYTON AT MONTREAL.

The Pseudo Wild West Advance Agent Working His Old Racket.

MONTREAL, Aug. 31.—Charles Dayton, whose exploits in Toronto while representing himself as advance agent of Buffalo Bill's Wild West show were chronicled yesterday, was in the city yesterday and endeavored to make contracts for supplies. He then tried to borrow money from people with whom he contracted, but they were too wise for him, as he had been here before about two months ago, playing the same game, only that a circus then took the place of Buffalo Bill's show.

BRONZE JOHN.

New Cases Springing Up on Every Hand at Jacksonville.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Aug. 30.—The situation is no better to-day but rather worse. A jump in the number of new cases causes dismay among the people left in town and the trains out were crowded. Health certificates are now issued daily by the Board of Health. It has been decided by the Auxilliary Association to try and get people to move out to camp so as to depopulate the place more and by this means check the fever's course. The poor who are unable to go will be assisted. New cases to-day spring up right and left. All that could possibly be done has been done upon the Grand Union Hotel and adjoining premises but infection still appears to crop out in that neighborhood with alarming frequency and violence. One gratifying feature of the situation is the mild form of many of the new cases. There are striking exceptions to the rule however.

Twenty-three new cases were reported for the twenty-four hours ending at 6 o'clock. There were three deaths during the same time.

A Projected K. of L. Move.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 31.—Prominent Knights of Labor of this city are considering the advisability of introducing a resolution at the next general assembly prohibiting any but American citizens from becoming members of the organization.

The Mighty Dollar

LIFE ASSURANCE COMP'Y OF CANADA.

HEAD OFFICE, MONTREAL.

Both in Magnitude and Profitableness, the Business for 1887 has been almost everything that could be desired.

The life policies now in force are 7,128 for $10,873,777.00, on 6741 lives. We have moreover $3,207,000 00 insured under 1,540 accident policies, so that the total current contracts of the Company are 8,269 for $14,081,377.00.

The income for the year shows the very large increase of $122,231.23 over the figures of 1886, the total being $495,831.54. The revenue is now half a million dollars per annum, or as mentioned in the report, over $1,000 for every working day in the year, and even this he believed was but a mere introduction to what it will be in a few years hence. The gains from time to time are well illustrated by the following table:—

Period	Gain in income.	Gain in assets.	Gain in assurances.
1872 to 1876, four years	$ 54,611 21	$169,492 00	$1,149,743 00
1876 to 1880, four years	33,560 67	195,188 29	1,167,336 14
1880 to 1884, four years	126,976 54	353,284 31	2,092,924 80
1884 to 1887, three years	217,451 80	475,977 24	4,022,373 65
Total in 1887	$495,831 54	$1,750,004 48	$10,873,777 00

It is very pleasing to notice that the gains for the last three years only are 60 per cent. more than those of the preceding four years.

A False Alarm.

About half past eleven last night an alarm of fire was sounded and in a few minutes the fire laddies were rattling away towards the north end of the town in the direction of a big reflection in the sky. After going a considerable distance they returned to their hall, the fire being somewhere outside the corporation limits. It is thought to have been a bush fire, as the same reflection was observed earlier in the evening. The firemen would like to know who rang the bell and called them out on a wild goose chase.

An Accident.

Mr. Wm. Eastland, of North Monaghan, while assisting in deepening a well on his father's farm yesterday, met with a painful accident. He was at the bottom of the well driving a drill, and started to pull himself up the rope, hand over hand, when near the top the steeple holding the windlass gave way and let him drop a distance of sixteen feet. His ankle was dislocated and one of the bones of his legs broken. Doctors King and Bell are in attendance. Mr. Eastland formerly followed the printing business and is well known in town.

The China Inland Mission.

During the past few weeks enthusiastic missionary meetings have been held in Toronto and Montreal, addressed by Dr. Hudson Taylor, Reginald Radcliffe, Geo. Stadd and Dr. Howard Taylor. The local secretary of the Y.M.C.A. wrote to try and arrange for one of the deputation to come to Peterborough, and this morning received word that Dr. Howard would visit Peterborough for Sunday next. The mission now has over two hundred missionaries in China, sending out last year one hundred and two new missionaries. Arrangements for meetings on Sunday will be made. Full announcements will appear in to-morrows issue.

Father Sweeny's Picnic.

On Tuesday, Sept. 11th, Father Sweeny's picnic in aid of Harwood church will be held at Jubilee Point. The steamer will leave Peterborough wharf at 7 a.m., with scow attached and Doucet's full orchestra for dancing. Field point games, sports and dancing will be the amusement provided. There will also be an interesting public vote taken on the merits of the Scott Act. There will also be a shooting match with an air gun, between Messrs. R. W. Muncaster and P. D. Doran, for which Father Sweeney will give a prize. A contest for an oil painting will take place between Miss Maggie Wall, of Peterborough, and Miss Maggie Tierney, of Hastings. Peterborough has always been to the front in these competitions, last year Dr. Collins winning the gold cane and the year before Miss B. Halpin the gold watch. This picnic will be another successful outing For further particulars see large bills.

A Bold Burglar Balked.

Constable Sweeney's Encounter with a Desperate Thief—Revolvers Brought into Service—A Bold Rush for Liberty—The Burglar Traced to His Hiding Place.

All the town is talking to-day about the attempted burglary at Gough Bros. store this morning, which was prevented only by the vigilance and pluck of Officer Stewart. The constable, as is his usual custom, was in the back yard inspecting the premises to see that everything was all right. He noticed that the shutters of Gough Bros. store were open and the window up. He approached, and getting on a box that had been placed under the window by the burglar, peeped in. The gas had been turned on by the thief, and Stewart plainly saw the man passing around a table. At the same time the burglar saw the "cop" as the latter drew his pistol and ordered his man to throw up his hands, the burglar and fired twice. Stewart returned the compliment and jumped in through the window, giving chase to the other, who ran down the store towards the front door. Stewart thought he had his man corralled sure, but the thief was desperate and stopped at nothing. Rushing at the plate glass door with full speed, he threw himself against it and crashed right through the glass smashing it to atoms. Picking himself up on the outside he ran down George street followed by Stewart, who also passed through the broken door. Stewart shouted loudly for the fleeing villain to stop, and enforced his demand by sending a number of bullets whizzing after him, but whether any of them took effect or not the burglar's flight was not stopped, and being in his stocking feet and prompted by fear his speed was remarkable. Nearing the corner of Simcoe street he ran westward to the entrance to Snowden's livery stable yards, Stewart following him and keeping up his fusilade. Here the fellow in the darkness, and got safely away.

Mr. Gough was summoned and the store examined It was found that the thief had about $400 worth of silk handkerchiefs and other goods ready to take away, some of the stuff being already packed into a couple of pair of overalls with the leg bottoms tied. Near the back door were found the burglar's vest, hat and boots, which he had thrown off to lighten his work. Some packages of new pistols, razors and cartridges, afterwards discovered to have been stolen from Stethem's hardware store, which the burglar had visited just previously, were found near the door. It was with one of these stolen revolvers that the fugitive had fired at the constable. In a few minutes he would have got away with his booty but for Officer Stewart's timely appearance.

TRACED BY BLOODMARKS.

The burglar was wounded either by Officer Stewarts bullets or the broken glass. Bloody footprints were found this morning on the sidewalk in different parts of the town, showing the fugitive's course to have been up Hunter to Mr. Cox's residence, on to the quarry, across lots to Mr. Hilliard's, then to Mr. Carnegie's, and through the woods to the Mud Lake road. A farmer who drove to town early this morning saw a man, hatless, coatless, and bootless, limping into brush alongside the road near Milburn's hill, and the feeling is strong that this was the man the police are after. Chief Roezel and his staff have been active all morning, and hope to soon arrest the fellow, who is said to be hiding in the swamp.

The erratic course of the fugitive is explained by the statement of a man who was accosted by him and asked the road to Cavan. He evidently wanted to reach Cavanville to board the C.P.R. train, but the unexpected interference with his plans upset his calculations and he seems to have lost his bearings.

Railway Magnates in Town.

A Number of Grand Trunk Officials on a Tour of Inspection—An Audience with Sir Henry Tyler.

Last night about eight o'clock a special train arrived at the Midland station via the Grand Junction branch with a private car attached, in which were a number of prominent G.T.R. officials who are making a tour of inspection of the whole Grand Trunk system. They were:—Sir Henry W. Tyler, M.P., London Eng., Chairman of the Board of Directors; Mr. Joseph Hickson, Montreal, General Manager; Mr. L. J. Seargeant, Montreal; Mr. J. M. Riddell, Belleville, Supt. Midland Division; Mr. J. G. Macklin, Peterborough, Chief Engineer Midland Division; Mr. J. J. Lanning, Montreal, Secretary.

The party drove to the Oriental Hotel, where they had dinner. Afterwards Sir Henry Tyler and Mr. Hickson returned to the car where they passed the night. On their way down to the car they walked along George and Charlotte streets. Both gentlemen expressed their admiration of the solid, city-like appearance of George street and the handsome stores. They also graced the horticultural exhibition with their presence, and spent several minutes inside.

Arrived at the car, the EXAMINER had a short talk with the "big moguls" of the Grand Trunk. Both were kind and courteous to the reporter, and readily answered all questions. Sir Henry Tyler is apparently between 50 and 60 years of age, has a portly frame and genial expression that does not belie his disposition. Both he and Mr. Hickson appeared to be in a jovial mood, and jokes and laughter were frequent. In answer to a question as to the

OBJECT OF THEIR VISIT,

Sir Henry Tyler replied that they were simply making a tour of inspection of the Grand Trunk line, which now comprised over 4,000 miles of railway, and was becoming a more important concern every day. As President, or chairman of the Board of Directors, this was one of his duties, and he was in the habit of making periodical tours of this description. Their visit this year did not portend any unusual business in connection with the road, as some people seemed to think.

"What effect will the double-tracking of the main line have upon the interests and traffic of the road, and how is the work progressing and when will it probably be completed?"

"Well," Sir Henry replied, "we hope to have half of it completed by the end of next year, and a third of it, the division between Montreal and Toronto, this year. As regards its effect on the business of the road, we don't expect any great increase. It will simply afford better facilities for the present amount of traffic which sometimes cannot be readily handled."

"What, in your opinion will be the probable effect of the retaliatory legislation proposed by President Cleveland's message upon Canadian railroads, and the Grand Trunk in particular?"

"The only effect of the President's message will be to cause a great deal of discussion among people who have nothing else to do or think about. I'll tell you why I think so. It is not now very far distant to the general elections in the United States next November. If President Cleveland gets the power from Congress he asks for, which is doubtful, he cannot use it in retaliation for anything that has already been done in the past, and you can't expect Canadian statesmen are likely to give any so as to enable him to employ such power between this and November, even if he gets it."

"Then you don't fear any serious consequences from the President's attitude?"

"None at all, unless it be a tempest of talk."

"Are you sufficiently well acquainted with the details of local management to let the public know where the terminus of the Chemong line is to be situated? This is a question of local interest."

"Well, I'll have to refer you to Mr. Hickson. I don't know just what to say about it." Mr. Hickson thus adressed gave a little laugh and said; "Well, I'll tell you plainly. It will be carried to the old terminus unless the people interested are prepared to contribute to the extra expense that would be incurred by the company in deviating it. That's the way the matter stands at present."

"Are there any contemplated changes of importance on this division, Mr. Hickson?"

"No, none at all in the management, but of course there will be improvements made. It is contemplated to largely increase the elevator capacity at Midland. We have not yet decided about the building of a new bridge at Campbellford."

"Lindsay is boasting that the headquarters of the Midland branch are to be located there, and that that town is to be made the business centre and all other places along the line way stations. How about that?"

"Ha, ha, ha! Let Lindsay boast. Boasting can't hurt anyone, can it? Ha, ha, ha! local jealousy again, eh?"

After a little further chat, the scribe took his leave, Sir Henry and Mr. Hickson giving him a hearty hand-shake.

This morning the visitors continued their journey, their private car being attached to the regular 8.10 express. They go first to Midland and afterwards visit other sections of the line.

The Central Exhibition.

Meeting of the Directors—The Prospects Good—Report of the Business Transacted.

A meeting of the Directors of the Central Exhibition was held at the council chamber Thursday afternoon. A number of small matters were disposed of and the show's prospect canvassed. The outlook for a successful exhibition this year was generally regarded as excellent. Already a number of entries have been made with the secretary and every indication points to a good agricultural show next month.

On motion of Mr. McClelland, seconded by Mr. Fair, Mayor Stevenson was requested to wait on the Grand Trunk authorities, and in behalf of the directors ask the company to erect a platform at the railway crossing on Lock street, near the show grounds, and to have all regular trains stop there, a local train service put on to and from the grounds during the exhibition.

The secretary was instructed to advertise for tenders for refreshment boothe.

Messrs. Wilson & Morrison offered a $5 gold prize, to be awarded the farmer's daughter under 17 years of age who shows the best 5 lb. crock of butter of her own make, on condition that the Society gave a second of $3. The offer was accepted, Mayor Stevenson agreeing to donate the second prize. A condition of the gift was that all butter entered for competition should be forwarded to the Protestant Home after judging.

The directors adjourned till Saturday, Sept. 15th, at 2 p.m.

The fruit season has now come and we must prepare to put up our fruit. Now what kind of jars are we to use? Of course, glass jars; but so many of those we had last year cracked in filling that it makes it very expensive. Oh, I remember how Mrs. Goodwife told me last year she bought her jars at "China Hall," and that she did not break a jar in filling or lose a single can of fruit. I shall buy from China Hall this season. As the price is just the same I might as well have the best.

CORSETS

Every lady purchasing CORSETS and wishing to get the Best Article for the least outlay, should visit TURNBULL'S, as he always keeps in stock the Best Makes from all the leading manufacturers. Some makes are peculiarly adapted to suit a particular style of figure. Below we enumerate a few lines from which you can select in any size from 18 to 30. Larger sizes procured on short notice.

THE YATISI CORSET

is modelled from a design of one of the most celebrated Parisian makers. It gives a lady that ease and grace so much admired in French ladies.

The YATISI CORSET owing to the peculiar diagonal elasticity of the cloth will fit the wearer perfectly the first time worn, no matter what her style of form is, either long or short waisted. The ladies wishing to lace tight and not feel uncomfortable at the bust or hips, they are indispensible.

The YATISI CORSET does not stretch at the waist; requires no breaking in; fits comfortable the first time worn, as it gives to every motion of the wearer. It will outlast any of the old style rigid Corsets.

The YATISI CORSET can be worn ten days and if not found satisfactory in every respect the money will be refunded at TURNBULL'S.

THE CORALINE CORSET

What is Coraline? Coraline is composed of a bundle of stiff and and very elastic fibres like bristles tightly bound with strong thread. Coraline contains no sizing of any kind but its stiffness exists in the natural fibre and is permanent. Look for the Coraline Corset at TURNBULL'S, every pair stamped.

BALL'S CORSETS.

These Corsets need no breaking in—invalids can wear them with ease and comfort, as they do not compress the vital parts of the wearer. They fit a great variety of forms owing to their peculiar construction—they are very durable. They have the endorsement of every physician who has examined them. Every pair warranted—the money refunded if not satisfactory after wearing them three weeks at TURNBULL'S.

THE PARISENNE.

The PARISENNE is a new make which is becoming very popular. It is something after the style of the old French Corded Corset—is shorter waisted than most of the other makes, which makes it adapted for a stout figure.

Everything desirable in the Corset line always to be found at TURNBULL'S at prices that are never beaten.

THE FISHERIES QUESTION

SENATOR CULLOM'S RESOLUTION GOES OVER UNTIL TO-DAY.

An Impression at the Dominion Capital That Canada will Not Retaliate Against the Retaliators.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—The resolution offered yesterday by Senator Cullom calling on the Secretary of the Treasury for information as to whether the transmission, without payment of duty, of goods, wares and merchandise to and from Canada has been permitted since July, 1885, when Article XXIX of the treaty of Washington and section 3 of the Act of March 1, 1873, are said to have ceased to be in force, and if so, to what extent and by what authority of law, was taken up for consideration in the Senate to-day.

Mr. George argued against the resolution as unnecessary, and reviewed the legislation on the subject of the transit of goods in bond. He held that under existing laws the President had the right to prevent the transfer of goods under the duplex system—first as an import and then as an export of an import—from Canada to foreign countries, but that the President could not prevent the other operation—that is, the transfer of foreign goods coming into the United States and destined for Canada.

Mr. Cullom said he had not examined the statutes critically, and would let the resolution stand over until to-morrow.

The resolution accordingly went over.

Hamelin Bro. Mills.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—In speaking on the fisheries question at Yonkers Congressman Mills said: "This is a serious position in which we are placed by the blunder of the Republican party. God knows what it may result in. It is not the pathway to peace when a man says to his neighbor, 'You've killed my cat, and now I'm going to kill your dog.' That means irritation, bad temper, bad blood. The road to retaliation is not the road to peace. It may result in war, but our duty to our people is plain and mandatory. We will stand by the people at whatever cost. If it comes to the point that war must come and that Canada must fall, as she will, into the arms of the Union, and if in the providence of God that poor carpet-bag ridden island across the water should end the days of her captivity, then every liberty-loving man can raise his voice in hallelujahs."

The Impression Prevails.

OTTAWA, Sept. 1.—The impression prevails in official circles that the Government will not retaliate even though the United States adopt a policy of non intercourse. By doing this the Canadian railways will continue to get their former share of American traffic.

The Guelph Junction Railway.

GUELPH, Aug. 31.—The contractors are again at work on the Guelph Junction Railway, the right of way over the Grand Trunk Railway having been at last secured and the road will soon be finished to the terminus at Goldie's Mill. It is said that the Canadian Pacific Railway are to commence running a train on Monday to connect with all trains on the main line at Campbellville.

Nova Scotia's New Loan Taken at 102½.

HALIFAX, Aug. 31.—The Provincial Secretary to-day opened tenders for a loan to the province of $125,000. The sum offered was large and the whole issue was taken at an average of about 102½, plus accrued interest.

Scott Act in Uxbridge.

UXBRIDGE, Aug. 31.—Hotelkeeper Simon Allcock of this town was found guilty to-day of two infractions of the Scott Act, and fined of $50 and $100 were imposed by Magistrate Horn.

WORLD'S WHEAT SUPPLY.

BRADSTREET'S DOES NOT TAKE ALARM AT THE SITUATION.

No Good Reason for a Re-Scinary of More Than 90,000,000 Bushels — Advancing Coffee—Sugar Strong.

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—The movement of general merchandise and staple goods continues quite active for the season with less pronounced characteristics observable at Pittsburg, Detroit, Cincinnati, Savannah, and New Orleans, at which points trade remains fairly active and there are favorable indications for the autumn. Eastern shoemakers are receiving many duplicate orders and eastern wholesale houses generally report favorable advices from manufacturers and jobbers at the west. The late storm in Louisiana is found to have done less damage to the crops than supposed, but it and later storms cut into the Kentucky corn and tobacco crops some. Oats at Iowa too have suffered from too much rain. There have been good rains throughout Texas, helping the crops and trade there greatly. California hops are quoted at 12½c and are very firm. The market for foreign and domestic hops has improved since the reported damage to the English crop and prices tend upward. There is a moderate improvement in mercantile collections at Detroit, St. Joseph, and a few other points.

The stock market is advancing on the crop prospects, and there are expectations of a speculative revival in the autumn. Bonds are strong and investments in demand. Money at New York is in good supply, but rates are firmer. Call loans are quoted at 1½ @ 2 per cent. Foreign exchange is steady at last week's advance on the scarcity of commercial bills; demand sterling, 487½ @ 488.

The reported continuance of stormy weather in the United Kingdom and France, the heavy wheat deficiency reported by the Vienna Congress, and alleged damage to spring wheat in Dakota and Minnesota by frost, together with advancing ocean freights, have caused very variable prices. Cash No. 2 red wheat last Friday closed at $1.02½ delivered. It has since been $1.03½, but closed yesterday at $1 00½. Higher freights and scanty room checked the export demand. Bradstreet's finds at this time no good reason for an apparent deficiency in the world's supply of wheat of more than 26,000,000 bushels. Exports of wheat and flour this week, both coasts, aggregate 2,985,711 bushels against 2,336,620 bushels last week; July 1 to date, 19,427,019 bushels against 36,950,849 bushels exported in the like period last year.

The slight improvement in the iron trade, first fell in the west, has extended east, and there is now more activity all over the country. The increase in the volume of business has been slight, but it has encouraged makers of both crude and finished iron to check the downward tendency. Old rails are wanted throughout the west and stocks are light. An upward tendency is the result. The iron ore market at Cleveland is in better shape.

Anthracite coal is exceptionally active and many dealers find it difficult to keep apace with orders. Prices are advanced today at all points from Boston to Chicago as previously announced.

Wool has continued generally active, less so at Philadelphia than elsewhere, owing to higher prices and depleted stocks of better qualities, and prices have been sustained all along the line. Some manufacturers have been encouraged to stock up to some extent in anticipation of contracts. Considerable stocks are held at seaboards waiting an advance. The advices received by jobbers from all parts of the country are gratifying, and a large autumn trade appears to be assured. Ginghams and prints are in very good demand. Woollen manufacturers report increasing orders for goods and enough business in sight to last for some weeks. Numerous woollen mills recently idle are starting up.

Speculative activity in coffee, with reduced stocks and increased consumptive demand, advanced prices during the week on the continent. Here the demand was less active and the trend of prices was downward until Thursday, when there was an advance of ¼ to ⅜c on increased request.

The expected sharp revival in the demand for refined sugars has come, absorbing supplies rapidly—well up to production in some instances. This has sent prices up ⅛c here, and ⅜c at San Francisco. Raws have not been correspondingly affected. Refiners have contented themselves with drawing freely on reserve stocks and buying sparingly in the open market.

EDITOR BRADSTREET'S.

Business Disasters.

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—The business failures occurring throughout the country the last week number for the United States 202 and for Canada 24, or a total of 226 as compared with the total of 214 last week and 219 the week previous to the last. For the corresponding week of last year the figures were 199, made up of 175 in the United States and 24 in Canada. In August the failures reported in the United States numbered 972 against 777 last year.

Sons of Auld Scotia.

ALBANY, Sept. 1.—At the annual games of the National American United Caledonian Association yesterday John Mathieson of Montreal won the gold medal for best Highland costume, E. J. Case, of Hamilton, $15 for one-mile race; E. J. Case, $7 for half-mile race, and E. J. Case divided first and second money ($40 and $25) for 5-mile race with J. Grant of Boston.

A $60,000 Collision.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., Aug. 31.—Last evening while engine No. 21 was standing near Market-street crossing on the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad it was run into by engine No. 538 and both engines were demolished. The total loss is $60,000.

MUST WED OR LOSE.

His Uncle Leaves Him $230,000 on Condition That he Marries.

CHICAGO, Aug. 31.—James L. Babcock, formerly of Chicago but now of Ann Arbor, will meet with smiling encouragement from mothers with marriageable daughters, for by the death of his uncle he inherits $230,000 in money and bonds upon condition that he marries within five years.

Luther James, the deceased uncle, resided for many years at Lima, Mich., and became one of the wealthiest men in the county. He was a bachelor, and, in fact, a woman hater. His brothers and sisters married and had families, and the old bachelor uncle grew to love and admire his nephews and nieces. He finally selected James Luther Babcock as his particular favorite, whom, as he grew to manhood, the old man helped and put in charge of a bank at Ann Arbor.

The favorite nephew prospered. He fell in love with a beautiful girl and was accepted. The wedding day was fixed, but the dream of happiness was doomed to fade into mist. Uncle Luther James opposed the match and James Babcock accepted the fiat and broke off the match. He is now 45 years old and still unmarried, but some would say that his uncle's will has recompensed him for the loss of his bride.

The banker can now marry if he pleases, and if he declines to fill the condition the property is to be given to the sisters, nephews and nieces equally. By the will, which was probated in Ann Arbor on Tuesday, the two sisters and twenty-one nephews and nieces receive $5000 each, the residue going to James L. Babcock on the odd condition named.

HILLSDALE'S MISSING BANKER.

In Hiding at Montreal—His Financial Exploits—The Woman in the Case.

MONTREAL, Sept. 1.—Charles W. Waldron, one of the partners of the Waldron bank of Hillsdale, Mich., who skipped to Canada with over $100,000 and a married woman, leaving his wife behind, is supposed to be in hiding in this city, having left Windsor, Ont., a day or two ago with the ostensible purpose of coming here. Hon. Ezra L. Koon, his partner, is personally stuck for $40,000 or $50,000 if held responsible for all the firm's paper sold. Waldron took $14,000 in negotiable notes and $6000 in cash from the bank. He secured about $25,000 of cash deposits in Detroit and $20,000, as far as heard from, on the firm's notes, partly secured by collaterals taken from the Hillsdale bank. At Chicago he obtained $10,000 in firm's notes and $10,000 more on individual notes from S. A. Kean & Co. He had been working up the thing two weeks, and every inch of his land had been converted into money.

On Aug. 20 Waldron went to F. W. Stock, a miller at Hillsdale, and wanted to loan him $10,000, and Stock agreed to take it, and gave his note for that amount. Waldron gave him a check on the First National bank of Toledo, where he said he had a deposit. Waldron sold this note in Detroit. The check was thrown out at Toledo, as he had no money there. Stock at once attached property in Hillsdale, and only a few hours after deeds of the attached property were put on record transferring it to Detroit parties. Waldron had little difficulty in obtaining whatever money he wanted, as his reputation as a close and shrewd business man was of the very best.

Two years ago he and Mrs. V. V. Bidwell, with whom he has cleared out, became intimate while the Bidwell family lived at Hillsdale. Mrs. Waldron was greatly indignant over the actions of the pair, and he at one time offered to give her $15,000 and a house, and make no opposition to a suit for divorce. Mrs. Bidwell is said to be a handsome brunette, about 30. It is further averred that Mrs. Bidwell's husband has been paid a salary by Waldron to run the grocery business at Hillsdale ever since they moved to that place last fall, and that among other considerations he was to look after the children and not let them be inconveniently under foot when Waldron made his occasional visits to the female partner in that household. Mrs. Bidwell is said to have been in trouble before.

Unregistered Doctors in Trouble—Two Young Swells Fight a Duel With Fists.

TORONTO, Sept. 1.—The contract for doing the Ontario Government's printing and bookbinding was let to Messrs. Warwick & Sons yesterday. The price which they agreed to do the work for according to the approximation furnished by Queen's Printer Notman, is $27,000 a year. Warwick & Sons' tender was the lowest received. The next lowest tender was $29,000, the next $30,000 and the highest $37,000. The new contract is dated from Jan. 1, 1889.

Private Detective Wasson, acting for the College of Physicians and Surgeons, yesterday afternoon swore out informations against the doctors who are now at the American Hotel, forming what they term the London Medical Association, charging them with illegally using the title of "doctor," and with practising medicine without being registered, which is in contravention of the Ontario Medical Act. Before taking the oath Wasson paid a visit to the American Hotel and found these names registered: Dr. Verico Binder, Dr. J. H. Foster, Dr. R. C. Holmes, Dr. Edleyle, Dr. William McKenzie, Dr. Sandbury, Dr. J. Levy, Dr. L. C. Linnis and Dr. J. K. C. Culcham. He made many inquiries around and about the building, but succeeded in finding only two or three of the gentlemen he was after. Summonses were left at the hotel and the charges will be ventilated in the Police Court, probably to-day.

A bank clerk and a reporter on a morning paper fought a duel with bare fists in a boat house on the bay front Thursday afternoon. Both the principals are young swells of the first water moving in good society. The combat, which lasted for six rounds, was a gory one, resulting in a pair of black eyes and a swollen face for each of the combatants and was declared a draw by the referee. The trouble arose from a statement made by the reporter that at a party in April last in a secluded nook he embraced a young lady to whom the bank clerk is engaged.

OTTAWA, Aug. 31.—A Mormon elder who is acting as missionary in Nova Scotia imported a number of Mormon bibles through the mail. The Collector of Customs detained them until he could ascertain whether they came under the clause in the Customs Act prohibiting the importation of indecent and immoral literature. The Customs Department decided that the book could not be excluded as immoral or indecent, nor could it be admitted at 5 per cent. duty as a bible, but it could come in as an ordinary book at 15 per cent. duty.

It is claimed that the large quantity of water used by these mills greatly reduces the height of water in Lake Scugog and not only interferes seriously with navigation, but by lowering the water exposes a large quantity of marshy land, from which malaria arises and is injurious to the health of the people of Port Perry and vicinity. These mills were established over forty years ago and the condition of the surrounding country has greatly changed since then. The water power was granted by the Public Works Department and it is now claimed that the privileges ought to be withdrawn and the mills obliged to use steam. THE TRENT VALLEY CANAL.

The retaliatory legislation threatened by United States, gives an aspect of new importance to the Trent Valley Canal. If the Sault Ste. Marie and St. Clair Canals (both in United States territory are closed to Canadian commerce from the northern lakes, the Canadian system of canals will be useless for Northwest through freights. But if the Trent Valley Canal were constructed; that, in conjunction with the proposed Sault Canal in Canadian Territory would complete the water highway in Canadian Territory. Yet those Tory organs which laud the Government for its foresight in projecting the Sault. canal seem to forget that for the purposes of their laudation, this canal is only waste work without the Trent Valley Canal, which the Government has practically abandoned. Yet there is no doubt of its feasibility and importance. In deference to the importance of the subject we submit the following letter from Wm. Logan, of Fenelon Falls.

To the Editor of the Peterborough Examiner.

SIR,—In taking the liberty of making a few strictures of Mr. Laidlaw's letter re Trent Valley Canal, published in the Post of the 24th inst., I would begin at the end. Mr. Laidlaw's remarks: "The discussion on the Trent Valley Canal question must needs wait in the settlement of it in one way or the other by the commission of investigation appointed by the Government, which is eminently qualified for the purpose." Just so; the case is, as it were, in court, and it was bad taste, to say the least of it, for Mr. Laidlaw to snuff the commission out and dogmatically to settle the question himself, for it amounts to that. For if Mr. Laidlaw's figures were correct, or within a long distance of being correct, the question would be settled in the negative, and for ever. On whatever basis he made his calculations, they cannot claim to be very accurate, with $25,000,000 to go and come upon. Mr. Laidlaw's margin in his estimate of the cost of the T.V.C. is five times the amount of the estimated cost by Mr. Stark, than whom, I venture to say, there is no engineer in Canada better fitted to make a correct and proper estimate of the cost of such a work. If Mr. Laidlaw had simply intended to assist the commission, by an expression of his opinion, in arriving at a just and proper conclusion, he would have answered such of the questions put forth by them as he was able to do so, and send his document to the secretary, whose duty is to receive such papers and to lay them before the commission at the proper time. Such a course, however, did not suit Mr. Laidlaw's purpose. The commission not only had to be superseded, but the government and the country had to be influenced, and therefore Mr. Laidlaw's letter had to be published in the Globe, and carried far and near. In his calculations, it is a pity that Mr. Laidlaw did not calculate what the effect of such an unwarranted and reckless statement would be on himself. Will it not be to render his expressed opinion on such subjects of no value? The engineers, Messrs. Page and Rubidge, are not treated with any more courtesy by Mr. Laidlaw than the commission. It has cost Mr. Rubidge years of labor, and the country a large expenditure, to get out his report, which Mr. Laidlaw, with one stroke of his pen, has scattered to the winds. Mr. Rubidge, by accurate measurements and careful calculations, can only bring his estimated cost of the T. V. C. up to $10,000,000, and this is on the supposition that the locks of the T. V. C. shall be of the same expensive characters as those on the new Welland Canal. Mr. Laidlaw, without any calculation or measurement at all, to arrive at his conclusions, simply multiplies Mr. Rubidge's estimate by 7½ ($10,000,000 × 7½ = $75 000,000). Mr. Page has endorsed Mr. Rubidge's report and added something to it for the settlement of riparian rights. When Mr. Laidlaw, in his unexplained desire to destroy the T.V.C. scheme, made his reckless statement, he must have had in his mind, and relying on the truth of it, the remark of Carlyle, namely, that "The world is full of people, mostly fools."

In order to draw away our attention from his estimated cost of the T. V. C., Mr. Laidlaw proposes to smother us with malaria. He remarks: "The little lock at Rosedale, which raised the water only two or three feet in Balsam Lake, has apparently planted the seeds of diphtheria and low fevers at several points on its shores." I would ask, what has planted the seeds of diphtheria on the dry prairies of Dakota, where it is raging, at the present moment, to an alarming extent? The draining of Lake Scugog is not a new question. Some thirty years ago, the bridging of Scugog at an enormous expense, was discussed by the town of Bowmanville. I, at that time suggested the draining of the lake, and the recovery of 30,000 acres of the best land in Canada, and the preservation of the navigation from Lindsay to Port Perry, which is rapidly being deteriorated by the silting up of the lake, by the deepening of the Nonquon river, which runs down its centre. The deepened river would serve as a drainage to the recovered land. My scheme embraced the payment—from the sale of the lands—to the parties having hydraulic rights at Lindsay, a sum, the interest of which, year by year, would drive their mills by steam. In the draining of Scugog my object was simply the recovery of the land, and the preservation of the navigation; not to get rid of malaria. When Scugog was raised, its bed and the whole surrounding country was an unbroken forest. There was no ventilation to carry off the malarial effluvia arising from the dying timber; and ague and low fever for many years was the order of the day, so to speak, among the first settlers around the lake. That state of things all disappeared on the clearing up of the country. I lived for 21 years in the neighborhood of Scugog, and during that time I only met with one case of ague, and it was not brought on by malaria arising from the lake, but by lying out at night exposed to a heavy dew. I may mention that the chief argument against my scheme for the draining of Scugog was this: namely, that the lowering of the water in the lake would expose the dead timber, from which malaria would arise. The fact of the case, however, is this, that the water of Scugog recedes every summer about one-eighth of a mile, leaving all the dead timber exposed to the heat of the sun. It is when the timber is dying, not when it is dead and its substance all gone, that there is danger from malaria. A dry dead beam, no matter how malignant the subject may have been from which it has been taken, is not the one to communicate contagion. The malarial question, then, in connection with the building of the Trent Valley Canal, seeing that the country is open through which it passes, and has plenty of ventilation, is not deserving of consideration.

Yours,
WM. LOGAN.

What Should a Shorthand Amanuensis Know?

Penmanship, letterwriting, spelling, practical grammar, typewriting, shorthand, copying, business forms.

Can I not learn these with a private teacher?

No! You must have an experienced reporter to give you speed and the "tricks of the trade." You must do the copying, and see the work as it is done in trade. Shorthand alone will leave you without employment just as surely as any other one qualification. You need the full course.

Why

Should I learn Shorthand at the Business College?

Because

When I graduate I have speed as well as a knowledge, and the name of the College helps me to get employment.

Why

Should I take a business course before going into business?

Because

When I graduate I am so trained that I will be promoted far more rapidly than I would have been without a training.

We desire to emphasize this fact, namely, that while others are getting students to train them in Shorthand, we train them in every needed subject for office work. In short, we prepare Shorthand Amanuensis, while others simply teach Shorthand. And our charge is no more than others ask.

We have a young lady who has completed our course and who has had several years' experience in teaching, who holds a Professional Normal Certificate (2nd class), who loves teaching and is eminently successful in her work, to assist us in teaching Shorthand this season.

"Just Hear That Child Scream!" said Mrs. Smith to her sister, Mrs. Davis, as the sound of a child's shrieks came across the garden from a neighbor's house. "What kind of a woman have you for a neighbor? Does she abuse her children"? "No, indeed," replied Mrs Davis. "She is one of the most tender mothers in existence. But you see, she believes in the old-fashioned styles of doctoring. When a child needs physic, she fills a spoon with some nauseous dose, lays the little victim flat on her lap, holds his nose till he is forced to open his mouth for breath, when down goes the dreadful mess. Then comes the yells." "No wonder", said Mrs. Smith, "Why doesn't she use Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets? They are effective without being harsh, and are as easy to take as sugar plums. I always give them to my children." "And so do I," said Mrs Davis. c

THE CONTRACT RATIFIED.

Manitoba's Agreement With the Northern Pacific Passes its Third Reading.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 1.—The contract with the Northern Pacific was ratified yesterday afternoon on the second reading and passed its third reading by a vote of 27 to 10, Campbell (Winnipeg), Thompson (Cypress), McMillan, Fisher and Roblin voting with the Opposition.

Clarke Wallace, M.P., who left for home last night with Mayor Clarke, was presented with an address by the Knights of Labor for his efforts in the Commons against monopolies and combines.

Mr. Onderdonk is here in connection with the Hudson Bay Railway.

It is doubtful if the full force of the Guarantee Act will be put in effect, the Government caucus having decided to go no further than $2,500,000.

Three hundred and forty Ontario farmers arrived yesterday, many passing through to the west.

Some Duty for Chinese Missionaries.

OTTAWA, Sept. 1.—The Mission Board of the Methodist church found it necessary to have the services of a native Christian worker among the Chinese population of British Columbia. They engaged, through their representative in China, a well-tried and suitable married man, and applied to the Dominion Government for the free admission of the family, but the custom laws do not provide for such cases. Consequently the sum of $250 has to be paid for the admission of the missionary, his wife and three children.

A Railroad Receiver Discharged.

PORTLAND, Me., Aug. 31.—Judge Walton to-day issued a final decree discharging the receiver of the Portland and Ogdensburg Railroad. A like decree will be obtained in the courts of New Hampshire and then the Maine Central will take control of the roads.

The Ighty Delia

is long distanced by a 10 cent bottle of Polson's Nerviline, the newest and best pain remedy. It cures colds, cramps, colic, pains in the head, sciatica, pain in the chest; in fact it is equally efficacious as an external or internal remedy. Try a ten cent sample bottle of the great pain remedy, Nerviline. Sold by druggists. Large bottles only 25 cents. Try a sample bottle of Nerviline, only 10 cents. Take no substitute. 6dw35

Nature Makes No Mistakes.'

Nature's own remedy for bowel complaints, cholera morbus, colic, cramps, vomiting, sea-sickness, cholera infantum, diarrhœa, dysentery, and all diseases of a like nature belonging to the summer season, is Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, which can be obtained from all dealers in medicine. Price, 35 cents. 6dw35

Over 500.

"I take much pleasure in stating that since using Burdock Blood Bitters, I have entirely recovered. I suffered from impure blood and had over 500 boils. I can confidently recommend B. B. B. to any sufferer from the same complaint." David F. Mott, Spring Valley, Ont. 6dw35

Nothing But the Truth.

Sirs,—I have found Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry to be the best remedy I ever used for dysentery and all summer complaints among children, and I think it is recommended none too highly. Abie. A. Reagh, Victoria Vale, Annapolis Co., N. S. 6dw35

Like Magic.

"It always acted like magic. I had scarcely ever need to give the second dose of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry for summer complaints." Mrs. Walter Govenock, Ethel, Ont. 6dw35

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

The Growth of the Hair

Should always be watched. Inattention to the hair often leads to premature grayness and baldness. When dandruff appears it should be looked after at once. By frequently using a little of Dr. Dorenwend's Great German Hair Magic, the scalp will be kept in a clean healthy condition and the strength and vigor of the hair greatly promoted. It is the only reliable. Do not be talked into using anything else. For sale by all druggists everywhere. dw

Piles! Piles! Itching Piles.

SYMPTOMS—Moisture, intense itching and stinging, most at night, worse by scratching. If allowed to continue tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate, becoming very sore. SWAYNE'S OINTMENT stops the itching and bleeding, heals ulceration, and in most cases removes the tumors. At druggists, or by mail, for 50 cents. Dr. Swayne & Son, Philadelphia. DRUNKENNESS

Or the Liquor Habit Positively Cured by Administering Dr. Haines' Golden Specific.

It can be given in a cup of tea or coffee without the knowledge of the person taking it; it is absolutely harmless, and will effect a permanent and speedy cure, whether the patient is a moderate drinker or an alcoholic wreck. It has been given in thousands of cases, and in every instance a perfect cure has followed. It never fails. The system once impregnated with the Specific, it becomes an utter impossibility for the liquor appetite to exist. The Time Approaching.

The season is drawing near when ladies must lay aside the gossamer fabrics of summer, and don their wraps or mantles. Therefore, it is important for ladies to bear in mind that the dress and mantle order department of the Golden Lion is open for the season and in charge of Miss Neil, an artist in her profession, whose qualifications are are of the highest practical order. All orders entrusted to her will result in first-class fits and stylish modes. The selection of dress and mantle goods for this season is superb, and the prices are as low as could be expected for the highest quality of imported goods.

A Progressive Society.

At the last meeting of the Endeavor Society in connection with Charlotte street Methodist church, it was decided to hold an At Home in the school room on Monday evening, 10th September. This will be the first of a series of choice entertainments to be given by this flourishing society during the fall and winter.

The Bishop's Visit.

His Lordship Bishop Dowling will return home this evening from Kingston. He will be accompanied by Bishop Walsh, of London. It is generally understood that the recent meeting of the Bishops at Kingston was for the purpose of nominating a successor to the late Archbishop Lynch of Toronto.

Matrimonial.

On Wednesday, August 22nd, at St. Luke's Church, Mr. Chas. E. Pearson, of North Monaghan, was married by the Rev. W. C. Bradshaw to Miss Ella Walton, daughter of Mr. Robert Walton, of Smith. The happy young couple left on a wedding tour in the west after the ceremony.

Monday's Amusement.

Monday afternoon at three o'clock the Port Hope and Peterborough baseball clubs will play on the P. A. A. A. grounds here. Another good game is expected, and as this will be about the only means of amusement provided for those who remain at home there should be a large crowd in attendance. The admission fee is very small, and no extra charge will be made to those who climb over the fence.

Another Doctor.

Dr. Carmichael, late of Mount Pleasant, has, as will be seen by his professional card in another column, established an office for the practice of his profession in Alexander's new residence, one door north of the late Dr. O'Sullivan's residence, George street. Dr. Carmichael is a graduate of Trinity University, fellow of Trinity Medical School, licentiate of the Royal College of Physicians, Edinburgh, T. M. of Simpson's Maternity Hospital, Edinburgh. Dr. Carmichael's qualifications entitle him to the public confidence and it is trusted that he will receive a fair share of the public patronage.

Missionary Addresses.

Dr. Howard Taylor, son of Rev. J. Hudson Taylor, founder of the China Inland Mission, is to arrive in town this evening and will deliver addresses to-morrow as announced below. This mission is one of the most wonderful of modern times; they have now over 200 missionaries in Inland China, the majority of whom go out on their own responsibility, among whom are Charlie Studd, of Cambridge University, the eminent cricketer, and Stanley Smith, the stroke oar of the Cambridge eight. Although thousands of pounds are spent annually in the interests of this work, no collections are taken up or subscriptions solicited. The following will be the programme of meetings to be held to-morrow, at which Dr. Taylor will deliver addresses:—11 a.m., Murray street Baptist church; 7 p. m., St. Paul's Church; 8.30 p.m., union missionary meeting, George st. ost Methodist church

Still at Large.

The Fugitive Burglar Makes his Escape By a Bold Effort—Last Heard of in Cobourg.

The burglar who ransacked Gough Bros. store Friday morning and led the police force a lively chase all day, escaped from the neighborhood last night by a bold stroke of business. He is a "dandy" at his trade and no mistake. The police were on the right scent, but the fugitive circled around the town and last night showed up in the neighborhood of Heap's brickyard, near Mr. Z. Burnham's residence.

Yesterday afternoon Messrs. T. Fitzgerald and J. D. Collins drove down to "Heap's" to locate duck and partridge ready for the opening of the shooting season to-day, and also to fish a little. They tied their horse near Mr. Burnham's residence, and on coming back to the spot about 7 o'clock, both with their fishing tackle and a fine string of bass. They searched the neighborhood in the hope that the animal was straying around somewhere, but finally gave it up and walked home. The police were notified and about the same time they were informed from another source that the horse had been stolen by the fugitive burglar. It seems that at the very moment Messrs. Fitzgerald and Collins drove up and tied their horse, Mrs. McNairn, who lives only a few rods away, was dressing the wounds and feeding a man who had come to her house only a few minutes before. He was bleeding from cuts about the face, hands and arms, and told Mrs. McNairn a plausible yarn about falling through a window. One wound in his leg, however, he would not let her touch, and it is thought to have been a bullet wound which he was trying to hide from her. Mrs. McNairn says she has often seen the man about town, and thinks he lives here. She gave the police an accurate description of the dress of her guest. As the two men drove past in their buggy the stranger passed a few remarks about them and watched them tie their horse. He left the house soon afterwards and there can be no doubt that and went on his way rejoicing. A man driving a horse and buggy, answering to their descriptions, were seen afterwards going southward.

HE STOLE THE EQUIPAGE

Early this morning the policemen started off on this fresh trail, and the neighborhood was scoured without any result. Telegrams were sent all over the district, and soon a reply came from Cobourg that a chestnut mare and buggy, the latter containing a quantity of fishing tackle, etc., had been found at Cobourg. These are without doubt the stolen articles, and Mr. Fred Robinson went down on the noon train to identify them.

The fugitive must have made a continuous night journey to reach Cobourg before morning, and he must too have been well acquainted with the country. Further messages were sent to look out for the man, and as yet no more word has been received. It is feared he has got across the lines on one of the boats.

Sacreligious Thieves.

Burglarise the George Street Methodist Church About $35 Stolen.

This morning Mr. James Emmerson, secretary treasurer of the George street Methodist church Sunday school, visited his office in the school room for the purpose of getting some small change from the desk for use in the store of the Metropolitan Grocery during the day, as he very frequently did. He discovered that during the week the desk had been broken open by thieves and the cash box rifled of its contents, between $30 and $36. The robbery may have been committed any time during the week, as the money had been lying there since Sunday last. It comprised the accumulation of several Sunday's collections. Chief Roezel is looking into the matter.

Civic Holiday.

The Programme Arranged by the Knights of Labor—A Day at Hastings

Next Monday, labor day and civic holiday, the united trades and labor unions of Peterborough will hold a demonstration and picnic. The day will be generally observed as a public holiday, and as the members of the Typographical Union wish to participate in the days proceedings, the EXAMINER will not be published in order to give its typos a well-earned holiday.

At 9 o'clock a trades procession will leave the Knights of Labor hall, Water street, and, headed by the Fire Brigade band, parade the principal streets to the Midland station, where a special train will be in waiting to convey the workingman and their friends to Hastings. At Johnston's Grove a picnic will be held, and during the afternoon a baseball match and athletic sports will be held.

Addresses will be delivered by Mr. Wm. Garson, M.P.P., of St. Catherines; Mr. R. R. Elliott, D.M.W., of Uxbridge; Mr. Jas. Stevenson, M.P., and Mr. J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., West Peterborough; Mr. John Lang, M.P., and Mr. John Blezard, M.P.P., East Peterborough.

Return railway tickets, including admission to grounds, are placed at the low figure of 65c; children only 25c. An efficient committee is in charge and will do all in their power to make the demonstration enjoyable and successful.

Personal.

Mr. Massie, of Colborne, is in town to-day.

Rev. Father Sweeney, of Harwood, was in town yesterday.

Mr. R. Nimmo, dentist, will resume practice on Monday, Sept. 3rd.

Mr. A. C. Sloan, of Port Huron, U. S., brother of Mrs. J. L. Hughes, Park Place, is spending a month or so in town.

Mr. J. Dickson West leaves on Tuesday for Australia. His friends trust he will fully realize his expectations in that "land of promise."

Miss E. Harper, teacher of shorthand, has returned to town and will begin her classes at the Mechanics' Institute building on Monday.

Mrs. J. M. Andrews, of Saratoga, N. Y., spent a couple of days this week with Mrs. Lundy, Ashburnham. She has returned home.

Master Theodore McWilliams left yesterday afternoon for Belleville, from which place he will take a three week's voyage to Quebec by raft.

Rev. Mr. Bradshaw, of Ashburnham, conducted service in the Sturgeon Point hotel parlor Sunday afternoon, says the Post. There was a fair congregation.

At an entertainment at "Newnham," Haliburton's popular resort, Miss Archer and Miss Barlee, of Peterborough took part in a tableau. A correspondent says:—"Miss Archer, of Peterborough, recited 'The Curfew Bell' with admirable taste and skill. Miss Archer possesses fine elocutionary powers, and on the conclusion of her recitation she received an ovation which shook the pavilion to its centre."

Garden Party.

A garden party will be held at "Springfield Cottage," the residence of Wm. Paul, Esq., fourth line of Smith, on Monday evening 10th September, under the auspices of the Mission Circle of the Baptist church. The proceeds will be devoted in aid of the mission fund. The Peterborough Y.M.C.A. quartette club will be present, the 4th line band, and an interesting programme of music will be rendered. Tea from five to eight o'clock. All are invited.

Local Sports and Pastimes

Willow and Wicket.

The Colts scored a third consecutive victory in their match against the veterans Friday afternoon. Each side had one innings only, the score being 36 to 58. For the Veterans Stirling and Parker trundled the ball, and their bowling showed a great improvement over previous matches, with the result that the Colts score was kept down pretty well. Stirling secured the only good figures at the bat for his side, his 23 runs being well played for. The other scores were:—Burnon, 9, Stevens and Smith, 6 each, Wrighton, 4, Sailsbury 3 and Green 1. The rest of the score, barring 5 extras, was made up of blanks. The Colts as usual played a good fielding and bowling game, a couple of catches by Grubbe being particularly deserving. Hamilton, Pearson, Hay and Anderson did the bowling for the Colts. It was not as good as in the preceding match though the Veterans were not able to do much with it. At first it looked as if the Colts were going to be defeated, four good wickets going down for 8 runs, but Hamilton and K. Kincaid came to the rescue and made 37 and 16 runs respectively. M. Kincaid also played well for his 10 runs. The Veterans still believe they can beat the Colts, and have agreed to play another match on Monday, play to begin at 9 o'clock and quit at 3.

Turf Topics.

The Lindsay Post says: "Mr. Joseph Daly contemplates sending his trotting mare Elsie D. to Peterborough, for further development."

The Evening Star of St. Catherines devotes three columns of space to a report of the races in that city last Tuesday. In its account of the three minute trot, in which Mr. H. C. Winch's Sleepy Dan was entered, after the first two uneventful heats in which Dan came in third, it says of the third heat, "The racing of the day had just begun. Sleepy Dan's owner took the reins again and the quartette went off with Fame in the rear. The other three leaders trotting in abreast for a furlong. "Look at Sleepy Dan" was the chorus from the grand stand as he forged ahead of Macalpine and Confidence with a clear length to the good at the quarter pole. Around the turn they came with a rush, Sleepy Dan passing the stand a length ahead, Confidence and Macalpine second and third with their sulkies lapping. In the next furlong Sleepy Dan increased his lead to three lengths, Confidence breaking and falling back to third place." Dan won this heat and in the fourth heat "a good start was made, with Confidence leading a little, and in the scramble for position Macalpine and Sleepy Dan fouled. Sleepy Dan went to the front like a steam engine, but the quarter Macalpine had crawled up and was almost on even terms with him and they rounded the turn neck and neck. Before the grand stand was reached Macalpine had lost his place to Confidence and the trio passed the judges with Sleepy Dan comfortably in front, Confidence second and Macalpine third. * * * * Rounding the turn for the final stretch a grand sight was presented. Sleepy Dan still held his lead, but under a heavy whip Eddy James brought Macalpine up alongside the leader's wheel while Confindence was hugging in close and the excitement was intense. "Click" went the sulkey wheels together and Sleepy Dan's driver was nearly off his seat. The pretty chestnut was not disconcerted but came on again when "Click" went the wheels again, swerving Sleepy Dan out of his course, and when he recovered Macalpine had the lead. Eddy laid on the whip and passed the wire first in 2 40 with Sleepy Dan second and Confidence third, all close together. All was now confusion. The judges stand was surrounded by a howling crowd of excited men and it was recognized by the knowing ones that the judges had a knotty point to settle. Three fouls had occurred during the heat. The judges took a long time to decide the matter and finally gave the heat to Macalpine, with Sleepy Dan second and Confidence third. The decision was accepted with favor, probably because most money was up on Macalpine, but the Star has no hesitation in expressing the opinion that Sleepy Dan was fairly entitled to the heat. He trotted a clean, square, race, a winner from start to finish." Had a square decision been given Sleepy Dan would have taken first money instead of third, as he was awarded by the judges.

Sporting Notes.

There are several sporting events on the calendar for Monday. In baseball, the Port Hope and Peterborough clubs will wrestle on the athletic grounds, while the Lock Works and Wm. Hamilton Works clubs play at Hastings. The Colts and Veterans have a return cricket match on the grounds at 9 a.m. The Ashburnham and Zion lacrosse clubs play on the former's grounds.

The Ætnas and Shamrocks will not play lacrosse at Hastings on Monday, there being some difficulty about getting grounds.

The Peterborough baseball club goes to Campbellford on Wednesday to take part in the tournament.

A Brief History.

The Sawyer Business College was founded in the City of Ottawa, Feb 4th, 1878. From the beginning, this Institution shared such a degree of success and received such patronage as perhaps no other similar Institution known in Canada.

At this time there were in the city of Ottawa two successful Business Colleges in operation, besides various other schools and academies in which Ottawa abounds, but within three months Prof. Sawyer had enrolled students to the number of thirty, a record which is unsurpassed. A brief glance at the roll discloses the following names which show the kind of patronage Prof. Sawyer received, and at the same time the confidence he enjoyed from the citizens of Ottawa:—

Herbert Tilley, Leonard Tilley, Thomas McLelland, sons of Cabinet Ministers.

Hon. O. S. Lambert, son of Lord Cavan.

F. Gordeau, Chief Accountant, Marine and Fisheries Department.

Colin Russel, Accountant Finance, Department.

W. J. Johnson, Customs Department.

D. B. Bruce, P.O. Department.

B. Monaghan, Reporter, Supreme Court, U.S.

The fact that Prof. Sawyer has occupied the position of reporter in the Dominion House of Commons and has enjoyed the confidence of members of the Cabinet, and the success of his students account in no small degree for the success of the Institution with which he has been connected.

The college was then merged into the Ottawa Business College, when Prof Sawyer became Principal of the Shorthand and Penmanship Departments. But in the year 1885 it was decided to remove to Peterborough and there build up an institution which would be second to none in the Dominion and worthy of the most enterprising of towns. Consequently, on July 1st, 1885, the College was placed in Peterborough, and instruction commenced the 27th of the same month. A new field was opened and inside of 3 months over 80 students had found their way to its halls, and during the time that it has been located here over 400 students have been admitted and have gone forth again to take to themselves positions of trust and responsibility in the great fields of commerce. It is a fact worth mentioning, that no student who has graduated at the Peterborough Business College and thoroughly prepared him or her self, has had to wait for remunerative employment.

The success of a Business College is the result of faithful and practical work. While this is generally true of all institutions of learning, yet it is peculiarly true of a Business School. With no government grants, no furnished buildings, no aide of any kind, the managers of the Business College are entirely dependent upon their personal efforts and faithful work.

The Sawyer Business College opens its 4th year in Peterborough with great promise. Mr. Geo. S. Bean, B.A., B.Sc., who has for the past two years been the mathematical master of the Collegiate Institute and whose students have carried off first-class honors at the recent university examinations, has entered and become joint proprietor and Vice-Principal. Prof. Sawyer still retains the position of Principal and Manager. In the Shorthand Department he will be ably assisted this season by a lady teacher.

Satisfied that vigorous action wins, the Principals of the Business College purpose energetic, rapid and persistent work for and with all students entrusted to their care. The rooms are large, commodious and well furnished. The Banking and Actual Business Department is fitted up in counting house style. The Shorthand, Typewriting and Telegraphy occupy a separate department so as to remove all disturbance.

The Principals of the College whose qualifications are mentioned above, are not figure heads but along with their teachers are daily devoted to the instruction of their students.

The same efforts which have placed this school at the head of Business Colleges will, we are sure, be continued, and we confidently invite those contemplating to take a business course to inspect the Sawyer Business College or write for prospectus to the Principals and enroll their names in the already long list of students.

The fruit season has now come and we must prepare to put up our fruit. Now what kind of jars are we to use? Of course, glass jars; but so many of those we had last year cracked in filling that it makes it very expensive. Oh, I remember how Mrs. Goodwife told me last year she bought her jars at "China Hall," and that she did not break a jar in filling or lose a single can of fruit. I shall buy from China Hall this season. As the price is just the same I might as well have the best.

CORSETS

Every lady purchasing CORSETS and wishing to get the Best Article for the least outlay, should visit TURNBULL'S, as he always keeps in stock the Best Makes from all the leading manufacturers. Some makes are peculiarly adapted to suit a particular style of figure. Below we enumerate a few lines from which you can select in any size from 18 to 30. Larger sizes procured on short notice.

THE YATISI CORSET

is modelled from a design of one of the most celebrated Parisian makers. It gives a lady that ease and grace so much admired in French ladies.

The YATISI CORSET owing to the peculiar diagonal elasticity of the cloth will fit the wearer perfectly the first time worn, no matter what her style of form is, either long or short waisted. To ladies wishing to lace light and not feel uncomfortable at the bust or hips, they are indispensible.

The YATISI CORSET does not stretch at the waist; requires no breaking in; fits comfortable the first time worn, as it gives to every motion of the wearer. It will outlast any of the old style Rigid Corsets.

The YATISI CORSET can be worn ten days and if not found satisfactory in every respect the money will be refunded at TURNBULL'S.

THE CORALINE CORSET

What is Coraline? Coraline is composed of a bundle of stiff and and very elastic fibres like bristles tightly bound with strong thread. Coraline contains no sizing of any kind but its stiffness exists in the natural fibre and is permanent. Look for the Coraline Corset at TURNBULL'S, every pair stamped.

BALL'S CORSETS.

These Corsets need no breaking in—invalids can wear them with ease and comfort, as they do not compress the vital parts of the wearer. They fit a great variety of forms owing to their peculiar construction—they are very durable. They have the endorsement of every physician who has examined them. Every pair warranted—the money refunded if not satisfactory after wearing them three weeks at TURNBULL'S.

THE PARISENNE.

The PARISENNE is a new make which is becoming very popular. It is something after the style of the old French Corded Corset—is shorter waisted than most of the other makes, which makes it adapted for a stout figure.

Everything desirable in the Corset line always to be found at TURNBULL'S at prices that are never beaten.

J. C. TURNBULL

THEIR AUDITOR BOUNCED

THE MANITOBA LEGISLATURE TURN OUT MR. NURSEY.

Two Members of The Opposition Support The Government and the Vote is 31 to 3 —Prairie Province News.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 3.—The question of dismissing Provincial Auditor Nursey occupied the time of the Legislature this morning, a petition of his to be heard by counsel at the bar of the House receiving an adverse vote. The report of the Investigating Committee, which stated that the charges of unbusinesslike bookkeeping, the Auditor passing vouchers for his own salary illegally, etc., were proven by the evidence, was presented.

Treasurer Jones moved the Auditor's dismissal, but Mr. Norquay contended that no man should be condemned without evidence being heard. Mr. Jones reviewed the evidence and urged that sufficient facts had been elicited from the Auditor's own vouchers to justify his dismissal.

The matter was not taken up at the afternoon session, which was devoted to matters of local importance.

Auditor Nursey was dismissed to-night after a prolonged debate by a vote of 31 to 3, O'Malley and Wood supporting the Government.

THE HUDSON BAY SCHEME.

No Prospect of Provincial Aid—Conflicting Crop Reports.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 3.—The Red River Valley road was located in the city to-night, coming by the southern route. The station will probably be near Main-street, at its southern end.

The Legislature will not do anything for the Hudson Bay road, and the scheme will doubtless be dropped for the present.

A large number of Ontario farmers arrived from their western trip this morning. Reports respecting the crops are most conflicting, but it is known that a large area of wheat has been saved. The full loss will not be known till the spring.

Wheat is being delivered at Gretna and Brandon in large quantities. It is quoted at 80 to 85 cents.

Hamilton News Notes.

HAMILTON, Sept. 4.—Clothes-line thieves are hard at it again in certain parts of the city. A Catharine-street housekeeper lost a quantity of underclothing last week. Mrs. Mary E. Neelan, of 100 Bold-street, reported to the police on Saturday that four white sheets were taken off the line in her yard on Friday night.

At the Police Court yesterday John McCarthy was convicted of aggravated assault on Thomas Armstrong. When prosecutor attempted to break up a fight which was in progress at his hotel, the defendant bit him in the cheek. Fined $20 or two months in jail.

Twenty-three cases of typhoid fever were reported in August, fourteen of which were received by Dr. Ryall during the last week of the month.

Attempted Suicide at Lewiston.

LEWISTON, Sept. 4.—An elderly looking man, dressed in a linen duster and a black silk hat, jumped overboard from the steamer Cibola just as she was leaving Lewiston yesterday morning. The first mate of the steamer plunged after the would-be suicide and succeeded in holding his head above water until a rope was procured. The two men were safely landed. The jumper said his name was Mr. Drews, of New York City. He offered as an excuse for his action that he was experiencing a succession of troubles and thought the best and quickest way of ending them was to drown himself. He promised not to repeat his action.

AUGUST CUSTOMS RULINGS

A DOMINION CABINET MEETING HELD YESTERDAY.

Matters Connected with the Visit of the Newfoundland Delegates Discussed—An Attempt to Burglarize a Corner Stone.

OTTAWA, Sept. 3.—The following are the customs rulings for the month of August:

Scissors, plated, 30 per cent. Scissors, not plated, 25 per cent.
Rapeseed, 20 per cent.
Brass weights for scales, 30 per cent.
Fish purnice, 20 per cent.
Spring wire collars, 30 per cent.
Insect powder, 20 per cent.
Meerschaum pipes, real or genuine, 20 per cent. Meerschaum pipes, artificial, 35 per cent.
Huckleberries, 20 per cent. Pears, 20 per cent.
Repairs on machinery, either on vessels or otherwise, 30 per cent.

The first meeting of Council since the summer vacation commenced was held at 3 o'clock to-day and lasted two hours. It is understood that the principal matter under consideration was the coming visit of the Newfoundland delegates. It could not be learned that anything was done with reference to retaliation.

At the Council meeting to-day Sergeant-Major D. H. Macpherson, of the Manitoba Mounted Police, was promoted to an inspectorship. Mr. Macpherson has worked himself up from the ranks, and, apart from the claim of seniority, merits the position.

Burglarising a corner stone is somewhat of a novelty, yet this was what was attempted in Aylmer on Saturday night. After the banquet which followed the ceremony of laying the corner stone of the new postoffice by Sir Hector Langevin some miscreant pried the stone out of its place and endeavored to get open the cavity in which the usual papers and coins had been deposited. He was disturbed in his work, however, and did not accomplish his purpose. Last night a guard was mounted over the stone and to-day it was built in so that it cannot be disturbed again. Aylmer was in a great flutter of excitement over the matter yesterday.

The Comptroller of the Northwest Mounted Police is in receipt of advices that the Indians are perfectly quiet and everything is progressing satisfactorily.

Hon. John Carling will leave shortly on a trip of inspection of the quarantine stations.

THE MARKETS REVIEWED.

Little or No Change in the Prices of Produce and Fruit.

TORONTO, Sept. 4.—Business was quiet on St. Lawrence market yesterday morning, prices remaining unchanged. The supply of fruit was large, apples being $1.50 to $2 per barrel, 25c per peck, and peaches (Crawfords) $1.50 per basket. Grapes are 7c per lb.

Eggs were 14c per dozen, butter 20c for lb. rolls and 18c for tub.

On the hay market the price was $22 per ton; straw was $13. Two loads of fall wheat went at $1 per bushel, and one of oats at 33c.

THE FRUIT MARKET.

Yesterday was a quiet day on the fruit market on the arrival of the lake boats. There was little or no change in prices. Premature Crawford peaches were sold at 75 cents to $1 a basket. Bartlett pears were sold at 75 to 90 cents, and Flemish Beauties at 50 to 60 cents a basket. Blue plums for good qualities found buyers at 70 to 75 cents, and fancy varieties were sold at 90 cents to $1. Champion grapes are about done; they were sold yesterday at 6 cents, and the day of the luscious Concord is at hand.

BEERBOHM'S REPORT.

Beerbohm reports: Floating cargoes—wheat and corn nil. Cargoes on passage—wheat and corn very firm. Mark Lane—wheat, corn and flour a turn dearer. French country markets quieter. English farmers' deliveries during past week, 19,763 qrs.; average price, 26s 4d, was 33s 1d. Weather in England wet. Liverpool—Spot wheat firm, corn slow.

LIVERPOOL MARKETS.

Wheat firm, demand fair; holders offer moderately. Corn dull, poor demand. Spring wheat, 7s 11d; red winter 7s 11d; No. 1 Cal., 8s 3d; corn 4s 10d; peas, 6s 6d; pork, 73s 9d; lard, 47s; bacon, L. C., 48s, S. C., 47s 6d; cheese, 46s.

IMPORTANT TO FRUIT EXPORTERS.

Mr. W. N. White, fruit broker, of Covent Garden, London, Eng., has written to his Canadian agents, respecting the handling of apples exported. He intimates that the crop in England, Holland and Belgium will be light and holds forth a prospect of a good demand for Canadian apples. He expects himself to handle double the amount of Canadian apples as compared with last year. He then gives this advice to Canadian exporters: "My experience of apples from Canada is quite opposite to what I have seen stated in your papers. Last year I was receiving apples by the Thompson line and the Allan and also Ross's lines from Montreal to London, and as these three lines are now competing for this carrying trade they try their utmost to bring this class of freight in good order. As you are aware I was receiving a large quantity from the neighborhood of Hamilton and other points in Ontario, and have very strong reasons to regret some apples coming via New York. Just at the finish of last season one of my senders in Ontario finding our market good offered 2000 barrels, shipment of which I advised knowing that the market would still keep good. At that time there was a question whether they would make the connection with the last boat leaving Montreal and they were sent via New York. They were handled in the usual manner, and those 2000 barrels came forward and sold at a loss of £300 on account of their bad condition consequent on the fruit being frozen in transit and before being put on board the steamer. Had these apples been forwarded by one of the lines of steamers leaving Montreal they would have shewn a profit of £400, thus making a total loss on these 2000 barrels of apples on account of shipment via New York instead of Montreal £700."

Eastern Townships Exhibition.

SHERBROOKE, Que., Sept. 3.—His Honour the Lieut.-Governor of Quebec arrived here this evening for the purpose of opening the fourth annual exhibition of the Eastern Townships Agricultural Association. He was met at the station by over 3000 of the citizens. Addresses of welcome were extended and replied to, after which His Honor was escorted to the residence of Hon. Justice Brooks accompanied by two bands of music and numerous torchlights. The exhibition will be officially opened to-morrow afternoon.

A Fatal Fall.

BEDFORD, Sept. 3.—Mr. Hannibal Shelters met with a fatal accident while removing a waton from the upper story of his barn. The vehicle fell and crushed him so badly that he succumbed to his injuries.

Uncle Sam's Chinese Bill Passed.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—The House passed the Chinese bill without objection or division.

The Story of the Gyfle's Crew Denied.

ST. JOHN, N. B., Sept. 3.—Captain Tait, of the bark Gyfle, is in the city and denies entirely the story of the members of the crew who were taken off by the Persian Monarch, and reported to the British Consul as New York that the captain and first mate had attempted to scuttle the ship.

TORONTO TOPICS.

Troubles of the Trades—Local Crooks Leaving Town to Avoid Arrest.

TORONTO, Sept. 4.—The cigarmakers are now on the sixteenth week of their strike and are as confident as ever that the employers will have to yield in the end. The plumbers on strike are still receiving substantial aid from other organizations. The strike of plasterers and their laborers in the employ of W. J. Hynes terminated yesterday morning. The objectionable non-union man Kennard has left the city, and all the union men resumed work after about three days' idleness.

Of the gang of eight persons who were charged with stealing $34 from James Sullivan in an alleged lodging house at 62 Adelaide-street west, the evidence of Sullivan only implicated two of the number of complicity in the robbery—Lena Allen and Samuel Yelland. They were each sentenced to six months' imprisonment—the girl to the Mercer Reformatory and the male prisoner to the Central Prison.

Maggie Paisley, suspected of belonging to the gang of burglars who successfully worked Buffalo last week and brought the proceeds of their industry to this city, has been arrested and will accompany two detectives back to Buffalo to-day.

The local thieves are leaving town sooner than risk spending a couple of weeks in jail as vagrants. Several have already left the city, and a number of others have called on Detective Stark and expressed their intention of getting out of town as soon as possible. Each detective has been given a list of crooks to look up and escort to jail. He will have to account for each of his men and either satisfy himself that he is not in town or see that he is put away for the exhibition.

The executive of the Gaelic Society met last night and arranged to issue invitations to members not residing in the city to attend the annual reception which will be held in Victoria Hall on Sept. 18.

In the Court of Queen's Bench yesterday an application was made in Curry v. C.P.R., which was tried at Toronto Spring Assizes, to set aside a verdict for $2000 against the Company for leave to appeal against the judgment. In this case Mr. Curry, who was a drover from Milton, while accompanying a car load of cattle tarried too long at his dinner at Sharbot Lake and while attempting to board the train while in motion fell under the cars and lost his leg for which the jury gave him $2000. The judges could not make up their minds to grant leave for a re-argument of the case and reserved judgment.

Boncher J. K. Kerr, Q.C., introduced these gentlemen to the court, who were duly called to the bar: R. S. McLaughlin (gold medal), Wm. Mundell (silver medal), W. H. Williams, A. J. Boyd, S. A. Henderson, C. Kemp, J. Kyles, H. E. Irwin, H. N. Roberts, W. J. McWhinney, J. B. Davidson, C. A. Blanchet and E. A. Johnston.

The Knickerbocker Ice Company claim $1000 damages from the city by reason of the corporation diverting the channel of the river Don. Other property owners will probably follow suit.

William Farren was knocked down and kicked into a state of insensibility by five men with whom he engaged in an altercation at the corner of King and Berkeley-street last night.

At the last sitting of the Division Court for East Toronto, Deputy Judge Morson heard the case of the city of Toronto against John Strachan, an Erie Railway agent, to recover $24.76, being income tax upon $1500. Mr. Strachan disputed the tax, claiming that he was in Toronto only on every Saturday, that the amount he earned here was under the $400 exemption and that he was paid in Buffalo. Judge Morson has given judgment against the defendant.

There were 98 cases on the Police Court docket yesterday.

The city schools reopened yesterday.

MURDER AT BRANDON.

A Laundryman Shoots His Wife, Killing Her Instantly.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 4.—At Brandon on Saturday a laundryman, named Webb, shot his wife in the neck, killing her instantly. He had once before attempted to kill her. She was the daughter of wealthy people in England, and her husband was her father's groom, with whom she ran away. Webb gave himself up to the police. The coroner's jury returned a verdict of wilful murder.

The 14-year-old daughter of A. W. Brain of Brandon has been missing since Friday, and it is feared she is drowned, as she was last seen near the river bank.

Albert Hiller, a printer, has been arrested near Carberry for indecent assault on May Fountain, said to have been an inmate of a house of ill-fame in Winnipeg. He claims that it is a case of blackmail.

Farmer Williams of Oak Lake has been arrested for stealing logs belonging to Mr. Christie at Brandon, while being floated down the river. The logs were found on his farm.

Strangled His Baby Sister.

OLCOTT, N.Y., Sept. 4.—Sunday evening Howard Niles, an imbecile aged 7 years, son of a farmer living two miles south of here, strangled his baby sister aged 13 months.

Burglars Arrested in Buffalo.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 3.—Two boys named George Dewer and Henry Robertson were arrested to-day on a charge of burglary in breaking into the house of Wm. Leach, a wealthy livery stable keeper of Dunnville, Ont., stealing property valued at $200. They were tracked to this city and the stolen property, including gold chains, rings, diamonds and other jewelry found in their possession. The youthful culprits will be taken back to Dunnville by Constables Wickes and Stevens of that place.

A Young Female Forger.

KINGSTON, Sept. 4.—A young woman most respectfully connected, forged a check for $30 on J. W. Frazer, tailor, and had it cashed in Donald Frazer's bank. Friends having come forward with the money, the matter was hushed up.

Severe Frost in Wisconsin.

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 4.—Specials from the cranberry district report that recent frosts have damaged crops in the dry and unimproved marshes fully 25 per cent.

THE WAR IDEA RIDICULED

THE ENGLISH PRESS ON THE FISHERIES SITUATION.

It is Suggested that an Opportunity is Afforded to Test the Possibility of Imperial Federation.

LONDON, Sept. 4.—Owing chiefly to the dulness of the season here regarding politics, the fisheries question continues to occupy much of the attention of the English press. The chief topic of conversation to-day is the defiant tone of the article in The Standard, in which the United States is reminded that Canada has behind her English guns and ironclads, and recalls the Trent affair. While English feeling strongly favors the maintenance of Canadian rights, the tone and character of The Standard's references are condemned in many quarters as quite without defence and an outrage on the good feeling which should prevail. The Daily News, it is thought goes too far in the opposite direction, apparently urging Canada to yield everything.

The Standard Denounced.

LONDON, Sept. 3.—The St. James' Gazette ridicules the idea of a war between Great Britain and the United States. It suggests that the rejection of the Fisheries Treaty has given England an opportunity to ascertain how far Imperial Federation can be made a serious reality, or whether it must remain entirely a sentimental wish.

The Pall Mall Gazette denounces The Standard for its violent utterances on the fisheries question and charges that paper with outraging that good feeling which ought to exist between Great Britain and the United States.

An Alleged Corruptionist.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—In the Senate today Mr. Hoar (Rep., Mass.) sent to the clerk's desk and had read a letter received by him from Charles Arpin of Quebec suggesting that if certain bay claims held by Canadians against the Government of the United States were allowed and paid at this time the Republican party could be assured of support from Canada, the claimants being willing to make a good allowance. Mr. Hoar remarked that such letters, he had no doubt, were occasionally received by senators from men as ignorant as base, but the man who had written this letter had been a candidate for the Canadian Parliament and was a man of considerable intelligence and address. It seemed, therefore, that the communication should be put on the files of the Senate, so when the claims it referred to were presented, they might be attended with the history of this attempt at corruption.

It was so ordered, after a remark by Mr. Riddleberger (Rep., Va.), alluding to the articles in the English papers as to Canada having British ironclads behind her—that "we have men behind our guns, but no slaves."

BOULANGER'S DISAPPEARANCE.

The Reasons for His Unwonted Modesty a Mystery—Parisian Politics.

PARIS, Sept. 3.—Since Boulanger set out on his voyage of exploration to Sweden and Norway his movements have been wrapped in mystery. The boulevard reporters have been racking their brains to explain the motives of his unwonted modesty. One made a great sensation on Thursday by gravely announcing that the General had gone, not to Sweden, but to Friedricharuhe to have an interview with Bismarck. In support of this romance—which was, of course, promptly contradicted—he quoted the imaginary case of Gambetta's visit to the Chancellor. As a matter of fact Gambetta never paid Bismarck any such visit. A flat denial was given to the report at the time, six or seven years ago. Gambetta went to Hamburg, it is true, but on private business, to see some old friends. Whatever curiosity he may have felt to make the acquaintance of the arch enemy of his country, he was far too good a patriot to indulge it.

It is shrewdly suspected that Boulanger is in neither Germany nor Sweden, but is quietly enjoying himself, a la Parnell, somewhere in his own country.

Boulanger grows less and less particular in the choice of the means by which he hopes to obtain his political ends. All recruits to his party are welcomed with open arms, whether Socialists, Royalists, or Bonapartists. In a letter which he has just written to "his friend," the Bonapartist Duque de la Fauconnerie, he appears to make a bid for the support of the party of disorder.

"The quarrel is not between Monarchists and Republicans," he writes, "but between the oppressors and oppressed—les exploiteurs et les exploites. You know on which side I fight."

It is shrewdly suspected by most people that he fights, like Hal of the Wynd, for his own right hand; but you can't persuade the Royalists of this. With the blessed innocence which characterizes all their political moves, they still fancy that they will be able to smash the Frankestein monster they have created directly they find him an encumbrance.

I hear privately that the Comte de Paris has determined to spend no less than 20,000,000 francs on election expenses at the next general election. The rumor is received with incredulity in Royalist circles, but it seems serious.

Will Demand an Enquiry.

PARIS, Sept. 3.—On the reassembling of the Chamber of Deputies the Boulangist members intend to demand an enquiry into the conduct of the recent elections in the Departments of Ardeche, Somme, Charente Inferieure and the Nord.

The Chief of the Spies.

PARIS, Sept. 3.—A despatch from Nice to La France says that Hohenburg, the German ex-officer who was arrested there, is the head of a regular service of spies operating on the Franco-German frontier.

Canada and the Liquor Traffic.

KINGSTON, Sept. 4.—Rev. D. V. Lucas, speaking in the City Hall, said he had experience with the drink traffic the world over, and he was prepared to say that Canada was freer from the effects of the liquor traffic than any other country in the world.

The Daily Examiner.

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 4, 1888.

THE British statesman who takes an intelligent interest in the colonies, and who appreciates their importance to the stability of the empire, is such a rara avis that it is a pleasure to quote words of praise of the late W. E. Forster, formerly Secretary of State for the Colonies:—In the course of his speech at the unveiling of the memorial to the late Mr. Forster in the Jerusalem Chamber, Lord Knutsford, the Colonial Secretary, said of the deceased statesman:—"From the earliest days of his life down to the close he had always taken a most keen and vivid interest in all colonial questions. He had been alive to the importance both for the Mother Country and the colonies of the maintenance of the connection between them. He had pursued with untiring industry the investigation of this question, and the consideration of how the links between England and the colonies could be strengthened. His great ambition had been to become the Secretary of State for the Colonies, and it was certain that the position could not have been filled by any one more worthy, or by any one who would have worked more for the interests of the great British Empire. They were now going to unveil the memorial of this man who, like the knight of old, had been 'sans peur et sans reproche.'"

Locks Bridge Bungle.

To the Editor of the Examiner :—

DEAR SIR,—I would like to know why the town and county engineer had not the pier of the new bridge at the locks so built that the present swing would have answered without altering. It must be apparent to every practical man who takes the trouble to examine the new structure that the ratepayers of both town and county will be called on to pay a large amount for extra work on account of the engineer's bungling. And as the street and bridge committee have, on town bridges, gone in for economy, and done away with the stone abutments on Charlotte and Brock street bridges, I would invite their attention to the locks bridge and ask them to look after the ratepayers' interest there, and see that the engineer makes good any errors at his own expense. I must say this structure is costing about twice what the Midland Railway bridge cost, per yard, and is not one half the structure. The engineer is well paid for his services; there is not in the province another who receives so high a percentage and gives so little value for it. And if he, through neglect of duty, had the rest pier built out too far into the river, he should be compelled to have it properly placed at his expense before he was paid any salary. You will hear from me again on this matter more fully.

Yours truly,
J. BOGUE,
Builder and Contractor.

China Inland Mission

Addresses by Dr. Howard Taylor—Chinese Missions.

Dr. Howard Taylor, son of Rev. Hudson Taylor, founder of the China Inland Mission, gave three addresses on Sunday—at the Baptist church in the morning, St. Paul's in the evening and in George street church — an after service address. All the meetings were well attended.

A fair sized audience convened in the Baptist church on Monday evening to listen to another address on the Inland Mission in China, by Dr. Taylor.

After devotional exercises, conducted by Rev. P. Clifton Parker, pastor of the church, and Rev. E. F. Torrance, the speaker began by adverting to the completer interest taken in missions, and pointed out that thirty-five years ago the speaker's father labored seven years in China. After three years he severed his connection with the society with which he had been connected, because he did not wish to embarrass it to pay his salary, but he continued the work, trusting in God, and his faith was honored by unexpected assistance arriving, and the effect of the practical exemplification of the results of faith in God, brought numerous natives to conversion. To show the immensity of the population of China, the speaker stated that the population of China, if placed in columns of one hundred, five feet apart, the first column would reach Quebec before the last one had started to leave British Columbia. The Chinese have no idea of God—they worship devils—the religion of fear, which element enters largely into the worship of ancestors, which also takes place. The Chinese are a brisk, active, clever race, and when they do become converted, they make "splendid Christians." They have to suffer great persecution which they endure with great fortitude. At the end of seven years, the speaker's father returned the England on account of broken health and engaged in the translation of the Bible into Chinese. In connection with a Church of England missionary, the China Inland Missionary Society was organized. God was trusted, in earnest prayer, for necessary funds which were not wanting. The first party of sixteen missionaries started for China, funds for their journey coming in answer to prayer. The speaker went on to show that the source of strength of this mission was faith in God. Since 1875 China was opened up to the Gospel; before that time there were only ninety-one missionaries, now there were more than seven hundred, of which two hundred and ninety-four belonged to the China Inland Mission. In 1874, the need was felt of one hundred new missionary workers, and in 1887 the prayer was answered, the increase of funds required was also given in answer to prayer, and the funds of the society were all got on the same plan—no collection had been taken in the interests of the China Inland Mission.

The address was earnest, interesting and practical and showed Christian people that dependance on their own strength and energy was a vain support, that the race was not to the swift nor the battle to the strong, and that faith in God that he would take care of his own work, was the secret of success of its missionary work.

Jacks went down—but with a frown—
Jill died from "cause unknown."

Smiles will supersede many frowns, discomforts will be unknown, when Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets entirely supersede as they bid fare to do, the large and less efficient pill of our forefathers. Every day they gain new laurels! Most popular when most ills abound! b

Cyclorama.

We would advise all who intend visiting the Industrial Exhibition, to see the Battle of Sedan. The greatest feature in the way of public amusements, of a permanent kind, is the Battle of Sedan. This grandly realistic delineation of a battle has now been exhibited one year, yet interest in it has never subsided, and its attendance is constantly upon the increase. During the exhibition the great war picture will form a valuable annex exhibition, and one that will add much interest to it. Situated at the corner of York and Front streets it is sure to catch large patronage daily. So much has been said and written about the marvellous prospective of this battle scene that its fame has extended over a large territory, and is scarcely a visitor from the towns adjacent who does not know the history of this remarkable battle between the French and German armies. To those who have not been fortunate enough to have seen it we advise an early visit, promising that the visitor shall come away thoroughly pleased and with a mind well stored with useful information. Open from 9 a.m. till 11 p.m. 1d1w

PROCTOR KNOTT BY A NECK.

The Crack Two-Year-Old Wins the Rich Futurity Stakes in a Field of 14.

SHEEPSHEAD BAY, Sept. 4.—Nearly 40,000 people witnessed the 2-year-old race for The Futurity Stakes yesterday, which was run over the straight course, ½-mile, $100 each with $10,000 added, the actual value of the stake being $43,375. There were 14 starters. Proctor Knott won by a neck from Salvator, who was a length before Gales, third. Time 1.15¼. Not far from $1,000,000 changed hands on the result.

The D. R. A. Matches at Ottawa.

OTTAWA, Sept. 4.—The twenty-first annual meeting of the Dominion Rifle Association opened yesterday. The Nursery match was won by Private Buchanan of the 22nd with a score of 22 out of a possible 25; Sergt. Macklin, 90th, 2nd with 22, and Private Henderson 3rd with 21. The Macdougall Cup was won by Lieut. Brown of the 12th with a score of 44, 2 points better than Capt. Vaughan of the 5th Royal Scots, who took it last year, and Private McVittie, Royal Grenadiers, taking third place, also with 44. The Mideal match finished the day's program. The three first were Private Buchanan, 22nd, 33; Mr. Rolph, Ottawa R. C., 33; Major Wilson, retired list, 32.

KEHOE FOUND TO BE SANE.

The R. & O. N. Co.'s Boats to Go into Winter Quarters on Sept. 15.

MONTREAL, Sept. 3.—The Richelieu & Ontario Navigation Company have decided to withdraw their Upper Canada boats for the season on Sept. 15, and send them into winter quarters at Sorel. This will be considerably earlier than at any period since the company's formation. The reason for the present early withdrawal is simply dulness of traffic, owing in part to continued wet and unfavorable weather.

While Wm. Senz, aged 19, was watering his horse in the river at Pointe-aux-Trembles on Saturday, he drove into a deep part and in trying to save the animal his foot got entangled in the reins and he was drowned.

The bodies of two unknown men were also found in the river opposite the city to-day.

The Exhibition grounds were crowded this afternoon with spectators attending the Cigarmakers' Union picnic and games in honor of Labor Day. To-night the city band gave a promenade concert, the grounds were illuminated and several workingmen delivered addresses.

The jury which was empanelled to try the murderer Kehoe to determine the question of his sanity returned a verdict this afternoon that he was sane.

True bills were brought in by the grand jury this afternoon against Charles F. Pitcher for bringing stolen money into Canada, A. H. Cass for murder and Alex. Sherriff for forgery and embezzlement.

The Moons Influence

Upon the weather is accepted by some as real, by others it is disputed. The moon never attracts corns from the toe, heel, ochine spot. Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor removes the most painful corns in three days. Moderate to fresh winds, mostly northerly, fine and a little cooler.

A Big Thing in Talk.

Edison's phonograph is to be shown at the Industrial Exhibition, Toronto. The phonograph is merely bottled talk. When a man's wife is off at the sea-side and he gets lonesome, he has only to uncork the bottle into which she has talked a certain lecture, and he will have all the advantage of her presence. But this nothing to having access to the magnificent stock of fall goods at the golden lion. Every department completely stocked with new and seasonable goods at low prices. Call and inspect.

The Brewery Picnic.

The employ'es of Calcutt's Brewery and their friends utilised Labour's civic holiday for their annual excursion to Jubilee Point. The "Golden Eye" starting at eight o'clock took down a very pleasant company, which would have been larger but for the overwhelming counter attraction of the Hastings excursion. On the down voyage dancing on the deck was kept up to the music of McIlmoyle's orchestra, Mr. James Coughlin being, as he was throughout the day, director of the dances. At the Point dancing was the favorite amusement, though the other usual picnic enjoyments, such as boating, swinging, etc., got their attention. The day was most delightfully spent, and the party returned to town, arriving at 8 o'clock.

About the Burglars.

No further trace has been found of the daring burglar who entered Gough Bros.' store. A close watch is being kept along the front, and it is the general opinion that the fugitive is lying concealed somewhere to allow his wounds to heal and the excitement to blow over. The vest left in the store by the burglar has been identified as part of the suit stolen from Mr. H. LeBrun at the time his store was burglarized. This gives rise to the belief that the same man did both jobs.

The robbery at the George street Methodist Sunday School still remains a mystery. No clue has been found to implicate anyone.

Personal.

Col. Wm. Sparling, of Toronto, Superintendent of Agencies, and Mr. Jas. Gallon, Lindsay, Inspector for Eastern Ontario of the Manufacturer's Life Insurance Company, are in town, and judging from the large number of applications already taken, (with the assistance of Mr. J. Robertson), Messrs. Wilson & Morrison's office is having quite a boom. The Company will write over $6,000,000 this year.

A Steamer for Sale.

The steamer Cruiser is offered for sale by advertisement in another column. The Cruiser is a well-known and popular craft, and judging from the amount of work she appears to be doing this season and the general appreciation of the way she is managed, it is evident that anyone purchasing her would make a profitable investment.

Shut Down for a Week.

The water in Roger's race has been let out to-day while the new foundation for the waterwheel of the Otonabee flour mills is being made. This will necessitate the closing down of all the mills on the race the remainder of this week, by which time it is hoped to have the work finished.

UNITED TRADES & LABOR.

A Grand Union Picnic and Demonstration.

The Trades and Labor Organizations Have a First Annual Outing—Civic Holiday Spent at Hastings—A Success in Every Way.

Labor day was celebrated so signally successfully by the trades and labor organizations of Peterborough that the institution has been made permanent by unanimous resolution of the assembled wage-earners. Monday was Labor Day throughout America, and the labor organizations in Peterborough have decided to celebrate the day annually. The one on Monday was a grand success, and the committee in charge, indeed the whole body of workingmen, have every reason to be proud of it. The committee, of which Mr. Geo. Rose, chairman, and Mr. Robert McGregor secretary, was composed of Messrs. Geo. Ball, T. M. D. Croly, John O'Brien, John Burns, James Froude, F. J. McNamara, Richard Sheehy, Geo. Graham, F. Parks, J. Whitehair, Albert Wright, Chas. Marty and P. Delaire.

At an early hour Monday morning the crowds began to assemble on the streets and at the station, and shortly after nine o'clock the left the Knights of Labor Hall, Water street. The Fire Brigade Band led the way, and were followed by about 300 men in double file, members of the different labor organizations in town. The carpenters, masons, bricklayers, shoemakers, tailors, moulders, machinists, contractors, laborers, printers painters and others marched together down to the station where a special train was waiting to take the excursion to Hastings. Here they were joined by over 300 more excursionists, and the train that pulled out of the station comprised ten overflowing coaches. There must have been over 600 people aboard.

Johnston's grove is a very pretty little spot on the shores of the river Trent, and here those who had brought baskets ate their meals. Hastings was en fete, it being the village's civic holiday, and when the people poured in from Peterborough the streets were jammed. The hotels did a rushing business in supply the needs of the hungry (and thirsty) excursionists. There was a perfect crush at first, but as Hastings can boast of more and better-class hotels than any other place of its size, the difficulty was easily overcome.

AT THE GROVE.

After dinner the grove became the centre of attraction. Swings were brought into requisition and the dancing platform was soon covered with scores of young people who whirled about to the music of Doucet's orchestra. During the afternoon a number of addresses were delivered from the platform. About three o'clock the crowd was called together and the speakers took their places, some of those expected not turning up.

The chairman, Mr. Geo. Rose, made a few opening remarks anent the unanimous feeling prevading among workingmen that the hours of labor should be nine hours a day and called upon the secretary, Mr. Robert McGregor, to read a couple of resolutions dealing with the matter, as follows:—

Whereas the wage-earners of Canada, recognizing the fact that the improvement and introduction of machinery into all branches of trade and avocations of life has given facilities for speedily and cheaply doing work, we find that it would be to our benefit to shorten the hours of labor and that there is need of legislation for that purpose;

Be it therefore resolved, that the wage-earners assembled on this 3rd day of September at Hastings, pledge ourselves to use every legitimate means to reduce the hours of a day's work to nine hours, and further pledge ourselves to use our franchise in that direction.

Whereas, the effort on the part of capitalists is to monopolize all sources of enjoyment and recreation to suit their own interests and convenience, they have in former time sought and obtained from the officers in power the civic holiday of the large centres of population in the early part of the summer, to the inconvenience of the community;

Be it therefore resolved, that now and in future we, the wage-earners of Canada, will seek to make the first Monday of September in each year the great labor holiday, and request the executive officers of each city, town and village to aid and assist in so doing.

THE ADDRESSES.

Mr. JAMES STEVENSON, M.P., Mayor, in speaking to the resolution, referred to the dissatisfaction of some merchants over the proclamation of that day as a civic holiday, but he had told them it was more for the laboring man and they could keep open their shops if they wanted to. But the season was so dull he thought none of them would miss the day much, and therefore on this as on all other occasions he had been ready to do all he could to make the day successful. He was pleased to see them there. The workingman had his sympathy, as it was a well-known fact that it was very difficult for labor to compete with capital. Regarding the nine hour system, he said that if the workingmen would elect men who favor the shorter hours of labor, he had no doubt they would find plenty of men to fill the positions. But unfortunately at election times the workingmen forgot everything but party, or at least that was generally the case; whereas, if they would only stick together and elect men true to their own interests he had no doubt the government would be glad to do all in its power for them. The resolution had his hearty approval and should not be disapproved of by anyone. He had great pleasure in moving the resolution. He urged the mechanics to stick together, and there would be no difficulty in procuring the necessary legislation to gain their ends. (Applause.)

Mr. CAHILL seconded the resolution, with the sentiment of which he said he was in hearty accord. It was one that should meet the approval of all. He also fully coincided with the nine-hour system; nine hours was long enough for anyone to work. It was a strange thing that the men who worked the hardest and longest got the least reward for their labor (hear, hear); but the workingmen had only to stick together to have their condition bettered. In conclusion, he congratulated them upon their large and highly respectable turn out (applause), and hoped they would soon have one of their own workingmen to represent them in the parliaments. (cheers); and when that time arrived and they had their candidate in the field, they could rely on him to do his best to secure the election of the working man.

Mr. J. R. STRATTON, M.P.P., was greeted with applause on coming forward. He expressed his pleasure at meeting so many of the intelligent workingmen of the town on this occasion. The mechanics and artizans were the bone and sinew of the town, and capital could not exist without it. (Applause.) Capital was labor and labor capital. In the present struggle between these two great powers he believed only peacable means should be used. He was pleased to see that organized labor to-day but rather a settling of the strife by peaceable arbitration and education. Labor was a noble occupation, it had been sung of by the poets and praised by writers in all time. The Legislature of Ontario was doing much to help the workingmen. He pointed out that the Legislature had done much to improve the condition of employees in all classes of factories and mills. The early closing act was also the introduction of the thin edge of the wedge to shorten the hours of labour. The increased exemption from taxation of the income of mechanics; the increased exemption under landlord's warrants or executions; the granting of manhood suffrage to all mechanics, with other acts, tended to show the interest which the Legislature had taken in the interests of the working men, an interest from which much more might be hoped in the future, for the claims of labour were every day gaining increased recognition and attention. Education and intelligent thought, on the part of the working men were prime factors in bringing about these improvements, and he believed the day was not far distant when the much cherished system of shorter hours would be an accomplished fact. (Applause.) And the workingmen had the power in their own hands to make it so. The ballot was given them for the purpose, and they should use it by electing only men who would be true to their interests, while at the same time guarding the interest of the capitalist and the general public. With regard to the nine hour movement, his employes knew his feelings in the matter. In some occupations as much work could be done in nine hours as in ten, and he believed the time was coming when the hours of the laboring men would be shortened. The laboring classes might rest assured that their interests would be looked after in the legislature by him as far as his influence, efforts and vote might avail. In conclusion he said the workingmen would always have his support in any proposed legislation in their interests provided their demands were reasonable and right. The Ontario government was doing its best for the workingmen, and he could assure them of his personal interest and efforts in their behalf. (Applause.)

MR. THOS. BLEZARD, M. P. P., made a brief address in which he emphasized the great necessity of labor to the vitality of the town. Labor was the town's mainstay and support. Mr. Blezard entirely favored a fairer division of profit between the capitalist and laborer; but as regarded the nine hour system he said he would honestly say:

"HE COULDN'T SEE IT."

Of course he was engaged in a different sphere of labor and perhaps was not in a position to form a correct opinion, but he thought ten hours a day was not too long for any man to work. He favored instead a larger amount of wages in proportion. That he considered would be more satisfactory. But he would say that if the motion was made in the legislature and it was shown that it was best for the interests of workingmen, it would have his hearty support. (Applause) but it would not do them on the farm in certain seasons they would require 16 hours, and at other times a much less number of hours.

Mr. J. J. HARTLEY made a few preliminary humorous remarks and said he, as a contractor, wanted to be one of the workingmen; and though losing considerable this season by the nine hour system, he believed it would be for the best in the end and it had his hearty approval (applause.) The workingmen wanted men in parliament who would give them that legislation, and if they wouldn't do that, put them out and elect men who will (applause). He wanted to see harmony between labor and capital and a fair distribution of profits, and urged the workingmen to stand together and work for this result.

Mr. GEO. BALL took good natured objection to Mr. Blezard's advocacy of ten hours' labor. He proceeded to show that the many men who were going about the country labelled as tramps were in reality respectable workingmen, the victims of circumstances. The present strained state of the labor market made it so. If there was any depression in trade, the hard working and little saving laboring man was thrown out of employment, and if he went abroad seeking work he was a "tramp," while if he stayed at home waiting for something to do he was stigmatized as a "bum." Now if the hours of labor were shortened there would be a greater demand for laborers and a consequent bettering of the condition of the workingman. He also took exception to Mr. Stevenson's statement that there was a draft of foreign labor from China who came through the States and threw our own men out of work. Mr. Ball held that the Chinese that caused the trouble came through our own British Columbia, and they should be kept out of there by the Canadian Government. Referring to the interest of workingmen in Parliament, the speaker said he could show that only about one out of ten was for the workingman's interests. But they hoped for better things, and he believed that by education, reading and thinking a better state of affairs would be brought about.

Mr. W. H. MOORE said that capital and labor should go hand in hand, and said he thought that legislation should be made to provide for the workingman a fair return for his labor, for without labor capital was useless. Manufacturers should be encouraged in the town and capital brought in to give more demand for labor, thus helping everyone. His address dealt largely with municipal matters, and at its conclusion he was applauded.

At the conclusion of the addresses cheers were given for the speakers and the assembly began to disperse, when Mr. John McNaughton mounted the rostrum and gave the audience his views on the labor question, but owing to the noise and bustle we are unable to give a synopsis of his remarks.

ATHLETIC SPORTS.

Before and during the speech-making the following athletic events were run off by the committee of which Mr. Frank Farin was the head:—

BASEBALL.

During the afternoon a match game of baseball was played on the grounds of the village club between the Wm. Hamilton Works nine and the Hastings team, for a handsome silver medal, donated by Mr. Z. B. D. LaFleur. The Peterborough team won by a close score. The clubs were about evenly matched and the game was exciting to witness. The battery work of both was good. Following are the teams and scores:

LACROSSE.

After the ball match a game of lacrosse was played between the Ætnas and Shamrocks, two junior town clubs. After an hour's play time was called, the Shamrocks having in that time scored one goal, while their opponents also claimed a goal which was not, however, allowed by the umpire. The game was a gentlemanly one throughout and played as lacrosse should be. The winning game was scored by the Shamrocks by Corcoran after half an hour's hard play. The teams lined up as follows:—

Ætnas.		Shamrocks.
Welsh	goal	Murphy
Cronin	point	McCabe

Referee, T. Howard.

NOTES.

The procession in the morning was a splendid one, and any one witnessing it could not but be struck with the importance of the labor element in the progress and building up of the various interests of the town.

A stranger on the Midland station platform while the procession was waited for remarked the large number of fine, fresh, blooming, good looking and neatly dressed girls ready for the excursion.

The procession reached the distance from Brock street to the market square.

It was civic holiday and the only men to be seen working about town were the civic employes on the streets and bridges.

The best of order and good behaviour prevailed throughout the day at Hastings and on the return journey.

The Labor Demonstration of Monday was a huge success, and everybody pronounces it a "good job"—built according to plans and specifications.

Local Sports and Pastimes.

Willow and Wicket.

The Veterans claim a victory over the Colts as the result of Monday's match, but the latter contend that the teams were too largely mixed to be thoroughly representative. For instance, the Colts took on several raw players and juveniles to make up their side, which did not by any means represent the strength of their regular eleven. Then Messrs. B. T. A. Bell and S. Ray were taken one on each side, and though neither scored at the bat, their presence of course altered the result of the game. The Colts do not admit that it was a "straight" defeat, and are anxious for another match on equal terms.

For the Veterans the bowling of "Billy" Hartley and Sam Ray was what won the game, only two of the Colts reaching double figures. Bell, Pearson, Hay and Hamilton bowled for the Colts, Pearson carrying off the lion's share of honors. Following is the score:—

SLIPS.

In the return match with the Irish Gentlemen in Toronto, Mr. W. A. Stratton the Peterborough representative on the Gentlemen of Canada eleven, distinguished himself by making the top score, 44.

A match game between the Professional and Mercantile members of the club is talked of. It will probably soon be played.

Base ball.

The Port Hope baseball club failed to show up yesterday in spite of their written statement that they would positively be on hand; and to make the matter worse not a line of apology for or explanation of their conduct has been received. If the Port Hope club break faith so indifferently they cannot expect to make a reputation for themselves as honorable men. Will they please let the Secretary of the Peterborough club know what they mean?

At the hour advertised for the Port Hope-Peterborough baseball match Monday a game was begun between the cricketers and a scratch nine of the baseball club picked up on the grounds, the former winning by a score of 43 to 22.

The Peterboroughs go to Campbellford to-morrow to take part in the tournament at Father Casey's picnic

Lacrosse.

The Zion and Ashburnham lacrosse clubs played their first match on Monday, the latter winning by three straight games. The Ashburnhams are a junior team and physically no match for their opponents, but they showed themselves better players with the stick and won handily.

News Nuggets.

—The School Board meets to-night.

—Harry Lindley's dramatic company shows in Lindsay this week.

—The Lock Works employ'es had a pleasant picnic and excursion to Stony Lake on Saturday.

—During the month of August there were 25 births, 3 marriages and 15 deaths registered at the town clerk's office.

—At a public meeting Thursday night the villagers of Lakefield favored the expenditure of $5,000 for steam fire engine, water tanks, etc.

THE place of the sweet buy and buy, is what our cstoumers say of The Pantry.

The Manufacturers' Life Insurance Company.

A little more than a year ago, the "Manufacturers' Life" commenced business, and from that time till this, continuous and unprecedented progress has marked its career, so that to-day we can truthfully say our position and record is without precedent in the annals of life insurance in this country.

The Company has been put fairly and squarely before the people of Canada, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and facts, which speak louder than words, are the witness that we have gained the confidence and esteem of the people of the Dominion:—

Amount of applications during the year $7,800,000
Policies issued, over 6,500,000

The careful scrutiny exercised by our medical examiners and medical directors is evidenced by the exceedingly low death rate experienced, only two deaths having occurred this year.

The fruit season has now come and we must prepare to put up our fruit. Now what kind of jars are we to use? Of course, glass jars; but so many of those we had last year cracked in filling that it makes it very expensive. Oh, I remember how Mrs. Goodwife told me last year she bought her jars at "China Hall," and that she did not break a jar in filling or lose a single can of fruit. I shall buy from China Hall this season. As the price is just the same I might as well have the best.

CORSETS

Every lady purchasing CORSETS and wishing to get the Best Article for the least outlay, should visit TURNBULL'S, as he always keeps in stock the Best Makes from all the leading manufacturers. Some makes are peculiarly adapted to suit a particular style of figure. Below we enumerate a few lines from which you can select in any size from 18 to 30. Larger sizes procured on short notice.

THE YATISI CORSET

is modelled from a design of one of the most celebrated Parisian makers. It gives a lady that ease and grace so much admired in French ladies.

The YATISI CORSET owing to the peculiar diagonal elasticity of the cloth will fit the wearer perfectly the first time worn, no matter what her style of form is, either long or short waisted. To ladies wishing to lace light and not feel uncomfortable at the bust or hips, they are indispensible.

The YATISI CORSET does not stretch at the waist; requires no breaking in; fits comfortable the first time worn, as it gives to every motion of the wearer. It will outlast any of the old style rigid Corsets.

The YATISI CORSET can be worn ten days and if not found satisfactory in every respect the money will be refunded at TURNBULL'S.

THE CORALINE CORSET

What is Coraline? Coraline is composed of a bundle of stiff and very elastic fibres like bristles tightly bound with strong thread. Coraline contains no sizing of any kind but its stiffness exists in the natural fibre and is permanent. Look for the Coraline Corset at TURNBULL'S, every pair stamped.

BALL'S CORSETS.

These Corsets need no breaking in—invalids can wear them with ease and comfort, as they do not compress the vital parts of the wearer. They fit a great variety of forms owing to their peculiar construction—they are very durable. They have the endorsement of every physician who has examined them. Every pair warranted—the money refunded if not satisfactory after wearing them three weeks at TURNBULL'S.

THE PARISENNE.

The PARISENNE is a new make which is becoming very popular. It is something after the style of the old French Corded Corset—is shorter waisted than most of the other makes, which makes it adapted for a stout figure.

Everything desirable in the Corset line always to be found at TURNBULL'S at prices that are never beaten.

MANITOBA'S MISFORTUNE.

A CONSIDERABLE PORTION OF THE WHEAT CROP FROSTED.

Conflicting Reports Received at Winnipeg but Very Probably One-quarter of the Wheat is Partially Damaged.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 5.—While reports regarding the damage to crops conflict materially there is no use denying the fact that the loss sustained is much heavier than at first expected. Sir William Howland, who has just returned from an extended visit through the province, says, however, that the reports are greatly exaggerated, and he is taking some fine samples east. The full results will probably not be known till threshing.

The Sun says: "Local wheat reports received in the city are conflicting. A reporter was informed by a gentleman of repute yesterday that all the crops around Emerson and Dominion City were secure and unharmed by the frost. To-day, however, grain buyers state that the frost has done considerable damage east of Dominion City."

Conflicting reports such as the above come from all over the country, but it is safe to estimate that a very large proportion of Manitoba's crop is unfrosted and under such circumstances the large bulk of the wheat will be marketed as No. 1 Manitoba hard under the revised standards.

From Another Correspondent.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 5.—The balance of the reports received here is undoubtedly to the effect that considerable damage will be done by the frost say that one-quarter of the wheat will suffer partial damage. But the total cash received for the whole crop will still be more than last year because of the higher prices.

The Ogilvies and other wheat buyers have been scouring the country for the best information, and they spare no pains. The Board of Trade is alert and wakeful at this time and Mr. Bell, the secretary, is indefatigable.

This year's barley is of marvelously fine quality, plump and bright, and from this on barley will count as a staple crop in the Prairie Province.

Oats are simply immense, both as to quantity and quality.

"THE COLONIES."

Sir Charles Tupper to Reply to the Toast at the Cutlers' Banquet.

LONDON, Sept. 5.—Sir Charles Tupper's speech at the Cutlers' banquet in Sheffield on Thursday, in reply to the toast of the Colonies, is expected with interest in view of possible references to the latest phase of the fishery dispute. Sir Charles has just returned from his Scotch tour in good health, and received many congratulations on his elevation to a baronetcy.

Bank of British North America.

LONDON, Sept. 5.—The Bank of British North America meeting was held yesterday. The report declaring an interim dividend of thirty-five shillings was adopted. The chairman thought the general trade prospects of Canada were improving, though the Ontario harvest was unsatisfactory.

The Grand Trunk's Oldest Driver.

BELLEVILLE, Sept. 5.—Henry Mayo, the oldest engineer on the whole Grand Trunk system, died in Belleville on Saturday. In October, 1854, Mr. Mayo was engaged by the Birkenhead, England (who was building engines for the Grand Trunk), to come to Canada and work for the contractors in constructing the road. Mr. Mayo ran the first train after the road was completed from Kingston to Brockville.

OFF TO MEET STANLEY.

AN ENGLISH EXPEDITION FOR THE DARK CONTINENT.

The Scheme has been Kept a Profound Secret—But Some of the Facts Concerning it are Now Revealed.

LONDON, Sept. 4.—Six Englishmen, who will sail from Zanzibar next Wednesday, will probably be the first to meet Stanley, if he is alive, or the first, at any rate, to send authentic information if he is dead. The news of the despatch of this expedition has been kept a profound secret here and is not known as yet to more than a dozen people besides the men going. But the contracts are signed, and nearly 600 hired natives are waiting for the party at Zanzibar. It is in charge of Lieutenant Swaine, of the English army, an officer with many years' experience in the India survey service. Before Lieutenant Weismann gets ready to start from Germany, or the other explorers who talk of going to Africa to look for Stanley get their plans formed, these men will be on the east coast of Africa, about 600 miles from Stanley's objective point, and right in the neighborhood of where he will reach the east coast, if he reaches it at all.

This new expedition is made such a mystery of by the gentlemen who originated it that it is impossible to-night to learn exactly what the mission is. But these facts were given me by one of the party: Some time before Stanley started on the Emin Pasha relief expedition the Sultan of Zanzibar granted the concession of an immense piece of territory on the east coast of Africa to an English corporation. His grant covers over 50,000,000 of acres, bounded by the German possessions on the south near the River Rovuma, and by the Wanda on the north. The western limit is not fixed, but extends at least to Lake Stanley, where supplies are waiting for Stanley. The grant includes the port of Mombassa, one of the best harbors on the east coast, and the easiest point for Stanley to reach when traveling to the east coast after reaching Emin Pasha.

The president of the company owning this grant is William McKinnon, one of Stanley's most intimate friends and supporters and chairman of the Emin Pasha expedition committee. McKinnon is President of the British India Navigation company and one of the richest men in England. A large proportion of the funds for the Emin Pasha expedition, as also of the present one, came out of his pockets. Before Stanley left he knew of this concession to McKinnon's Company, studied its bound aries and became much interested in it. Since Stanley left England McKinnon and his friends have been busy getting a royal charter for the grant. It will be issued to them next Wednesday, when the news will be officially gazetted here and become public property, but not before Lieut. Swaine and his party will be well out to sea and other expeditions forestalled. One of the gentlemen interested in the expedition told me that the purpose of the expedition was not to relieve Stanley, but to explore the grant, and to endeavor to develop the rich trade of the interior. He added that the concession was the best spot on the east coast of Africa, and that it was in the hands of men with money enough to bring out its resources.

GOSSIP OF EUROPEAN COURTS.

Emperor William's Impending Visit to Rome Annoying the Vatican.

LONDON, Sept. 4.—The Queen is settled at Balmoral till the third week in November, and among the royal visitors expected there are the Empress Frederick and three young daughters, Prince and Princess Christian, Princess Louise and Princes Alexander and Joseph of Battenburg. The Prince of Wales left Hamburg yesterday. He will stay at Gmunden with the Duke of Cumberland for a couple of days on his way to Vienna. He will remain in Styria and Hungary till about Sept. 27, when he returns to England. The Queen has lent Abergeldie Mains, near Balmoral, to Princess Frederica, who will reside there five weeks.

Emperor William's impending visit to Rome causes annoyance and irritation at the Vatican. Prince Bismarck has had to write a private letter to the Pope informing him that the trip was undertaken solely from military considerations, because His Majesty is visiting all his allies in succession. It was hoped at the Vatican that the Emperor would meet King Humbert at Castle Monso, near Milan. His grandfather so far respected papal susceptibilities as to meet the king at Milan, while the Emperor of Austria visited King Victor Emmanuel at Venice, and has postponed along promised visit to Rome. The etiquette to be followed when the Emperor visits the Pope is being arranged by Prince Bismarck and Monsigneur Galimberti, the nuncio to Vienna. The arrangements are similar to those adopted when Crown Prince Frederick was received by the Pope while staying at the Quirinal in 1883. Emperor William will stay in Rome six clear days. There is to be a review of 40,000 troops, a regatta on the Tiber, horse races, a gorgeous display of fireworks on Mount Pincio, and illumination of the Forum and Coliseum with electric lamps and Bengal lights.

The Emperor of Russia is earnestly endeavoring to bring about a reconciliation between the Duke of Cumberland and the German Government, and has requested the Emperor Francis Joseph, the duke's most intimate friend, to exert his influence. Emperor William is anxious for a settlement and has offered far more liberal terms than Prince Bismarck approves of. But the duke much resembles George III., and is obstinate about his hereditary rights. The Duke of Cumberland is already one of the richest royal personages in Europe. He can afford to regard the Court of Berlin with scorn.

The Queen of Portugal is taking a course of baths at Gastein, where she occupies the imperial apartments in the Bad Schloss, in which the Emperor and Empress of Austria recently resided for a month.

Lord Dufferin has been obliged to have recourse to an amanuensis. Some intimate friends in England sadly miss the charming letters he used to write. He has suffered of late from a contraction of the tendons of the fingers in both hands. A first operation performed was not successful and the malady showed itself again in the right hand. It became necessary to make so deep an incision that the surgeons administered chloroform. Lord Dufferin went through a dinner and state ball afterward with no evident sign of suffering except carrying his arm in a sling.

If we may trust the accounts presented at the last meeting of the National league association, it is not flourishing. The weekly balance sheet showed receipts of £98 10s., and the sums voted to evicted tenants £23.

Struck by Lightning.

BOWMANVILLE, Sept. 5.—The barn and outbuildings on Lot No. 12, 5th Con., Darlington, owned by Mr. Luke Martin of Port Hope, and occupied by Mr. William Walkey, were set on fire by lightning and totally destroyed. Loss $500, no insurance.

THE RETALIATION TALK.

YANKEE LIARS DOING A LIVELY BUSINESS AT OTTAWA.

The Dominion Cabinet Not Likely to Consider the Question at all at Present—The Congressional Debate.

OTTAWA, Sept. 4.—"Special" correspondents of American newspapers are doing a lively business just now, telegraphing long and circumstantial reports of Cabinet meetings which are not being held, and details of what has been decided by Council on the question of retaliation which has not been considered at all. The "liars on space" are having a good time of it just now, but it will be just as well for the intelligent population to remember that there has been only one meeting of Council, that there will not be another before next Saturday and that it is highly improbable that Council will think it necessary to consider the retaliation question at all at the present time, or until it assumes a more serious aspect than that of an electioneering dodge.

No communication on the subject of the President's message has been received here from the Imperial Government or any department of the Imperial Government. With reference to the policy the Dominion Government may pursue in the matters now in dispute between the United States and Canada, it may safely be presumed that our Government will continue to take its stand upon the convention of 1818. That is the law at the present time, however much the Americans may not like it.

THE RETALIATION BILL.

Debate in the Washington House Touching the Proposed Measure.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—The House proceeded to consideration of the Retaliation Bill to-day. Mr. McCreary (Dem., Ky.) yielded a few moments to Mr. Belmont (Dem., N.Y.), who said:

"The measure which is now called up is one of great importance, in which, in common with other members of the House, I take a deep interest. I do so especially because during the last Congress I introduced a similar measure which was adopted by the House. When the President's message was received I was absent. The Committee on Foreign Affairs in the discharge of its duties commenced consideration of the message and the preparation of the report. On my return I thought but proper that the subcommittee having the matter in charge should make the report and I requested my colleague so to do, knowing that the bill would be in excellent hands. I shall take occasion to give expression to my most hearty approval of this measure and to urge its prompt passage."

Mr. McCreary said that the message of the President sent to Congress on Aug. 23, 1888, placed the administration in a firm and courageous attitude. It was dignified, resolute and courageous and presented a course of action for our Government which was worthy of the approval and support of the American people. While it might have caused some persons to sulk like Achilles, and others to indulge in abuse, the general sentiment was that the President should be upheld in his effort to maintain the honor of the country and the rights of her citizens. This message and the tariff message of President Cleveland should be recorded together in history: one sought to reduce taxes and lighten the burden of the people, the other to maintain the right and dignity of the American citizen, and both would be remembered forever. If the President had resorted to retaliatory measures without any attempt to make a treaty there were those who would have criticised him and perhaps censured him. While the motive which prompted this action might not be understood it is equivalent to giving notice to the country that no treaty which could be negotiated in regard to the Canadian troubles would be satisfactory to a Republican Senate. The time for negotiation was over and the time for retaliation had come. There was nothing left the President but retaliation.

In an exhaustive manner Mr. McCreary reviewed the various treaties between the United States and Great Britain relative to the relations between this country and Canada, pointing out the causes leading to their abrogation, and incidentally referred to the outrageous treatment of American fishermen by Canada. It seemed, he said, clear and conclusive that the time had arrived for action on the part of the United States. The rights of American fishermen should be protected and a stop should be put to a discrimination against our vessels in Canadian canals, which is unjust and in violation of international agreement. The bill provided the legislation now necessary. It was asserted that the President already had power to retaliate, but neither the act of 1887 nor the acts of 1866 or 1864 vested the President with the power with which the present bill vested him, or with the power he ought to have under the circumstances. It was also claimed the power now sought to be conferred on the President was in opposition to the twenty-ninth article of the treaty of 1871. He held that the article was not now in force, but that it was by the terms of Article XXXIII released after ten years.

This was not the first time a President had sent a message to Congress on the subject of our relations with Canada. General Grant had sent a similar message to Congress, but history showed that Gen. Grant followed the same line of policy. The history of the country showed that instead of attempting retaliatory proceedings Gen. Grant had negotiated the treaty of 1871. The only difference was that Gen. Grant had more success with his treaty than President Cleveland had. The question was one of great importance and the time had come when the Government ought to enact legislation to prove to Canada, Great Britain and the world it was in earnest. The power granted to the President in the bill was no stronger than it ought to be. It was time that Canadian wrongs should be resented. The bill under consideration was no war measure; it was a peace measure. The President would exercise the power confided to him intelligently and courageously. The President had a proper appreciation of the dignity and honor of this Republic and any power placed in his hands would be used for the protection of American dignity and rights. He (McCreary) hoped and believed that when the bill was enacted the usual good judgment of the English and Canadian authorities would be manifested and all difficulties would be arranged without anything which would break up the cordial relations which had existed for many years between Great Britain and the United States. The President would be supported by the people of the United States without regard to party. There would be no division but the men of the South and North would stand shoulder to shoulder to defend American rights and honor. (Applause.)

Mr. Hitt (Rep., Ill.) next addressed the House and commented upon the fact that the President's message had been received with partisan applause, and that one Democratic member had declared it was a good campaign document. The gentleman from Kentucky (McCreary) connected the message on the fisheries with what was known as the free trade message. It was an apt combination. The treatment of our fishermen and the tendency toward free trade had gone hand in hand since the day of the inauguration. By joint resolution both Houses had resolved to give notice of the termination of the fisheries article of the treaty. Everybody had known of that action for two years. It was only after the beginning of the new administration when discussion took place between the British Minister and our Government looking to a renewal of the arrangement. The news filled Canadians with joy and the American fishermen with dismay. The Canadians greatly encouraged by what had been done by our Government, now began a course of vexatious tactics to secure them free trade in fish which they believed they would secure indirectly if not directly. The commission of outrages on our fishermen was begun. The whole story was one of wrong and outrage—wrong unredressed and insult unavenged. Congress had taken the matter up and passed the Retaliation Act. It stood on the statute books and none of the powers conferred by it had been exercised.

Mr. Hitt proceeded to attack the Chamberlain-Bayard treaty and quoted Sir Charles Tupper as saying in a Canadian official journal that Mr. Bayard had asserted to him that the convention was a step towards freer commercial relations, and that the President, the House and the Democratic party would at once march in the direction Canadians desired.

Mr. Hitt then went into an argument to show that Article XXIX of the Treaty of Washington had not been abrogated, and stated that last year the President had approved of the Belmont bill which contained an express recognition of the twenty-ninth article.

Mr. Chipman (Dem., Mich.) said the bill was in the pathway of duty and he would vote for it.

Pending further debate the House adjourned.

Mr. Phelps and Mr. Belmont will speak on the subject to-morrow

The St. Clair Flats Canal.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—In the Senate, Mr. Cullom (Rep., Ill.) offered a resolution which was adopted calling on the Secretary of War for information as to the channel ordinarily used for the navigation of the Detroit River and the St. Clair Flats and whether its waters are within the jurisdiction of the United States or Canada.

DOMINION TRADES CONGRESS.

Proceedings of the Fourth Annual Session at London, Ont.

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 4.—The fourth annual session of the Dominion Trades and Labor Congress opened this afternoon in the City Hall, President Charles March in the chair. The scrutineers of credentials reported some forty delegates qualified to affiliate. The annual statement of Secretary-Treasurer D. Hastings was presented, showing a favorable balance on hand, and on certification of the auditors adopted.

The President and Secretary Treasurer were requested to forward fraternal greetings by cable to the Trades Congress in session at Bradford, Eng.

On resumption after a brief adjournment the President delivered his opening address extending a warm welcome to the delegates. He drew the attention of the Congress to the opening and working of the Welland Canal on Sunday, the present immigration system adopted by the Dominion Government, the laws governing masters and mates as well as those bearing upon steam engines on vessels of the inland marine of Canada, the existing law and its inadequacy in affording protection to railway employes, the necessity of amending the existing deficient and consequently useless provincial arbitration law of Ontario, the advisability of investing police magistrates and justices of the peace with authority to examine and punish jurymen de-lors in cases involving the payment of wages to employes, a female inspector of factories in Ontario, and lastly the advisability of exempting from taxation all dwelling houses in the sum of at least $600. He would recommend prompt action to further the maturing of his suggestions.

The Secretary presented the draft of an amended constitution. The basis of representation elicited lengthy discussion, members feeling they were not sufficiently protected against the entrance of those hostile to their interests. On adjournment the draft was left for final ratification on the morrow.

A Brutal Father.

BELLEVILLE, Sept. 5.—A warrant was issued by the Magistrate last week for the arrest of a prominent citizen for ill-treating his children, but so far he has eluded the police and the warrant is still in their hands. He came home a few nights ago and taking his child beat her in a most brutal manner. At another time he rushed into the house in a drunken frenzy and with a pair of scissors cut off the little girl's blonde hair. At times he would throw her victuals on the floor and make her eat there.

Music in the Schools.

Regular Meeting of the School Board—The Collegiate Institute Affairs Again—An Inspector Appointed—Musical Instruction to be Started in the Schools.

At the meeting of the Board of Education Tuesday evening there were present Messrs. Stevenson (chairman) Dumble, Denne, Kendry, A. Rutherford, F. Rutherford, Wier, Wrighton, English and Dr. Burnham.

Mr. KENDRY enquired about the demand upon the town council for school funds. Mr. Stevenson replied that the council had absolutely refused to place any amount for school sites or new buildings, and held that the board would have to put the matter before the people to be voted upon by by-law.

Some further discussion was had and the matter dropped.

A communication was received from the Department of Education containing an urgent enquiry as to the board's intentions regarding the necessary improvements to the Collegiate Institute—Received.

Accounts were received as follows:—John Lasher, repairs to school, $4.50; Appleton & Co., dumb-bells, $12.00. The first account was referred to the finance committee and the second was paid.

Mr. DUMBLE reported that Mr. Ellis, of Cobourg, had accepted the vacant position of teacher in the Collegiate Institute and was now on duty.

Mr. STEVENSON reported that the property committee had met the inspector from Toronto and with the engineer had gone over school and taken note of the necessary improvements.

Mr. Kendry moved, seconded by Mr. Denne, that the secretary be instructed to make a request upon the town council for $800 in addition to the formal demand, to pay for repairs to the Central School building now being made.

Mr. STEVENSON said he had been requested by the directors of the Central Exhibition to ask the board to grant the school children a half holiday on the 27th of September. The permission was granted.

MUSICAL INSTRUCTION.

Mr. J. S. PARKER was given a hearing with reference to the advisability of placing musical instruction upon the curriculum of the Collegiate Institute. He briefly proposed to give lessons in vocal music after hours, the pupils to pay extra fees and the board to pay a salary to the teacher.

Mr. DUMBLE expressed his approval of the proposition. Singing was an accomplishment that enlivened all the homes, and this plan was a cheap way of giving the child of the poor man, who could not pay a private tutor, a good education in this branch. It would not, he believed, cost the board anything, as the cost would be covered by the pupils' fees. He moved that Mr. Parker be engaged for six months at a salary of $300 per annum, the pupils taking the usual course to pay $1 a term in advance.

Mr. RUTHERFORD objected to the proposition on account of the expense incurred, and also on the ground that it would interfere with the business of other music teachers in town.

Mr. DUMBLE looked upon this as a rare chance to give children a musical education for $1 a term, which by ordinary means would cost from $8 to $12.

Mr. DENNE suggested that Mr. Parker try it for a month to see how the plan worked.

Mr. WRIGHTON mentioned a plan followed out by a former master, who was given the rooms and collected the fees himself.

Mr. LONG, Principal of the Institute, stated that music was on the regulation studies. He also said it would help Sergt.-Major Rundle in his drill classes, and as they intended organizing a musical and literary course for Friday afternoons, Mr. Parker's instruction would be of great benefit.

Mr. DUMBLE further proposed that reading, declamation, essay writing and reading, and other finer accomplishments be more taught in the school.

The matter was dropped with the understanding that Mr. Parker should go a month on trial.

A NEW INSPECTOR.

The Board resolved itself into a committee of the whole, and the following report was adopted:

That Mr. Jas. Stratton, in view of his long services as inspector of our public schools, be relieved of duty, that he be paid his salary to the end of the year, and that Mr. Tilley, Inspector of public schools for Durham, be employed as Inspector of the public schools at a salary of $200 a year.

The Board then adjourned.

Interesting Extracts From a Letter From Miss Jessie K. Munro.

VANCOUVER CITY, Aug. 20.

Mr. and Mrs. Robinson, English church Missionaries, Mr. and Mrs. Wright, Quakers, Mr. Hiraiwa and myself, are at this hotel—the Temperance House— * * * I am better than I have been for the last six months, can run up stairs for hat and gloves and down again, and then off for a brisk walk, never feel my heart at all. * * * If any one had told me that in less than two weeks, I should have so much improved I could not have believed it. My travelling companions refer to the improved condition of my appearance. * * * Rev. Mr. Starr is stationed at Victoria and Rev. Mr. Thompson about nine miles from here. I taught the young ladies Bible class yesterday.

Vancouver is ugly, untidy, rough and noisy. Our hotel is on a hill, overlooking the city, and catching all the sea breezes, (although we cannot see the sea), and giving us a full view of Burrard Inlet and the mountains beyond—a beautiful view—the busy city, the calm inlet, the sail boats with sails spread, like white wings; the marble white villages beyond, nestling at the margin of the forest and the massive mountains behind. All nationalities are met in this city of less than eight thousand inhabitants.

CHINESE SWARM EVERYWHERE,

and besides these are coco negroes, Indians, Japanese French and Germans. The waiters, cooks and "maids" at our hotel are Chinamen—there are no other servants. The organist in the church is a negro. The first evening I was here, I heard conversation carried on in English, German, Indian, Japanese, Chinese and French. Please excuse me from describing the mountains. A Byron, a Dante, a Milton or a Schiller would leave something of the solemnity and grandeur to the imagination. The foaming, boiling, anger of their mountain torrents, and dreadfulness of their ravines and gorges cannot be described. Even now I shudder at parts of the memory of that awful ride. The track is laid on ledges of rock, on trestle work, over bridges, through tunnels—now on one side of the river—now on the other, wherever a foothold can be obtained, while close to it and on one side, rising thousands of feet above, are the mountains—

PERPENDICULAR WALLS OF SOLID ROCK.

At the other side, a precipice of an abysmal depth of 1,200 to 1,500 feet, makes an almost sheer plunge downward to the Fraser river at its feet—foaming, whirling, rushing, boiling and dashing its seething waters back on themselves, and then plunging madly over massive rocks. Beyond the river are the mountains, shutting out the sun and draping the gorges in perpetual twilight. And we, perched at a dizzy height, rushing along the road, creeping round curves, tearing down grades or shooting across bridges. Guardsmen stand at the end of every car, and every few seconds the shrill whistle—down brakes, of the engine mingles its warning with the roar of the torrent and the noise of the train, an echo catches up these varied sounds and flings them back in one grand diapason of awful harmony. And the air so cold and dusky. The word "inferno" leaped again and again to my lips and yet, far up over all like the visible smile of heaven,

HUNG THE CALM, BLUE SKY,

with its floating breezy clouds. * * * Away to the right mountain upon mountain, with here and there a rag of snow; at our feet still the river and away beyond the river and into the calm, snow-crowned peak, Mount Baker rose clear and glittering against the evening sky. And the lakes showing the reflection of the mountains in the smooth water. Ever changing, always indescribable, and unimaginable, the glorious Rockies. * * * The Abyssinian will not arrive in port until Friday, so you will get this letter before I sail. Address,

QUEBEC POLITICS.

A Cabinet Reconstruction Impending—A Contemplated Redistribution.

QUEBEC, Sept. 5.—The advent of autumn is reviving interest in the local political situation and notwithstanding all denials it is well known that the Mercier Government is on the eve of reconstruction. This is confirmed by Mr. Mercier's personal organ, L'Electeur, which, while declaring that the rumors are premature, admits that the changes have been definitely decided upon, that Hon. P. Garneau's resignation is actually in the hands of the Premier, that he is to be succeeded by Hon. L. P. Pelletier, and that Hon. J. Langelier is also to enter the Cabinet, but whether as Attorney-General, or Commissioner of Crown Lands, is not certain, one report having it that he is to take the place of Hon. A. Turcotte, and the other, which is by far the most likely, that he is to succeed Hon. Mr. Duhamel, who is to receive the position of Assistant Provincial Secretary, vice Jolicoeur to be superannuated. Another report has it that Mr. Dennis Murray, Clerk of the Peace, is to be appointed Joint Judge of the Police Court with Judge Chauveau. In the event of Mayor Langelier entering the Ministry, Dr. Rinfret will vacate the seat for Quebec Centre in his favor and be raised to the Legislative Council.

The same paper has an article this morning condemning the maintenance of the principle of dual representation in the Legislative Council.

Another important announcement of Premier Mercier's policy is given when it is stated that he contemplates a redistribution of the seats. The scheme is to form three more constituencies in Montreal and have no less than six representatives in Parliament of the metropolis. Two constituencies will be formed out of the Counties of Chicoutimi and Saguenay, Richmond and Wolfe and Drummond and Arthabaska which only send one representative to Parliament at present. It is also the Premier's intention to add to the County of Laval two or three parishes which now form part of Terrebonne.

Ontario Bye Elections.

WARKWORTH, Sept. 5.—Dr. Willoughby, ex-M.P.P., of Colborne, was the unanimous choice of the Conservative convention held here yesterday to select a candidate to contest East Northumberland for the Ontario House.

KINGSTON, Sept. 5.—The election in Frontenac to fill the vacancy in the Local, caused by the death of the late Mr. Henry Willmot, occurs on Oct. 11.

The Moon's Influence

Upon the weather is accepted by some as real, by others it is disputed. The moon never attracts corns from the tender, aching spot. Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor removes the most painful corns in three days. This great remedy makes no sore spots, and doesn't go fooling around a man's foot, but goes to business at once, and effects a cure. Don't be imposed upon by substitutes and imitations. Get "Putnam's" and no other. 6dw36

Nature Makes No Mistakes!

Nature's own remedy for bowel complaints, cholera morbus, colic, cramps, vomiting, sea-sickness, cholera infantum, diarrhœa, dysentery, and all diseases of a like nature belonging to the summer season, is Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, which can be obtained from all dealers in medicine. Price, 35 cents. 6dw35

Over 300.

"I take much pleasure in stating that since using Burdock Blood Bitters, I have entirely recovered. I suffered from impure blood and had over 300 boils. I can confidently recommend B. B. B. to any sufferer from the same complaints." David F. Mott, Spring Valley, Ont. 6dw35

Nothing But the Truth.

Sirs,—I have found Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry to be the best remedy I ever used for dysentery and all summer complaints among children, and I think it is recommended none too highly. Abie. A. Reagh, Victoria Vale, Annapolis Co., N. S. 6dw35

Like Magic.

"It always acted like magic. I had scarcely ever need to give the second dose of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry for summer complaints." Mrs. Walter Govenock, Ethel, Ont. 6dw35

TO THE DEAF.—A Person cured of Deafness and noises in the head of 23 years' standing by a simple remedy, will send a description of it FREE to any Person who applies to N. CHOLSON, 30 St. John Street, Montreal. dwly

The Growth of the Hair

Should always be watched. Inattention to the hair often leads to premature grayness and baldness. When dandruff appears it should be looked after at once. By frequently using a little of Dr. Dorenwend's Great German Hair Magic, the scalp will be kept in a clean healthy condition and the strength and vigor of the hair greatly promoted. It is the only reliable. Do not be talked into using anything else. For sale by all druggists everywhere. dw

Piles! Piles! Itching Piles.

SYMPTOMS—Moisture, intense itching and stinging, most at night, worse by scratching. If allowed to continue tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate, becoming very sore. SWAYNE'S OINTMENT stops the itching and bleeding, heals ulceration, and in most cases removes the tumors. At druggists, or by mail, for 50 cents. Dr. Swayne & Son, Philadelphia. Lyman, Sons & Co., Montreal, Wholesale Agents. dw

A Confirmed Grumbler

is generally so because of confirmed dyspepsia or indigestion, caused by eating too rapidly, bolting food without chewing it sufficiently, overloading the stomach, etc. Burdock Blood Bitters cures dyspepsia and all kindred diseases. 6dw35

LIFE ASSURANCE COMP'Y OF CANADA.

HEAD OFFICE, MONTREAL.

Both in Magnitude and Profitableness, the Business for 1887 has been almost everything that could be desired.

The life policies now in force are 7,128 for $10,873,777.69, on 6741 lives. We have moreover $3,207,600 00 insured under 1,840 accident policies, so that the total current contracts of the Company are 8,969 for $14,081,377.69.

The income for the year shows the very large increase of $122,331.23 over the figures of 1886, the total being $495,831.54. The revenue is now half a million dollars per annum, or as mentioned in the report, over $1,600 for every working day in the year, and even this he believed was but a mere introduction to what it will be in a few years hence. The gains from time to time are well illustrated by the following table:—

Period	Gain in income.	Gain in assets.	Gain in assurances.
1872 to 1876, four years	$ 54,611 21	$169,482 69	$1,149,743 00
1876 to 1880, four years	26,590 67	195,188 29	1,167,286 14
1880 to 1884, four years	136,976 84	363,264 31	2,992,924 90
1884 to 1887, three years	217,451 89	475,607 24	4,029,273 65
Total in 1887	$495,831 54	$1,750,904 48	$10,873,777 69

It is very pleasing to notice that the gains for the last three years only are 60 per cent. more than those of the preceding four years.

A Runaway.

Tuesday evening a young man named Thos. Gainey, a barber, drove out of the yard at Lipsett's hotel, Ashburnham, and allowed his horse to get beyond his control. The animal dashed down the street towards the bridge, and near the mills Gainey was thrown out and severely cut and bruised, but fortunately no bones were broken. The buggy was pretty badly damaged.

Tuesday evening, during the rain storm, a horse, while being driven along Water street past the "goose pond," was frightened by an umbrella held by a lady in a carriage that was passing. The horse shied violently and the buggy fell over the embankment, dragging the horse with it. The harness had to be cut in order to extricate the animal. The driver was not hurt, but the buggy was considerably damaged.

A Successful Exhibitor.

In the hurry of making out the prize list of the Horticultural Exhibition a number of errors were unfortunately made. Though not given credit for it, Miss Kate Harley took first prize for colour crayon work, fancy cushion and plain sewing, and was recommended to first for painted flowers. The correction is gladly made, as the prizes were worthily won and the work reflects very high or credit upon the young lady's artistic abilities.

A Compliment.

In the course of his sermon in St. Paul's church Sunday evening, Dr. Howard Taylor said that Peterborough was spiritually a remarkable town. Financially, he said, the town was also remarkably progressive, in fact the most prosperous in Canada, and those who lived in Peterborough had reason to know of its proportionate spiritual prosperity. From which it is to be inferred that Dr. Taylor considers Peterborough a model town.

Programme. Refreshments.

That Milk Case.

At the Toronto law courts Tuesday the following case was disposed of:

Queen v. Wasson.—Edwards (Peterborough) obtained an order nisi to quash a conviction made by Geo. Edmison, P.M. of the County of Peterborough, under the Ontario Statute of last session, respecting the supplying of milk to cheese and butter factories on the ground that the Statute is ultra vires in that it deals with criminal law and the procedure in criminal matters, both of which are within the exclusive jurisdiction of the Dominion Parliament, and on the further ground of the want of any evidence to convict.

Silver Collection.

Cheese Board.

The cheese market is decidedly dull just now, and the effect of this stagnancy in trade was felt at the meeting of the Peterborough cheese board Tuesday. The first half of August make was boarded, 1,670 boxes from this section and 580 from Victoria. There were but few buyers present and bidding was very slow. Mr. Clurton led off with an offer of 8½ for the Peterborough board that was advanced on a final offer of 8 9/16 by Mr. Wrighton, refused by the salesmen. No sales were made, and the Lindsay factories were given permission to sell off the board. The board adjourned to meet in one week, when the last half of August make will also be boarded and contracts, for the balance of the season, made.

The Norwood R. C. Picnic.

The Father Sweeney R.C. picnic at Jubilee Point on Tuesday next has numerous unique attractions. In addition to Prof. Doucet's orchestra, the famous Indian string band will be present and give a concert, and it is worth the trip to Jubilee to hear Mr. Crowe sing "The Irishman's Toast." The air-gun shooting match between Messrs. R. W. Muncaster and P. D. Doran will be an exciting contest, and the other picnic amusements will be all above par.

Willow and Wicket.

Two teams of the juniors of the Seabright, (N.Y.) cricket club played a match on Saturday. One was captained by Mrs. Herman Clark and the other by Miss G. Shippen. Mrs. Clark's team won by a score of 213 to 212, with two wickets to spare. Mrs. Clark played an excellent innings of 21, not out for the winners. Both of these ladies were here with the Seabright club last month, and both spent two weeks at Stony Lake after the game.

The Celts and Veterans will probably have another match on Friday.

Peterborough is scheduled to play East Toronto at Toronto on Sept. 13th. A team will probably be sent up.

Charged With Arson.

One day last week Mr. Robert Fife, a well known and respected resident of the town, was arrested by a Norwood constable on a charge of arson, upon the information of a Belmont farmer, laid before Justice Drain. The defendant was charged with setting fire to some fences on the premises of the plaintiff. It would appear that the difficulty arose in this way. Mr. Fife is administrator of the estate of the deceased father of the plaintiff, and claims that he has control of the property. The plaintiff, deceased's son, on the contrary contends that he has a clear title deed to the property he is living on, which he says he has occupied for the last twenty-four years. With this question of proprietorship or control unsettled, trouble was bound to follow. Mr. Fife deemed it advisable to remove a certain fence in the interests of the estate, but the occupant thought otherwise, and when the fence was taken down promptly replaced it. Then Mr. Fife, whether acting under legal advice or not, endeavored to settle the matter by burning the fence and obliterating it entirely. The plaintiff then laid a charge of arson against him, and the case came up before a bench of magistrates at Norwood last Thursday. An adjournment was made until this week.

NOTICE.—The ladies of the P.P. Home respectfully solicit contributions of vegetables and fruit for the home.

A Big Fish Story.

The biggest fish story of the season comes from Bridgenorth. It is that a guest of Fobert's Hotel, on Tuesday morning, while still fishing, caught a maskinonge 4 feet 13 inches in length, weighing 47 pounds and 17 ounces. This story, if true, is wonderful, but not half so wonderful as the gigantic bargains in boots and shoes now being given by Gough Bros., the wonderful cheap men, who have knocked the bottom clean out of the boot and shoe trade. They bought on Aug. 22nd the immense bankrupt stock of boots and shoes of T. L. Bayeur, at 57 cents on the dollar, and they are selling it away below cost. Just fancy—2,500 pairs of men's, women's and children's boots and shoes. The sale is now going on, the rush is tremendous for the bargains are boundless. This firm have made themselves the uncrowned kings of the clothing trade and to complete their facilities for clothing a man from head to foot, both inclusive, they have added the boot and shoe business. Don't forget that this sound, well-assorted stock of boots and shoes is going at the cheapest prices ever heard of—dead loads of bargains in boots, stupendous snaps in shoes. No more leather-hunting for the people. Come straight to the shop next south of Gough Bros.' clothing store, 376 George street, and get your boots and shoes for the fall and winter at prices to make your conscience smitten.

The EXAMINER has been requested to publish the following correspondence:

Editor Evangelical Churchman:

SIR,—Herewith I take the liberty of forwarding you the report of a debate between myself and a preacher of the Reorganized Church of Latter Day Saints, held on the evening of the 14th inst. in the School-house, Roberts' Settlement. The subject of debate being my criticism of the "Voice of Warning," which appeared in your valuable paper a few weeks back. I may add that prior to this debate the trustees of some neighboring schools were undecided as to granting him the use of their schools for his services.

On the Tuesday evening the schoolhouse was literally packed with people, while many were unable to gain admission. In my address I pointed out the only two passages of Scripture which could lend any possible coloring to the notion of America being alluded to, viz., Gen. xlix. 26, and Hos. xi. 10. After showing that these passages afforded no proof of such an idea, I then criticised an additional assertion of the "Voice of Warning," that Joseph Smith, by inspiration, had brought forth the sealed book of Isa. xxix. 11, 12, 18. Here I showed that the prophet did not refer to any actual book, but was merely drawing a picture in which he likened the Lord's dealing at that time with the hardened Jews, to a sealed book.

My opponent, who singularly enough was named Smith, replied in the most astounding speech I had ever heard. His tone throughout was one of insolent bravado, which rather damaged his cause in the eyes of his followers than otherwise. Mr. Smith ridiculed my assertion of only two texts supporting his claim to Scriptural allusion to America, and with the most batefaced effrontery he pointed to Isa. xvi. 8, "Her branches are gone over the sea," and joining this with Gen. xlix. 26, "unto the utmost bounds of the everlasting hills." "Where," he declared, "are there any great hills over the sea but in America." It surely is needless to point out that Isa. xvi. 8 is a prophecy against Moab, once celebrated for its vines. The sea, we learn from Jer. xlviii. 32 is the sea of Jazer, a small body of water near that town. The purport of the prophecy being that the branches of the vine of Sibmah, a town of Moab are plucked up and their glory carried away across the sea of Jazer, even to the town of that name many miles to the north of Sibmah.

What all this had to do with the portion of Ephraim which is said to have journeyed to America it was difficult to see. But he made a more ridiculous statement than this. Replying to my remark that Isa. xxix. 11, 12, 18, referred to no actually sealed book, which he declared upon the authority of this passage had been delivered to Joseph Smith; he pointed to Dan. xii. 4, "But thou, O Daniel, shut up the words, and seal the book, even to the time of the end." "Here," he said, "was proof of the existence of a sealed book," and he represented this to be the one handed down to Joseph Smith by the descendants of Ephraim in America. Our Mr. Smith, however, seemed to overlook the fact that the descendants of Ephraim, according to his own system of theology, went across the sea to America in the reign of Zedekiah, B.C. 598-588, and that Daniel's vision, in which he was told to seal the book, took place some 54 years after the aforesaid Ephraimites had left for America, viz., in B.C. 534, and therefore the sealed book handed down to Joseph Smith by these Ephraimites could have had nothing to do with the sealed book of Daniel.

It would have been bad enough if Mr. Smith had kept to this extraordinary biblical criticism, but he launched out into the most inconceivable untruths. He produced a paper, which I forward you, called The Saints' Herald from which he read a report that the Bishop of London had given his farewell sermon last Christmas in Westminster Abbey prior to his leaving the adulterous Church of England to preach to the poor in Trafalgar Square. As I was licensed by the Bishop of London, Dr. Temple, to a London curacy some two years ago, prior to my coming to Canada, and received, only two months since, a letter from Dr. Temple, who was then Bishop of London, I asked Mr. Smith for the Bishop's name. "Herbert Burrows," he scornfully replied. "Then," I answered amidst deafening applause, "your Saint's witness is guilty of an atrocious falsehood, for to my knowledge there never was such a man as you describe as bishop of London." The most absurd incident of the whole evening, however was when I turned to Mark xvi. 17 for the signs following them that believe. Mr. Smith had made a great point of my rejection of the doctrine of faith healing, declaring that I was an unbeliever. "Are you a believer?" I asked. "I am," he replied. "Then if you can do one thing you can do another, so read for us in other tongues," and I handed him a Greek Bible. He took it eagerly and said "I will," but as eagerly shut it up when he saw the Greek character, and amidst the laughter of the people said, "No I won't." The laughter, however, seemed so to provoke him that he immediately jumped up and began, to my amazement, to utter the most absurd gibberish imaginable. Of course I saw him through his move at once, but was yet at a loss to make the people see through it as well, for many of them kept looking at him as if they believed he was speaking a strange language. However, just before he finished, I thought of Prov. xxvi. 5, "Answer a fool according to his folly, lest he be wise in his own conceit."

So soon as he sat down I repeated his performance and asked him to interpret it to the people. "I cannot" he replied. "No, I know you cannot," I answered, "nor can I myself, for it was all rubbish like your own pretended other tongue." This child's play seemed to complete his discomfiture in the eyes of the majority of the people, and soon after the chairman requesting me to close with the benediction, we sang the doxology, I pronounced the blessing and the meeting broke up. Notwithstanding all this Mr. Smith is still going about the country lecturing, and says that he utterly defeated the English minister at Roberts' Settlement. Our friends here are therefore most anxious for a printed report of the meeting so that they may send it to their friends throughout the neighborhood where Mr. Smith is preaching, in order that the people may see for themselves the true state of the case.

Faithfully yours,
A. E. WHATHAM,
Missionary.

Why can't some of the Peterborough grain buyers erect a warehouse here, seeing there is so much grain marketed there from this district?

J. D. Thornton has returned after an extensive trip through Muskoka and Parry Sound on pleasure and business combined, and reports business lively in those lumbering districts, but crops poor. The Ulyott mills, of Peterborough, located at Parry Harbour, are doing a large share of the business, and the large and commodious residence of Geo. Gladman, of Peterborough, is being pushed rapidly ahead by Peterborough mechanics, under the superintendance of Jno. Kincaid, of Peterborough.

Dr. Thompson has removed to the shop lately occupied by Dr. Cochrane, which proves to be a move in the right direction.

The Warsaw School Trouble.

The EXAMINER has been requested to publish the following letter:—

To the Editor of the Examiner:

SIR,—With reference to your article in the Daily EXAMINER, under the heading "A Warsaw Sensation," allow us to say it is entirely overdrawn. Although we consider that the teacher under severe pressure acted somewhat indiscreetly in his mode of punishment, yet the penalty imposed by the magistrate was the smallest possible amount and therefore would not warrant such strong language as is used in your article.

Although the teacher, feeling his honor wounded, saw fit to resign, yet he was urgently requested by us to continue his services as we have been well satisfied as to his teaching ability and general government of the school. Your reference as to his being "detained in the village" is wholly without foundation, as there were no legal proceedings taken against him at that time. We exceedingly regret that such reflection on our teacher should have found such prominence in your journal. In the interest of fair play kindly give the above an insertion.

Yours, etc.,
E. Hawthorne,
Samuel Hambly, } Trustees
Warsaw, Sept. 1st, 1888.

[With reference to the above, we might state that our information was received from a reliable source and we had no reason to doubt the correctness of the facts as published. Always wishing to give both sides of any question, we publish the letter; at the same time pointing out that such letters are written after the warmth of feeling has subsided, and a more dispassionate view is taken of what was at first regarded with no little indignation.—(ED. The fruit season has now come and we must prepare to put up our fruit. Now what kind of jars are we to use? Of course, glass jars; but so many of those we had last year cracked in filling that it makes it very expensive. Oh, I remember how Mrs. Good wife told me last year she bought her jars at "China Hall," and that she did not break a jar in filling or lose a single can of fruit. I shall buy from China Hall this season. As the price is just the same I might as well have the best.

CORSETS

Every lady purchasing CORSETS and wishing to get the Best Article for the least outlay, should visit TURNBULL'S, as he always keeps in stock the Best Makes from all the leading manufacturers. Some makes are peculiarly adapted to suit a particular style of figure. Below we enumerate a few lines from which you can select in any size from 18 to 30. Larger sizes procured on short notice.

THE YATISI CORSET

is modelled from a design of one of the most celebrated Parisian makers. It gives a lady that ease and grace so much admired in French ladies.

The YATISI CORSET owing to the peculiar diagonal elasticity of the cloth will fit the wearer perfectly the first time worn, no matter what her style of form is, either long or short waisted. To ladies wishing to lace light and not feel uncomfortable at the bust or hips, they are indispensible.

The YATISI CORSET does not stretch at the waist; requires no breaking in; fits comfortable the first time worn, as it gives to every motion of the wearer. It will outlast any of the old style rigid Corsets.

The YATISI CORSET can be worn ten days and if not found satisfactory in every respect the money will be refunded at TURNBULL'S.

THE CORALINE CORSET

What is Coraline? Coraline is composed of a bundle of stiff and and very elastic fibres like bristles tightly bound with strong thread. Coraline contains no sizing of any kind but its stiffness exists in the natural fibre and is permanent. Look for the Coraline Corset at TURNBULL'S, every pair stamped.

BALL'S CORSETS.

These Cofsets need no breaking in—invalids can wear them with ease and comfort, as they do not compress the vital parts of the wearer. They fit a great variety of forms owing to their peculiar construction—they are very durable. They have the endorsement of every physician who has examined them. Every pair warranted—the money refunded if not satisfactory after wearing them three weeks at TURNBULL'S.

THE PARISENNE.

The PARISENNE is a new make which is becoming very popular. It is something after the style of the old French Corded Corset—is shorter waisted than most of the other makes, which makes it adapted for a stout figure.

Everything desirable in the Corset line always to be found at TURNBULL'S at prices that are never beaten.

TOPICS FROM THE CAPITAL

THE QUEBEC CIRCUIT COURT ACT TO BE DISALLOWED.

The London Capitalists' Petition re the Quebec Debt Conversion Act Under Consideration.

OTTAWA, Sept. 5.—The rumor was fully circulated here to-day, based on a telegram from Montreal, that the Circuit Court Act passed at the last session of the Quebec Legislature, and under which Mr. Mercier recently appointed two judges, had been disallowed, but no confirmation of the rumor could be obtained to-night. Your correspondent, however, has reason to believe that there is ground for the rumor.

It is stated that the attention of the Militia Department having been called to the letter which appeared in The Toronto World, signed "George H. Douglas, Lieut. 24th Kent Infantry," dwelling upon the possibility of war with the States and suggesting that "our prime move would be the capture of Detroit," an official communication has been sent to Lieut. Douglas requesting an explanation of his attaching to his signature his rank in the Canadian militia. The Department would not interfere with Douglas writing as a private individual, it is the ventilation of his warlike feelings in connection with his rank as a volunteer that is called in question.

The memorial of London capitalists, forwarded through the Imperial Government, asking the Canadian authorities to veto the debt conversion bill passed by the Quebec Legislature, and which practically means repudiation, has been received here and is under consideration.

Major Anderson, engineer of the Department of Marine, will leave in the course of a few days for Lower Traverse, St. Lawrence River, for the purpose of locating two stationary piers there to take the place of the present light ships. The work will be very expensive and probably cost in the neighborhood of $100,000.

The Department of Justice forwarded today to the prison authorities at Montreal a release for the daughter of an Ottawa citizen who went astray. She has promised to lead a new life and her father has consented to care for her.

Col. Irwin, Inspector of Artillery, who has just returned from an official tour of inspection in the Maritime Provincec, reports a marked improvement in the force.

On Monday next the Exchequer Committee will take up the claim of the Government against the city for $2400 arrears due on certain coal wharves.

Hon. C. H. Tupper and Hon. C. E. Foster left to-day for Beaverton to participate in the political demonstration there to-morrow. Sir John Macdonald, who intended also to be present, was detained at the last moment by pressing public business.

HER LIFE FOR HER CHILDREN.

Mrs. Grant's Terrible Death at Winnipeg —An Embezzling Canvasser.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 6.—Mrs. Grant who was badly burnt Tuesday night, died yesterday morning. She sacrificed herself to save her sleeping children whom she awoke and took to a place of safety while her own clothes were burning. The youngest child narrowly escaped sharing her terrible fate.

A temperance convention is to be held at Regina to protest against the concessions recently made and proposed to the liquor traffic.

The contract for grading the Red River Valley Railway into the city was let yesterday to J. D. MacArthur, to be completed in a week.

THE RETALIATION DEBATE

ANOTHER DAY OF TALK IN THE UNITED STATES HOUSE.

Congressmen of Both Political Parties Trying to Make Capital for the Campaign Out of the Situation.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—The House resumed consideration of the Retaliation bill yesterday, and Mr. Phelps (Rep., N.J.) arose to speak on the subject. He said:

"We will give the President this power and any other additional power he may ask for, but we wish there was more likelihood that he would use these powers now than there was that he would use the original powers of eighteen months ago. The powers were then thought to be ample, and they were. If the treaty stipulations are abrogated, as the President claims, they are sufficient to cut off Canada from all commercial intercourse, foreign and domestic. If they are not, the powers are still sufficient to deprive Canada of all intercolonial or interstate commerce both by sea or land. At the time these powers were granted everybody thought them ample, and nobody since, president or citizen, has suggested that there was not all the power necessary to harass and coerce Canada into good behavior, until Thursday, Aug. 23. Then the President went out alone and shot the rocket of his presidential message into the clear and peaceful air.

"His opinion was that we had no right to tranship our fish, and in order to maintain this opinion and justify Canada in refusing to let us do it he was forced to do and suffer many unpleasant things. He had first to get rid of the 29th article of the treaty of 1871. There were two ways to cancel this: One was to hold that the article was cancelled by infraction when the Canadians refused to perform their duty under it; the other was to hold it was cancelled by formal abrogation with the fisheries treaty. The first was declined. The obligations of the article were cancelled by infraction and everybody knew and acknowledged the fact. The other was indirect and uncertain, but the President chose it. He determined to adopt the belief that it was abrogated. I venture to say that the first inkling Canadian authorities had that the President thought the article was abrogated was when they read the President's message."

The speaker held that the President, under the article which he believed to have been abrogated, was heaping favors on Canadian shippers by land and sea, that they might compete with their American rivals. He referred to the special favors granted the Canadian railways, particularly the facilities extended to the Canadian Pacific in the way of allowing them to carry goods in bond, detrimental to the American railroads, and concluded:

"The President because he would not tell anyone that he thought the twenty-ninth article was abrogated but would keep on executing its provisions just as if it were in force had trouble with not only Canada but everybody else. But these unpleasant things are behind us. If Article XXIX was not cancelled by abrogation, it was by infraction and our hands are free if we wish them to be. The responsibility we are willing to leave with the President. He is now the president of the message—not the president of the treaty. He is no longer the Governor-General of Canada: he is the President of the United States. He no longer takes the Canadian view: he takes the American view. If now he will act, if he will do anything, we will give him everything he asks for, necessary or unnecessary, and the past will be forgiven." [Applause].

Mr. Belmont (Dem., N.Y.) then addressed the House. After referring to the two Republican gentlemen (Hitt and Phelps) who preceded him, and whose opinions he greatly respected, he said, after hearing their arguments on this measure, and remembering that in not one single sentence has either of them declared his intention to vote against the bill, and after hearing such remarks as they have made upon it his only difficulty was to believe that even those who may be politically opposed to the President should in such a grave crisis as this charge upon him motives inconsistent with his duty, so bravely and well performed, to guard and protect the rights of American citizens and maintain the dignity and honor of the nation. He said: "We are not Democrats and not Republicans when confronted by the unfriendly acts of a foreign power."

He added that while he had something to learn from our friends across the aisle about the treaty we might both learn something from our enemies across the border, and he sent to the clerk's desk and had read an extract from a speech of Mr. Ellis in the Canadian Parliament, being a pointed resume of the advantages Canada had gained under the treaty.

Mr. Davis, (Rep., Mass.) followed Mr. Belmont. He said the President had not seen fit to exercise the powers already conferred on him, but he had seen fit to negotiate a treaty, which had been properly rejected by the Senate. He denounced it as part and parcel of the free trade conspiracy. The sheathed sword which Congress had placed in his hands the President did not dare to draw. Nay; he dared not touch the hilt with his nerveless hand! Oh! for one hour of Dundee! Oh! for one day of Jackson or of Grant! [Applause on Republican side.]

The debate was continued by Mr. Cogswell (Rep., Mass.) and Mr. Scott (Dem., Pa.).

THE INTERNATIONAL FAIR.

A Number of First Prizes Captured by Ontario Exhibitors.

BUFFALO, Sept. 6.—The judging of exhibits at the International fair began yesterday morning. Among the judges are A. Fanson of Toronto for French coach horses, and Robert Beith of Bowmanville for Clydesdales. Some of the premiums were awarded yesterday.

In the English and Clydesdales, Messrs. Stone and Wellington of Fonthill, Ont., got first prize on their 1-year-old stallion, Active.

Charles Dalgleish of Chesterfield, Ont., captured first for the 4-year-old and over class with Laird of Logan, and in the same class Messrs. Stone and Wellington of Fonhill got fifth prize with General Benefit.

The Fonthill firm also captured the first prize for the 4-year-old mare Alice.

Thomas Davis' Fatal Folly.

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 6.—Thomas Davis, who arrived here from Winnipeg Monday night last and was found unconscious in his room at the Grant House in the morning, died yesterday afternoon at 4.10. He has a son, a farmer living near St. Charles, Mich.

Two Highwaymen.

MONTREAL, Sept. 6.—Joseph Pesant and Jacques Vaillancourt were charged at the Police Court yesterday with highway robbery. It was alleged that they knocked a man down and stole his silver watch. The watch was found on Pesant. They were committed to the Court of Queen's Bench.

Four Deaths in the Sea.

HALIFAX, Sept. 5.—The 16-year-old son of John P. Chetwynd went bathing in the northwest arm Monday and was drowned. Captain Graham fell off the wharf at Pictou the same night and was drowned. The 2-year-old daughter of Joseph Killen was drowned at Londonderry mines by falling into a well. John Pierre, aged 28, was drowned at East Dover by falling out of a boat.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

THE FROST IN MANITOBA.

Not Much Certain Can Be Known About the Damage Yet Awhile.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 6.—As to the effect of the frost on the wheat the truth is that not much certain can be known about it until reports from the threshing machines begin to come in. The cylinder and the concave will tell the story sure. Still there are buyers and their agents who are now on the tramp and examining with eager eyes what there is to be seen, and some of these are no fools at the business either.

Ontario people will admit not many better judges of the situation are to be found than Sir Wm. P. Howland who is now here just after an extensive drive over the prairies, and whose opinion is, as stated in the despatches yesterday, that the reports of losses are greatly exaggerated.

People in the east will scarcely believe it, but it is a fact that for information as to weather, both immediately past and to come, people here are wholly dependent upon Uncle Sam's probabilities office at Washington, or say rather, on the enterprise of the Winnipeg papers and the vividness of the American associated press. This is astounding to think of. In a few days deputations will wait upon Mr. Greenway to see if he has any influence with the powers that be in Ottawa in the matter.

To-day the air has appeared softer and not so much like frost that would be dangerous, though somewhat chilly.

A Winnipeg Press Opinion.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 6.—The Sun says that the exact position of the crops is not learned. Damage has been done in some localities by the frost and continued cold weather makes it probable that more injury will be done to grain. At the same time there is reason to believe that the reports made as to the extent of the damage are greatly exaggerated and that a considerable portion of this year's crop can be saved in good condition.

It is almost certain that with the higher prices and the larger area under cultivation the farmers will receive more money than last year.

The Latest News.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 6.—Later—It is the talk here now that half the wheat is damaged to half its value. That would be a loss of one-fourth of the total.

THE LABOR CONGRESS.

Many Trades and Labor Delegates at London Yesterday.

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 5.—The Dominion Labor Congress resumed promptly at 8 o'clock this morning and continued in session throughout the entire day with but slight intermission for refreshment until 11 o'clock in the evening, wading through an immense volume of resolutions and other business.

On motion the draft of the constitution as amended was referred back to the special committee.

The special committee on the President's address reported concurrence in all the suggestions, disapproving, however, of the $600 exemption in dwelling houses. The report was referred back with instructions to endorse the clause unfavorably reported upon.

On motion the Congress expressed the opinion that the Ontario Factory Act should be amended to bring all the manufacturing establishments within its operation, irrespective of the number of employes and these resolutions were also adopted:

That in the opinion of Congress the interest of female wage-earners required the appointment of female inspectors and that the wishes of the various labor organizations should be consulted in making the appointment.

That Congress is of opinion that the Government of Ontario should establish a printing office in which the Local Government printing and publication of school books should be done.

That any terms or stipulations, other than the rendering of an equivalent for wages, insisted upon by employers in the engagement of employes should be declared by law null and void and any attempt at exaction be declared a criminal offence punishable by imprisonment on conviction.

That the Dominion and Provincial Governments be petitioned to introduce the desired measures.

That police magistrates and justices of the peace be invested with power to examine and punish judgment debtors in cases involving payment of wages.

That local inspectors be appointed for cities and towns for the better enforcement of the Factory Act.

A resolution was also passed condemning the present immigration system and asking its abolition, and one that Government employes be not allowed to work for private individuals or contractors while under salary.

At the evening session a resolution was passed that the Dominion Government issue all money and notes in sufficient volume to meet the needs of the country and that the same be recognized as legal tender for liabilities and that no money be borrowed for the construction of public works but the costs should be met by the issue of money paid direct by the Dominion Government or loaned by it to the Provincial Government or municipalities undertaking the works.

A petition to the Ontario Legislature for such amendments to the Ontario Trades Arbitration Act as will enable organizations of employes or workmen, by filing a memorandum to that effect, to form a board of arbitration for the settlement of all difficulties.

A resolution was also passed that Congress favor shortening of hours by general refusal to work more than 8 hours a day. That in view of the pernicious sweating system in the tailoring trade the Ontario Legislature be petitioned to pass a Workshop Regulation Act with strict provisions re sanitary arrangements, and appointment of inspectors to enforce it.

The Congress expect to finally adjourn tomorrow afternoon.

A Montreal Forger.

MONTREAL, Sept. 6.—Auguste Mely was arraigned yesterday charged with forging the name of Galibert Brothers, manufacturers, to a cheque for $200. There were two counts in the indictment, another cheque for $200 having also been forged.

LONDON TALK OF THE DAY

EMPEROR WILLIAM'S ALLEGED FONDNESS FOR CONVIVIALITY.

A Remarkable Burial Scandal—Labby's Comments on Customs and Politics—The European Prospect Peaceful.

LONDON, Sept. 5.—The announcement which recently went the rounds of the papers, that Crown Prince Rudolph of Austria had consented to be one of the godfathers of Emperor William's infant son and that he would go to Potsdam to attend the christening, excited the utmost astonishment in Germany, and when a court contradiction appeared the report was regarded as a practical joke. Emperor William and the Crown Prince were excellent friends during several years, and they regularly exchanged visits. But Rudolph is a priggish young man who appreciates the fact that he has a very delicate constitution, whereas William, like the Czar, is fond of Rabelaisian entertainment generally and particularly of champagne suppers which last till daylight. This difference in their tastes and habits has increasingly diminished the cordiality of their relations.

A burial scandal of a remarkable nature has just disturbed the peace of Croyden. A man died in the infirmary on the same day as a woman, and the former was to be buried by the parish and the latter by relatives. By some inexplicable bungling the bodies got mixed, with the result that the woman was put into the man's coffin and the man into the woman's and the mourning relatives of the latter followed the wrong body to the cemetery. The mistake transpired after the funerals and the bodies were exhumed and transferred. The officials have been severely censured by the parish guardians.

I have more than once commented on the absurdity of the prudish custom which prohibits persons of opposite sexes from bathing together at English watering places, even if they are husband and wife or brother and sister. Last week the consequences of that preposterous rule were strikingly exemplified. At Cross Haven a young married lady named O'Connor was bathing there while her husband, who was not allowed to accompany her, sat on the rocks. She was suddenly carried beyond her depth and drowned before her husband could rescue her. It is certainly not too much to say that if the continental system had been in vogue at Cross Haven this deplorable accident would not have occurred. The notion that a woman in a bathing dress is an indecent object or that for her to bathe with a male relation or friend would be improper, is one of those peculiarly nasty ideas which only occur to prudish people.

The ventilation of Irish questions has had one unquestionable effect. It has sent a considerable number of intelligent and observant Englishmen over to Ireland to study things themselves. With a good many of these pilgrims I have chanced to come into contact and am sorry to say that, with few exceptions, the view they bring back is one of utter and hopeless despair. They maintain that Ireland is verily sick unto death; that she has been so long shamefully and brutally misused; so wholly and cruelly neglected and brought low down; so completely drained of blood and strength and recuperative power, that never can she recover. They declare that they saw in Ireland nothing in repair except the roads, more roofless gables than roofed houses, half ruined towns surrounded by crumbling stores, and empty and dilapidated warehouses, fairs and markets badly attended, sheep and cattle of inferior quality and poor quantity—nay, the very soil of the country spent and exhausted. "Home Rule or no Home Rule," says one traveler, "Ireland is done for. It would take a hundred years to pick her up."

The European prospect was decidedly warlike a few weeks ago to those behind the scenes, but peace now appears assured, at least for the next three or four years. While the papers were absorbed in speculating upon the results of the German Emperor's visit to Russia they entirely forgot Rome, which has really been the political center of late, and the game which was there being played was quite overlooked. Prince Bismarck had undoubtedly hinted to Signor Crispi that Italy would do well presently to quarrel with France; and, supposing that war had broken out between the two countries, Germany's opportunity would have arrived. Signor Crispi has displayed amazing want of tact, and has muddled matters by playing his cards far too fast, and altogether in so clumsy a manner as to reveal the object of his game to all Europe. I hear from a reliable correspondent in Germany that Prince Bismarck, much exasperated at the stupidity of the Italian Premier, who has been sharply snubbed by the Chancellor, is now more than ever annoyed that the Emperor should have insisted upon making an expedition to Rome this autumn.

The audience at this year's Bayreuth performances have been much larger than in any previous summer, and there was a remarkable increase in the number of English and American visitors. The total expenses of the seventeen performances amounted to $85,000, but there is considerable surplus profit. HENRY LABOUCHERE.

A Horrible Murder.

AGENDA, Kan., Sept. 6.—A horrible affair is reported from the neighborhood of Guide Rock, a small town just over the Nebraska line. John Baker, while feeding a threshing machine on the farm of a man named Weeks, was accidentally cut on the hand by the band cutter by a boy. In a rage he grasped the boy and deliberately fed him into the machine, feet first. The boy's screams attracted the attention of the other hands, but before they could interfere the boy's body had half disappeared in the machine. The enraged men seized Baker and hanged him to the straw carrier.

Belligerent Windsor Officials.

WINDSOR, Sept. 6.—For some time there has been bad blood between certain town officials and it culminated in two fisticuff combats, in the first of which Fred. Davis, son of Ald. Davis, struck Waterworks Engineer Hall a terrific blow on the eye. Hall struck back and for a minute or two a vigorous round was fought, after which bystanders interfered. After Hall's injuries were attended to he walked into the Waterworks office and attacked Ald. Davis.

STONY LAKE.

Stony Lake is almost deserted for the season, and those still there will soon take their departure and give place to the duck and deer hunters. The past has been the most prosperous season the steamers have ever enjoyed, as Stony Lake is becoming more popular, as a summer resort, every year. Below I give a list of those who have secured islands and the names given to their cottages or islands:—

Capt. Grylls, Lakefield	Limbo, E. to Hell Gate
Mr. Wm. Hamilton, Peterborough	No. 1
Mr. H. Grundy, Peterborough	Ivanhoe
Mr. C. Wynne, Peterborough	Bungalow
Mr. Lafevre, Lakefield	Point of Rocks
Mr. J. Collins, Peterborough	Catamaran
Messrs. Lech and McClelland, Peterborough	Pompadour
Mr. Lee, Peterborough	Hazledean
Mr. Bradburn, Peterborough	Fairview
Mr. K.H. Edwards, Peterborough	Juniper Ldge
Mr. Tate, Lakefield	The Headlands
Dr. Bell, Lakefield	Elfin Nook
Mr. Harles, Lakefield	Minnewawa
Capt. Eden, Lakefield	Gardea of Eden
Mr. A. J. Wright, Lakefield	Three Graces
Mr. A. J. Wright, Lakefield	Hamadale
Mr. J. P. Strickland, Lakefield	Waubuno
Mr. Geo. Strickland, Lakefield	NeNeMoosha
Mr. R.C. Strickland, Lakefield	Bena Lodge
Messrs. Cox and Grylls, Lakefield	Jubilee Island
Mr. Bronsoombe, Peterborough	Pine Grove
Mr J.B. McWilliams, Peterboro'	Tecumseh
Mr. Anderson, Toronto	Cairn Dhu
Mr. Jaffray, Toronto	Rocky Island
Mr. Piper, Toronto	Quality Is.
Mr. R. Graham, Lakefield	Grassy Island
Mr. S. Henderson, Lakefield	Point Julian
Mr. Menzies, Peterborough	Kenmore
Mr. Geo. Cochrane, Lakefield	Point Rescue
Mr. J. Griffin, Lakefield	Eagle's Nest
Mr. Peplow, Port Hope	The Anchorage
Messrs. Hall, Ferguson and Conell, Peterborough	Syndicate
Mrs. Hopkins, U. S.	Hoochink
Mr. McIntyre, Peterborough	Grand View
Mr. Burnham, Peterborough	Burnham's Lodge

Messrs. E. H. D. Hall. G. M. Roger, Breese, Butcher, Hull, Dinwoodie, Lillicrap, and Sherin all own islands whose names your correspondent could not learn. Mr. Wright's islands, the "Three Graces" and "Hamadale," all situated in the best locality, one with a pretty cottage on it, are offered for sale and should soon be disposed of as such a chance to secure an island in the best part of the lake may not soon occur again. Capt. Eden is also going to dispose of his as he is leaving Lakefield.

MUNICIPAL.

A good turn out of the ratepayers of the village was made on Monday night in the council chamber, to discuss fire protection and the advisability of buying the property now occupied by the council, and erecting an engine house and council chamber thereon. Reeve Casement occupied the chair and in a few words pointed out the object of the meeting. He was followed by Messrs. Cochrane, Nelson, W. M. Graham, Geo. Strickland, Galvin, Henderson, Isbister and Garbutt, all of whom favored the plan. Councillor Hull gave the ratepayers a statement of estimated cost, etc., as follows:

Engine, hose, reels	$4,500 00
Hooks	500 00
Property	2,400 00
Building	2,000 00
Ladder, truck, etc	600 00
	$10,000 00

A motion was passed without a dessenting voice, requesting the council to submit a by-law in accordance with the above.

A by-law is being prepared and will come before the council next Monday night, and before the ratepayers for their approval on the 16th October, when, if adopted, work will no doubt be pushed on at once.

OUR CIVIC HOLIDAY.

To day, Wednesday, being our civic holiday, all work suspended and the stores closed. A large excursion of the Orange Lodges and their friends went up to McCracken's landing where they picnicked with the members from Warsaw and Dummer. The Foresters band took a trip up the lakes on the "Mary Ellen," while a large party had the "Dawn" engaged for a sail anywhere and everywhere on Stoney Lake. Nearly every canoe and gun in the village was pressed into service, and the village was deserted, except by a home guard.

ALMOST AN ACCIDENT.

Last week a little 4-year-old son of Dr. Bell's managed to tumble into the lake, opposite his cottage on Stony Lake. One of the other children gave the alarm which was heard by the Dr. in time to swim out and secure the child as he was going down, only his fingers being above water. He was insensible when brought to shore but soon revived and was none the worse for his bath. Considering the large number of children and parties unable to swim or manage a canoe who have been up the lake this summer, it is strange that not a single fatal accident has yet occurred, and it is to be hoped the balance of the season will pass with the same happy good fortune.

Indian River.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Harvest all gathered in in this neighborhood; farmers in good spirits.

The Indian River Glee Club held their first concert last Thursday evening in the suburbs of the village. A good programme was carried out in grand style. The chief feature of the evening's amusement was step-dancing by a young man from Toronto.

Mr. P. Moher is still shipping cattle from here and his son Daniel is shipping from Tweed for the Montreal market. Success to their enterprise.

Mr. J. Duff is doing a big business in the flour line. Instead of the old-fashioned way of the farmers gristing, he buys their wheat and sells his flour, and by so doing he gives the best of satisfaction. One farmer brought in a load of wheat last week and took away 1,300 pounds of flour, which needs no comment.

Mr. M. Guerin, of Indian River north, brought in a car load of barrel salt last week.

BLACK AND WHITE.

The Right of a Negro to Have a White Wife in Pennsylvania.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Sept. 6.—Some months ago James Bentley, a young negro, formed the acquaintance of Annie Barker, a handsome white girl, living near Lime Ridge. She fell in love with him, and he proposing marriage, she accepted. She was under age, and finding it impossible in consequence to get a marriage license, they began living together as man and wife. Last Saturday the girl's parents caused the arrest of Bentley for ruining their daughter.

At the hearing before Justice Knorr at Berwick, Miss Baker and her dusky lover announced that they were willing and anxious to get married then and there, but the girl's mother vigorously objected, declaring that she would rather see her daughter in the grave than the wife of a "darky." Young Bentley was then committed to jail. The prisoner's counsel says he will have him brought up on a writ of habeas corpus to test whether there exists any law that can prevent two young people from getting married and legitimatizing a child.

TORONTO TOPICS.

Warrants Issued for the Wandering Jew—Broker Cox' Bail Increased.

TORONTO, Sept. 6.—The development in Central Bank affairs yesterday was the issue of two warrants against Roland Israel Gideon Barnett, (the "Wandering Jew") on a charge of defrauding the bank out of some $10,000 before its collapse. Barnett was last heard of in London, Eng., on July 21.

It is whispered that an agreement has been arrived at between the city and the University authorities in reference to the Queen's park difficulty.

Broker Cox was in the Police Court yesterday to answer the second charge against him. No evidence was offered, nor were the arrangements completed for his release on bail, which was increased on the new charge by $16,000, himself in $8000 and two sureties in $4000 each. He comes up again to-morrow.

Symptoms of Catarrh.

Dull, heavy headache obstruction of the nasal passages, discharges from the head into the throat, sometimes profuse, watery and acrid, at others, thick, tenacious, mucous, purulent, bloody and putrid; the eyes are weak, watery and inflamed; there is a ringing in the ears, deafness, hacking or coughing to clear the throat, expectoration of offensive matter, together with scabs from ulcers; the voice is changed and has a nasal twang; the breath is offensive: smell and taste are impaired; there is a sensation of dizziness, with mental depression, a hacking cough and general debility. If you have all, or any considerable number of these symptoms, you are suffering from Nasal Catarrh. The most complicated your disease has become, the greater the number and diversity of symptoms. Thousands of cases annually, without manifesting half of the above symptoms, result in consumption and end in the grave. No disease is so common, more deceptive and dangerous, or less understood, or more unsuccessfully treated, by physicians. Five hundred dollars reward is offered by the manufacturers of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, for a case of catarrh which they cannot cure. Remedy sold by druggists, at only 50 cents a bottle.

THE MONTREAL BUCKET SHOPS.

Warrants Against Paquette and Hanrahan & Co. Issued Yesterday.

MONTREAL, Sept. 6.—The war against the bucket shops, so long impending, seems at last to have come to a crisis here. Two warrants were issued yesterday by Judge Desnoyers, one against J. C. Paquette and the other against Hanrahan & Co. The warrants accuse Paquette and Hanrahan of keeping a bucket shop, contrary to statute, and empowering all police officers to raid their premises. The information was laid by a citizen who claims to have been swindled at one of the establishments.

The lifeless body of Narcisse Dagenais, a quarryman employed at Vallieres quarry at Cote St. Louis, was found in another quarry at 6.30 yesterday morning. He is supposed to have fallen into the quarry, which is 28 feet deep, at a late hour while crossing an embankment on his way home. Dagenais was 57 years of age and has been employed at Vallieres quarry for 30 years.

The Daily Examiner.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 6. 1888.

The Weather.

Moderate to fresh south and south west winds; fine weather, not much change in temperature.

A Woman's Ambition.

A Water street lady has the ambition to wear the nobbiest bonnet in town. During a recent visit to Belleville she tried every shop in that town, without result, but she hadn't been five minutes in the millinery rooms of the golden lion before she struck the very thing she wanted. This is the place where the finest stock of millinery of all kinds is kept—the greatest variety, the latest styles. Ladies, remember this fact.

A Great Improvement.

The manager of the Bridge Works has concluded negotiations with the Ball Electric Light Co. to light their spacious workshops with electric light. They will put in their own machinery and make their own supply. Ten lights will be required for the whole premises. The improvement will be introduced at once.

Distinguished Visitors.

Hon. C. H. Tupper, son of Sir Charles Tupper, and Minister of Marine and Fisheries, arrived in town on the C.P.R. train from Ottawa last evening and stopped here over night at the Oriental. On this morning's train came Hon. Geo. E. Foster, Finance Minister. Both were en route to Beaverton, where a Conservative convention is being held to-day. They left on the 8.15 Midland express this morning for their destination, and their departure was witnessed by a large number of "the faithful" who gathered at the station. Mayor Stevenson showed Hon. Tupper the town last night, and the latter expressed his admiration of Peterborough's solidity, progress and enterprise. He avowed his opinion without hesitation that ours was the smartest town in the province.

Hymeneal

Last evening about eight o'clock an interesting ceremony took place at the residence of Mr. Henry Denne, north George street, being the marriage of his daughter Mary to Mr. Algernon St. Alban Smith, of the Bank of Toronto. The ceremony was conducted very quietly without any ostentation, only the intimative friends and relatives of the young couple being present. The bride was supported by her sister, Miss Denne, and the groom by Mr. P. MacDonnell, of the Bank of Montreal. Rev. W. C. Bradshaw was the officiating clergyman. The dresses of the ladies were rich but plain, the bridal party leaving soon after the ceremony on their honeymoon trip to Quebec, the home of Mr. Smith. It goes without saying that the wedding presents were elegant, and such as might be expected on such an occasion to give expression to the sentiments of respect and esteem of the wide circle of friends which the social position and connections and many estimable qualities possessed by the young people had gathered around them. The bridegroom has for years been a resident of the town, and is worthy of the high personal and social popularity he enjoyed; the bride possessed, in a large degree, those womanly graces and accomplishments which endeared her to her more intimate friends and secured her the warm esteem of all her acquaintance. The EXAMINER begs to extend its warmest congratulations and most cordial wishes for the future prosperity and happiness of Mr. and Mrs. Smith.

An Explanation.

Referring to a paragraph in yesterday's issue of the EXAMINER, wherein it said that Mr. Robert Fife, the highly respected and well known agricultural implement agent, of this town, was charged with arson, we are informed authentatively that Mr. Fife was charged under the Act respecting injury to fences. The facts of the case are as follows: The late Kenneth Kempt was the owner of the whole of the west halves of lots numbers one and two in the eleventh concession of the township of Dummer, and by his will he devised these lots to his sons, Thomas and Kenneth Kempt, jr., as tenants in common. A short time ago Kenneth Kempt, jr., also died, unmarried and without leaving a will, whereby his share of his late father's farm became distributable amongst his next of kin, being his brothers and sisters. Mr. Robt. Fife was selected to administer the estate, Alex. Kempt promising to give him all the aid in his power, and he and all the other rest of kin renouncing administration in favor of Mr. Fife; he was duly appointed administrator of all the real and personal estate of Kenneth Kempt, jr. Mr. Fife then proceeded to wind up the estate, and with the knowledge, and in the presence of Alexander Kempt, who made no objection offered the farm formerly owned by Kenneth Kempt jr., for sale by public auction, but a sufficient price not being obtained Mr. Fife rented the farm and put his tenant in possession. After the crops had appeared above the ground, Alexander Kempt, or his agent, came in the middle of the night and deliberately letting down the fence drove his cattle into one of the fields and totally ruined a promising oat crop. It then appeared that Alex. Kempt laid claim to a portion of his brother's farm for the sole reason that he had kindly been allowed to use a few acres of it during his father's lifetime. Mr. Fife, acting under legal advice, and in order to avoid trouble, instructed his tenant to remove the fence enclosing the field claimed by Alexander Kempt. On this being done, Kempt or his agent came again at night and restored the fence and again drove in his cattle. Still acting under advice, Mr. Fife, in order to end the matter, entirely destroyed the fence. Kempt then swore an information befor H. Drain, J.P., under the act respecting destruction of property. It being a question of title to property we understand the Justice has no jurisdiction whatever, and that if Mr. Kempt has any claim he must bring a civil action. Mr. Fife acted in the bona fide belief that he but did his duty as administrator, and he proposes to continue doing so. We regret that an error of information should have done Mr Fife an injustice.

THE BUDGET SPEECH.

Mr. DAVIDSON after reading the estimates, prefaced his remarks by explaining that owing to the illness and death of the late town clerk the estimates would not be presented in the methodical and clerkly condition which characterized the work of that official. But under the circumstances the committee had done the best they could, and the result would, he believed, be entirely satisfactory to the people. Mr. Davidson first pointed out a number of differences in the assessment this year. For instance in the administration of justice there was a saving of 2/10 mills or $839, accounted for because of there being no arbitrations and no expenses at the Court House this year. In the town rate there was a round increase of 3 mills, divided as follows:—Electric light, increase of $400, municipal government, $160; furniture, $100; fire department, $250; hydrants, $250; interest, $50; the insurance account, $100, has this year been transferred from the miscellaneous amount and made a separate item, which counts as a direct increase; printing, increase $100; real estate, $200, for repairs on town buildings, special grants, increase $350; street numbering, $350; water, $790. Against these increases there were a few decreases, as follows:—Canada Temperance Act, $400; elections, $100 (there being none but municipal elelections this year); gas, $160; heating, $75; miscellaneous, $100; streets and bridges, $300; estimated losses, $200. The increase in the fire department item is caused by the transfer of the $600 due from Ashburnham for fire protection from the fire department account to the direct revenue, so that while there is apparently an increase in the expenditure of $250 there is really a saving of $350. The $700 team engaged from Terence Smith has been charged to the fire department; the $650 team to the water account, thus explaining the increase in this item: and the $125 team to the streets and bridges. This made a round increase of 3 mills in the town rate. The public schools demand was 1 mill less; the R.C. separate school demand 6/10 mills less, and the Collegiate Institute 1/10 mill less—each of these making a saving of $200. In the town debentures there was an increase of 1/10 mill, that is, anticipating the interest and sinking fund for six months on those now offering for sale. The Nicholls Hospital demand was the same, but the increased assessment produced about $150 more. In round figures there was an increase in the assessment of $76,010. Of this, $26,225 was for the R.C. separate schools, which was about $200 less than last year, making a saving of 5/10 of a mill to the Roman Catholics. Mr. Davidson also read a statement of the assets and liabilities of the town, which he said had been carefully prepared for the benefit of parties who contemplated purchasing debentures, and enquired regarding the standing of the town. One hundred copies has been printed and distributed where it was thought they were needed. Mr. Davidson also took occasion to give Mr. Langford great credit for his successful handling of the street numbering, which was a great boon to the town. Mr. Langford, he thought, deserved every praise for his efforts to this end. In conclusion Mr. Davidson said he felt sure the people would be satisfied with the low rate of 12½ mills. Out of the total of $47,355 to be raised, the council had actual control of but $13,164, and in view of the small, amount the council really had to work with the financial affairs were most satisfactory. He moved the first reading of the by-law to confirm the estimates.

THE BUDGET DEBATE.

Mr. MOORE in seconding the motion commended Mr. Davidson for his laudable efforts to bring the estimates down in time, and said the town and council had every reason to feel satisfied with the rate this year. After briefly pointing out several features of the estimate this year he referred to the rates of Belleville, Port Hope, Cobourg and Toronto, which were about 22 mills; and Lindsay 15 or 16 mills with 7 or 8 more added for school rate. In view of this the present rate was particularly satisfactory. He added that Mr. Fuller, Chief Architect of the Dominion, on a recent visit to Peterborough said ours was the neatest, cleanest and smartest town in the province.

The council then went into committee of the whole on the first reading of the by-law to confirm the estimates, Mr. A. Hall in the chair.

MAYOR STEVENSON, after congratulating the town on the low rate, said he thought they had done enough for the school board, who were in urgent need of funds. The Government demanded improvements to the Institute and had even held back the grant until they were made, and there was need of a new school in the north ward. The school board asked for a grant of $800 to tide them over this year, and unless it was granted they would have to carry it over themselves. Mr. Stevenson urged the necessity of a new school in the north ward, which would cost about $4,000 and the lot $1,600. The board believed the improvement to the Institute could be made for $2,000. If the sum asked were granted this year it would be sufficient with the surplus on hand to make these improvements, and then, if next year the council could not see their way clear to granting them all the rest of the money they needed, it could be left to vote by the people and debentures raised. If this was not done, the board would have to carry the small amount required over themselves.

Mr. KENDRY also put in a claim for the North Ward school and urged the method proposed by the Mayor.

Mr. DAVIDSON said he had no objection to building the school or making the improvements, but he wanted to see things done in a legitimate business way. He didn't want to see the amount tacked on to the estimates and a deficit carried over this year. Then he did not believe in harassing the people by issuing town debentures for school purposes, when the school to be built would benefit only a few in the north ward.

Mr. MOORE thought with Mr. Davidson that it was simply a question of financeering, to decide who should bear the burden of carrying the debt, as he had no doubt the new school and Institute improvements were a necessity.

After some further discussion the first clause containing the estimates of expenditure was adopted.

PAYING TAXES.

Mr. MOORE, in presenting the following motion, said it was intended to remove an injustice from the poor man, who, as a rule, promptly paid his taxes while the rich man frequently held the amount of his taxes, often a large sum, for months and got interest on it, which should have been paid into the town treasury and the interest accrued to the town. The old plan was the infliction of a penalty of 5 per cent. interest if taxes were not paid in the limited time. Mr. Moore's motion read:—

Moved by Mr. Moore, seconded by Mr. Douglas, that for default in payment of the taxes on and by the first day of December next, there will be levied for such default the penalty or sum of one per cent per month on all taxes remaining unpaid after the said first day of December next, until the same shall be paid, that no less a sum than one per cent shall be accepted in case of such default; and that the part of any month shall be estimated as a full month.

He considered this more equitable on the whole.

A number of the councillors took part in a discussion on the motion.

Messrs. Kendry and Hartley objected on the ground that it would cause endless trouble and confusion, and thought the old plan had proved itself a good one.

Mr. Cahill suggested another scheme for collecting the taxes, in which he proposed to reward the early depositor by a discount and punish the late one by additional interest being put on his bill.

Mr. Moore's motion was lost and the clause in question, providing for a general imposition of 5 per cent. on all taxes not paid by the 5th of December, was adopted.

SIMCOE STREET BRIDGE.

The report of the town engineer was presented, in which he stated he had made an examination of the Simcoe street bridge with a view to lowering it. Mr. Belcher, in his report said: "I can see no reason with respect to the street why the grade of the street should be altered, having already been so well considered." To the question as to the possibility of lowering the grade without materially endangering the bridge and contracting the water way, Mr. Belcher expressed the opinion that unless the bed of the creek was correspondingly lowered such a course would not be advisable, as it might endanger the foundations of the buildings on the south side; and in any case the bridge should not be lowered more than the thickness of the stone girder beds. The town he urged should take precaution to protect itself from future claims for damages.

Mr. Langford moved, seconded by Mr. Kendry, that the bridge on Simcoe street be lowered at once in accordance with the idea advanced by the town engineer, on condition that the property holders on the south side of the bridge give an undertaking to free the town from any damages that might be caused by the lowering of the same.

After some discussion the resolution was carried.

MOTIONS.

Mr. A. Hall moved, seconded by Mr. Moore, that the sum of $25 be granted to the Protestant Home to assist in sending one of the Snelgrove children to the Children's Home in Toronto—Carried.

On motion an order was passed to pay the men who had helped in the search for the burglars this week, on certificate of the Chief of Police.

The council adjourned at the call of the Mayor.

Personal.

Miss Robinson, from the Sawyer Business College here, to-day entered upon the duties of Stenographer in the Times office.

The druggists of the town are reported to be much angered at a local business firm, whose action threatens seriously to interfere with the drug trade, owing to the absurdly low price at which Gough Bros. are selling their bankrupt stock of boots and shoes, every body can be well shod and there will be no wet feet, no colds, and, therefore, no sale of cough drops by the druggists. It is a solid fact that Gough Bros. are selling the cheapest and best lots of fine and strong boots and shoes ever offered in the town. Bought cheaper than the wholesale men can sell them, they are sold cheaper than boots and shoes have ever been sold in town before. Now is your chance for bargains—big bargains all round. They Won the Cup.

The Peterborough Baseball Club Win a Handsome Silver Trophy.

The Peterborough baseball club competed in the tournament at Father Casey's picnic at Campbellford on Wednesday, and succeeded in carrying off the handsome silver cup offered for competition. The clubs competing were Hastings, Campbellford and Peterborough. The Ashley Nine, of Belleville, did not show up. The Peterborough team was composed of:

Kincaid, ss; Breanan, 1b; Moore, lf; Callahan, c; Galley, 3b and p; O Brien, rf; Cameron, p and 3b; Pearson, 2b; Clark, cf.

The first match, between Hastings and Peterborough, resulted as follows:—

Peterborough	3	1	2	4	0	4	x	—	13
Hastings	0	2	2	0	5	0	2	—	11

Batteries—Cameron, Galley and Callahan; Davey and Billings.

The final tug was between Peterborough and Campbellford, resulting as follows:

Peterborough	1	0	0	6	2	3	0	—	12
Campbellford	0	2	4	1	0	0	3	—	10

Batteries, Cameron, Galley and Callahan; Beatty and Carswell.

The Peterboroughs played a steady game throughout and all did well. Their hardest tussle was with Hastings, Davey of the latter team having a good curve to his balls. Billings, who has always played with Peterborough, caught for the Hastings team under pay.

The cup won is on exhibition at Clark's clothing store. It is a handsome trophy and well worth the winning. The boys are to be given credit for playing two such games as they were compelled to put up in an afternoon.

The fruit season has now come and we must prepare to put up our fruit. Now what kind of jars are we to use? Of course, glass jars; but so many of those we had last year cracked in filling that it makes it very expensive. Oh, I remember how Mrs. Goodwife told me last year she bought her jars at "China Hall," and that she did not break a jar in filling or lose a single can of fruit. I shall buy from China Hall this season. As the price is just the same I might as well have the best.

CORSETS

Every lady purchasing CORSETS and wishing to get the Best Article for the least outlay, should visit TURNBULL'S, as he always keeps in stock the Best Makes from all the leading manufacturers. Some makes are peculiarly adapted to suit a particular style of figure. Below we enumerate a few lines from which you can select in any size from 18 to 30. Larger sizes procured on short notice.

THE YATISI CORSET

is modelled from a design of one of the most celebrated Parisian makers. It gives a lady that ease and grace so much admired in French ladies.

The YATISI CORSET owing to the peculiar diagonal elasticity of the cloth will fit the wearer perfectly the first time worn, no matter what her style of form is, either long or short waisted. To ladies wishing to lace light and not feel uncomfortable at the bust or hips, they are indispensible.

The YATISI CORSET does not stretch at the waist; requires no breaking in; fits comfortable the first time worn, as it gives to every motion of the wearer. It will outlast any of the old style rigid Corsets.

The YATISI CORSET can be worn ten days and if not found satisfactory in every respect the money will be refunded at TURNBULL'S.

THE CORALINE CORSET

What is Coraline? Coraline is composed of a bundle of stiff and and very elastic fibres like bristles tightly bound with strong thread. Coraline contains no sizing of any kind but its stiffness exists in the natural fibre and is permanent. Look for the Coraline Corset at TURNBULL'S, every pair stamped.

BALL'S CORSETS.

These Corsets need no breaking in—invalids can wear them with ease and comfort, as they do not compress the vital parts of the wearer. They fit a great variety of forms owing to their peculiar construction—they are very durable. They have the endorsement of every physician who has examined them. Every pair warranted—the money refunded if not satisfactory after wearing them three weeks at TURNBULL'S.

THE PARISENNE.

The PARISENNE is a new make which is becoming very popular. It is something after the style of the old French Corded Corset—is shorter waisted than most of the other makes, which makes it adapted for a stout figure.

Everything desirable in the Corset line always to be found at TURNBULL'S at prices that are never beaten.

THE SKEENA EXPEDITION

OFFICIAL REPORT TO THE MILITIA DEPARTMENT.

No Casualties of Any Kind—The Trouble in the Governor-General's Foot Guards Settled.

OTTAWA, Sept. 6.—The Department of Militia has received a report from the officer commanding the expedition to the Skeena. He arrived at Victoria, B. C., on Aug. 25. No casualties of any kind occurred while the force was absent on duty. At Port Esslington they were encamped within about 1½ miles of the village. The ground there was densely wooded, indeed all the ground thereabouts is covered with timber. They cleared a space for their tents and for a drill ground and went into quarters until news could be heard from Hazelton. The corps carried out drill and rifle practice while in camp. The whole country in this vicinity is mountainous. While awaiting orders the officers and men took advantage of the situation to climb the adjacent mountain peaks, some of which were from 4000 to 6000 feet high and snow-capped. The work was of the hardest description and showed the pluck and endurance of those who undertook it. Many wild animals were killed and skins brought back as trophies. The facts are mentioned in the report to show the adaptability of the men for the work they would have been called to do if their services were required to suppress any Indian uprising. During the time the battery was in camp many of the Indians from all parts of the country were assembled at the mouth of the river for salmon fishing and they all appeared to appreciate fully the strength represented by the ships-of-war upon which the force went up to Port Esslington and the strength of the armed force landed from here.

The commanding officer speaks in the warmest terms of the zeal and energy displayed by the officers, non-commissioned officers and men in carrying out their various duties, and the especially good conduct of the force during the whole time the battery was absent from Victoria.

Attached to the report is a capital sketch of the Skeena River. It was executed by a lieutenant in the battery, a graduate of the Royal Military College.

It is understood that the trouble in the Guards has been settled by the officers agreeing to withdraw their resignations for six months and if no further complications arise in that time, not again tendering them. This result is said to have been brought about partly by personal influence on the officers and partly by their patriotism, which would not allow personal feeling to influence them at a time when there was a possibility, however remote, of international complications which might require their presence in the field.

The Department of Customs has decided to enforce a fine of $400 on the American tug Gladiator for towing in Canadian waters. It appears that the vessel had a permit to tow one raft last year, on the strength of which she has been doing other towing.

Cadet Edmund Charles Hamilton from the Royal Military College at Kingston has been appointed Second Lieutenant in the 3rd Hussars, Imperial Army, and William Charles Gifford Henniker Second Lieutenant in the Connaught Rangers.

Hon. Mackenzie Bowell left Victoria for Ottawa yesterday, but will stop for a couple of days at Winnipeg.

Row in a Gravel Pit.

BROCKVILLE, Sept. 7.—A big row occurred in a gravel pit near here between the Italian navvies and a party from the town who went up and tried to run the camp. Clubs, stones and knives were freely used.

THE PREVIOUS QUESTION

TO BE MOVED THIS AFTERNOON ON THE RETALIATION BILL.

Congressman Scott's Argument in Support of the Measure Concluded—How the Matter Cropped Up in the Senate.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—In the House yesterday Mr. McCreary (Dem., Ky.) gave notice that he would call the previous question on the Retaliation bill at 4 o'clock today, and Mr. Scott (Dem., Pa.) resumed his argument in favor of the bill. He made an exhaustive review of the action of the Senate on the fisheries question and the debates which occurred thereon in 1883 and 1887, in order to show that the Republican Senators, and especially Senator Edmunds, had a steady and deadly purpose to accomplish to prevent the abrogation of the 29th article of the treaty of 1871. The Retaliation bill of 1887 as reported to the Senate was drafted so as to enable the Republican Senate to denounce the President whether he carried out its provisions or not. In reference to the rejection of the present treaty he challenged any reasonable man to find a case of unjust treatment of American fishermen since 1886 of which that treaty did not provide a safeguard.

At the conclusion of Mr. Scott's speech, the House, at 6.10, adjourned.

Exceedingly Witty and Facetious.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—In the Senate yesterday Mr. Hoar (Rep., Mass.) offered a resolution calling the attention of the President respectfully to the resolution of the Senate of Aug. 28, requesting him to communicate to the Senate copies of all communications addressed by his direction to the Government of Great Britain, remonstrating against certain unfair treatment of American citizens, and requesting him to furnish such information as soon as possible in order that it may be considered in acting on pending legislation.

Mr. Vest (Dem., Mo.) suggested that the resolution lie over till to-morrow because it seemed to contain a sort of implication of intentional delay on the part of the Administration. He presumed that it was not so. It was only nine days since the resolution was adopted. He had no doubt that the Secretary of State could give some good reason for not sending the papers.

Mr. Hoar: "Let it lie over. I think, however, that the Administration might have got its eyes open in nine days."

Mr. Vest: "That remark is exceedingly witty and facetious. I don't know what the facts are."

The resolution was laid over.

THE PARLIAMENT OF LABOR.

A Long Batch of Resolutions on a Variety of Subjects.

LONDON, Sept. 7.—The Dominion Trades and Labor Congress resumed yesterday morning, President March in the chair. These resolutions were adopted:

That the safety of the working classes demands that a law be enacted providing for the proper inspection of stationary engines and boilers, and further that all stationary engineers be legally required to pass an examination and acquire proper certificate of qualification.

That the Provincial Legislature be asked to remove all personal taxes, as the same are an unjust tax on labor.

That this Congress petition the Dominion Parliament to amend the conspiracy laws so as to prevent their application to labor disputes where no actual damage is done to person or property.

That this Congress denounces the unjust and unwarranted action of certain classes of employers in importing, under false pretences, mechanics.

That this Congress demands the abolition of the contract system in national, provincial and municipal works and the institution of a system whereby such public works will be carried on under the direction and supervision of the national, provincial and municipal governments.

That this congress calls upon all labor organizations throughout the Province of Ontario to use their influence to compel local school trustees to enforce the truant clauses of the Education Act.

That whenever tenders are called for by either the Federal or Provincial Governments or any municipality for any public work none should be allowed to tender who have at any time during the preceding twelve months paid less than the standard wages.

That for the purpose of securing efficiency a regular apprenticeship is necessary and should be insisted upon in trades where the same may be practicable.

That the provincial legislatures be petitioned to so amend the Provincial Assessment Act that councils of cities, towns and other municipalities be compelled to publish the assessment rolls annually in the newspapers of the municipality or in pamphlets in time to be submitted to the Court of Revision.

That the deposit required from candidates at Dominion elections is excessive and the law requiring its forfeiture by such candidates as fail to receive a certain proportion of the votes cast is wholly unjust and should be repealed.

That this Congress protests against the practice of bonusing manufacturing industries and demands the passage of an act by the Provincial Legislature making such practice by municipalities illegal.

That the evils of intemperance are so clearly manifest in their "effects" that any practical effort tending to reduce the consumption of intoxicating liquors will meet the hearty support of organized labor.

A motion asking for a Dominion vote on total prohibition was defeated.

That all railway and telegraph lines should be controlled by the Federal Government, and all gas lines, telephone lines, ferry lines and street railway lines should be owned by the municipality in which they are situated.

That such officers as sheriffs, registrars and police magistrates should be elected either by direct popular vote or by the council of the municipalities in which the duties of the office are performed.

That this Congress most emphatically condemn the recent order of the Dominion Government opening the Welland and other canals on Sunday, thereby compelling lockkeepers and sailors during a time they should be resting to prepare for the following week's work.

That this Congress call upon the Dominion Government to at once appoint the officers required by the Trades Union Act to give it practical effect, so that labor organizations can take advantage of such act by incorporating under its provisions.

That this Congress appeal to the Attorney-General for the appointment of one or more justices of the peace in the various labor centers of Ontario, recommended by the Executive Committee of this Congress, or upon the recommendation of the various central bodies throughout the Dominion.

That justice and good government demand that no person, corporation, bodies or classes shall be exempt from the payment of any tax which is levied on the rest of the community.

That this Congress strongly favor a system of government life insurance.

On ballot Montreal was selected for the next meeting of the Congress, the time to be appointed by the Executive Committee. These officers were elected:

President—J. T. Carey, St. Catharines.

Vice-president—R. Glockling, Toronto.

Secretary-Treasurer—George W. Dower, Toronto.

Executive Committee—Chas. March, A. W. Wright and A. F. Jury, of Toronto, and D. R. Gibson, Hamilton.

The President-elect, on taking the chair, expressed thanks for the honor conferred, and the Congress finally adjourned at 4 p.m.

Removing a Cancer.

BELLEVILLE, Sept. 7.—A painful surgical operation has been successfully performed on Mrs. John Moon. It consisted in the removal of a scirrhus cancer, which necessitated the cutting off of the right breast. The patient was put under the influence of chloroform, and, although a nervous person, stood the operation well.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

THE BEAVERTON PICNIC.

More Ministerial Speeches on Retaliation—A Calm Tone Adopted.

BEAVERTON, Sept. 7.—The political picnic has become an institution in this country. It will probably remain so for a long time to come. When conducted on the right basis, they are really enjoyable affairs and peculiarly adapted to rural parts. Such an one was held on the outskirts of this pleasant village, romantically situated on the eastern shores of Lake Simcoe, yesterday afternoon. The weather was really beautiful, and the audience were treated to rousing patriotic speeches from Hon. C. H. Tupper, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, and Hon. G. A. Foster, the new Minister of Finance. The hon. gentlemen devoted the most of their time to a consideration of those two questions that are now attracting so much public attention: The Fisheries and Retaliation.

A letter of regret from Sir John Macdonald at his inability to be present was read after which Mr. Tupper and Mr. Foster spoke for nearly an hour each. Mr. McGillvray, Dr. Montague, Mr. Madill and Mr. Porter were among the speakers also, but they were brief.

Mr. Tupper's speech was mainly an argument against Unrestricted Reciprocity and dealt at length with political issues. He concluded his remarks with an eloquent peroration.

Mr. Foster received an ovation when he came forward. Referring to retaliation he said: "I will not bluster or talk of war. War, I take it, is a terrible evil, and I believe that between the country on this side of the line and the country to the south there is no contingency in which the good sense of the two peoples will allow a war to arise. There are currents of passion and prejudice that ruffle the surface of a people's feelings but do not stir the strong deep current that flows beneath. I believe these two countries will live together in peace and amity. The executive head of the United States has asked for power to retaliate against the people of Canada. I do not know why. The people of Canada have not violated any treaty. [Cheers.] They have only sought fairly and justly to carry out the terms of the treaty. Nor have the people of Canada been averse to modify that treaty in accordance with the spirit of the present age. They showed their willingness to do so by assenting to the treaty of '88, which the Senate of the United States rejected, nor have they shown an unfriendly spirit towards the United States.

The whole course of the fishery negotiation shows the very opposite. They were granted free fisheries without compensation in 1871. They were given six months free fishing in 1885 after the Treaty of Washington expired. Their fishermen were allowed to make their customs entries with the captains of cruisers instead of having to go into port, and the instructions to the commanders of cruisers were always to give the American fishermen the benefit of all doubts. The true cause of retaliation was this, that the Americans wished to modify a solemn treaty and get for the use of their fishermen privileges in our waters which they renounced in 1818, and for renouncing which they gained a thousand miles of our sea coast."

Mr. Foster and Mr. Tupper left the village at 6 o'clock last evening for Ottawa, going via Peterboro.

The Speeches at Nicolet.

NICOLET, Sept. 7.—At the Conservative picnic here yesterday speeches were made by Sir Hector Langevin, Sir Adolphe Caron and a number of prominent political lights. The speeches of the ministers dealt largely with the retaliation question and evinced a firm determination on the part of the Dominion Government to maintain the rights of Canada.

The Cyclone in Cuba.

HAVANA, Sept. 6.—The cyclone of Tuesday last will be long remembered on this island. It was terribly destructive of both life and property. The gunboat Sealtad, lying at Batabano, foundered in the storm and nine of her crew, including her commander, were drowned. Advices from Sagua are that fifty persons lost their lives there while the damage to dwellings and warehouses, to vessels in the harbor and to the wharves is very great. The village of Pueblo Nueva, in the neighborhood of Sueza, is literally wiped out. Telegraph wires are badly broken and no news from other parts of the island has been received.

Female Pugilists.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Sept. 7.—Two girls in the corset factory here had a quarrel over a lover and decided to settle it in the ring after working hours. Some of the men were brought to see fair play. When the hour arrived the men formed a ring and told the girls that everything was ready. The two feminine principals then rolled up their sleeves and sparred cautiously for an opening, while the men looked on in astonishment at the display of real slugging tactics. They had expected to see a hair-pulling match, but to their surprise the girls fought coolly and vigorously, and, although no rules were observed, no male amateurs could have given a more earnest exhibition of hitting and stopping.

After they had fought about ten minutes and both had been about equally punished the men interfered. The contest was getting too brutal. The combatants protested, and said they wished to settle the matter then and there, but the men were obdurate and compelled them to cease hostilities. They agreed to finish the fight last evening, but were prevented.

Couldn't Pass on a Single Track.

HAMILTON, Sept. 7.—About 2.30 yesterday morning two Grand Trunk Railway freight trains, one a regular from Hamilton and the other a special from Toronto, collided at Clarkson station a mile or so from Lorne Park. Both engines were completely wrecked, and a dozen cars were more or less wrecked. Engineer McClarty of the train coming east had his shoulder dislocated by falling when he jumped clear of the engine, and two other train men were slightly injured. Except this nobody suffered injury. Both trains had their cars loaded, and the damage to rolling stock and freight cannot be less than $40,000. Traffic from the west was considerably delayed, and it was not until about noon that anything like a free passage could be had for trains.

CANADA AND THE EMPIRE

SIR CHARLES TUPPER'S SPEECH AT THE CUTLERS' DINNER.

Mr. Chamberlain Reiterated—The Canadian Commissioner Affirms the Dominion's Loyalty to Britain.

LONDON, Sept. 7.—Sir Charles Tupper last night replied to the toast of "The Colonies" at the Cutlers' banquet at Sheffield. He referred to the fisheries question, and said that great ignorance prevailed in England in regard to the subject generally. Hon. Mr. Chamberlain had particular and special advantages for judging of the question. It would have been impossible for the Government to have selected a man better qualified for the position and for the discharge of the duties appertaining to the appointment, and with more ability and more uniform discretion. From the reception he had received from Republicans and Democrats alike it was plain that no man could have been more acceptable to the people of the United States.

Canada to-day was face-to-face with the fact that with unanimity the United States would pass a non-intercourse bill. Although the senate had determined that the President should not have the credit of a settlement of the question, in view of the election, yet the President and Administration had sent the treaty down with the declaration that it was a fair and honorable adjustment of existing difficulties.

Without expressing an opinion regarding the message, he might say that all Canada asks is a fair, plain application of the principles of the treaty of 1818. Canada had gone as far as possible for the purpose of maintaining friendly relations with the republic, but the time would never come when the people of Canada, feeling as they did towards the Mother Country, would adopt a policy, fiscal or otherwise, detrimental to the British people.

The Government of Canada would pursue the policy followed on previous occasions—deal with the question with fairness and deep consideration. Certainly from no act of indiscretion on the part of the Canadian Government would difficulty arise from the illogical message of President Cleveland.

TORONTO TOPICS.

The Bucket Shop Case—The Queen's Park Muddle Straightened Out.

TORONTO, Sept. 7.—Mr. Hodgins, Master in Ordinary at Osgoode Hall, yesterday made an important announcement to parties interested in Central Bank affairs. He stated that while he was a judicial officer under the Provincial Government he had been acting wholly under the Dominion Statutes, which gave him a permissive power in matters of this kind, and the jurisdiction that he had exercised had been purely voluntary. And further that he considered that it would be more conducive to the public interest that he should give his attention to the business that was strictly within his province as Master in Ordinary. He would therefore hereafter entertain no original application in connection with the Central Bank unless he was directed or requested by one of the judges to act in the specific case.

John Anderson swore out an information yesterday charging E. S. Cox with fraud. Anderson claims that last December he borrowed $1700 from Cox and gave as security stocks valued at $2250 and that Cox sold the stock a day or two later and pocketed the proceeds. Cox is yet in jail.

In the Chancery Division Court yesterday Dalton McCarthy, Q.C., applied for an order nisi to quash the convictions made by the police magistrate of D. Logan, the manager, George McCoppen, the telegraph operator, and R. Paddon, the office boy of Hanrahan's bucket shop. The purpose of this action is to test the validity of the Abbott Act. The order was granted and will come on for argument on Saturday next.

The report circulated regarding Queen's Park is confirmed. Yesterday morning at a meeting in the mayor's office an agreement was submitted and approved, whereby the city gets a lease in perpetuity of the park on condition that they maintain it properly and endow two chairs in the university for $3000 each. The agreement will be submitted to the city council for adoption at a special meeting on Saturday.

A VERDANT KINGSTONIAN.

Tailor Dorland Endorses a Bogus Draft for a Liberal Customer.

KINGSTON, Sept. 7.—A man representing himself to be Rev. M. C. Pullman of Chicago, Ill., arrived here a day or two ago and put up at a leading hotel. He strolled about the city, called in at Livingston Bros' tailor shop, looked over some cloth, decided to purchase clothing to the value of $70, and directed that the clothes when made should be sent to Smith's Falls. The proprietor stating that it was customary for strangers to make a deposit, the buyer showed a draft for $500, said he would pay the whole bill at once as soon as he got the draft cashed and wanted Livingston to accompany him to the nearest bank. The tailor, however, was suspicious and did not go, and Pullman left the shop.

Later he visited the establishment of Mr. Dorland, where he repeated his former tactics and purchased over $100 worth of clothing. Dorland accompanied him to a bank and endorsed the draft, and Pullman received the proceeds paying Dorland the amount due him. Later in the evening Dorland's suspicion was aroused, and he went in search of his customer, but he had left the city by the 4 o'clock boat for Gananoque. At Gananoque all trace was lost, and it is believed Pullman crossed to the American side.

It is learned that the draft is bogus. It purported to have been issued by the First National Bank of Appleton, Wis., on the Merchants' National Bank of Chicago.

The Daily Examiner.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 7, 1888.

From Victoria to Winnipeg.

Notes of Keen Observer's Intercoeanic Tour.

The EXAMINER had the pleasure of an audience with Mr. John Jaoques, travelling agent of the Allan Steamship line and father of Mr. J. E. Jaques, organist of St. Luke's Church, Ashburnham, who was spending a day or two in town on his way back from a business visit to British Columbia and the Canadian Northwest. His journey was directed with the object of securing materials for a lecturing tour in the towns of England next winter, in the interests of emigration to the Canadian Northwest. Mr. Jaques found, in British Columbia, Victoria, the capital, an intensely English city—English habits and English ways. The city contains 12,000 inhabitants. Its present prospects are good, and the development of the trade with the east and Australia will result in its prosperity and growth—this trade, with mining, which is attracting increasing attention, is the future hope of this city. Vancouver, on the mainland, has a marvellous record. Only two years ago a wilderness, it is now a flourishing city, well laid out, with broad streets, fine hotels and imposing public buildings. It is not probable that it will ever reach the status of a great city. It has

NO AGRICULTURAL SURROUNDINGS,

—its prosperity will depend largely upon its floating population. Mr. Jaques could not recommend anyone to settle there, unless, perhaps, those having means for speculative purposes. For some time, at least, its citizens will have to live upon themselves or the transient travel between the west and Asia and Australia. The scenery from Vancouver through the Selkirks and Rockies is indescribably grand, and will prove an inexhaustible field for tourists and pleasure-seekers and health-seekers. Mr. Jaques was quite enamoured of the National Park at Banff. It is well worthy a visit both to the general traveller and the seeker for health. There is a magnificent hotel, well found, comfortable and reasonably cheap. At the time of Mr. Jaques' visit, there were about 300 visitors at the Banff and other hotels. The springs are very effective in the cure of rheumatism and sciatica, and wonderful cures are reported.

At Calgary the prairie region is struck This city has shown great growth since Mr. Jaques' last visit in 1883. The land around Calgary is principally valuable for ranching purposes alone. It is unsuited to general farming, and indeed this applies to a wide belt of country on each side of the railway from Calgary west to Portage La Prairie. Mr. Jaques was at Calgary the time of the three nights' frost, and heard a great many complaints of the damage done, but personal investigation showed him that the damage was greatly over-rated—it was a case of "great ory and little wool." Potato tops suffered the most but not so as to affect the yield, the crop being so near maturity.

From Portage La Prairie Mr. Jaques went up the

to Langenburg, its terminus, striking, en route, the towns of Minnedosa, Shoal Lake, Birtle and Binscarth, and making lateral excursions into the country at each of these points. Near Minnedosa there were found occasional wheat fields touched with frost to a slight extent. The land along this line of road is of exceptional richness and presents a beautiful park-like appearance, suggestive of many parts of England. This especially refers to the valley of the Assiniboine. The scenery is in many parts of sylvan beauty, and the soil a rich friable loam, capable of producing magnificent crops. From Langenburg Mr. Jaques drove to Churchbridge, the English Church settlement, and found the settlers comfortable and contented, with fine crops of wheat, barley and oats. He next went to the "Commercial" settlement, in charge of an organization which gives the settler a "location" builds a house and breaks up thirty acres, gives him a cow, a plough and a yoke of oxen, taking a mortgage on the articles as security for repayment when the land yields its increase. This year seventy settlers took advantage of these terms. Mr. Jacques thinks an extension of this system to other parts of the Northwest would be of incalculable benefit to the country and to thousands of persons without means of making a start in life. Most of these settlers are doing well and well satisfied. Mr. Jacques related instances of a Farrell family from Northumberland, England. When asked if they would like to go back to the old country the good wife, though overjoyed too see a face from 'Ome, promptly and decisively replied,

"NO; YOU COULD'NT PAY US TO GO BACK,

we are doing so well here. We like the winter far better than the old country winters." This family settled last September. The three boys cut timber and hauled it up and in the spring built, an eight-stall stable, granary, hen house and the finest dairy in the Northwest. Two of the boys hired out, and with the proceeds of their labour bought 15 cows. The family has 40 acres under crop—20 in oats which will yield 60 bushels to the acre—12 in wheat, 35 bushels to the acre, and the balance in barley. The farmer bought a self-binder, and after using it on his own grain, expected to earn enough by reaping his neighbors' crops to pay for the machine. The family had no capital to start with and it is expected this year's crop will pay off the whole indebtedness. A modification of the "commercial" system is the York company—and the instance is noted of a young Ontario farmer, who settled three years ago. He has now 85 acres under crop. He did all the work himself with the help of a man two months in the spring. He has 40 acres of oats averaging 5ft. 6in. in height, which will yield 80 bushels to the acre—30 of wheat, 40 bushels to the acre, the balance in barley with stock in addition. His original capital was only a few hundred dollars, and he is now free of debt.

Mr. Jaques thinks that the average yield of the wheat crop will be about 30 bushels, though there are exceptions. The estimate placing the total yield this year at twenty millions he thought too high. After a wide range of observation, he thinks the total would be more correctly put at from fifteen to sixteen millions. He noted with satisfaction that many parts that were merely ready land five years before were well settled, and, as a rule, all were doing well; some complaints were made, but these came from those whose lack of thrift and industry accounted for their ill success—their not adapting themselves to their surroundings. He was best impressed with the country along the line of the Manitoba and Northwestern railway, and thinks they are the most fertile and best adapted for settlement of any in the Northwest. If he were going to settle he would go there, and he would advise others to visit this section before deciding. Mr. Jaques spent three days in Winnipeg and was much gratified at its growth and progress.

Mr. Jaques finds there is great difficulty in persuading the English tenant farmer to move—he holds on, hoping that things may improve. But he thinks his lectures this winter, illustrated, as they will be, by views of Northwest scenes, and presenting a favorable view of the country as a home, will induce many to change their condition and try freehold farming in the fertile Canadian Northwest. Mr. Jaques is a close and intelligent observer, and presents his facts in a clear manner, easily understood.

FIRES OF A DAY.

Livery Stables Burnt at Orangeville—A Lad Crushed in the Ruins.

ORANGEVILLE, Sept. 7.—Jones and Glover's livery stables were burnt yesterday morning at 1 o'clock. Three rigs and six horses were destroyed. The fire was evidently the work of an incendiary. The Advertiser lays it to local jealousy and enmity arising out of rivalry in the 'bus line, and calls upon the mayor to institute an investigation.

A few hours after the fire was subdued the brick gable fell, crushing almost to death a young Irish lad named Wilson, a nephew of Father Jeffcott. No hopes are entertained of his recovery.

Two Oshawa Losses.

OSHAWA, Sept. 7.—Coulthard, Scott & Co.'s agricultural implement factory and W. J. Hare's foundry, with the larger part of the machinery and material in the former and all the contents of the latter, were burned yesterday morning at 3 o'clock. The loss is estimated at $12,000 insurance $9000.

AFFABLE BISMARCK.

The Chancellor Is Very Well at Present—A Fine Holiday.

BERLIN, Sept. 7.—Prince Bismarck is very well at present and takes much exercise in the open air. He often speaks with great affability to the people whom he meets. On Saturday he asked the boys of a Hamburg school whether they had a holiday, and on receiving an answer that all the Hamburg schools were closed on Sedan day, he remarked with a kind smile: "Sedan day! This is the fourth school I have met to-day. Yes, Sedan is a fine holiday, children. You can often happily celebrate Sedan."

The Empress Victoria, widow of Emperor Frederick, I am informed, purposes leaving Potsdam for England in about a fortnight from the present time. After a stay of a week or two with the Queen, she will return to Berlin, whence she will soon afterward proceed to Rome.

The Greek Crown Prince, who went yesterday to attend a review at Juterbogk, has returned to Berlin. The few weeks which have to elapse before his return to Athens the prince will spend chiefly in Potsdam and Berlin, in the immediate neighborhood of his fiancee, the Princess Sophia. He has to be back at Athens on Oct. 23, the twenty-fifth anniversary of his father's ascension to the throne of Greece. With regard to the date of the wedding nothing at present has been settled, nor is it known whether the Princess Sophia will be received into the Greek Church, though this is considered probable. It is quite true that Emperor Frederick, before he died, expressed himself desirous of seeing this union between his daughter and the heir apparent to the Greek throne.

On Monday evening he will leave for Wilhelmshaven, and the next day will review the troops there, and also inspect the ironclads. On Tuesday the Emperor will be present at a grand dinner at Wilhelmshaven, and on Wednesday will return to Berlin in order to welcome the Austrian Archduke, Field Marshal Albrecht, who will then arrive. The Russian Grand Duke Nicholas will arrive at Berlin about the same time. The Emperor will shortly join the Empress and their children at the Schloss Primkenau, in Silesia, where he will have some shooting with his brother-in-law, and probably remain for the celebration of the birthday of the Empress, on Oct. 22. On Oct. 25 it is his intention to be present at the celebration of the 700th anniversary of the building of the cathedral of Stendal, which is famous for its beautiful brick ornaments and painted windows.

The Moon's Influence

Their homes, and above to those who call, a complete line of our valuable and very useful HOUSEHOLD FAMILY BIBLES. These cannot be sold at the trade, and we send them and other goods to such locality, to keep in your home for 10 months and charge them to those who may be satisfied, they become your own property. It is possible to make this great offer, making the SOLID GOLD watch and CHOICE complete free, as the showing of the watches in any locality, always results in a large trade for us in other complete family lines in that locality, and we are very anxious to introduce it into this locality. Now, the fact that we make this offer, is made in order that our watches may be placed in those where they can be seen, all over the country, and thereby introduce them. Therefore it will be hardly any trouble for you to show them to those who may call, and your reward will be great pecuniarily. A postal card on which to write to make full name and address, and we will do the rest. Don't delay, as we have but a limited number of these watches to dispose of, and if you do not care to go further, why no harm done, and if you do send your name at once, you can secure one of these GOLD watches. Write at once, as this may be the only chance you will ever have to secure a GOLD watch free. Address, THE CHARLES STINSON CO'Y, Box 487, PORTLAND, MAINE.

Strong Claims Indeed.

The Hobcaygeon Independent prefaces its account of the attempted burglary of Gough Bros.' store last week with the following:—"Peterborough's claims to the title of a city are accumulating fast. There was a time some years ago when burglaries were scarcely known, and one man, a retired and peaceful tailor, was Chief of Police, and the entire force. Now, daring burglaries are becoming quite common."

A New Warehouse.

Work has been progressing for a few days upon a new grain warehouse and general freight storehouse at the C. P. R. railway depot, which will be rushed up in time for the fall grain trade. The C.P.R. company are building it and have a staff of eight men working on it at present. Next week ten more men will be added. The warehouse will be a frame structure, 36x64 feet, with a capacity of 20,000 bushels.

The "Dominion Illustrated."

The current number of this beautiful and artistic weekly (Sept. 8th) is one of unusual merit, and the merit seems to increase with each issue. Montreal: Desbarrats & Son; $4 per year.

An Unreserved Sale.

To-morrow forenoon on the market square there will be sold unreservedly a quantity of household furniture, a horse, cow, phaeton, cutter and garden vegetables, the property of E. G. Stone. Mr. Stone's house and market garden in the south end of the town will also be rented, as he is leaving Peterborough. Mr. Chas. Stapleton is auctioneer.

A Monster Labor Demonstration.

The celebration of labor day has "come to stay" in Peterborough, as a prominent labor man put it to-day. It will henceforth be an annual institution, and already the trades and labour council of Peterborough are moving for a monster district demonstration here next September. The trades and labor organizations between Toronto and Kingston will be invited to participate, and it is intended to make the day one memorable in the annals of the province.

Stony Lake Islands.

Our Lakefield correspondent writes as follows:—In mentioning owners of islands in my yesterday's correspondence, we were not aware that Mr. R. W. Grubbe, teller of the Bank of Toronto, is the happy possessor of those two lovely islands at the entrance of Kels' creek—one called "Chinquilla" and the other "Hazelwood." Mr. Grubbe hopes to bring home some bear steaks on his return from his holidays early in October. He will go better prepared this time to battle with his old enemies, the "b'ars," and will take light boots and train for, say a 100-yards dash. Your readers will doubtless remember Mr. Grubbe's exciting adventure with a bear last season.

A Railway Run Off.

This morning about nine o'clock a special arrived at the Midland station, and while there did a little shunting—in fact rather overdid it. The train hands were new to the yard, and were shunting some cars on the siding alongside McBain's warehouse, thinking doubtless that there was a stop block at the street end of the track, but there was not, and the cars being sent with some force, struck an empty standing at the end of the siding with the brakes off and sent it flying across the street, the wheels stopping in the ditch in front of Coughlin's grocery. Fortunately nothing was broken, but the car obstructed street traffic at this point for some time.

Endeavor to be Present at

Music in the Schools.

There is naturally some difference of opinion regarding the introduction of vocal music in the schools. There is some doubt as to whether the children by this means can be made to sing. But there is no doubt that gough bros., the wonderful cheap men, are making the shoe trade boom and the high-price dealers, ham-p. The most stupendous deluge of cheap boots and shoes since Noah's flood. Two thousand five hundred pairs of prime, perfect, well-made boots and shoes for children, boys and girls, men and women, bought at half price and sold at the same reduction in figures. So wonderful are the bargains that even a shoemaker's wife can be shod at gough's. Now is the time to buy, make hay while the sun shines—buy boots while the bargains boom. At the rate the goods are going this stock will soon go. Then don't delay, join the procession of customers to gough bros.' boot and shoe store, 375 George street.

A Baseball Tournament.

The directors of the Central Exhibition are arranging a new attraction for the great Midland District fall fair. They propose to hold a baseball tournament on Wednesday, Sept. 26th, the middle day of the exhibition, and have issued circulars asking the following outside clubs to participate:—Campbellford, Hastings, Lindsay, Millbrook, Cobourg, Uxbridge and Newcastle. Some of these clubs mentioned are good ones. The first prize will be a silver cup valued at $20, and if more than two clubs compete a second prize, cup valued at $10, will be given. The games will be played on the agricultural grounds here, one of the finest ball fields in the district. Entries must be made before Sept. 22nd, when the drawing for places will take place. One of the rules of the contest is:—"No club will be allowed to play men who, previous to and since Sept. 1st have not been actual residents of the town or village that the club represents." Answers to the circulars are requested not later than Monday, Sept. 17th.

the Endeavor Society, in the Royal Templar Revival Bands.

A Hamilton despatch says:—At the headquarters of the Royal Templars here arrangements have been made for the fall campaign of the five rival bands belonging to the Order. The Rescue Duet will remain in their present field, New Brunswick, until Nov. 1. The Emerald Trio will commence in Hemmingford, Que., next week and work in that Province until Christmas. Messrs. Whyte and Irish go to Oshawa next week, visiting Ottawa and other places previous to conducting a series of meetings in Toronto, commencing about Oct. 1. They will be assisted by Rev. D. V. Lucas, M.A., who before beginning work in Toronto will hold meetings in Peterborough, the temperance people there having determined to open a campaign at once, rather than wait until forced into a fight by the anti-Scott Act people. The Excelsior Duet are now laboring in Manitoulin Island and will begin holding meetings in Western Ontario about Oct. 1. A new and novel band is being organized which will be known as the Royal Templar Lifeboat Crew, to be composed of young men dressed in appropriate sailor costume.

School Room of Charlotte St.

A Bad Beginning.

Louis Hector Mason is the name of the boy who was arrested for the theft of $15 from Mr. R J. Kidd's boot store. He is nine years old but very small for his age. His parents are grieved over his wayward conduct, but do not wish to shield him from the punishment that they hope will do him good. The lad admits having stolen the money from Mr. Kidd, and says he got nearly $20, but that it is all spent. It was first thought he was connected with the robbery of the George street church, but the boy says the silver he was getting changed, which caused the suspicion, was also stolen from Mr. Kidd. He is evidently a bad little boy, and is making a wrong start in life. He denies having bought anything with the money, except taffy and fruit, but it has been proved that he purchased a small bicycle, lacrosse stick and ball, and other things. It is believed he has some of the money hidden away, but the little fellow refuses to disclose it to the police. Mr. Kidd says the boy often came in to sell papers and had entire freedom of the shop, and he believes he has stolen money frequently before. The boy was brought up before the magistrate this morning and remanded. He will be kept in the lock-up till he confesses everything.

Methodist Church, Monday

A Proposed Burns Club.

A grand gathering of Scotchmen will take place at the Grand Central hotel on Saturday evening next, September 8th, to consider the formation of a Burns club. This club is intended to be complementary to the St. Andrew's society and not by any means to supply its place. While the latter has its general social features and permanently charitable and helpful character, it fails to supply the social element, and the facilities for frequent social reunion which the proposed club is intended to supply. The chief object of the Burns club is to establish a fixed and permanent rendezvous, where Scots may meet weekly on a social footing, and by this means keep alive the love of the mither-land, and the rendering of Scottish songs, glees, etc., and other entertaining exercises will also contribute to the cultivation of the desired spirit of filial affection to Old Scotland. The St. Andrew's society while doing in a quiet and unostentatious way, throughout the year, a large amount of benevolent work, holds only one annual reunion, and the opportunities for social intercourse are, of course, limited chiefly to that occasion. Therefore it is hoped that every leal Scotchman will see the advisability of attending the meeting on Saturday night, and, pondering over the subject, he will give new significance to the poetical inquiry of the immortal Burns:

Should auld acquaintance be forgot
And never brought to min'?
Should auld acquaintance be forgot
And days o' lang syne?

Obituary.

The Late Mrs. Alfred Crawford.

Intelligence has been received of the death of Sarah Bloodgood Crawford, wife of Mr. Alfred Crawford, formerly of Otonabee, well-known in town as owner of "Crawford's grove." Mrs. Crawford died in Belleville on August 11th, aged 69 years, 10 months and three days. The deceased lady was a native of New York state, where she was married to Mr. Crawford in 1853. Mr. Crawford then returned with Mrs. Crawford to Canada, and they lived on the farm in Otonabee till within the last ten years, since which time they have lived in different places. Both Mr. and Mrs. Crawford were active members of the society of Friends, and working in its interests it was necessary for them to remove frequently. Their last place of residence was Belleville where Mrs. Crawford died and where the family still resides. Mrs. Crawford was an earnest member of the religious body with which she was identified, and in her private life was a remarkably exemplary Christian. She trained her family strictly in the principles by which she lived; the results of this training were that in early life her two daughters—the sole family—followed in the footsteps of the mother in religious things, indeed, Anna B., being a prominent minister and preacher in the society of Friends. The remains of the late Mrs. Crawford were laid in the cemetery attached to the Friends' meeting house in Sidney, Hastings county

The Late Robert Girven.

The recent death of Robert Girven, of Douro, at the age of 53 resulted from peculiar circumstances. During sheep washing time one of his lads, who was with him, went swimming and got into an eddy; the father saw his danger and, though he himself could not swim, plunged in after the lad, but sank to the bottom. Luckily he scrambled on his hands and knees on the bottom in the direction of the land and so reached the shore. It is supposed that he breathed into his lungs some particles of sawdust, for serious lung trouble of an intractable nature set in and resulted in his death. Deceased, who was the eldest son of ten children of Mr. Girven, well known in Otonabee, originally lived in that township. He began life by farming on a small scale, but by energy and industry became the owner of a large farm. He was highly respected in all the relations of life and his memory is held in deservedly high esteem.

Shorty's Soliloquy.

The following, taken from the Port Hope Times, is from the pen of "Shorty" Salter, whose familiar apparition haunts the lake with annual regularity, and refers to Peterborough people, members of Crescent Camp. When Shorty breaks out into "poiktry" it's a bad sign. All his other sins might be forgiven him, but this—this is too much. Here it is:—

At Anchorage Island, Stony Lake,
Peterborough's people a crescent camp did make,
Over twenty are seen,
Some white, black and green.
There just for fun or health's sake.

There's Mrs. D., Aunty Em., and one they call Mag,
Billy H., the Professor, Mike, Harry and Pau,
Moff. cooks a good dish,
Dennis catches the fish,
But they soon all disappear in Alf.'s jaw.

Then there's McGilly, Utility, Baby and Pet,
Four of the nicest girls on the lake you bet,
Also Becky and Lou,
And the Dr., who
Tipped out of his canoe and got wet.

And Topsy, Lillie, Mac, Fred and Joe,
And an Irish chap that is called Let er-go,
Also two girls from Port Hope,
Who around camp do mope,
And are always dressed up just so.

The people of above mentioned camp
Are all of a very fine stamp,
They went to the main shore
Some boards to bring o'er,
But they swamped and all got very damp.

They also went to the shore for a hop,
And the girls the dance did not let stop,
But the boys pleaded tired,
And they soon got mired
In something that was stronger than pop.

Sometimes they all in for a swim do go,
And it is as good fun as a nigger show,
For the smallest goat
Around doth float
With his inflated nocturnal habiliments.

At last came the time as we knew it must,
When our jolly party had to be crushed,
But never fear,
For I know next year
We'll have as good a time "or bust."

Mr. J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., addressed a well attended meeting of his constituents at Baillieboro on Thursday evening. Mr. E. B. Stone delivered a supplementary address. Mr. John Porter occupied the chair.

Mr. Geo. E. Williams, formerly of Peterborough, now secretary of the Y.M.C.A. at Brixton, London, England, has been attending the World's Conference of Young Men's Christian Associations at Stockholm, and has sent several readable letters to the Montreal Witness.

On Wednesday Mr. C. J. ("Joe") Phelan went to Ottawa to attend St. Joseph's College. "Joe" will be greatly missed in lacrosse circles, especially in the coming match with the Bradford twelve. He is an exceptionally expert and reliable goal-keeper, and his absence will considerably handicap the Riversides in a match.

Campbellford Herald:—Dr. Goldsmith last week packed up all his household effects and, with his family, took their departure for Peterborough, where he will resume the work of his profession. By the Dr.'s removal we lose one of our best citizens, and a reliable physician who enjoyed a practice which few medical men attain to in a small place. We hope he will succeed well and enjoy his new home.

ONE of the reasons why Scott's Emulsion has such a large sale is because it is the best. Dr. W. H. Cameron, Halifax, N.S., says: "I have prescribed Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, with Hypophosphites for the last two years, and found it more agreeable to the stomach and have better results faom its use than any other preparation of the kind I have ever used." Sold by all Druggists 50c. and $1.00. 4w36eod

Ontario Cheese Market.

KINGSTON, Sept. 7.—At the cheese board yesterday about 1500 boxes were registered, but no sales were made.

AYLMER, Sept. 7.—Two thousand boxes of July and August cheese were boarded here yesterday. No sales reported, 8c. offered for July and 8¼c. for August.

LISTOWEL, Sept. 7.—At the cheese fair yesterday twenty-nine factories offered 13,080 boxes, mostly August cheese, of which 6780 were colored and 6280 pale. Market dull, nine buyers present. Sales were: August cheese, 930 boxes at 8c. and 540 at 8¼c., 550 July at 8¼c., 400 part July and August at 8¼c.

Nobody's Child.

HAMILTON, Sept. 7.—Last night Mr. Patrick Earles had occasion to go out into his yard, and while there he was surprised to find a child, about one month old. The babe was well wrapped up in light flannel clothes and had the appearance of being pretty well cared for. There was nothing about the child to indicate or give any clue of how it came there or to whom it belonged.

A Big Fire at Midland.

MIDLAND, Sept. 7.—Foster & Brock, mill, salt block and chromine mills were burned Wednesday night. Mr. Foster estimates his loss above the insurance at not less than $15,000.

Montreal Must Pay for the Accident.

MONTREAL, Sept. 7.—Judge Mathieu gave judgment yesterday in the cases of J. B. Cadaret v. the city, and A. P. Vanasse, et al., v. the city. It will be remembered that when Cardinal Taschereau visited Montreal two years ago an arch erected by the city at the foot of Jacques Cartier-square broke down, killing an old lady, Mrs. Vanasse, and severely injuring her niece, Miss Cadaret. The children of Mrs. Vanasse claimed $5000 damages and the father of Miss Cadaret $200. The court held the city responsible, and rendered judgment for the full amount claimed by Cadaret, but reduced the claim of Mrs. Vanasse's heirs to $1000.

A Railway Crash.

LIMA, Ohio, Sept. 6.—A passenger train on the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago ran into a passenger train on the Lake Erie and Western here. The first was an hour late and was coming in at about forty miles an hour, when the air brakes refused to work. The engine went clean through the Lake Erie baggage car cutting it completely in two. The passengers were badly shaken, a few receiving bad cuts about the head. The Fort Wayne engine left the track. If the Lake Erie had been a second sooner in pulling over the crossing it would have entailed tremendous loss of life, as the passenger cars were full.

A Miracle at St. Anne de Beaupre.

QUEBEC, Sept. 7.—Another miracle is said to have been performed at the shrine of St. Anne de Beaupre: A beautiful young daughter of Mr. William Alcrow of this city, fell some five years ago and hurt her knee; it turned into something like a white swelling and she has had to walk with crutches since. She came to St. Anne a week ago and was faithful at her devotions. One morning, having partaken of Holy Communion, she instantly found a change take place as though she could walk. She arose and is now doing well and walking about nicely.

The fruit season has now come and we must prepare to put up our fruit. Now what kind of jars are we to use? Of course, glass jars; but so many of those we had last year cracked in filling that it makes it very expensive. Oh, I remember how Mrs. Goodwife told me last year she bought her jars at "China Hall," and that she did not break a jar in filling or lose a single can of fruit. I shall buy from China Hall this season. As the price is just the same I might as well have the best.

CORSETS

Every lady purchasing CORSETS and wishing to get the Best Article for the least outlay, should visit TURNBULL'S, as he always keeps in stock the Best Makes from all the leading manufacturers. Some makes are peculiarly adapted to suit a particular style of figure. Below we enumerate a few lines from which you can select in any size from 18 to 30. Larger sizes procured on short notice.

THE YATISI CORSET

is modelled from a design of one of the most celebrated Parisian makers. It gives a lady that ease and grace so much admired in French ladies.

The YATISI CORSET owing to the peculiar diagonal elasticity of the cloth will fit the wearer perfectly the first time worn, no matter what her style of form is, either long or short waisted. To ladies wishing to lace light and not feel uncomfortable at the bust or hips, they are indispensible.

The YATISI CORSET does not stretch at the waist; requires no breaking in; fits comfortable the first time worn, as it gives to every motion of the wearer. It will outlast any of the old style rigid Corsets.

The YATISI CORSET can be worn ten days and if not found satisfactory in every respect the money will be refunded at TURNBULL'S.

THE CORALINE CORSET

What is Coraline? Coraline is composed of a bundle of stiff and and very elastic fibres like bristles tightly bound with strong thread. Coraline contains no sizing of any kind but its stiffness exists in the natural fibre and is permanent. Look for the Coraline Corset at TURNBULL'S, every pair stamped.

BALL'S CORSETS.

These Corsets need no breaking in—invalids can wear them with ease and comfort, as they do not compress the vital parts of the wearer. They fit a great variety of forms owing to their peculiar construction—they are very durable. They have the endorsement of every physician who has examined them. Every pair warranted—the money refunded if not satisfactory after wearing them three weeks at TURNBULL'S.

THE PARISENNE.

The PARISENNE is a new make which is becoming very popular. It is something after the style of the old French Corded Corset—is shorter waisted than most of the other makes, which makes it adapted for a stout figure.

Everything desirable in the Corset line always to be found at TURNBULL'S at prices that are never beaten.

DISALLOWANCE IN QUEBEC

THE VETO OF A NUMBER OF ACTS SAID TO BE CONTEMPLATED.

Premier Mercier in Fighting Trim and Humor—The Liberal Chief and his Organs Reticent.

QUEBEC, Sept. 8.—Although there is no doubt that the Federal Government has vetoed the District Magistrates' Act passed at the last session of the Legislature, no official news thereof has been received. Premier Mercier yesterday telegraphed Sir J. S. D. Thompson, asking whether the report was true and received a reply from the Minister of Justice that the matter was now before the Governor-General-in-Council and that Premier Mercier would be notified when a result was reached.

As for the disallowance business it is reported that the Premier has reason to believe that the Jesuits' Estates Bill and the bill relating to the conversion of the debt are also to be vetoed and some hot work may be expected in consequence, as he is in fighting trim and humor. It may be taken for granted that he will not recede from the position he has assumed regarding the three bills in question.

Although the Premier himself and his organs here are very reticent as to the precise course he will adopt when he is officially apprised of the disallowance of the bill, the bellicose tone of L'Electeur yesterday leaves no manner of doubt as to his intention to fight the question to the bitter end with Sir John's Government. Opinions are somewhat divided as to the exact line of resistance he will take up, some holding that he will dissolve and appeal to the province, when he thinks he will carry everything before him and crush the Conservatives almost out of existence in the Legislature; others that he will call the Legislature together at once and re-enact the bill, and others again that he will disregard the veto, put the machinery of the new Court into motion, execute its judgments and thus force the opponents of the measure to test its constitutionaly before the higher courts and ultimately before the Imperial Privy Council.

The latter theory finds the most advocates and it is thought that he will bring the resolutions of the Interprovincial Conference and the whole question of the veto powers before the British House of Commons without delay.

The Conservatives of Quebec are somewhat jubilant over the alleged disallowance, asserting that it is the first step towards Mr. Mercier's overthrow. L'Evenement, last evening, expresses no opinion on the subject, but Sir Hector's organ, Le Courrier, claims that as a consequence of the disallowance Mr. Mercier will have to resign.

The Liberals on the other are intensely indignant over the alleged action of the Federal Government. A leading member said to-day to your correspondent: "I am glad this has happened. It will be the beginning of the end. We will sweep the Tories out of the Province."

From this variety of political opinion one fact at all events may be extracted: that lively times in matters political are at hand in this province.

MONTREAL, Sept. 8.—In the Police Court a man aged 45, named James Jamieson, pleaded guilty to a charge of attempted suicide. He hung himself from the balcony of his house as his wife would have nothing more to do with him.

General Laurie Unseated in Shelburne.

HALIFAX, Sept. 8.—Judge Smith's decision in the Shelburne County election case was filed at Shelburn yesterday. It deprives General Laurie of his seat in the House of Commons, but does not disqualify him.

A BIG BATCH OF SPEECHES

BUT NO ACTION TAKEN ON THE RETALIATION BILL.

A Michigan Representative Thinks the President's Policy Would Injure that Section of the States.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—The House resumed the consideration of the Retaliation Bill to-day. Mr. Rockwell (Dem., Mass.) said that during the recent negotiations between the United States and Great Britain, currency had been given to the unfortunate idea that this country should not go to war on account of a few fish. While the United States should avoid war as long as possible, as a nation holding in its hands the hopes of a world, this great republic should always stand firm for a recognition of its rights and for the protection of its citizens.

Mr. Nutting (Rep., N.Y.) said that some gentlemen on his side of the House thought the President's message was sent to Congress, not because the President really needed the power he asked for, but because it was a time in the juncture of affairs when it might be of assistance to him and to his party. Admitting that this was so, it must be remembered that the questions which now confronted Congress related to international policy. The Canadian authorities had discriminated against American commerce passing through the Welland and other Canadian canals, and the effect of this unfair treatment was that commerce on Lake Ontario was confined almost entirely to Canadian and English vessels. He charged against the English Government that it had collected upon American cereals alone passing through the Welland Canal more than $600,000 and he claimed that to-day under article XXVII of the Treaty of 1871 England owed the United States that amount. During the whole term of the present administration the President had the power to stop this discrimination against American vessels inasmuch as Great Britain had violated the obligation of Article XXVII. In addition to this Congress had a year and a-half ago given him express authority to retaliate. Why was it that the President during the four years of his administration and especially during the past eighteen months had made no attempt to stop the infraction of the rights of the American people? The American Government was to blame for the present difficulty. It had relied upon English honor when the history of nations would show that it was not safe to place reliance on English promises. If the Mills Bill should become law England would have accomplished by her diplomacy and her influence in this country what she had been unable to accomplish by the sword.

Mr. Romeiss (Dem., O.) called attention to the fact that off the mouth of the Detroit River the American Government had extended a channel at the cost of thousands of dollars. That channel was in Canadian territory and might be closed up by the Canadian authorities.

Mr. Hooker (Dem., Miss.) answered the charge that the President had been derelict in not exercising the power conferred upon him by the act of 1887. Prior to that date and at the very time of the passage of the act the United States had been endeavoring to enter into negotiations with Great Britain to settle the question of what are the rights of American citizens. In all probabilities, for this reason the President had not exercised his power, and for the further reason that under the act of 1887 the power of retaliation was limited to exclusion of Canadian vessels from United States ports and did not extend to the restraining of the shipment of goods in bond across American territory. Retaliation to be effective must be thorough, and so the House had thought when it had vainly sought to amend the act of 1887 by conferring upon the President authority to stop transportation in bond. It is the settled determination of the American Senate that there should be no treaty with Great Britain to settle the great question which has vexed the country for nearly a century. It would have been in bad taste for the President, when he was negotiating a treaty, to enforce the act of 1887.

Mr. Cannon (Rep., Ill.) said: "The question now presented, boiled down to a point, was whether American fishermen had rights in common with Canadians. When American fishermen profited by their work it was important that they should be enabled to go into a Canadian port and ship their fish through Canada to American markets. That was what they wanted. That was what they had if Article XXIX of the treaty of 1871 was still in force—as he contended it was. Canada may have mistaken certain rights, which a little boy may attempt to exercise against a big fellow, because he knew that the big fellow was afraid to strike a child, but the big fellow finally gets tired and retaliates." Mr. Cannon read the act of 1887 to show that it conferred plenty of powers upon the President to enable him to put a stop to Canadian wrongs and discriminations. He read an order, signed by the President on March 12, 1887, designating San Francisco as a port of entry for goods in bond, to show that at that time, after the passage of the Retaliation Bill, the President did not think Article XXIX abrogated. Now the President says it had been dead since 1885 and that this man who had towered like a Colossus among all, between sun-up and sun-down, under the wise manipulation and crafty suggestions of the twenty times millionaires, had turned a double somersault and with an anathema against the Canadian Government cried out "Gore! Gore! Gore!" [Laughter.] But nobody would be deceived. Everybody understood that the present Executive was not going to spill his blood in war. The people would not again be fooled. Thank God this was a day of newspapers and school-houses and gentlemen might as well undertake to dip the Atlantic dry with a table-spoon as to fool the loyal masses of the country by any such claptrap. [Applause on Republican side.]

Mr. McMillan: "Are you going to vote for this claptrap?"

Mr. Cannon: "When it is going to be a Chinese policy of terrifying enemies by the beating of gongs rather than by using the tithe of the substance that is in our hands I guess it is patriotic to give the President another hammer." [Laughter.]

Mr. Seymour (Rep., Mich.) said that the Northwest was interested in short and cheap lines of traffic. The extension of power requested by the President would, if given, result in the prohibition by Canada of the transit of American goods through that country. It would not benefit the fisherman but would damage the Northwest and Canada. It would seem that a remedy for the complaint with regard to the fisheries might be found without jeopardizing the interests of the Northwest. If Canadian fish and fishermen had been excluded from the United States the Dominion would have quickly realized its mistake.

After further remarks by Messrs. Adams, White, Kerr and Post, it was agreed that a vote on the bill should be taken at 4 o'clock to-morrow afternoon, and pending further debate the House at 5 o'clock took a recess.

Broker Cox in Court—Out on Bail—Cost of the New Court House.

TORONTO, Sept. 8.—The cost of the new Court House will be $1,405,034, which is $582,034 in excess of the cash on hand and debentures authorised to be issued. The committe recommend that a bylaw be submittee at the earliest possible day providing for the additional amount.

Broker E. S. Cox appeared at the Police Court yesterday, and evidence was first taken on the second charge of embezzlement of $8000 from the Central Bank. The magistrate expressed the opinion that no evidence had been given to show that the bank gave Cox the money for the specific purpose of retiring the deposit receipts, and a remand was asked for. The $10,000 charge was then gone into and Cox' check for that amount was produced with a receipt on the back undertaking to retire a certain deposit receipt held by James Baxter of Montreal. Mr. Osler, for the prosecution, announced that he did not propose to offer further evidence just then, but that at a future date he would prove that the money was given to Cox for the purpose of retiring a certain deposit receipt and that the prisoner had not so used it. He would also show that after being refused credit by the bank he forced Allan to allow him to increase his indebtedness to $133,178. To the charge of defrauding John Anderson of stocks valued at $2200 Cox pleaded not guilty and elected to be tried by a jury. The case was remanded for a week, Cox' own bail being taken for his appearance. In the other cases an adjournment for a week was also had and the bail was reduced one-half. Frank Baby of Lambton Mills and Hardware Merchant Harry Collins of Toronto, went on his bond for $5000 each and Frank Baby and Real Estate Agent Frank Lee for $2000 each and Cox was once more a free man.

Before Judge Falconbridge, presiding in the High Court yesterday, a motion was made in the Ayr poisoning case to admit Catherine Perrin, the wife of the murdered man, to bail on the ground that she would shortly become a mother and that there was no direct evidence of guilt. The Crown not consenting the court refused bail.

The Ontario Government have made these appointments: Charles G. Anderson of Delaware township, Middlesex county, to be clerk of the Fourth Division court of Middlesex in the stead of Charles J. Fox, resigned. Telesphore Rochon of Clarence township, Russell county, to be clerk of the Tenth Division Court of the united counties of Prescott and Russell, in the stead of P. D. McDonald, resigned. John Bruce, of Walkerton, to be police magistrate for Walkerton, without salary, in the stead of Richard Vanstone, resigned. Henry Clay, of Dutton, Elgin County, barrister at law, to be a notary Public for the Province of Ontario. George James Sutherland, of Hensall, Huron county, to be a Notary Public for the Province of Ontario.

RAILWAY RUMORS.

The Manitoba Atmosphere Filled With Reports, Probable and Otherwise.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 7.—Railway rumors fill the air, amongst them being that the Manitoba road will lease or purchase the Emerson branch and ask aid from the city to build a bridge over the Red River; that the Canadian Pacific has bought the Manitoba and Northwestern and Northwest Central, thus cutting off the Northern Pacific at Brandon and Portage; that the Manitoba will put on a fast train to St. Paul; that the Hudson Bay promoters are still urging their claims on the Government for the full guarantee of $4,500,000, but that Greenway will not go beyond $2,500,000, and that the probabilities of agreement are slight; and that the Government is considering the advisability of aiding forty miles of the Hudson Bay already built, if it is extended into the city and to Lake Manitoba.

In support of the first rumor is the fact that Biggs, who has been acting as counsel for the Manitoba road, left for St. Paul today, being wired for by the company.

Those interested in the Manitoba and Northwestern deny any knowledge of a sale to the Canadian Pacific.

Wheat at Oak Lake is quoted at 83 cents.

The reports of great damage done to the wheat crop by the frost are contradicted by several gentlemen who have just returned from the country.

The wife of George Young, Dominion Lands agent for Manitoba, died suddenly this morning at Banff. She was a daughter of Contractor Scott, formerly of Toronto.

The display of Manitoba products will leave for Toronto on Sunday.

Mr. McLaren, President of the Bank of Ottawa, has become largely interested in The Free Press, which is now controlled by Luxton.

The Northern Pacific officials arrived to-night over the Red River road.

Sir William Howland left to-night for Toronto.

CUTLERS' BANQUET ECHOES.

Sir Charles Tupper's Speech Attracts a Good Deal of Notice.

LONDON, Sept. 8.—Sir Charles Tupper's speech attracts a good deal of notice from the press. Generally speaking the tone of Sir Charles' remarks is warmly approved. The Standard declares that England has a right to expect that the Canadians will be careful not to involve us needlessly in difficulties with foreign powers if it is possible to avoid them by conciliation and legitimate concession. In return Canada is certain to receive the full encouragement and support of Great Britain in resistance to unlawful aggression.

The St. James Gazette admits that Canada's position is perfectly fair and unassailable, but reminds Canada that it is sometimes impolitic and even impossible to take the full advantage of a strong position.

The Bed Was Burning.

MONTREAL, Sept. 8.—Another fire has broken out in the house of Thomas Boylan, who is at present a prisoner before the Court of Queen's Bench, where he is indicted for arson, having tried to set fire, it is alleged, to the same house. When the fire brigade arrived there it was found that the bed was burning. There have been four fires in these premises two years.

THE AUGUST STATEMENT.

A CONTINUING INCREASE IN THE AMOUNT OF REVENUE.

Expenditure Being Kept Down—A Surplus for the First Two Months of the Fiscal Year of $1,108,666—The Public Debt.

OTTAWA, Sept. 8.—The statement of revenue and expenditure for August shows that the revenue continues to boom and the expenditure to be kept reasonably down, so that the surplus for the first two months of the fiscal year is $1,108,666. The figures for the month are:

Customs	$ 2,339,833
Excise	534,104
Postoffice	160,000
Public works (including railways)	367,698
Miscellaneous	51,123
Total	$ 3,452,857
Revenue to July 31	2,807,337
Total	$ 6,260,194
Expenditure for Aug	$ 2,611,812
Ex. to July 31	2,539,726
Total	$ 5,151,538
Revenue over expenditure	$ 1,108,666

This shows these increases:

Customs	$ 948,322
Excise	50,916
Postoffice	24,388
Public works (including railways)	316,643

Miscellaneous shows a decrease of $12,331.

The accounts for the fiscal year ended June 30 last are not yet closed. The statement to Aug. 31 shows:

Total receipts	$35,864,495
Expenditure	36,698,006
Deficit	$ 833,511

The statement of Government savings banks for August shows a balance at credit of depositors at the end of this month of $20,512,485.

The statement of public debt on Aug. 30 shows:

Gross debt	$274,554,073
Assets	50,013,372
Net debt	$224,540,701

This is an increase of $3,903,630.

The expenditure on capital account for the first two months of the fiscal year has been:

Public works, railways and canals	$699,994
Railway Subsidies	21,000
Dominion Lands	247
Northwest rebellion losses	1,430
Total	$722,670

To-day's Canada Gazette contains notice of the return of Sir Adams G. Archibald for Colchester, N. S.

Sir R. T. Galt gives notice of application to Parliament for an act to incorporate the Alberta Railway and Coal Company to build a railway from Lethbridge south to the International boundary and connect with any railway in Montana.

The law agents of the liquidators in connection with the estate of the Dominion Cattle Company, give notice that a dividend sheet has been prepared and filed in the Supreme Court of the Province of Quebec, subject to objections to be made on or before Sept. 25.

Polson & Co. of Toronto have the contract for manufacturing two engines to supply the power of the new printing bureau. It is understood they will be ready to place on exhibition at the Toronto Exhibition and the Ottawa Exhibition.

Sir Hector Langevin returned yesterday from Nicolet.

Mr. Gisborne, Superintendent of Government Telegraph lines, will leave British Columbia on Monday to locate the proposed land line and cable from Victoria to Bonilla, a distance of 250 miles. Parliament last session voted a sum of $15,000 for the construction of this much-needed convenience.

Driven to Suicide by Criminal Charges.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 8.—Michael Bach, a butcher, went to his room yesterday, saying he would take a nap, and when next seen was dead, with a bullet through his brain and his pistol lying beside him. Some months ago John Heibach, a shoemaker, accused Bach of criminal relations with Mrs. Heibach. The two men had a fight, and both were arrested. Heibach swore that his wife had confessed to him that Bach was the father of her daughter, who is now 12 years old. He demanded that Bach indemnify him for the money he had expended in rearing and educating the girl. They were talking over the matter when the quarrel arose which led to the fight. Heibach soon brought suit for divorce, in which he repeated the allegations against Bach. A few weeks ago he filed another suit against Bach for $10,000 damages alleged to have been sustained in the fight.

A Reverend Villain.

CHICAGO, Sept. 8.—Rev. Jas. S. Greene, 80 years of age, was evicted from the Grand Central Hotel, where he occupied elegant quarters with an innocent bride, on the charge of bigamy preferred against him by a legal wife, who left him a short time ago in fear of her life. He has, it is said, been three times divorced from wives who have died of insanity and broken hearts, and has married six women.

Banker Waldron Off for England.

MONTREAL, Sept. 8.—It now turns out that Waldron, the absconding banker of Hilladale, Mich., has sailed for England by the steamship Parisian. A private creditor who had a claim of $5000 had him arrested but allowed him to depart after he had settled the claim. The detectives, however, were unable to locate him. A woman thought to be Mrs. Bidwell accompanied him. He is supposed to have taken $40,000 with him.

Youthful Burglars.

BROCKVILLE, Sept. 8.—A quantity of silverware being stolen from the house of Amelia Carter, suspicion rested upon Gordon Gilroy, Ralph Barker and Hugh Dyer, all young boys about 11 years of age. Baker was arrested and confessed being in the house and implicated Dyer and Gilroy. The articles had been sold to Mrs. Ben Moffatt and Mrs. M. Birch and were recovered with the exception of a few pieces.

A Trip Through Europe.

FIRST PAPER.

The following racy and readable notes of a "Trip Through Europe," written for the EXAMINER by Dr. Hunter, of Toronto, formerly of Millbrook, who is also well-known to many in Peterborough, will be read with interest, and will be continued, from time to time till completed :—

Leaving Home and on the Ocean.

A few notes for the benefit of those looking forward to a trip through the old country may not be out of place. 1st. expenses—The papers give the railway and ship rates. 2nd. baggage—The less the better. Two medium sized satchels are the most convenient as they can be taken into your berth and on the trains. Provide a warm suit for the ocean; an article that never should be overlooked is a comfortable pair of boots; ladies who try to do the art galleries with the fashionable high heels come to grief. When I heard our Canadian and American lady-tourists called ill-natured cranks I said their hearts were all right but their feet were sore.

These preliminaries arranged, a pleasant trip—extending over two or three months—can be made through Ireland, Scotland and England for say two hundred dollars and upwards according to taste and comforts required.

Now for the start—you return the kind wishes of your friends, take a sly glance at your creditors, pass out of the Union Station through the "flowery suburbs" of Parkdale, over the Humber, by Port Credit, Burlington and round the curve into Hamilton, nestling under the shadow of the mountain. Onward through the vine-clad fields of the peninsula we come to Niagara River; here the great bridges are monuments of art's triumph over nature and we see those wonderful Falls that give America credit abroad for big institutions. Eastward past the bustling city of Buffalo and along the Erie Canal, laden with its barges we reach the Hudson River and down its beautiful banks to the metropolis of America—New York. Here we see the elevated railways, which are on a level with the bedroom windows. An early ride gives one a good idea of all the different stages of the "Act of getting up." Through one window you see the shop boy who has slept too long jumping into his clothes like a professional fireman, through another is to be seen the young maiden, who kissed her lover good-bye only in the "wee sma' hours," dreamily rubbing her eyes with one hand and with the other picking out some articles from that most mysterious of all aggregations—a feminine outfit. But we must go down and take a look at Broadway with its princely shops and at 5th Avenue with its brown stone mansions and gay carriages, in which the wealth and beauty of the city are displayed. Many days could be spent here, but we "must move on" to the docks.

THE GREAT, DARK, IRON CLAD STEAMERS

are in waiting. Having deposited the grip-sacks in your berth, you come up on deck and take in the farewell scenes, some of which were comic, others sad. Orders are given, the gangways are hoisted up, the big engines begin to throb and we move out amid the waving of handkerchiefs. The pilot guides the great vessel with her passengers and cargo cautiously through the harbor past the grim-looking fortresses and the brazen statue of the Goddess of Liberty, onward between the buoys out into the "mighty deep." If you are crossing for the first time, strange feelings creep up as the land recedes and you begin to think of the possibilities ahead. Your friends have religiously warned you of the dangerous freaks of the boat, so you find yourself instinctively backing up against the side of the engine room and seizing the iron bars so as to be more sure that the first "toss-over" will not dump you out. However the boat sails onward and as she still keeps "right side" up, you begin to imagine that your friends have been "stuffing" you and to relax your grasp and begin to move round; all at once you are reminded of the horrible tales about sea-sickness; starting off to a quiet nook, you open your mouth and carefully pass down a long pencil to see if it will encounter any dinner on the way up. Not finding any you unburden yourself of all your friends have said about a sea-voyage and make up your mind to learn its mysteries from personal experience. A close survey of your fellow passengers is made, friends are chosen, and the rest of the time is put in according to taste. The young people flirt for about sixteen hours a day. What will the working men say to these hours? The old ones "look on or amuse themselves by discussing religion, politics, relating adventures, etc., etc. The sea air is very invigorating and altogether a sea-voyage is exceedingly enjoyable.

In a little over seven days we reached Queenstown where we began

THE TRIP THROUGH IRELAND,

A small boat came out and took us into the harbor. We gave the report re the incidents of the voyage, and listened with a great deal of pleasure to the rich brogue in which the peasantry gave their kind-hearted greetings. On landing the guards ushered the passengers into the custom house, and just as the trunks were opened the lights went out. In the confusion we civilly asked a fussy official what is wrong with Ireland, now? "Och sure there is nothing wrong with Ireland, only the gas has gone astray entirely." A couple of tapers was procured and the inspection completed. Passing out to the cab-stand we found at 2 a.m. a solitary diminutive donkey hitched to an immense dray. The united efforts of driver and donkey transferred our wordly gear to the hotel, where a portly host led the way to our room and wished us "Sweet Repose." In our dreams we were still on 'old ocean's tide.' Morning came, and after feasting on some real Irish stew—served as by a waiter in full dress, brass buttons and very high collar, we set out to get our first impressions of the Emera'd Isle.

Queenstown, about mid-way along the Southern coast—is beautifully situated on a hill over-looking Cork Harbor. The buildings are of light grey or reddish-brown stone; new and quite stylish. The steamers stop here, and with colors flying, and decks crowded with gay passengers, present a very attractive appearance. It is strongly forbidden, and as the big guns were at target practice, we got some idea of their destructive powers. Queenstown ought to be a fashionable summer resort.

ANOTHER QUEBEC MURDER.

A Rexton Falls Man Kills Another With a Blow From a Gas Pipe.

MONTREAL, Sept. 8.—Another brutal affray resulting in the death of a man in this province has to be chronicled. This time the scene of the occurrence is Rexton Falls in Shefford County. The following particulars are given: Between 10 and 11 o'clock the other night a brutal murder was committed in the streets of Rexton Falls in front of Ledoux's hotel. It seems that during the evening, nearly an hour before the murder, two men named Joseph Bonhomme and Joseph Arcouette had a fight, in which the latter was thrashed. Arcouette was something of a bully and fighter, and Bonhomme, who was a powerful man, said that he could lick not only Arcouette but his brother. Bonhomme made his boast good by giving Arcouette a good pummelling. Arcouette took his beating so much to heart that in about an hour he came back where a crowd had gathered in front of the hotel talking to Bonhomme. Arcouette shouted that he was going to kill Bonhomme, and rushing into the crowd, struck his victim a powerful blow on the head with a piece of gas pipe about four feet in length. Bonhomme dropped to the ground, but recovered in a few moments, and finally went to his home, a short distance away. On entering the house he went at once to his room, and throwing himself on the bed exclaimed: "I have received my death blow." He then became unconscious and lingered till 5 in the morning, when he died.

Arcouette was arrested and held till Dr. Gatien of Granby, the coroner, arrived and held an inquest. Dr. DeGrosbois, M.P.P., and Dr. Brodeur made a post-mortem examination and testified that death was caused by the blow on the head. Several witnesses were examined to establish the facts against the prisoner and the jury brought in a verdict of wilful murder against Arcoutte. After the verdict had been rendered, Coroner Gatien made out a commitment and the prisoner was conveyed to jail at Sweetsburg to stand his trial at the October term of the Court of Queen's Bench.

Arcouette is about 30 years of age and does not bear the best reputation, having been a fighter and tough generally. The murdered man was between 40 and 50 years of age and was a respectable man, though he would not run away from a scrimmage.

Woman's Modesty.

Many women are prevented by feelings of delicacy from consulting a physician in those disorders arising from functional derangement of her peculiarly delicate organism, and the most serious results are often caused by this neglect. To such persons Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is an especial boon, as it offers a sure and safe cure for all those distressing disorders to which women are peculiarly subject while it saves a modest girl or woman from the embarrassment of a personal consultation with a physician. "Favorite Prescription" is the only medicine for woman's peculiar weaknesses and ailments, sold by druggists under a positive guarantee from the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money will be refunded. The Moon's Influence

Upon the weather is accepted by some as real, by others it is disputed. The moon never attracts corns from the tender, aching spot. Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor removes the most painful corns in three days. This great remedy makes no sore spots, and does'nt go fooling around a man's foot, but goes to business at once, and effects a cure. Don't be imposed upon by substitutes and imitations. Get "Putnam's" and no other. 6dw36

Nature Makes No Mistakes.

Nature's own remedy for bowel complaints, cholera morbus, colic, cramps, vomiting, sea-sickness, cholera infantum, diarrhœa dysentery, and all diseases of a like nature belonging to the summer season, is Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, which can be obtained from all dealers in medicine. Price, 35 cents. 6dw35

The Growth of the Hair

Should always be watched. Inattention to the hair often leads to premature grayness and baldness. When dandruff appears it should be looked after at once. By frequently using a little of Dr. Dorenwend's Great German Hair Magic, the scalp will be kept in a clean healthy condition and the strength and vigor of the hair greatly promoted. It is the only reliable. Do not be talked into using anything else. For sale by all druggists everywhere. dw

Piles! Piles! Itching Piles.

SYMPTOMS—Moisture, intense itching and stinging, most at night, worse by scratching. If allowed to continue tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate, becoming very sore. DRUNKENNESS

Or the Liquor Habit Positively Cured by Administering Dr. Haines' Golden Specific.

It can be given in a cup of tea or coffee without the knowledge of the person taking it; it is absolutely harmless, and will effect a permanent and speedy cure, whether the patient is a moderate drinker or an alcoholic wreck. It has been given in thousands of cases, and in every instance a perfect cure has follows. It never fails. The system once impregnated with the Specific, it becomes an utter impossibility for the liquor appetite to exist. For circular and full particulars, address GOLDEN SPECIFIC CO., 185 Race street, Cincinnati, Ohio. eodw

PARIS HAIR WORKS

103 & 105 Yonge St. and see the finest assortment in HAIR GOODS &c., in Canada.

Ladies' Frontpieces, Bangs, Waves, Wigs, Switches, Gents' Wigs, Toupees, &c., Ladies' Hair Ornaments, Brooches, Bracelets, Pins, &c.

We not only make pieces for ladies who are bald, but further who have fine heads of hair. These pieces are made to save trouble of curling ones own hair, every lady who sees them recognises the advantage of wearing them.

Every accommodation is offered to the patrons of this establishment. We have private rooms where ladies can have their hair dressed in any style. We have also a most complete Gents' Hair Dressing Department.

At present the establishment is being thoroughly overhauled, and is being extensively enlarged. Everything will be in good running order about the middle of August, and it will be one of the principal places of interest to visitors to Toronto.

Everyone is cordially invited to call and have a look over this establishment, as it is the largest and most complete in America.

Remember the place, A. DORENWEND, Paris Hair Works, 103 and 105 Yonge street, between King and Adelaide streets. Look out for the merry go-round in the window.

SUN

LIFE ASSURANCE COMP'Y OF CANADA.

HEAD OFFICE, MONTREAL.

Both in Magnitude and Profitableness, the Business for 1887 has been almost everything that could be desired.

The life policies now in force are 7,128 for $10,873,777.69, on 6741 lives. We have moreover $3,207,600 00 insured under 1,840 accident policies, so that the total current contracts of the Company are 8,969 for $14,081,377.69.

The income for the year shows the very large increase of $122,231.23 over the figures of 1836, the total being $495,831.54. The revenue is now half a million dollars per annum, or as mentioned in the report, over $1,600 for every working day in the year, and even this he believed was but a mere introduction to what it will be in a few years hence. The gains from time to time are well illustrated by the following table:—

Period	Gain in income.	Gain in assets.	Gain in assurances.
1872 to 1876, four years	$ 54,611 21	$169,482 69	$1,140,743 00
1876 to 1880, four years	38,580 67	195,188 29	1,167,386 14
1880 to 1884, four years	138,976 84	383,264 31	2,962,924 00
1884 to 1887, three years	217,451 99	475,607 24	4,029,373 85
Total in 1887	$495,831 54	$1,750,664 48	$10,873,777 69

It is very pleasing to notice that the gains for the last three years only are 60 per cent. more than those of the preceding four years.

Market Notes.

There was not a very large market this morning and prices ruled high. There was the usual quantity and variety of vegetables and garden truck at prices that varied as much as the commodities offered. Potatoes sold at 75 and 80c. per bag; eggs, 15 and 16c. a dozen; butter, 24 and 25c.; lamb, 8 and 10c.; mutton, 7 and 8c.; veal, 5 to 7c.; ducks, 50c. per pair and chickens 45 to 50c.

Peterborough is the Place.

The Toronto daily papers have been publishing the following advertisement: — "WANTED—Location in Ontario for our factory, now located at St. Catherines, employing about 75 men; location wanted by Nov. 1, 1888. Woodburn 'Sarven Wheel' Co., CHAS. ALLEN, Resident Manager." Here is a chance for our council to make a bid for a new industry. No time should be lost in placing Peterborough's superior advantages before the manufacturers.

Runaway Accident.

Thursday afternoon Mr. Richard McConkey, of Smith, was loading some machinery on his wagon at the Peter Hamilton Agricultural Works when his team took fright and bolted. Mr. McConkey was thrown out and the wheels passed over his leg and arm, fortunately though breaking no bones. He was however badly bruised and cut. The horses ran up Water street until they were caught.

Association Hall, Sunday Night

Rev. S. J. Shorey, pastor of Charlotte street church, will deliver an address to young men in connection with the regular Sunday evening meeting in the Young Men's Christian Association Hall, tomorrow evening at 8.30 o'clock. Mr. Shorey had a large circle of young men surrounding him in his congregation which he recently left at Sherbourne street, Toronto, and he will undoubtedly give an effective and interesting talk to-morrow evening.

New Residences.

Work has been begun on a new brick residence for Mr. W. Brundrette, station agent of the G.T.R., on the Stevenson lot opposite the station.

Mr. Chas. Stapleton intends soon to begin the erection of a new $5,000 residence on the site of his old home, Water street. The old building will be torn down to make place for the new structure.

Mr. George Elliott, contractor, is building a new brick residence for himself on the lot on the corner of Park street, purchased by him at the sale of the Gilmour estate.

An Interesting Decision.

Twenty one cases were disposed of at the sitting of the Division Court Friday, but none were of any particular importance. In one case a general principal was laid down by the judge that will be of public interest. In a wages case, servant vs. master, each party claimed a different agreement had been made, and as there was no writing as to the date of the engagement, the judge decided, as he has on previous occasions, that the burden of proof, which usually rests on the plaintiff, should be transferred to the defendant, who must make a case to the contra or lose the suit. In case of a dispute between master and servant, if the latter fulfils the agreement that he alleges was made between them, the judge is disposed to accept his statement unless the master proves to the contrary. It is therefore obvious that the only protection employers will have is to make their agreements in writing, which will be incontrovertible evidence in their behalf.

The Minnehaha.

The "Minnehaha" was launched in Little Lake yesterday. She is as trim a little craft as ever rode the waters in these parts and her owners, the Messrs. Emmerson, have every reason to be proud of her. The new boat is a steam pleasure yacht built on a beautiful model and intended to carry about 25 passengers. She is 30 feet in length with 6 feet beam, is furnished inside in cherry, and has a hurricane deck with canvas sides. The hull is painted black with a dark red line passing around the boat below the gunwale; below the water line she is painted red. The yacht has a screw wheel worked by a patent rotary engine manufactured by Mr. Chas. Dawson. The boiler is an upright made by the Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Company. The new yacht is a "daisy" and no mistake. The design was furnished by Mr. Stevenson, canoe and boat builder, who worked hard and long to bring his model to perfection. The Messrs. Emmerson also helped him, and since last winter the work has been going on steadily, and their united efforts have resulted in complete success. The "Minnehaha" was towed up to the Peterborough wharf to-day and will be given her first trial trip this afternoon.

More About the Gough Burglary.

Search and pursuit of the clever cracksman who went through Gough Bros.' and Stethem's stores is kept up. There was at one time a good chance of securing him, but all at once Gough Bros. lost their interest in the pursuit of the thief—they turned their whole attention to the disposal of the magnificent bankrupt stock of boots and shoes, which they are slaughtering with a merciless and unsparing hand. Prices are of no account—almost anything to sell the goods, though the goods are fine enough to sell themselves; but these hard times, with harvest failure, some extra inducement must be offered to the people. And they have it at gough bros.' Unparallelled low prices for the whole of a $2,500 stock of men's, children's and ladies' boots and shoes. The boot and shoe trade is not their regular business, but they saw a chance for a snap in bargains, and ever on the alert as they are in the public interest they are giving the public the most wonderful run of big bargains ever heard of. This stock must be cleared out and low prices are doing the business. There is one continuous rush, and the happy populace leave gough's laden with boots and shoes bought at the most marvellous reductions in price. gough bros.' shoe store, 375 George street.

A Typical Dress.

London Evening Times.

Our dress is from the Toronto Type Foundry, Toronto, of which Mr. J. T. Johnston is proprietor, and she remarkably handsome typographical appearance of the paper proves that in not accepting the advice offered us in favor of British or American-made type as against Canadian we were right. The Toronto Type Foundry was but recently established, but that it is a live institution, employing the best methods, is evidenced by the appearance of our columns, which testify in this type to the high order of mechanics skill and taste of Canadian workmen. The enterprise exhibited by Mr. Johnston should receive the endorsement of the entire fraternity of printers in Canada, for in the face of the strong prejudice in favor of foreign-made type it required no small degree of pluck to stare up such an extensive undertaking as a type foundry, and even still greater ability to produce an article that is excelled by none and in its style equalled by but very few of the old established foundries. The double cylinder press upon which the paper is printed was also supplied by Mr. Johnston, as were also all the other fittings in connection with the mechanical department. In fact, Mr. Johnston was given carte blanche by the proprietors of this paper, and to-day there is no office in Western Ontario better supplied with all the best and most modern facilities necessary to turn out a first-class paper promptly and in the highest style of the art.

Silver Collection.

Beauties of a Bank Note.

The Commerce's New Issue of 5's, 10's, 20's and 100's an Elegant Success.

The new notes of the Canadian Bank of Commerce have been put in circulation, and have been issued in Peterborough. As soon as a sufficient supply has been received at headquarters in Toronto the old notes will all be withdrawn. Mr. Smith, the regular signer will be assisted by a staff of five or six clerks, and it is expected that with these it will be several months before the task of fixing the countersign will be completed.

The denominations of the new bills are 5's, 10's, 20's and 100's. They are all handsome pieces of the engraver's art, and a counterfeiter will find that they are his despair as well as the artist's delight. The backs of the bills are covered with an artistic blending of almost every kind of lathe work ever brought into use on bank bills. The faces are also distinguished for the beauty of the engraving and the intricacy of the design. It would be time mispent for the counterfeitor to attempt a re-engraving. The danger of photography is also turned aside. The yellow tint photographs an inky black and is so indefinitely blended at the borders with the other colors that it is absolutely impossible to photograph.

The face of the 5 shows Literature reclining gracefully in flowing drapery, and with her arm leaning negligently on a book. This piece of engraving was done by the oldest and most successful engraver in the world, Alfred Jones, of New York. On the opposite side of the note, the right hand side, is the bank seal. The body of the face is filled in with the usual declaration, and the figure 5, in multiplied forms, constitutes the border. The chief figure on the back is a cut of the new building. This is the prominent feature on the backs of the notes of other denominations.

The face of the $10 note has the figure of Britannia for a centre piece. She is surrounded by cherubims representing commerce, justice, finance and agriculture. On the left hand is the bank's seal, and on the right hand Art is busy with his brushes and palette.

The face of the $20 note shows Mercury riding on a dolphin. To the left the various kinds of navigation are portrayed. History pursues her vocation in the right hand corner.

The centre piece of the $100 note is a pictorial sketch showing Science, with emblematic figures about her.

The bills are signed by Mr. Henry W. Darling, the President, and will be countersigned by Mr. Smith and his assistants.

Personal.

Mr. R. B. McKee left to-day to attend the Buffalo Exposition.

On Wednesday, Mr. G. A. Baptie, of Lakefield, was married to Miss L. Huffman, of Belleville.

Mr. A. H. Kemp, of Lakefield, has taken a position with Mr. Adam Hall, and comes to Peterborough in a few days.

—The Monetary Times says "competition has been and is very keen in the dry goods line in Peterborough."

—In the extra series at the D.R.A. rifle matches at Ottawa, Capt. Dennistoun and Corp. Blade, of the 57th Batt., each won a $4 prize.

The many friends of Mr. Richard Stewart, of Otonabee, will regret to learn that his physicians have given up all hopes of his recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Brown, of Peterborough, who have just returned from a trip to the old country, are spending a few days in Brockville with their son-in-law, Mr. A. Caswell.

Mr. J. J. Irwin, of Vancouver, B.C., a former resident of Peterborough, is revisiting our town after many years absence. Mr. Irwin is succeeding in life on the Pacific coast and his friends here would not be surprised to hear of his election to the position of mayor of the rising city of Vancouver.

News Nuggets.

—Orillia's rate this year is 23 mills.

—Hon. Edward Blake has given $2,500 for scholarship in the Department of Political Science in Toronto University.

—The band played in the park last night, and fortunately the rain kept off till after the concert.

—The Norwood Register says that Mr. D. Belleghem, Peterborough's genial and most enterprising furniture dealer, was in town on Tuesday superintending the shipment of three car loads of selected lumber purchased from Mr. Thos. Buck.

—The report of the Bureau of Industries for this Province shows an increase in acreage of 130,000 acres,—and in yield an increase of nearly 4,000,000 bushels. A few leading dealers dispute these figures; but the opportunities the Bureau has for acquiring information are quite equal to those in the trade.

—The movement for the naturalization of British subjects in the United States is meeting with much success. The Chicago British American Association, which was formed last winter, now numbers 3,000 members, and its strength is being rapidly augmented. There are 14 branches of the Association in the city, one of them being composed of Welshmen.

Mr. J. J. Wright, B.A., will preach tomorrow in St. Andrew's Church, morning and evening. Mr. Wright is now in charge of the mission of old St. Andrew's, Toronto.

Police Court.

SATURDAY, Sept. 8th.

John Adlam, drunk and disorderly, and M. Caldin, drunk, were both discharged.

The little Mason boy was also dismissed by the magistrate, who lectured the youngster and told him to do better in the future. The little fellow is apparently unsophisticated, as when the magistrate asked him if he did not know he was doing wrong when he took the money, the boy replied:—"No, sir." The gravity of the crime was impressed upon the boy's mind and he was allowed to go. It would appear from what the lad told the officers that he has not a very lively sense of right and wrong, and that he did not realise what he was doing when he committed the theft. The parents of the boy are anxious to make every reparation and are deeply grieved over the affair.

The Colts Defeated.

Again the Colts were defeated Friday afternoon by the Veterans. The two teams were about evenly matched and the game was exciting enough.

The Colts went to bat first, but they could not do much with the bowling of Hartley and Stirling, the former's particularly. Hamilton played a careful bat for his 23. The Colts got all the runs they were entitled to, half a dozen catches being missed in the Veteran's field. Their fielding is not good at all, and the defeat of the Colts is due to the improved bowling.

The Veterans then went to bat to the bowling of Pearson and Hamilton. The fielding of the Colts was at critical times really brilliant, with the result that three men were run out in succession, and later on another "run out" was placed on the score sheet. Burnham and Parker made a stand and scored 17 and 15 respectively. The Veterans score of 86 was made at the expense of a couple of "lives" that were dropped by the Colts. Dunsford in long field looked after the balls remarkably well, and his fine throwing and stopping were directly responsible for the first two wickets down. Anderson also took a turn at bowling towards the end of the innings with fair success, bowling four overs and taking four wickets.

The Colts have won three of the series of matches and the Veterans two. Another match will be played next week, probably Tuesday. The score is as follows:—

The Manufacturers' Life Insurance Company.

A little more than a year ago, the "Manufacturers' Life" commenced business, and from that time till this, continuous and unprecedented progress has marked its career, so that to-day we can truthfully say our position and record is without precedent in the annals of life insurance in this country.

The Company has been put fairly and squarely before the people of Canada, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and facts, which speak louder than words, are the witness that we have gained the confidence and esteem of the people of the Dominion:—

The fruit season has now come and we must prepare to put up our fruit. Now what kind of jars are we to use? Of course, glass jars; but so many of those we had last year cracked in filling that it makes it very expensive. Oh, I remember how Mrs. Goodwife told me last year she bought her jars at "China Hall," and that she did not break a jar in filling or lose a single can of fruit. I shall buy from China Hall this season. As the price is just the same I might as well have the best.

CORSETS

Every lady purchasing CORSETS and wishing to get the Best Article for the least outlay, should visit TURNBULL'S, as he always keeps in stock the Best Makes from all the leading manufacturers. Some makes are peculiarly adapted to suit a particular style of figure. Below we enumerate a few lines from which you can select in any size from 18 to 30. Larger sizes procured on short notice.

THE YATISI CORSET

is modelled from a design of one of the most celebrated Parisian makers. It gives a lady that ease and grace so much admired in French ladies.

The YATISI CORSET owing to the peculiar diagonal elasticity of the cloth will fit the wearer perfectly the first time worn, no matter what her style of form is, either long or short waisted. To ladies wishing to lace light and not feel uncomfortable at the bust or hips, they are indispensible.

The YATISI CORSET does not stretch at the waist; requires no breaking in; fits comfortable the first time worn, as it gives to every motion of the wearer. It will outlast any of the old style rigid Corsets.

The YATISI CORSET can be worn ten days and if not found satisfactory in every respect the money will be refunded at TURNBULL'S.

THE CORALINE CORSET

What is Coraline? Coraline is composed of a bundle of stiff and and very elastic fibres like bristles tightly bound with strong thread. Coraline contains no sizing of any kind but its stiffness exists in the natural fibre and is permanent. Look for the Coraline Corset at TURNBULL'S, every pair stamped.

BALL'S CORSETS.

These Corsets need no breaking in—invalids can wear them with ease and comfort, as they do not compress the vital parts of the wearer. They fit a great variety of forms owing to their peculiar construction—they are very durable. They have the endorsement of every physician who has examined them. Every pair warranted—the money refunded if not satisfactory after wearing them three weeks at TURNBULL'S.

THE PARISENNE.

The PARISENNE is a new make which is becoming very popular. It is something after the style of the old French Corded Corset—is shorter waisted than most of the other makes, which makes it adapted for a stout figure.

Everything desirable in the Corset line always to be found at TURNBULL'S at prices that are never beaten.

NO FROST ABOUT REGINA

ASSINIBOIA'S WHEAT FIELDS UNHARMED.

A Favorable Report Made to the Council of the Regina Board of Trade—An Immense Stretch of Garden Ground.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 10.—I attended a special meeting of the Council of the Regina Board of Trade when a report was made on the conditions of the wheat crop by a committee appointed for that purpose. They were Messrs. D. Mowat, D. W. Bole and M. McNicol, and they were assisted by Mayor Hamilton and Mr. McGaw, buyer for the Ogilvie Milling Company.

They carefully examined a district twenty miles on every side around Regina and reported no frosted wheat anywhere to be seen, having devoted two days to the work.

Last year the Regina district, 22,000 acres estimated under crop, produced 400,000 bushels of wheat and 300,000 bushels of oats, an average over all of 31½ bushels per acre.

The Regina Board of Trade men say their district is never troubled with frozen wheat. It is claimed that a wind blows there which, if not the veritable Chinook, is at all events a true Pacific Ocean breeze, and others besides Regina people confirm the fact that the district is not troubled with frozen wheat. The soil is one immense stretch of garden ground.

On the same occasion the Council of the Board joined Mayor Hamilton and others of the City Council in taking measures for extending a fitting welcome to Mayor Crawford's next excursion of Upper Canada farmers expected the incoming week.

Regina has a number of business men who both look and talk business. Regina, you see, is a Capital City now, and has a perfect right to let the world know it.

TORONTO TOPICS.

Found in the Bay—Arrested for Bringing Stolen Money Into Canada.

TORONTO, Sept. 10.—At the meeting of the City Council on Saturday the agreement between the corporation and the University re Queen's Park was unanimously ratified.

On Saturday morning the body of an old man was found on the bay shore, at the foot of Simcoe street, and identified as John Sloane, who on Friday night had strayed away from the Larch-street Home, of which he was an inmate. The head was badly bruised and cut. Coroner Johnson will hold an inquest this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Cashier Allen, it is said, will return to Toronto under a nolle prosequi and give evidence against Broker Cox.

Pryce Blandford, the alleged Scarboro horse thief, was brought down from Orangeville on Saturday by Detective Davis.

Summonses have been issued against a number of milkmen for working the pump handle too freely in connection with their business.

Last night, Charles W. Snell, alias Eugene Willis, of Brooklyn, N. Y., was arrested by Sergeant Detective Reburn and Detective Davis on a charge of bringing stolen property into Canada. The property consists of diamonds and watches to the value of $3000.

The argument in the bucket shop case began in the Chancery Division Court on Saturday and was not concluded when the Court rose.

A Hand that Offended and was Cut Off.

WOODSTOCK, Sept. 10.—Dan Decow, of Middlemiss, hurt his hand in knocking out Johnny Cornell's front teeth, and the doctors have cut off Decow's hand.

PRACTICALLY UNANIMOUS

THE RETALIATION BILL PASSED BY THE U. S. SENATE.

Only Four Congressmen Vote Against the Measure—Seventy Republicans Numbered With the Democratic Majority.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—Discussion of the Retaliation bill was resumed soon after the House met this afternoon and was continued without interruption until 5.15, when the bill was passed by 174 yeas to 4 nays.

Mr. White (Rep., N.Y.) opened the discussion to-day. He favored such retaliation as would retaliate upon the enemy and not upon the people of the United States. The President in his message recommended, and the first section of the bill provided for, the stoppage of the shipment of freight in bond. This would not hurt a hair of the head of a single Canadian fisherman who had been guilty of wrong, but would hurt the Canadians of the western provinces, who had committed no wrong. And while the western provinces must pay more for the transfer of their freight, American workmen would lose $3,250,000 a year if this provision of the bill was enforced. This would be retaliation with a vengeance.

With the second section of the bill, the canal retaliation, Mr. White was in thorough and hearty accord, but he would never vote for a measure which he believed to be detrimental to the laboring men in his district; he would never vote to put a mallet in the hands of any President to beat a Chinese gong who, as he struck the gong, necessarily hit the heads of American workingmen and American enterprise. The proposed legislation was unnecessary, unwise and cruel, alike to the unoffending western Canadian provinces and American workmen, and so clear was he that such was the case that he believed that if a third ballot was taken in each member's conscience, more than half the members of the House would vote against the bill. In this case members were reluctant to take a step which might be misconstrued into a desire to prevent an honest effort to redress long-standing wrongs; but his conviction that the first section of the bill was illogical and wrong was so strong, that if he voted alone he would vote against the bill, though he was heartily in favor of the second section. If the President would stop Canadian fish from coming into this country he would, Mr. White thought, strike the Blue Noses where it would hurt. He favored retaliation that would hurt somebody and make the necessity of it stop quicker.

Mr. Wilson (Dem., Minn.) argued that the Retaliation Act of 1887 was inadequate, and that it would, if enforced, injure this country as much or more than Canada, while the bill before the House was particularly guarded, so as not to destroy the business of the Northwest. The Republicans, he said, with one exception, had denounced the bill, but declared their intention of voting for it. This showed a low state of morals or a lack of independence unbecoming in men who charged the President with pusillanimity. He thought there would be no war, but should the Queen of England and the Empress of India, forgetting the lesson to her ancestors in the past, aim and discharge at us one unfriendly gun from one of her gunboats, he predicted that the echo which it would awaken, would not cease to reverberate before Grover Cleveland, president of the greatest republic on earth, would salute Charles Stewart Parnell as the President of the youngest republic on earth.

Mr. Linn (Rep., Minn.) said that if the bill became a law, the President, with a single stroke of the pen, could cripple or ruin enterprising men in the Northwest, rob Duluth and Minneapolis of half their shipping, and enhance the exactions of Northwestern railroads twenty-five per cent. It was not on account of selfish reasons that he opposed the bill, but because it was conceived for improper purposes, was uncalled for, wrong in theory and an unworthy exponent of the power, dignity and honor of the American people. Retaliation, as sanctioned by the law of nations, should not exceed reasonable satisfaction; the punishment should fit the crime. For the grievance of which American fishermen complained, the fishermen themselves had suggested a proper remedy in forbidding the importation of Canadian fish; but the President had declined to apply that remedy.

Turning his attention to Mr. Scott's speech, Mr. Lind said he had no fault to find with that gentleman being a stockholder and director of the Canadian Pacific Railroad; but when Mr. Scott came here to advocate the passage of a bill detrimental to the American people and favorable to his personal interests as an officer and stockholder in a foreign corporation, it was time to call a halt. If the provisions of the bill were carried into effect, the produce of the Northwest now carried through Canada to New York and Boston would be carried to Halifax, and the object of Mr. Scott, the Canadian Pacific monopoly, and the Tory administration would be accomplished. He pleaded not for Canada or England. He hated England's selfish method of dealing with nations weaker than herself, but he pleaded for American honor. We could not afford to pass laws that would deliver our own people into the hands of a monopoly, and at the same place us in the attitude of bullies. If we had grievances demand redress for them, and if these demands are unheeded, enforce our rights in the spirit of American patriotism and American valor.

Mr. O'Neill (Dem., Mo.) thought the American people had become tired of continual haggling over the fisheries controversy. The cause of the trouble lay with the Tory administration of Canada, and the question should be brought home to the Canadian people in the way pointed out by the President, so they could get rid of their Macdonalds. The President's retaliation message, Mr. O'Neill declared, had reached the people's heart, and when he said it was a magnificent campaign document, he said what every man on the other side believed to be true. However, there was no need to fear war with England, that would mean the loss of India to England and the verification of the prophecy of Thomas Davis, that England's difficulty would be Ireland's opportunity.

Mr. Tarsney (Dem., Mich.) expressed his abhorrence of war and his preference for peaceful methods in the adjustment of differences. But if peaceful methods would not avail then the State of Michigan would take care of Canada and make a couple of Democratic states out of her. The people of Michigan desired peace but it must be peace on honorable terms. Let England and Canada distinctly understand that, though the United States desired peace, it would not under any circumstances submit to an insult. [Applause.]

Mr. Cockran (Dem., N.Y.) said that the address on the other side which had furnished the key-note of the discussion had been the able speech of the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. Hitt). To that gentleman and to him alone was due the credit of lifting the discussion to a high level in the plane of parliamentary procedure. But he regretted that while the speech was eloquent it lacked the element of candor and fairness which would have made it one of the greatest productions of this session. The gentleman from Illinois had charged the representatives of the Government in the treaty negotiations with a distinct act of betrayal of American rights, and had said there was an unwritten postscript to the treaty, and that that postscript was an agreement between Secretary Bayard and the Canadian Minister. He had said that the introduction of the Mills bill and vote by which it was passed were part of the conspiracy of betrayal, secretly entered into and carried out with dissimulation and almost with treason. To charge the President with having negotiated a treaty and trying to hoodwink the people into the belief that it was for one purpose, while the Canadians were told it was for another; with treating the United States with dissimulation and extending confidence with the Canadian envoy; with letting the people learn the true character of the treaty from declarations in the Canadian Parliament—this was to charge the President with something graver than treason, with a crime which had no parallel in the history of the executive office of the United States.

There were men on the Democratic side who would be the last in the world to countenance the sale of American interests or American dignity to the British Government. There were men who remembered the Government of Great Britain with feelings which prompted them to anything but an act of friendship; who remembered that the gallows was the illustration of her force and the hangman the apostle of her civilization. Had the gentleman shown a reason which would justify or a temptation which would prompt any American statesman to do such an act as he had charged?

The administration of President Cleveland, the motives which prompted his official acts, needed no explanation to the country. [Democratic applause.] The gentleman from Illinois knew that they needed no explanation because the people believed them to have been prompted by patriotism and inspired by love of country. [Applause.] It would not do at this stage of the campaign to attempt to manufacture campaign thunder of this character for the reason that the people knew how to test its sincerity. [Significant applause on the Republican side.] He regarded that applause with pleasure. He knew to what it referred and he adopted the declaration of the gentleman from Missouri (Mr. O'Neill) that the message was a campaign document, and it was a great one, because it appealed to the intelligence and patriotism of the people whom the President trusted and whom gentlemen on the opposite side seemed to distrust, and whose intelligence they thought they could bamboozle. [Democratic applause.]

Gentlemen need not be mistaken about the effect of their assaults. The sneer they leveled at the President was but a thin disguise for the respect they felt for him. [Democratic applause.] Gentlemen on the other side would say that the President had reached his present degree of success mostly by luck, but they would not assert for an instant that it was encompassed by dishonor, and Republican Senators would declare that never during his incumbence had they been able to invade his privileges and prerogatives. [Democratic applause.] Gentlemen on the other side might say that President Cleveland was not a great man. No one would dare deny that he was an honest man, and he was a great man in the eyes of the country, not because he was a possessor of qualities which lifted him above all others, but because he was a noble type of the American citizen of the land. The Republicans had their uncrowned king; they had their shepherd of the people (he had so many titles that the mind was confused and paralysed in the contemplation of his greatness); but before the American people and at the ballot box he had been vanquished by the simple type of American citizen Grover Cleveland. [Democratic applause.]

It would not do to say that a President who did no act for which his supporters blushed was wanting in greatness. If a man who had risen from the humblest station to the greatest; who had risen by force of virtue—[derisive laughter on Republican side]—and not by sacrifice of it; who had walked in the full sunlight of publicity; who, after four years of administration, found himself renominated by the spontaneous voice of his party; who had never held a trust when those who confided it to him had not sought to extend his term of service; who wielded by the confidence of the people a power far greater than that with which the Constitution clothed him; who found that the party leader whom he had vanquished when yet untried, now fled prudently, if not ingloriously, from a renewal of the conflict; who had no ambiguous acts to defend or unwise epistolary expressions to explain—if this man was not great, then greatness was not a quality which should be encouraged on Democratic soil. [Loud and long applause on Democratic side.] Instead of ephemeral, dazzling qualities which among unthinking men went to make up greatness, give him, as a Democrat, the strength and the dignity, the virtues and the intelligence of the President who was in the White House, of the Democratic candidate who would be in it for four years more.

As Mr. Cockran closed, the Democratic side burst into enthusiastic applause and he was immediately surrounded by party friends eager to offer congratulations.

Mr. Bayne (Rep., Pa.) said the President had ample power under the act of March, 1887, to secure American rights. What did he want with more power? Why, that he might throw on to the Canadian railways traffic amounting to perhaps $50,000,000 and take it away from New England railways. And a member of the "kitchen cabinet," a director of the Canadian Pacific and a man whose fortune would be advanced by the gift of that traffic, came here and made a four hours' speech in support of the object to be subserved. The President had not, in his opinion, pursued a dignified and proper course. He believed that the bill should not become a law and he proposed to vote against it. He believed it was a campaign make-shift and he did not propose to vote to allow the President to ruin our railway system and throw the employes out of the work. The gentleman from Michigan (Mr. Chipman) had rudely replied when asked a question and had said that the nearer a man approached to a diplomat in appearance the nearer he was to a fool, while the nearer he approached a diplomat in substance the nearer he was to a knave. He (Bayne) had read Chipman's autobiography from the Congressional directory showing that he had participated in the making of an Indian treaty and invited him to classify himself.

Mr. McAdoo (Dem., N.J.), answering The London Standard's boast, said that England's modern ironclads would be as impotent in our harbors as tubs armed with firecrackers. He warned Salisbury that the first British gun fired against New York or Boston would assure the destruction of the British Empire.

Mr. Henderson (Rep., Ia.) charged the President with dishonesty in reading in his message. He was trifling with the American people. American citizens—15,000 fishermen—had been outraged. They asked that their enemies be treated in the same way as they had been treated. The present war head of this nation stood paralysed and silent. The ears would protrude through the hide. Was Grover Cleveland the great type of American citizenship? God have mercy on the country. He (Henderson) would not touch upon that moral type. He never had. The curtain which had been drawn so carefully around that moral type by eloquent and gifted men; a sound hand dare not to touch. He would be kind. But he challenged the Democrats to tear aside the curtain around the life of the Republican candidate, Benjamin Harrison. [Applause on the Republican side.] It would stand inspection, public and private. Grover Cleveland might be the Democratic type of American morals and American citizenship, but for him (Mr. Henderson) he would not point the young men of America to him as a model—[hisses on the Democratic side]—to the man who, now bursting with war spirit, had hired a substitute when the land was in battle.

Mr. McMillan: "Where was Blaine?"

Mr. Henderson proceeded, declaring that the model American for 60,000,000 Americans was Benjamin Harison. [Loud applause on Republican side.]

Mr. Caruth (Dem., Ky.) said that anyone listening to Mr. Henderson would imagine that the outrages on American fishermen were of recent date instead of happening during a Republican administration.

The debate having ceased, Mr. White (Rep., N.Y.) moved to recomit the bill to the committee on foreign affairs, with instruction to strike out the first section, but the motion was lost without a division.

The bill was then passed—yeas, 174; nays, 4—the negatives being: Bayne, Dalzell, Ling and White of New York.

TO BUILD 40 MILES THIS FALL.

The Northern Pacific's Souris Extension—A Poisoning Case at Battleford.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 10.—The rumor that the Manitoba road is about to purchase or lease the Emerson branch is officially denied, nor has any proposition been made to the Government yet regarding its entrance into the province.

The Northern Pacific purpose next year to build to the Souris country and will construct at least forty miles of the line this fall.

An effort is being made to prohibit the Salvationists from parading on the streets of Portage.

The coroner's jury returned a verdict that Fred Marigold of Battleford, who died some time ago, was poisoned in an unknown manner.

LONDON POLICE BAFFLED

A SERIES OF FOUR MYSTERIOUS MURDERS.

The Latest Victim Discovered in Spitalfields Early Sunday Morning Shockingly Mutilated.

LONDON, Sept. 10.—The horribly mutilated body of a woman was found early yesterday morning in a yard attached to a common lodging house in Spitalfields. The throat was cut from ear to ear, the body was ripped open, the bowels and heart were lying on the ground, and a portion of the entrails were tied around the neck. This is the fourth murder of a similar character that has been committed recently in this vicinity. All the victims were women of the lowest character. The author of the atrocities remains undiscovered, and the excitement in the immediate vicinity borders upon a panic.

Killed Defending Ballot-Boxes.

MILLBROOK, Ark., Sept. 10.—At 2 o'clock in the morning, after election, a body of mounted and armed men began firing from a thicket on the persons who were guarding the ballot-boxes, killing one man and wounding six others. The intention of the assassins was to steal the ballot-boxes.

Strangled Her Child.

LEVERING, Mich., Sept. 10.—Mrs. Sarah Gill, wife of Alexander Gill, a well-to-do saw-mill owner at Canby, strangled her 2-year-old boy to death. When found she had the child in her arms. She gives as her reason that people were trying to take her child away from her.

Murdered by His Neighbor.

STUART, Neb. Sept. 10—Dick Roach, a farmer living near Bassett, was murdered on Saturday by a neighbor, Andrew Lowe, in a difficulty over some cattle.

Shot and Killed His Father.

ASHLAND, Ky., Sept. 10.—William Howell, 17 years old, shot and killed his father, John Howell, on Saturday.

Disastrous Floods in the Old South State.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Sept. 8.—On Thursday night the Congaree river rose fifteen feet, overflowed its banks and inundated thousands of acres of cotton and corn lands. For ten days it has rained daily. The wet weather has prevented the opening of cotton and has rotted the fibre in the pod. It is still raining, and cotton buyers estimate that if the rain continues twenty-five per cent. of the crop will be lost. Last night the Congaree was twenty feet above low water and rising. The Broad and Saluda Rivers are also up. The damage will reach over $1,000,000.

A Trip Through Europe.

SECOND PAPER.

Leaving Queenstown by train the tourist sees many handsome mansions on the way to Cork. These with their extensive grounds, neatly trimmed hedges and lovely flowers rather surprised us, for we had heard so much about the poverty of the South of Ireland. A short, but very enjoyable ride, landed us in Cork, just in time for church. We attended service in a Presbyterian church. A very pleasing sight was to see parents followed down the aisle by their large families. These are the kind of parents that please their Creator, honor themselves and bless their country. Humanity always seems to be at a very low ebb when there is only one child, and it all tangled up in ribbons!

Roman Catholicism is the predominant religion, so the crowds go to the cathedrals. Many of the poorer members for some reason, prefer saying their prayers outside. Perhaps they think they have more room. It has one advantage, if a fellow doesn't care for what sermon floats out of the window to him he can dodge off unobserved.

Cork has a population of 75,000. It is surrounded by hills, from which can be obtained a fine view of her cathedrals, convents, hospitals, Queen's college, etc. These are imposing stone structures.

We will notice one side of life in Cork, and with it briefly refer to some of

THE IRISH QUESTION.

Leading off the main streets are many narrow ones. These are filled with squalid misery. Groups of ragged children hover round their wretched homes—ashamed to be seen, and not seeming to know that as human beings they have a right to air and sunshine. Their humanity seems to have been driven out, and only the instincts of brutes left, apparently something to eat is about all they looked for. The following causes were assigned for the misery and discontent seen here and elsewhere throughout Ireland:

1st, Confiscation of property at the time of the conquest, and harsh laws afterwards enacted. We are as ready to nurse our wrongs as we are to forget our blessings.

2nd. Avaricious landlords. Hypocrisy in church members brings religion into disrepute; in like manner greedy landlords have brought contempt on civil laws.

3rd. Intemperance. To see the taverns all open and doing a rushing business on the Sabbath, is surely an awful desecration of a day hallowed by Infinite Wisdom.

4th. Poor system of agriculture. An innumerable number of small fields means a needless waste of land in dikes, ditches and hedges.

5th. Too expensive churches and clergy, and too many religious holydays. God has a right to be worshipped in grand cathedrals, but where does He give us the hint to go heavily in debt for them?

6th. Too much politics and too little attention to business. Is Ireland playing a lone hand here?

7th. The enormous emigration of young people. The life blood of the nation. The population is largely made up of people rather too old or too young to work.

These are simply a layman's notes, your political readers may inwardly digest them—assign each its proper place, and devise, if they can, remedial agencies.

Before closing we must express our surprise at the amount of antipathy shown by the most intelligent and prosperous classes against

HOME RULE.

If those people were under Mr. Mowat's benign influence for a season, their fears and prejudices would soon vanish away. Off for Dublin.

At Cork we began our long ride on the cars. The British and Continental Railways—at least, the main lines are double tracked. They are well built and the cars run very smoothly. The engines are plain and have no cow-catchers, probably because they are not needed, as all the public roads either pass overhead on strong stone bridges or under through tunnels. The cars are painted of a darkish brown color, and altogether they lack the sprighty appearance of Canadian trains. The seats are very comfortably cushioned, and are generally supplied with rests for the arms. There are only two in each compartment, the passengers face each other, and when the seats are not all occupied, which they seldom are, you place your feet on the opposite one and take things very easy.

Guards lock the doors as the train leaves the station. One unpleasant feature is the possibility of being shut in alone with a dangerous character. There are so many tunnels that could be taken advantage of to commit crimes. The wonder is that we do not hear of more of them being perpetrated.

We miss the dining cars, but on the continent, baskets of provisions, fruit, wine, etc., are brought to the windows, so no one need be hungry or thirsty very long.

Our party left Cork about the last of April; at this season the trees and flowers are in full bloom, and the grass has that rich green verdure which gives Ireland the distinction of being

THE EMERALD OR GREEN ISLE.

The farms would be much more attractive were the fields larger and of more regular shape. We asked some farmers why they did not make larger fields and use wire fences. The only reply was, "Faith, an' our landlords would never be after thanking us for such improvements" There seemed to be very little land growing grain, most of it being in meadow or pasture. There was not a great deal of stock to be seen, but occasionally we came across some fine specimens of horses and cattle. The supply of potatoes seemed scarcely enough to satisfy the Irish craving for that wholesome vegetable.

There are very few high mountains, or large forests, but an abundance of tamer beauty fills up the landscape. The eye is ever charmed by the varied and beautiful foliage of the trees, and the rich green verdure of hill and dale. The bogs can be left in the background.

The farm houses are not isolated as in this country, but built in groups of two or more. Many of them are comfortable, but quite a few are miserable huts, thatched with straw or covered with sods. Children are very numerous.

BRITAIN'S TRADE RETURNS.

Improvement in Nearly Every Branch—The Stock Markets Firmer.

LONDON, Sept. 10.—The Board of Trade returns for the past month, just issued, show a distinct improvement in nearly all branches of British commerce, colonial-showing a general advance.

The stock markets have also been much firmer throughout the past week. The rise in Grand Trunks noticed a few days ago has continued. First preference shows an advance of 3½; second 2½ and third 2 on the prices of the preceding week. The change is more notable since the holiday season in barley is over.

President Cleveland's Letter of Acceptance.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—President Cleveland's letter of acceptance addressed to Chairman Collins, of the Notification Committee, was given to the Press Association, last evening. The President writes lengthily, reviewing various questions concerning the administration of the affairs of the country. Tariff reform is the principal topic, and is dealt with at great length, the same arguments being used as in the last message to Congress.

Capt. Henderson's Body Recovered.

FORT COLBORNE, Sept. 10.—The body of Capt. John Henderson, of the lost schooner Blanche, was found about one mile east of Grafton. The body has been identified and was buried on Saturday night. His watch was found on his person and it was found that it had stopped at about 12 o'clock, thus showing that the vessel went down about midnight.

A Body Sighted in Lake Erie.

AMHERSTBURG, Sept. 10.—The captain of the schooner Reuben Doud reports seeing a body just outside in the lake. It had a blue flannel shirt on and was without coat or vest. It is thought to be the mate of the schooner John Jewett, who was lost overboard near Ecorse ten days ago.

Caza's Pocket Book.

MONTREAL, Sept. 10.—The pocket book of Caza, the Coteau murderer, containing $1100 was found a few days ago by a scrub woman at Coteau Landing. Caza received the packet while in jail. He at once gave instructions to his friends to remit $200 to the woman as a reward for her honesty.

SUN

LIFE ASSURANCE COMP'Y OF CANADA.

HEAD OFFICE, MONTREAL.

Both in Magnitude and Profitableness, the Business for 1887 has been almost everything that could be desired.

The life policies now in force are 7,128 for $10,873,777.69, on 6741 lives. We have moreover $3,207,600 00 insured under 1,840 accident policies, so that the total current contracts of the Company are 8,969 for $14,081,377.69.

The income for the year shows the very large increase of $122,331.23 over the figures of 1886, the total being $495,831.54. The revenue is now half a million dollars per annum, or as mentioned in the report, over $1,600 for every working day in the year, and even this he believed was but a mere introduction to what it will be in a few years hence. The gains from time to time are well illustrated by the following table:—

Period	Gain in income.	Gain in assets.	Gain in assurances.
1872 to 1876, four years	$ 54,611 21	$169,482 69	$1,149,743 00
1876 to 1880, four years	38,580 67	195,188 29	1,167,286 14
1880 to 1884, four years	136,976 84	363,264 31	2,962,924 90
1884 to 1887, three years	217,451 89	475,607 24	4,029,373 65
Total in 1887	$495,831 54	$1,750,004 48	$10,873,777 69

It is very pleasing to notice that the gains for the last three years only are 60 per cent. more than those of the preceding four years.

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 10, 1888.

To-Night.

Remember the At Home to be given by the Endeavors in Charlotte street Methodist church school room this Monday evening. Choice programme and refreshments. Admission, silver collection.

Proposed Literary Society.

A meeting of the members of St. Luke's congregation interested in the formation of a Young Men's Literary Guild will be held to-morrow evening in the school room at 8 o'clock. A full attendance is earnestly requested.

Lacrosse Meeting.

An important meeting of the members of the Riverside Lacrosse Club will be held this evening at the Commercial House. All members are particularly requested to be present at 8 o'clock sharp.

Assistant Secretary.

In the absence of Mr. Wm. Collins at the Provincial Exhibition, Miss Collins, his daughter, will act as Secretary of the Peterborough Exhibition. The office is at Mr. W. J. Green's clothing store.

Olamin,

The best 5c. cigar in town, at C. LeGros' cigar store and barber shop. d

Port Hope Knitting Works.

Will open a branch store on Simcoe street opposite Hall, Innes & Co.'s on Saturday, 1st Sept., with a great variety of hosiery and underclothing at manufacturers prices. dw

The Two Bridges.

The Charlotte street bridge has been completed at a cost of $1,100, some $150 less than that of the King street bridge. The difference is due to the additional excavations which had to be made for the King street bridge.

A Good Little Boat.

The new steam yacht Minnehaha, owned by the Emmerson brothers, was tested Saturday. A good speed was got and the first trial trip proved satisfactory in every way. The owners propose to start off on a holiday cruise shortly.

Opening the Campaign.

During this week Rev. D. V. Lucas, M. A., lately returned from Australia, will lecture each evening showing good cause why the Scott Act should not be repealed. To-night he speaks at the Salvation Army barracks. Rev. Mr. Lucas is an eloquent and forcible lecturer whom it is a pleasure to hear. Silver collection at the door.

The Body Recovered.

The body of Miss Holland, who was drowned at Port Hope a couple of weeks ago, was recovered Friday night, exactly two weeks after the accident. A strong south-east gale blew the body ashore about a mile west of the G.T.R. depot. The features were hardly recognizable, as she had been in the water so long and had evidently been tossed about among the rocks.

The Weber.

The Weber Upright Piano is the most durable, reliable Canadian instrument, keeping long in tune, and especially suited to Canada, where the variations of climate are severe and tuners scarce. Has a reputation under Mr. Weber of over twelve years, receiving highest of testimonials. Address, Weber Upright Factory, Kingston, Ont. 2d2w

Don't blunder past The Pantry Store and get disappointed in bargains.

Police Paragraphs.

P. C. McGinty is able to be around again.

There was no session of the Police Court this morning.

Sunday afternoon Chief Roszel stopped a wandering horse on George street and took it to a stable. It was afterwards claimed by a farmer, who said it had strayed away from the door while he was in a house.

The Matrimonial Mania.

The season for weddings is approaching, and jewellers report increased sales of rings and wedding gifts. Two of Peterborough's popular young bachelors, representing the mercantile and professional interests, are to be married within a week or so to young ladies residing in a neighboring town. The "harrowing details" will be given after the happy events have transpired.

At the Provincial.

Mr. Joseph Redmond, of Otonabee, shipped to the Provincial Exhibition on Saturday an excellent lot of yearlings and heifers, eleven in all. His splendid brood mare and foal also accompanied the other stock. After the Provincial they will be taken to the Industrial at Toronto. We trust Mr. Redmond will secure many first prizes. His stock is of the best and he deserves to be commended for his enterprise in importing such fine animals.

At the Provincial.

The Provincial Exhibition opens at Kingston to-day, and several Peterborough men are attending. Mr. Wm. Collins, Secretary of the Peterborough Agricultural Association, left on Friday last to assume charge of the swine department, of which he is the superintendent. Mr. Robert Vance, Cavan, went down on Saturday as a member of the Council of the Provincial Fair. Mr. Jno. McClelland has been appointed a judge in the poultry department, and will probably go down to-morrow. Besides these, others will attend in a private capacity.

A Complimentary Farewell.

Friday evening a number of the choir and other friends of Miss E. Smart gathered at the residence of Mr. John Glass, Aylmer street, to tender her a fond farewell. Miss Smart was a popular member of the choir of the George street church, and had besides a large circle of friends outside who will sincerely regret her approaching departure for California. A pleasant evening was spent and Miss Smart was assured of the best wishes for an interest in her future life in the Golden State on the part of those present.

Settled In Their Own Way.

A law suit adjourned from the Division Court on Friday was decided to-day and in a way that did not give entire satisfaction to both parties concerned. The two contestants met on the street to-day and undertook to settle the difficulty in their own way. Argument and invective were poured out by the bushel without any conclusion being arrived at, and then the two men took to arms in a more belligerent fashion. After a couple of rounds, which ended in a flow of claret from each of their respective noses, a truce was called, each having satisfaction. While the fracas lasted a very dainty odor of gas prevailed.

Canada Cheese Bulletin.

Bulletin Number Six, containing the results of an analysis of samples of Canadian cheese has been issued from the Department of Inland Revenue. Samples to the number of 114 were ordered to be collected, but only 56 had been collected up to date, and in every case the sample had been certified to be free from foreign fat. For the purposes of comparison analysis of butter and of filled lard and cheese from Chicago are given. The analysis was conducted on Mansfield's method, and only in a very few cases is the amount of volatile fatty acids present less than that mentioned by Mansfield, as indicating adulteration, and the origin of these is unknown. With reference to the samples of cheese or cheese curd collected in Canadian cheese factories, their examination shows that only pure butter-fat enters into their composition and that nothing approaching in character to "filled cheese" has so far been manufactured or even sold in Canada.

New Organist.

The Paris Review of last week says:—"His Lordship the Bishop of Peterborough has been pleased to offer the position of cathedral organist to Miss Emma Ealand, of this town, and the young lady has gone to Peterborough to essay the duties of the office. Miss Ealand is one of the most clever and accomplished musicians of the galaxy which Paris boasts in the Lauder Sextette Club. If she should, after a trial, decide to accept the position, Peterborough will have gained a decided acquisition to its musical circles, as well as to its list of amiable and estimable young ladies." This accomplished lady arrived on Thursday and has been the guest of the convent of the Congregation de Notre Dame. She has passed the intervening time in looking over the situation and has decided to remain. She entered upon her duties yesterday and the musical services were highly appreciated. Miss Annie Dunn, Mr. Thos. Dunn and Mr. M. Tierney rendered a trio in a very effective manner. Miss Ealand will make a valuable addition to musical circles in town, and the EXAMINER wishes her a successful musical career amongst us.

Scott Act Repeal Furore.

The first repeal gun goes off to-night and henceforth we may expect the fun to be fast and furious. Both parties are anxious and active, but neither party are half so much active as the gough bros., the wonderful cheap men, who are tramping the war path with twenty-five hundred prime pairs of boots and shoes at such astonishing cheapness that the public can scarcely believe their good fortune. If boots and shoes had blood the frightful slaughter now going on at 375 george street would flood the floors with gore. This stock was bought at about half-price and is being sold at equally lavish reductions to clear it out. There is no buncombe about this sale, they are bona fide bargains of the highest kind. Come and be convinced. The stock must be cleared out at once; come along while the bargains are going. The chance won't last long. Hundreds have been made happy and still there's a chance for hundreds more. The prices are down to the ground as near as the boots and shoes when on your feet. Remember the shop 375 George street.

Formation of a Burns Club.

The meeting in the Grand Central Hotel on Saturday evening, called for the purpose of forming a Burns Club, was fairly well attended; but the number would have been larger had it not been for the heavy rain storm which set in during the evening. Mr. James Hendry, of the Auburn Mills, was called to the chair, and Mr. Wm. Menzies appointed secretary pro tem. The chairman explained the objects of the meeting, and gave a stirring appeal to Scotchmen to identify themselves in organizing a Burns Club. The following resolution was then submitted:—"Moved by Mr. Alex. McCallum, seconded by Mr. James McKim,—That this meeting resolve itself into a Burns Club to be called the Peterborough Burns Club, the objects of which shall be to meet weekly for the purpose of social intercourse among Scotchmen; to encourage Scottish glee singing, reading, debate, and other means of profit and pleasure; and also to co-operate with the Peterborough St. Andrew's Society." This resolution evoked a number of interesting and patriotic speeches, all favourable to the project, after which it was carried amid enthusiasm. It was decided to postpone the election of officers until the next meeting, when a much larger attendance of Scotchmen is expected. Fourteen gentlemen then signed the roll of members, after which the meeting adjourned until next Saturday evening in the same place. The members did not separate, but remained for another half hour, during which time some excellent Scottish solos and a duett were sung, reminding those present that—

"From scenes like these old Scotia's grandeur springs,
That makes her loved at home — revered abroad."

Church Chimes.

Rev. D. V. Lucas was expected to occupy the pulpit of the George street Methodist church Sunday, but for some reason he failed to appear. The services in the morning were conducted by Mr. Colbeck, B.A., and in the evening by Rev. Mr. Davis.

Mr. J. J. Wright, B.A., preached in St. Andrew's church Sunday in the absence of the pastor. Mr. Wright is well known in town, and his efforts were greatly appreciated. He speaks well in the pulpit and his discourses were logical and instructive.

Rev. Wm. Smythe, of Stratford, officiated in the Charlotte street church Sunday night. His sermon was remarkably impressive, the subject being holiness and consecration. In plain but forcible language he pointed out that these two factors of Christianity must be completely in unison to ensure spiritual prosperity to the Christian and the church. He chided lukewarm church members for their lax efforts. Christians should be consecrated and work with united effort for the good of the church, else all individual labor was lost, or at least it resulted in little good. Rev. Mr. Smyth was born near Springville, and it was a mutual pleasure to him and to many in the congregation to meet after the lapse of some month.

Rev. S. J. Shorey, the popular pastor of Charlotte street Methodist church addressed a good audience at the regular Sunday evening service in the Y.M.C.A. hall on Sunday evening after the regular church services. He took as his subject, "For he hath passed this way before, he shall not return this way again." In a clever, thoughtful, earnest address, he impressed upon his hearers the necessity of improving present opportunities and of making the most of their spiritual privileges. The reverend gentleman has a happy knack of reaching the hearts of the young especially.

The Mayoralty.

To the Editor of the Examiner:—

DEAR SIR,—The time is approaching when the electors of the town will have to elect a Mayor for the ensuing year. I have heard the names of two or three persons mentioned in connection with that office, and it is stated that Mr. Stevenson has said that he is willing to give way to the election of some one else. I hope this report is not true. Knowing, as I do, the value of his services, as Mayor, to the town, I am in favor of asking him to continue to fill the office for another year. Of course there are men who are capable of performing the duties of Mayor, but something more is wanted than this. We need a careful, active and working Mayor, who will not be afraid to do many things which his office does not strictly require him to do. A Mayor who will watch over all the interests of the town and who will not be afraid to work for the town as he would work for himself. And, although it is not a very pleasant thing to do this, yet Mr. Stevenson has, to my certain knowledge, done this, and he has thereby gained, in certain quarters, a good deal of ill will in consequence. Before Mr. Stevenson's time, former Mayors did not do this. They were content with the honor of being Mayors, never troubling themselves about such small matters as looking after the details of office, and of letting many things, especially the finances, take care of themselves. This has not been the case with Mr. Stevenson, as I know. And, I can confidently say, that he has, during his mayoralty, saved the town a great many hundred dollars. I am desirous, therefore, of seeing Mr. Stevenson elected as our Mayor for the ensuing year. In saying this I am only doing what I think my interests and the interests of all the ratepayers require. I can only allude to these things in a general way, because it would be unpleasant to go into particulars. If the ratepayers generally knew all I know they would say the same. I hope they will not make any promises which will cause them to vote against Mr. Stevenson, but that they will keep themselves free to vote for the best man when the proper time comes to do so. I have reason to believe that Mr. Stevenson will, if asked, accept the office of Mayor again, and he will be asked, and, I trust, he will be the candidate again, and, I trust, will again be elected.

Lacrosse.

The secretary of the Riverside Lacrosse Club has received a letter from Bradford asking to have the return match played here on Sept. 26th, 27th or 28th. The Riversides meet to-night to consider the challenge.

President Dan A. Rose, of the C.L.A., has suspended the playing certificates held by W. J. Edmondson, of Bradford; Dunc. Clarke, of Brantford; Hartley, of Shelburne; Doherty, of Stouffville; Stewart and Hewitt, of Bright, and Robins, of Orillia, all for their connection with the Bradford-Barrie match.

When are the Lindsay and Port Hope Y. M. C. A. clubs going to visit Peterborough?

BRADFORD, Sept. 8.—On Wednesday Barrie and Bradford lacrosse clubs played their scheduled game here, Bradford winning by 3 goals to 1, this match making Bradford champions of the North-eastern District. The standing of the district is: Bradford, 3 won, 1 lost; Orillia, 3 won, 3 lost; Peterborough, 2 won, 3 lost; Barrie, 2 won, 3 lost. Barrie and Bradford have one draw. Bradford has one more game to play with Peterborough.

Sporting Notes.

Sam Ray's is the headquarters for cricket and baseball news. Every night full scores of the International League ball games are received and chalked on the board, and the place is quite a rendezvous for sports.

Col. H. C. Rogers, Commodore of the American Canoe Association, attended the fall regatta of the Toronto canoe club last Saturday. The Mail says Col. Rogers "was received with rousing cheers," and: "At the close of the proceedings, Mr. John L. Kerr, commodore of the Toronto club, formally introduced Col. Rogers in a neat and appropriate speech. Col. Rogers proceeded to present the prizes, and in doing so created much laughter by his occasional humorous comments on the prizes and suggestions to the winners."

Is it not about time the Peterborough football club was resuscitated? Now is the time to practice.

Willow and Wicket.

A meeting of the Cricket Club will be held at Sam Ray's this evening at 7.30 o'clock. Business of great importance will be brought forward, therefore a large attendance is requested.

Another match between the Colts and Veterans will be played on the grounds to-morrow (Tuesday) afternoon.

An important meeting of the cricket club is called for to-night at Sam Ray's.

A team of the Peterborough club goes to Toronto on the 18th to play East Toronto C. C.

Belleville cricket club wants a team of the Peterborough club to play a return match there next Friday.

(From our own Correspondent).

WEATHER NOTES.—August, our principal harvest month, has seen our fields once more wearing their fall appearance. The month has been warm, and although considerable rain has fallen, everything being so dry through the summer it shows very little effect. The hotest day was on the 6th, the theremometer standing at 50° at 3 p.m. in the shade. Our coldest on the morning of the 28th, it standing at 40°, leaving the mean temperature of the month at 64°. Rain fell on twelve days to the depth of two inches and 74-100 of an inch. We had four thunder storms, the severest being on the 16th, falling nearly one inch of water. Still again have we to chronicle considerable frost on four mornings; our old friend visited his former haunts also doing considerable damage to vegetables and garden stuff. Fog on one morning but no unusual lights to notice which seem strange, but there has, indeed, been few streaking dancing and leaping across the horizon during the summer. The following are the different points from which the wind was blowing at sunrise during the month respectively, namely, west, six days; south west, thirteen days; east, three days; north-west, five days; and north, four days.

Killed While Chopping.

ST. THOMAS, Sept. 8.—Mr. James Sumpter, a farmer in Caradoc township, had in his employ a young Englishman named Brock, who came to this country about a year ago, and was endeavoring to earn enough money to bring out his widowed mother. By industry and economy he had nearly succeeded, and the old lady was to join her son this fall. Young Brock had been sent to the bush to cut some timbers and while thus engaged with a chopper man a tree fell on him, killing him instantly. The boy's property will be sent to England.

Brave Men Rewarded.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 8.—The British Consul here has received information that the British Government has forwarded gold and silver medals and other testimonials to Capt. H. M. Hayward, of the Oceanic steamer Mariposa, and to Chief Officer Hart and four sailors of the steamer as a reward for their services in rescuing the crew of the British bark Henry James, which was wrecked on Palmyra Island a few months ago.

A Lazy, Ruffianly Son.

BELLEVILLE, Sept. 8.—Thomas Arnist, a lazy, overgrown youth, who, while intoxicated, maltreats his aged parents, for ruffianly conduct and trying to demolish furniture, was sentenced to two months' imprisonment at hard labor. His mother pleaded that his sentence be light but the mayor said he thought she was making a mistake and sent the son to a place where he would not trouble her. His parents have already paid $79 in fines for him.

Personal.

Miss Nellie Truesdale, of Rochester, is visiting Peterborough after an absence of a number of years.

Mr. M. Tierney leaves to-day for Avon Springs, N.Y., where he hopes to recover from his attack of rheumatism.

Messrs. A. E. Thompson and E. Clegg left this morning for Burleigh, where they will spend a week hunting and fishing.

To-morrow morning Mr. D. Smart and family, accompanied by Rollie Wood, leave for Los Angeles, California, where they will make their home.

Mrs. Galletly and daughters left on Saturday for Banff, N.W.T., to join Mr. D. D. Galletly, who has a good position at that place.

Police Constable McGinty has so far recovered from his recent severe illness as to be about the streets. He is, however, not yet fit for active duty.

Mr. Patrick Leonard, of Ennismore, after an absence of three years, has returned from San Francisco on a visit to his friends. He is much improved in health and may possibly remain here.

Mr. W. H. Hill, of the "Sun" insurance agency, is seriously ill and has been transferred to the hospital. His many friends will wish him a speedy recovery.

Mrs. Hopkins, mother of Mrs. Geo. A. Cox, is lying dangerously ill at her residence in town, and is not expected to recover. Mrs. Cox is somewhere on the Pacific coast, but as yet no message has been able to reach her.

Mr. E. B. Stone, barrister, called this morning to ask the EXAMINER to contradict the rumor that he is about to leave town. The rumor doubtless arises from the fact that Mr. E. G. Stone, fruit dealer, etc., is about removing to Rochester—the similarity of initial letters to the two names being evidently the cause of the confusion. Mr. E. B. Stone, barrister, has no intention of removing from town.

The fruit season has now come and we must prepare to put up our fruit. Now what kind of jars are we to use? Of course, glass jars; but so many of those we had last year cracked in filling that it makes it very expensive. Oh, I remember how Mrs. Goodwife told me last year she bought her jars at "China Hall," and that she did not break a jar in filling or lose a single can of fruit. I shall buy from China Hall this season. As the price is just the same I might as well have the best.

CORSETS

Every lady purchasing CORSETS and wishing to get the Best Article for the least outlay, should visit TURNBULL'S, as he always keeps in stock the Best Makes from all the leading manufacturers. Some makes are peculiarly adapted to suit a particular style of figure. Below we enumerate a few lines from which you can select in any size from 18 to 30. Larger sizes procured on short notice.

THE YATISI CORSET

is modelled from a design of one of the most celebrated Parisian makers. It gives a lady that ease and grace so much admired in French ladies.

The YATISI CORSET owing to the peculiar diagonal elasticity of the cloth will fit the wearer perfectly the first time worn, no matter what her style of form is, either long or short waisted. To ladies wishing to lace light and not feel uncomfortable at the bust or hips, they are indispensible.

The YATISI CORSET does not stretch at the waist; requires no breaking in; fits comfortable the first time worn, as it gives to every motion of the wearer. It will outlast any of the old style rigid Corsets.

The YATISI CORSET can be worn ten days and if not found satisfactory in every respect the money will be refunded at TURNBULL'S.

THE CORALINE CORSET

What is Coraline? Coraline is composed of a bundle of stiff and and very elastic fibres like bristles tightly bound with strong thread. Coraline contains no sizing of any kind but its stiffness exists in the natural fibre and is permanent. Look for the Coraline Corset at TURNBULL'S, every pair stamped.

BALL'S CORSETS.

These Corsets need no breaking in—invalids can wear them with ease and comfort, as they do not compress the vital parts of the wearer. They fit a great variety of forms owing to their peculiar construction—they are very durable. They have the endorsement of every physician who has examined them. Every pair warranted—the money refunded if not satisfactory after wearing them three weeks at TURNBULL'S.

THE PARISENNE.

The PARISENNE is a new make which is becoming very popular. It is something after the style of the old French Corded Corset—is shorter waisted than most of the other makes, which makes it adapted for a stout figure.

Everything desirable in the Corset line always to be found at TURNBULL'S at prices that are never beaten.

TWO SERIOUS ACCIDENTS.

A MONTREALER TERRIBLY INJURED BY A GUN BURSTING.

Bricklayers on Strike—Another Raid on the Bucket Shops—A Supposed Diamond Thief Under Arrest.

MONTREAL, Sept 10. Wells Etienne Girouard of this city was on a shooting expedition at St. Eam the his gun suddenly exploded, penetrating one of his eyes and tearing away a portion of his face.

Michael Dwyer fell from a moving train train at St. Henri to-day and sustained injuries from which it is feared he will not recover.

The bricklayers working for the Corporation, in consequence of their pay being reduced from $4 to $3.50 per day, have struck work.

Chief Hughes to-day organized another raid on the bucket shops and made an attempt to catch one of them doing business, but found them all closed.

Kate Moore and three men named Hainey, Rossiter and Dillon were before the Recorder to-day for being concerned in a row in the Gregory House. Hainey was shot in the neck, Dillon was shot in the mouth and Rossiter was stabbed. The injuries are not dangerous. Scalding water was also a weapon used. The woman was fined $8.50 or one month, Hainey and Dillon were fined $10 each or one month, and Rossiter was remanded.

To-day an American looking stranger, well dressed and ablaze with brilliants, entered the pawnshop of J. L. Moss and asked the latter to value a diamond ring which he took off one of his fingers. Mr. Moss' estimate was about $500. The stranger then produced other valuable diamond rings, pins, gold watches, chains and other jewelry and Moss arrived at the conclusion that he wished to trade. Enquiring of him how he came by them Moss was informed that it was none of his business. He then tried to detain him but the stranger skipped out. He was, however, afterwards caught and taken to the police station. He refused to give his name or to state how he came into possession of such valuable property.

The Pitcher case was continued to-day.

A prize fight took place at Quanicasse, Mich., on Sunday, between Martin Shaughnessey of Bay City, and Gaffney of Detroit. The fight was declared a draw, though Gaffney had much the best of it throughout.

The cricket match yesterday at Kingston between the Sawbones and the Kingston club was won by the former by one innings and two runs. The score was, first innings: Doctors 81, Kingston 37; second innings: Kingston 42.

Bold Daylight Burglary.

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 10.—When Mr. Holmes went home on Saturday he discovered that an entrance to his house had been effected and immediately began a search to see it anything had been stolen. He found that a bureau drawer had been ransacked, and a gold watch valued at $250, and also it $12 had been taken. From the description of a man seen by some children prowling around, a man known as "Gumption Cute" was suspected and searched for. "Gumption" had in the meantime taken to the woods and search is being made for him.

The Prince of Wales at Vienna.

VIENNA, Sept. 10.—The Prince of Wales arrived in Vienna to-day. His visit is made in response to the Emperor's invitation to witness the manœuvres of the Austrian army. The Prince was received by a guard of honor and by the members of the English Embassy who afterwards, repaid a visit to the Emperor and thanked him for appointing him Honorary Colonel of the 12th Hussars. The Emperor later returned his visit. A dinner in honor of the Prince of Wales was given at Hofburn Castle this evening.

THE ISLAND DELEGATES

IT IS SAID THEIR VISIT HAS BEEN POSTPONED.

Their Trip Put Off Indefinitely—The Alleged Reason for the Sudden Change of Programme.

MONTREAL, Sept. 10.—Late this evening a private despatch was received from St. Johns Newfoundland, bringing the intelligence that the delegates from the Newfoundland Government, who were to have left that place to-day on a mission to Ottawa to arrange terms for the admission of the Colony of Newfoundland into the Canadian Confederation, had suddenly abandoned their intention and postponed the trip indefinitely.

The official reason for this course is not stated, but it is added that the Newfoundland Government is alarmed at the critical condition of affairs between Canada and the United States and prefers to postpone the inauguration of negotiations until the cloud has blown over.

This step is not a cause of much regret to Canadians, as Newfoundland's everlasting dispute with France over the so-called French Shore fisheries is yet unsettled, and while it remains open is a continual menace to peaceful intercourse with the great European republic.

The delegates chosen to represent Newfoundland previous to this sudden change in affairs were Sir James Winter (the Premier) and Hon. E. D. Shea, with Hon. Mr. Monroe and Hon. A. M. Harvey from the Council and Mr. P. G. Scott from the Assembly.

The Red River Valley Railroad Nearing Completion—Fatal Accident.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 10.—Col. Clough telegraphs from St. Paul that the Manitoba road has not acquired the Emerson branch, nor does it intend to, nor will it entertain any proposition beyond its published one.

The Red River Valley road will be opened for passenger traffic on Oct. 1.

The Board of Methodist Missions was royally welcomed to-night at Grace Church, where spirited addresses were delivered.

The Portage Agricultural Society won first prize, $100, given by the Canadian Pacific Railway for the best contribution of Manitoba products to the Toronto Exhibition; St. Andrews, second, $50; Brandon, third, $25.

Ex-Mayor Westbrook's residence was burglarized last night and a quantity of goods taken.

Charles Dean, a farmer living near Moosomin, was thrown out of his wagon to-day and alighting on his head was killed instantly.

A Fastime That Will Cost His Life.

ORANGE, N.J., Sept. 10.—James Bredamus, a boy 14 years of age, who works in a hat shop, was fooling around a horizontal shaft running 250 revolutions a minute. He had on a rubber apron and held one end on the shaft to show how quickly it could be pulled off when it caught. He did this several times successfully. Notwithstanding the warning of his companions he tried to do it just once more. The end of the apron caught firmly and wrapped tightly around his fingers, and in an instant the poor fellow was whirling through the air. One piercing shriek was all he had time to utter before he was hurled with frightful velocity to one end of the room. When picked up he was unconscious. One arm was completely torn off at the elbow and the hand and arm thrown to the other end of the room. The other arm was mangled almost out of all shape and hung to the stump by a few shreds. His clothes were completely stripped off. On his breast were several gashes caused by projecting nails on the floor when he fell, and he suffered severe internal injuries. He was taken to the Memorial Hospital and the mutilated limbs amputated, and he is in a dying condition from shock and loss of blood.

A Dastardly Attempt at Train Wrecking.

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 10.—Meagre details of a fiendish attempt at train wrecking on the Grand Trunk Railway reached this city at a late hour last night. It appears an eastbound freight train, on reaching a point about three miles east of Bothwell, between 8 and 9 o'clock last night, ran into an obstruction, but, as the train was moving slowly, the only damage done was the derailing of the engine. The trainmen, on making an investigation, discovered that two heavy rails had been placed across the track.

The officials here are confident that the object of the miscreants was to wreck No. 55 express for the purpose of plunder, but they were foiled, for that train was from one and a half to two hours late, and the freight had received orders to come on. Had the express been on time in all probability a terrible disaster would have been the result.

About 1 o'clock this morning an engine having on board Constable Logan and a posse left for the scene with the object of locating the scoundrels.

A Guardian of the Peace Disturbs it.

POINT ST. CHARLES, Sept. 10.—A policeman named McAllease got drunk Saturday night and was insulting passers-by and acting in a brutal manner when the police station was notified. Two men went at once to arrest him, but found they had a tougher job than they had bargained for, as the belligerent "bobby" showed fight, and despite their utmost endeavors they could not apprehend him. A further relay was telephoned for and four more men quickly arrived and assisted their confreres. A serious combat ensued. McAllease, who is a powerful man, used his baton to some purpose, and in the melee that ensued several of the policemen received wounds and had their clothes torn. Finally they overpowered and conveyed him to the station where he was locked up.

Had His Wife Arrested.

EAST SAGINAW, Mich., Sept. 10.—George Bowden, a business man of London, Ont., came here yesterday in search of his wife who left him last April. He found her living with Thomas Hartley, street-car driver, and had both locked up on the charge of adultery. Hartley formerly lived at London. Mrs. Bowden is 28 years old and the mother of two children, whom she abandoned.

Burglary at Port Rowan.

PORT ROWAN, Sept. 10.—T. B. Dedrick & Co.'s store was broken into last night, their safe was blown open, books and papers were burned and scattered over the office floor. The Dedricks receive a large amount of money every day from the bank to pay out for grain, but there was only $10 in the safe, which the robbers carried off. The plate glass windows were broken by the concussion.

The Ruins Fell on Him.

ORANGEVILLE, Sept. 11.—R. Wilson sustained serious if not fatal injuries by a large portion of the brick ruins of the Paisley House stables toppling over on him, terribly injuring the poor fellow and breaking his legs in three places.

"OLD PROBS."

Complacence in Manitoba By His Grace—A Narrow Gauge Railway.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 10.—In your Winnipeg despatch printed Friday last it was said: The air is decidedly softer and milder to-day, and a Government report would probably show an extensive warm movement for the west of this but no one here knows. As a matter of fact the warm wind set in at Regina on Friday, the day after the above was written.

Now let Mr. Tupper and Mr. Dewdney lay their heads together and give the Northwest her probabilities which she very much wants and which she deserves as much as any of the rest of us.

This week the wheat talk opens rather better than it did a week ago. It is generally said now that allowing for some falling off in quantity the higher prices will more than make up to the farmers for the smaller quantity. But if you have any influence with "Old Probabilities" just remind him that Northwest people think they have as good a right to his attentions as have those of the East.

Mr. E. S. Galt, son of Sir Alexander, took the east bound train to-night. He goes to England and will be absent a few months. He is General Manager of the Galt or Lethbridge Coal Mines which are on the Belly River south of the Canadian Pacific Railway track. The nearest Canadian Pacific Railway station is Dunmore, which is 651 miles west of Winnipeg and 6 miles this side of Medicine Hat. The mines are reached by an independent narrow gauge railway running 110 miles south from the Canadian Pacific Railway. I have heard it talked of but not mentioned by any one connected with the company that the narrow gauge will soon be replaced by a broad gauge, after which cars will run from the mines to points of delivery without transhipment. I have also heard, though from quite another source altogether, that the narrow gauge was imposed in the first place by Old Country shareholders who seemed to have formed exaggerated ideas as to the suitability of the narrow gauge to Canadian requirements. Now it has to be done over again, as in some other cases of narrow gauge we know of.

THE DAILY COLLISION.

A Freight Crashes into the Rear Coach of an Excursion Train.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 11.—The fourth section of train No. 5, west bound on the New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio Railway, carrying G. A. R. Veterans from Youngstown and vicinity to the national encampment at Columbus, was wrecked yesterday afternoon at Rittman, a small station three miles west of Wadsworth, O. The train consisted of nine cars. The connecting rod of the locomotive drawing a special broke near Rittman and after much difficulty the train was stopped on a curve.

While waiting for repairs to be made a freight train which was following down the grade thundered along at the rate of 25 miles an hour and although warning was given it was impossible to avert the collision. The locomotive of the freight plunged into the rear coach of the special, wrecking four cars, two of them being completely demolished.

The excursionists had notice of the danger and all succeeded in getting out of the cars before the crash came, but as they hurried down the embankment the wrecked coaches rolled down upon them killing two and injuring twenty-five others more or less seriously. Two of the trainmen were also killed.

Large Republican Gains—The G. A. R. Sweeps the State.

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 10.—One hundred and fifty towns give Republican 44,824, Democratic 33,220, Prohibition 1481, scattering 824. The same towns in 1886 gave Republican 37,949, Democratic 30,405, Prohibition 2020, scattering 28.

Republican plurality,	1888	11,604
" "	1886	7,544
Gain		4,060

Chairman Manley has telegraphed Chairman Quay of the National Republican Committee as follows: We have carried the state by a plurality of 20,000, have chosen the entire delegation in Congress—Reed's majority will reach 2500. The majorities for Dingley, Boutelle and Milliken will exceed 6000 respectively. We have chosen every state senator and nearly or quite 45 of the representatives in our legislature and have carried every county in the state on the popular vote.

LIQUOR RESTRICTION.

The Imperial Government Asks Information From Canada.

OTTAWA, Sept. 11.—It is understood that in view of the liquor restriction agitation in England, the Imperial Government some weeks ago transmitted a despatch to the Government here asking for information regarding the working of the restrictive laws in this country. The information is being now obtained from the different provinces, and it is probable that it will be sent as received, although it is likely to be to some extent contradictory.

A Human Brute.

MONTREAL, Sept. 11.—Detective Trempe and Constable Demers on Saturday afternoon arrested a man on St. Paul street named Narcisse Blondin alias Avon, on a charge of attempting to rape Adela Perrcault, 11 years of age. It appears that the prisoner, who is 27 years of age, met the little girl on the street one evening and took her into a restaurant and treated her to oysters. He next enticed her to a house on Sanguinet street under the pretence of giving her wine, and there assaulted her, so it is alleged. He told the girl that if she said anything about the affair to anybody she would be put in jail. However, the matter leaked out and Detective Trempe found the girl after considerable difficulty and got her, with the woman of the house, to make a deposition before the Police Magistrate on Saturday. This accomplished, he, with Constable Demers, set out to find the brute in human form, who was found during the afternoon and taken into custody.

A RIGHT ROYAL WELCOME

LORD STANLEY OF PRESTON IN CANADA'S QUEEN CITY.

Toronto Throws Wide Her Doors to the Representative of Queen Victoria—How the Addresses Poured In.

TORONTO, Sept. 11.—Toronto yesterday did honor to herself and to our new Governor-General, Lord Stanley of Preston. The proceedings were successful in every respect and may be regarded as a happy augury of the Governor-General's term of office. At North Toronto, soon after 7 o'clock in the morning visitors promenaded the neat little station of the Canadian Pacific Railway in readiness for the arrival of the 7.23 train from the capital, by which it was announced His Excellency would travel. Nearly all wore the red rose, the floral emblem of the House of Lancaster. On the arrival of the train the municipal party boarded His Excellency's car and by the Mayor each was introduced to the Governor-General. Lord Stanley graciously received the party. Before arriving at Union Station the Governor-General introduced Lady Stanley, who thanked the officials for their early welcome and in brief yet felicitous terms expressed her pleasure at what she had already seen of Canada. On behalf of the Reception Committee Lady Stanley accepted handsome bouquets. At Union Station there was a large crowd, who cheered the Vice-Regal party on alighting from the train, on entering the carriages in waiting and on arriving at their quarters in the Queen's Hotel. Included in the party were the four sons of the Governor-General, Victor A. Stanley, Arthur S. Stanley, F. C. Stanley, G. S. Stanley; Miss Lister, companion to Lady Stanley; Captain C. Colville, Military Secretary; Lieut. A. MacMahon, Aide.

Addresses were received by His Excellency during the day from the bishop, clergy and lay representatives of the Synod of the diocese of Toronto; St. George's Society, the Methodist Conference, the Sons of England, the Army and Navy Veterans, St. Andrew's Society and the Board of Trade, and in the evening the civic address was presented at the Horticultural Gardens Pavilion, to all of which Lord Stanley made fitting and felicitous responses. Preceding the evening ceremonies a torchlight procession paraded the streets.

TORONTO TOPICS.

The Diamond Thief Arraigned—The Verdict in the Sloan Case.

TORONTO, Sept. 11.—Charles W. Schnell, alias Eugene Wilks, the man arrested on Sunday night on a charge of bringing stolen property into Canada appeared before the Police Magistrate yesterday morning. Evidence for the Crown was offered by Robert H. Ramsgate, diamond dealer, of No. 10 Maiden-lane, New York, who testified that the prisoner had secured a portion of the property found in his possession from him on false pretences, alleging that he was agent for a big diamond commission house. Ramsgate claimed $1000 worth of the property found with Schnell and the remaining $2000 worth still awaits owners. Schnell pleaded not guilty and was remanded until Friday.

The commandant of the new cavalry school to be established in Toronto has not been appointed yet. In military circles it is believed that he will not be a Toronto man.

Yesterday afternoon Coroner Powell held an inquest at the City Morgue on the body of John Sloan, which was found floating in the bay on Saturday. The verdict was death by drowning, but whether through suicidal mania or accidentally the evidence did not disclose. There was not a particle of evidence of foul play.

Last evening Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Parker celebrated their silver wedding.

Lord Stanley of Preston will formally open the Industrial Exhibition at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Sergeant-Detective Reburn yesterday evening arrested H. L. Howard, a guest at one of the leading hotels, on suspicion that he was a crook and a blackleg. There was nothing about the young man's appearance to indicate that he was crooked. He was well dressed and moved in the best society of young men in the city, and played billiards with "the finest" at the leading hotels. When arrested yesterday evening he asked for God's sake to be let out of the town. The detectives thought him a good riddance and Detective Slemin saw him off on the late train west last night.

The St. Clair Flats Canal.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—A letter was transmitted to Congress from the acting chief of engineers to-day stating that complaints had been made to the department of the temporary blocking of commerce through the St. Clair Flats Canal by the grounding of vessels passing through the canal. He says he understands the grounding of these vessels to be due to the carelessness or obstinacy of the pilots or masters of the vessels and their failure to observe the rules and regulations for the navigation of the Canal established by the Secretary of War. It is recommended that the River and Harbor Act be amended so as to include the St. Clair Flats Canal in the list of navigable streams over which the Secretary of War shall have jurisdiction, with power to provide penalties for the violation of the rules prescribed by him.

A Woman and Money at the Bottom of It.

SARNIA, Sept. 10.—Henry McKillop came over here from Port Huron some time since and opened a confectionery store. He had got in trouble through a libel suit in Detroit in which he was arrested. A Port Huronite named Rudge bailed him and McKillop came to this side. Saturday he went over and his bondsman gave him up. McKillop was then placed in the bastile. The libel suit in Detroit is said to have been occasioned by statements McKillop had published in a Detroit paper and they originally grew out of transactions he had with a Mrs. Stellwagen where several hundred dollars took a mysterious route.

Forgot to Bring His Bride.

BERLIN, Sept. 10.—Jas. Didman, a young harness maker of this town, was married in the village of Madoc, and felt so elated and was so well treated by his friends that he came home next night and forgot to bring the bride with him.

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 11, 1888.

MR. FOSTER'S methods of financing, remarks the Ottawa Free Press, have been well exemplified by the imposition of taxes on peach baskets and huckleberries, as well as by his borrowing $25,000,000 in England at 3½ per cent. and loaning the money to Yankee speculators at 1½ per cent.

ONE of the political sensations of the hour in New York State is the contribution to the campaign fund of the Democratic National Committee by Myron Bangs, a millionaire manufacturer of Fairview, near Syracuse, and a Republican of twenty years' standing. He believes in tariff reform and wants to see Cleveland re-elected. He employs 300 men. Republicans are beginning to think that his conversion to Democratic and tariff reform principles "bangs" everything.

A COMPARISON of the revenue and expenditure of the Dominion for 1887-88, compared with the returns of the preceding year, shows that while there was only an increase of $110,000 in the revenue, the expenditure was augmented by over a million dollars.

	1888	1887
Revenue	$35,864,494	$35,754,993
Expenditure	35,668,305	35,668,161

Had the payments on account of rebellion losses and railway subsidies during the past year been charged to ordinary expenses, as they should have been, the deficit for 1888 would exceed two millions of dollars.

THE retaliation bill has passed in the United States by a large majority and now it is in the power of the president's whim to declare non-intercourse with Canada. He may close the Sault Ste. Marie Canal to Canadian vessels, but Canada can smite him hip and thigh at Detroit. The Detroit Evening News prints a diagram of the Detroit River at Grosse Isle to show that "Canada can put her finger on a great artery of lake navigation and completely stop the flow of commerce between the upper and lower lakes." It is this way. There is an Yankee channel and a Canadian channel, the two separated by Bois Blanc Island which is a Canadian possession, so there is not a ghost of a doubt that this channel is wholly in Canadian territory. The beauty of the situation in relation to retaliation is that this channel is 20 feet deep—enough to pass the largest lake vessel, while the Yankee channel, both narrow and tortuous, is only ten feet deep, and no large vessels use it, and none of the vessels which do the real carrying trade of the lakes can use it; they all use the Canadian channel, the only one to use. The Detroit News points out that "if this channel were closed, water communication between the upper and lower lakes would be as effectually cut off as by the destruction of the St. Clair Flats Canal, the filling up of the Lime Kiln's crossing, or the blockade of the Detroit river by an effecient fleet." It would appear that the retaliation boot is built to fit both feet.

The First Shot Fired.

Rev. D. V. Lucas Opens the Anti-Repeal Campaign—His Address at the Barracks—Forcible and Eloquent.

The campaign against the repeal of the Scott Act was begun last night at the Salvation Army barracks, where Rev. D. V. Lucas, M.A., delivered the first of his series of addresses. The hall was pretty well filled. Dr. Fife occupied a seat on the platform, and after the introductory services Mr. Mark Spencely, one of the soldiers who had been saved from a drunkard's grave, was called upon to give his experience. This Mark did with a vigor and emphasis peculiarly his own. Mark's address was a first-class temperance lecture in itself and his forty-mile song, "Roll the Old Chariot 'long" was a clincher. Bro. Baker, another rescured inebriate, recounted his experience prior to his conversion, after which the lecturer of the evening was called upon.

After Rev. Mr. Lucas had announced that he would speak in Charlotte street church Tuesday night he launched out into his address with of the great moral battle that was being waged on earth between the two great forces, darkness and light, hell and heaven. His opinion was that if there was a straw in his brother's way it was his business to remove that straw, lest he, too, should stumble with that brother into the depths of hell. That was the way he looked at the liquor traffic. And if there was any publican in the meeting, one who made or sold intoxicants, he would say to him that his was the business of hell, the dealing out of death; and it was the biggest card the devil ever played to drag down mankind. If anyone dared to stand up and defend this liquor traffic, he (the speaker) offered him half his time to get up before an intelligent audience and dare to do it. It was the devil's business, and he had only to call up these publicans themselves to prove it; and Rev. Mr. Lucas related several anecdotes of his personal knowledge containing the admissions of hotel keepers that the business was neither respectable nor honorable. The speaker inveighed against the liquor dealers as living by the slaughter of their fellowmen, for whom they would be responsible to God. Looking at the question from the standpoint of

he said this traffic was the most stupid and diagraceful thing allowed to exist. It took four times as much out of a man's pocket as it put in. But the publicans and distillers and brewers could not see it that way. Their work was to drag down mankind, and the temperance people met with opposition in their philanthropic and patriotic work by men who were indifferent and set themselves down to do all they could to hinder. They could not see the loathesomeness of the liquor traffic, and they were prepared to help it along. Much was said about the benefit of the liquor traffic to business, but the speaker said no place would ever grow simply from the push given it by the traffic. No; but sometimes towns and cities grew in spite of the hindering force. This town and this Dominion would prosper much better were the liquor traffic abolished; but because it does prosper in a way with the traffic, is no argument that the traffic is helping it along. In conclusion, Rev. Mr. Lucas urged the people to use all their brains and strength to lift up the standard of high moral education, and some day a glorious tidal wave would come along and sweep the accursed thing from the face of the earth.

Capt. Howell then closed the meeting with an urgent address in behalf of temperance, in which he denounced the liquor traffic as the greatest curse of the country.

The meeting was brought to a close in the usual manner.

Struck It Rich.

A Canadian Lumberman's Luck As a Silver Miner—As High As 1,136 Ounces to the Ton of Quartz.

OTTAWA, Sept. 4th.—Mr. G. B. Pattee, of the lumbering firm of Perley & Pattee, of this city, has struck it rich in Arizona. The Record, under the heading "The World's Bonanza," says: "Major H. A. Reid, of the St. Patrick's mine, has come in with the first shipment of ore from the mine for a working test. Four tons were bought in, and the average assay was 1,137 ounces of silver and 20 per cent. lead. If any other mining camp in Arizona can beat the St. Patrick in quality and quantity combined please let us hear from it."

The Major H. A. Reed referred to by the Record is a brother-in-law of Mr. Pattee, and Mr. Pattee is the principal owner of St. Patrick's mine. Mr. Pattee, speaking to a reporter, confirmed the information. He says the first take out of the mine panned out well, 7,338 pounds of rock ore, as taken from the mine, selling for $1,850 at Nogales—that is, the ore taken from the mine pans out about $500 per ton. Specimens of the ore taken from the mine by Mr. Pattee while there assay as high as 6,985 ounces of silver to the ton, but a fair average is put at 1,138 ounces to the ton. Mr. Pattee says that he intends working the mine for all it is worth, and a larger number of men are now engaged getting out the ore.

Well, "that depends." He can if his throat is large enough and the cannon-ball not too large. The question really seems worthy of some consideration in view of the size of some of the pills that are prescribed for suffering humanity. THE PULSE OF TRADE.

Leading Features of the Home and Foreign Markets Reviewed.

TORONTO, Sept. 11.—At the St. Lawrence market the receipts yesterday were quiet and prices steady. The quotations were: Butter, pound rolls, 22c to 23c; large rolls, 18c to 20c; inferior, 15c. Lard, tubs, 12c. Cheese, 10c to 14c. Bacon, 12c to 15c. Eggs, 15c to 16c. Spring chickens, 55c to 70c. Geese, 65c to 90c each. Ducks 65c to 70c. Potatoes, bag, 40c to 50c. Apples, per brl., $1.25 to $1.75. Beets, per dozen, 25c. Onions, per dozen, 15c to 20. Celery, 50c to 60c per dozen bunches. Turnips, bag, 75c to $1. Carrots, dozen, 20c to 25c. Cabbages, dozen, 30c to 40c. Cauliflower, per doz., 25c to 50c. Corn, 7c to 10c per dozen. Tomatoes, per bushel, 50c to 60c. Beans, 30c. to 35c a peck.

Business was rushing on the local grain market yesterday morning when 200 bushels of fall wheat sold at $1.08½ per bushel. Over 100 bushels of goose wheat sold at 82½ to 83c per bushel. Barley was slow, 200 bushels sold at 65 to 70c per bushel. The feature of the market was the immense supply of oats; over 1200 bushels sold at 38 to 40c per bushel. One load of peas sold at 65c per bushel.

On the hay market business was very slow. Good timothy sold at $20 to $21 per ton.

On call yesterday afternoon at the Board of Trade buyers bid $1.07 for No. 2 red winter; none was offered. Buyers also bid 62c for peas, which was followed by a bid of 62c at any outside point; none was offered.

THE FRUIT MARKET.

A steady trade was done in fruit at the wharves and Union Station. Canadian and Delaware peaches were quoted at $1 and $1.25 a basket; Bartlett pears, $5 a barrel and 50 and 75 cents a basket; Flemish beauties, 40 and 45 cents a basket; blue plums, 75 and 85 cents a basket; Lombards, 35 cents and $1 a basket; common red plums, 35 cents a basket; watermelons, $16 a hundred; musk melons, $1.50 a barrel; grapes, 2 cents a pound; crabapples, 25 cents a basket; apples, $1.50 and $2 a barrel.

BEERBOHM'S REPORTS.

Beerbohm reports: London—Floating cargoes—wheat quiet and firm, corn nil. Cargoes on passage—Wheat and corn firm. Mark Lane—Wheat firm, corn strong. Flour firm. French country markets quiet. English farmers' delivery past week, wheat 14,547 qrs., average price 37s 9d was 26s 4d. Weather in England cold and wet. Liverpool—spot wheat neglected, corn inactive. No. 1 Cal. 8s 1½d; No. 2 7s 10½d, both 1d cheaper. A. r. w., 7s 10½d, w. m., 7s 11d, spring 7s 10d, corn, 5s 10½d, all ½d cheaper.

LIVERPOOL MARKETS.

Liverpool reports wheat quiet, with demand poor and supply good. Corn firm, and demand fair. Quotations: Spring wheat, 7s 9d to 7s 10d; red winter, 7s 10d to 8s; No. 1 Cal., 8s 1d to 8s 2d; corn, 5s 1d; peas, 6s 8d; pork, 73s 9d; lard 48s; bacon a. c., 48s; bacon l. c., 47s; tallow, 26s; cheese, 46s 6d.

BUFFALO CHEESE MARKET.

The offerings of cheese at Buffalo yesterday were 5200 boxes, the market ruled dull and prices were weak and lower. The weather has favored the dairymen and the yield is very large. Prices ruled at 8½ @ 8½c on the sales.

A Single Trial

is all that is needed to prove that Polson's Nerviline is the most rapid and certain remedy in the world for pain. It only costs 10 cents for a trial bottle. A single trial bottle will prove Nerviline to be equally efficacious as an external or internal remedy, and for pain of every description it has no equal. Try 10 cent sample bottle. Sold by druggists. Large bottles 25 cents. Avoid substitutes. 6dw37

A Dozen Years.

Dear Sirs,—For twelve years I suffered from dyspepsia and liver complaint and was so weak I could not leave my bed for eight months, and had little hope of ever being cured. Three years ago I tried Burdock Blood Bitters, and am thankful to say I now enjoy good health, and I advise all who are afflicted to try B.B.B." Mrs. Harriet Hobbs, Muir Avenue, Brockton, Ont. 6dw36

An Old Favorite

that has been popular with the people for 30 years is Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry for all varieties of summer complaints of children or adults. It seldom or ever fails to cure cholera morbus, diarrhœa and dysentery. 6dw36

From Manitoba.

"I have been cured of chronic diarrhœa by the use of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. I used about twelve bottles of it and am now entirely free from the disease. William McLaren, Clearwater, Man. 6dw36

Prompt Results.

"I was very sick with bowel complaint last summer. I tried other medecines but all were no use until I tried Dr. Fowler's Wild Strawberry. The next day I was like a different man." Geo. H. Peacock, Stroud, Ont.

The Growth of the Hair

Should always be watched. Inattention to the hair often leads to premature grayness and baldness. When dandruff appears it should be looked after at once. By frequently using a little of Dr. Dorenwend's Great German Hair Magic, the scalp will be kept in a clean healthy condition and the strength and vigor of the hair greatly promoted. It is the only reliable. Do not be talked into using anything else. For sale by all druggists everywhere. dw

Piles! Piles! Itching Piles.

SYMPTOMS—Moisture, intense itching and stinging, most at night, worse by scratching. If allowed to continue tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate, becoming very sore. SWAYNE'S OINTMENT stops the itching and bleeding, heals ulceration, and in most cases removes the tumors. At druggists, or by mail, for 50 cents. Dr. Swayne & Son, Philadelphia. Lyman, Sons & Co., Montreal, Wholesale Agents. dw

An Undoubted Proof

of the beneficial qualities of Burdock Blood Bitters is found in the thousands of authentic testimonials published by the proprietles. The original letters being in their possession, they can furnish proof positive as to their genuineness at any time. 6dw36

SUN

LIFE ASSURANCE COMP'Y OF CANADA.

HEAD OFFICE, MONTREAL.

Both in Magnitude and Profitableness, the Business for 1887 has been almost everything that could be desired.

The life policies now in force are 7,128 for $10,873,777.69, on 6741 lives. We have moreover $3,207,600 00 insured under 1,840 accident policies, so that the total current contracts of the Company are 8 969 for $14,081,377.69.

The income for the year shows the very large increase of $122,331.23 over the figures of 1886, the total being $495,831.54. The revenue is now half a million dollars per annum, or as mentioned in the report, over $1,600 for every working day in the year, and even this he believed was but a mere introduction to what it will be in a few years hence. The gains from time to time are well illustrated by the following table:—

Period	Gain in income.	Gain in assets.	Gain in assurances.
1872 to 1876, four years	$ 54,611 21	$189,482 69	$1,149,742 00
1876 to 1880, four years	33,580 67	195,188 29	1,167,386 14
1880 to 1884, four years	136,976 84	363,264 31	2,962,924 90
1884 to 1887, three years	217,451 89	475,897 24	4,029,372 65
Total in 1887	$495,831 54	$1,750,004 48	$10,873,777 69

It is very pleasing to notice that the gains for the last three years only are 60 per cent. more than those of the preceding four years.

Lacrosse.

A meeting of the Riverside Lacrosse Club was held Monday night to consider the request of the Bradford club to have the date of the return match here changed from Sept. 13th to the 26th, 27th or 28th. The proposition was met half way, and it was decided to reply to the effect that Bradford would be given to the 17th, and if by that time they did not "come to the face" the Riversides would claim the game.

Willow and Wicket.

Lothrop's Literary Luxuries.

This is an apt title to express the quality of the juvenile publications issued by D. Lothrop Company, Boston, of which "Pansy" and "Little Men and Women" for September are delightful representatives. Both are brim full of beautiful pictures for infant eyes, charming reading for juvenile ears, and, like a golden thread, runs through all the best of moral tone. If you want to make the children happy and good subscribe for either of these excellent periodicals—"Little Men and Women," $1.00 a year; "Pansy," $1.00 per year. D. Lothrop Company, Boston.

THE place of the sweet buy and buy, is what our catoumers say of The Pantry.

An Accident.

An accident that might have terminated seriously occurred at the post office this forenoon. Mrs. Macfarlane Wilson and children were driving along Water street when the little black pony took fright at the wire being strung on the telephone poles, and shied violently. The large wagon of the telephone company was being driven by at the same moment, and the pony plunged into it with the phaeton. One of the shafts caught into the wagon and in a trice the huge vehicle was overturned and the driver thrown out on the road. Fortunately the shaft was made of good material and it did not snap off but still remained fast in the overturned wagon, holding the pony back and preventing it from running away. The pony struggled to free itself, but a number of men came quickly to the rescue and it was caught, else a serious runaway accident would have occurred. As it was no one was hurt nor was anything broken. The accident had a fortunate termination.

The Smallest Foot in Town.

There is always an unconscious rivalry between the ladies of the town, as to whom has the smallest foot and heretofore there has been no means of settling the question. But there is a chance now of deciding the matter. Judging from the past few days every lady in town, attracted by the wonderful bargains, has visited gough bros, boot and shoe store, 375 george street, and the lady with the smallest foot has her name recorded in confidence. The rush has been so great that the original Bayeur stock is about cleared out and gough bros., the philanthropists, having had such a taste of doing good to the public are keeping it up. They have bought another immense bankrupt stock of prime boots and shoes, at 50c. on the dollar. Just think of it—try to realize it! 6,000 dollars worth of boots and shoes thrown on the market at gift prices. Here is a sample—3,000 pairs men's boots at 50 cents per pair! 2,000 pairs ladies' boots at 50 cents per pair! 1,000 pairs children's boots at 25 cents per pair! Look out for the rush next Saturday. At a certain hour gough bros. will sell a certain line of men's boots, worth $1.25, at 25c. per pair. What more can be wanted? The grain market may bu'st, cheese may collapse, ruin may stare you in the face, but while you have one quarter to rub against another you can boot or shoe yourself at gough bros.', the popular benefactors, 375 george street, peterborough.

Another Popular Entertainment

The "At Home" of the Endeavor Society at the school room of the Charlotte Street Methodist Church last evening was in every respect a success. There was a large and appreciative audience present. The programme was exceptionally good. The meeting was opened with devotional exercises by the honorary president of the society, Rev. S. J. Shorey. Mrs. Logan sang "When the Swallows Homeward Fly" with her usual sweetness of voice and expression. Misses Jones and Smart gave an instrumental duet, which was well received by the audience. Mr. Devall gave a song entitled "Some Sweet Day." This was rendered by a full, clear voice and received well-merited applause. Recitation by Mr. Scott, "Katrina's Visit to New York," was given in Mr. Scott's inimitable way, and put the audience in good humor for refreshments. The ladies of the society provided ample refreshments for all present and a large number partook of these with hearty zest. Mrs. Daly sang with wonderful clearness and with her accustomed skill, "So the Story Goes," which was followed by an encore, "Far Away." Mrs. Logan and Miss Fawcett's voices blended nicely in the vocal duet, "In the Starlight." They were heartily applauded. A song by Mr. Devall, "The Model Church," closed the programme of a very profitable evening's entertainment. The Endeavor Society will give another entertainment shortly. They have undertaken a commendable work, and no doubt from the attendance and enthusiasm manifested last evening, great success will attend their efforts. The school room presented a very home-like appearance. Curtains, decorative paintings, easy chairs, lounges, &c., assisted materially in making the "At Home" what it was—a signal success.

Their Sixth Anniversary.

The Salvation Army's Big Demonstration —The Hindoo Contingent Coming.

On Thursday and Friday the sixth Dominion Anniversary of the Salvation Army will be celebrated in Peterborough by a grand muster of the troops and demonstration.

A number of superior attractions have been provided. Commissioner Coombs, of Toronto, chief commander of the Dominion, Colonel and Mrs. Dowdle from Gen. Booth's headquarters, England, Major and Mrs. Bailey, five Hindoo converts in native dress and a large number of officers in command of out-posts will be present. The Hindoo contingent is composed of Major Musa Bhai, Lieut. Horatula, Lieut. Devasepa, Lieut. Muthabaranum (all natives of India) and Staff Capt. Leed, a Scotch lady, who has been in India twelve months, in army work, and has returned, accompanied by the contingent to procure officers for India. The natives wear porderous white turbans, long scarlet jerseys, white shirts and cream colored scarfs. One of them carries an oriental drum, not unlike a liquor keg, slung before him. This he plays with his fingers. They will sing songs and speak in their native tongue, an interpreter making known their words to the audience. Each of them has an interesting experience to relate.

The object of the visit of the Hindoos to Canada is to arouse interest in the work. Some twenty officers will be sent out from Canada, and wherever they go the Hindoos attract large crowds and consequent large collections, which are devoted to the work.

They will be here Thursday and Friday. The posters announce that the demonstration will be the biggest ever seen in town.

Police Court.

TUESDAY, Sept 11.

A non-payment of wages case occupied the attention of the court to-day. J. Carlisle sought to recover $8.50 from J. Montgomery, claimed as wages due for services as engineer of a threshing engine. The dispute was as to the terms of agreement, which had been verbal, and the actual time served. The defendant was ordered to pay the plaintiff $8 and stand the costs of the case.

Cable quotations were 45s. 6d. Bidding was very slow at first and only small sales were made. The question of placing the last half on the board was discussed, but it was decided not to offer it to-day.

The bidding was very complicated, and resulted in the following sales being made:—Warminster sold to Mr. Flavelle at 8¼c.; North Smith, Myrtle, Central Smith, Pine Grove and Warsaw to Mr. Cluxton at 8⅝c.; Shearer, Westwood, Norwood, Melrose Abbey, South Dummer and Keene to Mr. Cook at 8¾c.; Lilly Lake to Mr. Cook at 8⅝c.; Cherry Grove and Otonabee Union to Mr. Cluxton at 8¾c.; Central and Beasfort to Mr. Cluxton at 8¼c. An offer of 8⅝c. for the balance of the Peterborough board, and one of 8¼ for Lakefield alone, by Mr. Cluxton, were refused.

No cheese were sold off the Lindsay board, offers of 8⅜ by Mr. Flavelle and 8¼ by Mr. Cook for selections being refused.

The board adjourned for a week, when it is understood contracts will be made for the balance of the season.

Small Details.

Men pursue business for profit. Details play an important part in business success. They are the foundation upon which the after superstructure is reared. Pennies multiply into dollars. Small savings gradually increase the bank account. The merchant who achieves a fortune is practical in details. Little things are carefully scrutinized. One of the wealthiest merchants in New York always saves the envelopes of his letters, the backs of which he uses for memoranda. This is the indicative of his method in business details. Another gathers up loose nails, twine and paper, for his own use. How many thousand sweep them aside as rubbish. Little do they imagine that this indiscriminate way of managing is but the key to business character, which in succeeding years culminates in loss and failure. The smallest leak will in time sink the largest boat that floats. And so the smallest losses in business that daily occur through neglect of details, swamp at last the wealthiest firms. Figures are important to consult. They never lie. 2+2 never make five, and yet how many merchants act upon this principal of expansion. Their hopefulness is larger than their caution. Hopefulness within itself never brought a fortune. It is a poor anchor, for it has no stay power. Profit and loss should be a daily study. To neglect this point is dangerous. To many, the dry practical details of every day mercantile life are irksome. They shun them, neglect them, avoid them for more pleasant duties. Do you wonder at their final failure? Why? Have they not ignored the primary principles of commercial success. Must they not, therefore, pay the penalty? The merchant who carefully scans the most insignificant details of his store is master of the situation. He is skillful to plan and organize, and his affairs are conducted by rule and method.—Dry Goods Chronicle.

THE BALTIC AGROUND.

She Runs on the Rocks of the North Channel in a Dense Fog.

OWEN SOUND, Sept. 11.—The steamer Cambria, of the Canadian Pacific Railway line, on her arrival yesterday morning brought word that the steamer Baltic, Captain Tait Robertson, of the Collingwood line, was aground high and dry at One-Tree Island, in the North Channel, near Clapperton Island. It is stated that the vessel at the time was under a full head of steam and in a fog was doing her best to make up lost time when she struck on the island. The accident happened on Friday night at 11.30, and the steamer Cambria, hearing of the accident, ran up to the assistance of the Baltic, but could do nothing for her. All the passengers are safe, though they were badly scared by the accident. It is thought that the vessel can be pulled off and will be found not much the worse for her mishap.

The island on which the Baltic lies can only be found on the new charts as Elm Tree or Elm Island, commonly called One-Tree Island by sailors.

The latest report brought down by the Mercor is that the Baltic is badly logged, both arches broken and a strong southeast wind pounding her on the rocks. She has been scuttled and lies in about five feet of water forward and some seven feet aft.

AN INCENDIARY FIRE.

Property Valued at Ten Thousand Dollars Destroyed.

DUNDALK, Sept. 11.—About 1.30 yesterday morning fire was discovered in the store owned by John Connor and occupied by James Edgerton as a liquor store. Despite the efforts of the people the fire spread and soon J. D. Morgan's store and dwelling, C. H. Jewell's furniture workshop, the Ranbury block, occupied by Johnston, jeweler, and James Connor's store and dwelling, were in flames. The total loss is estimated at about $10,000; partly covered by insurance. Jewell's furniture store and Ranbury's store being of brick these buildings were saved, though badly damaged at the back. The fire was undoubtedly the work of an incendiary.

A Cayuga Blaze.

CAYUGA, Sept. 11.—About 7.45 last evening the pumping house at the Grand Trunk station was discovered on fire. The alarm was at once given but nothing could be done to save the building or engine. The fire is supposed to have been caused by a spark from the smoke stack or from a passing engine.

The fruit season has now come and we must prepare to put up our fruit. Now what kind of jars are we to use? Of course, glass jars; but so many of those we had last year cracked in filling that it makes it very expensive. Oh, I remember how Mrs. Goodwife told me last year she bought her jars at "China Hall," and that she did not break a jar in filling or lose a single can of fruit. I shall buy from China Hall this season. As the price is just the same I might as well have the best.

GEN. HARRISON'S LETTER.

A VERY PRONOUNCED DECLARATION AGAINST FREE TRADE.

The Principle of Protection Squarely Advocated—The Tariff Question the Issue of the Campaign.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 12.—General Harrison's letter accepting the Republican nomination for the presidency was given to the press last night. The General says:

"That the declaration of the Chicago convention upon the questions that now attract the interest of our people are so clear and emphatic is a matter for congratulation. There is further cause of congratulation in the fact that the convention utterances of the Democratic party, if in any degree uncertain or contradictory, can now be judged and interpreted by executive acts and messages and by definite propositions in legislation. This is especially true of what is popularly known as the tariff question. The issue cannot now be obscured. It is not a contest between schedules, but between wide-apart principles. The assault upon our protective system is open and defiant. The legend upon the banner may not be 'Free Trade,' it may be the more obscure motto, 'Tariff Reform;' but neither the banner nor the inscription is conclusive, or indeed very important. The assault itself is the important fact.

"The Republican party holds that a protective tariff is constitutional, wholesome and necessary. We do not offer a fixed schedule, but a principle. We will revise the schedule, modify rates, but always with an intelligent provision as to the effect upon domestic production and the wages of our working people. We believe it to be one of the worthy objects of tariff legislation to preserve the American market for American producers, and to maintain the American scale of wages by adequate discriminatory duties upon foreign competing products.

"A proper reduction of the revenue does not necessitate and should not suggest the abandonment or impairment of the protective system. The methods suggested by our convention will not need to be exhausted in order to effect the necessary reduction. We are not likely to be called upon, I think, to make a present choice between the surrender of the protective system and the repeal of the internal taxes. The surplus now in the treasury should be used in the purchase of bonds."

The letter denounces the importation of foreign labor under contract, but says that if the protective tariff is removed it will be found to make but little difference whether the cheap laborer is across the street or over the sea. Laws for the prevention of pauper and criminal immigration are favored, as also the exclusion of alien races, like the Chinese, whose ultimate assimilation is neither possible nor desirable. A free ballot and a fair count in all elections is demanded. More liberal appropriations in aid of common school education are favored. The General declares against combines and trusts, advocates civil service reform and goes on to say:

"Our relations with foreign powers should be characterized by friendliness and respect. The right of our people and of our ships to hospitable treatment should be insisted upon with dignity and firmness. Our nation is too great both in material strength and moral power to indulge in bluster or to be suspected of timorousness. Vacillation and inconsistency are as incompatible with successful diplomacy as they are with national dignity. We should especially cultivate and extend our diplomatic and commercial arrangements with Central and South America. The hardships and risks that are necessary incidents of the business should not be increased by an inhospitable exclusion from the near lying ports. The resources of a firm, dignified, and consistent diplomacy are undoubtedly equal to prompt and peaceful solution of the difficulties that now exist. Our neighbors will surely not expect in our ports a commercial hospitality they deny to us in theirs."

AN ABSURD STATEMENT.

CABLED FROM NEW YORK TO LONDON.

The Times and The Great Mackenzie Basin—Sir Charles Tupper and Sir George Stephen.

LONDON, Sept. 12.—An absurd statement has been cabled here from the New York correspondent of the Standard to the effect that Canada would be put immediately in a state of thorough defence and the Imperial Government asked to give a grant of several millions sterling for strategical and other purposes. The statement is quoted and made the most of by the evening papers, but is regarded by all persons conversant with Canadian affairs as utter rubbish and beneath contempt.

The Times recently referred sceptically to the facts and figures of Dr. Schultz' report of the great Mackenzie basin. It has since received fuller information and published two lengthy articles yesterday. Editorially it congratulates Canada upon the good fortune of the discovery of a round million square miles of great resources.

Sir Charles Tupper has promised to attend the autumnal meeting of the Associated Chambers of Commerce at Cardiff on the 25th inst.

Sir George Stephen is still in Scotland, and it is learned has already felt much benefit from the rest and relief from his presidential labors and cares. He shortly returns to London.

THE PROVINCIAL EXHIBITION.

Sir John Opens the Show—The Premier's Reference to Retaliation.

KINGSTON, Sept. 12.—The exhibition was formally opened yesterday by Sir John A. Macdonald, before a vast audience. Touching on retaliation he said that maybe Canada would have to look to its own resources in view of the action of the United States. "Canadians," he said, "are to be excluded for no act of theirs. Well, if they will not allow us to trade with them we can trade with ourselves. We are not afraid or dismayed at any threatened attempt to hamper our commerce or cripple our resources. The effect will be the same as was shown after the abrogation of the Reciprocity Treaty of 1854. It showed that we could rely upon our own resources. While we should like to continue to trade with our neighbors in the freest manner we can afford to do without it and can afford to wait with calm self-respect the out-come of the matter."

Miss H. Baker of Syracuse, N.Y., created a feeling of delight when she rushed to Sir John's side and grasping his hand declared, "I am a loyal American subject, but I can tell you we don't mean to shut the door against you, we are going to open it wide."

Sir John laughed and said: "I am sure you won't against such a good looking fellow as me."

MAILS TO THE WEST INDIES.

A Direct Service From Halifax to be Established.

OTTAWA, Sept. 12.—The Postmaster-General has decided upon a step which will be a cause of satisfaction to all lovers of Canadian progress. The people of the Maritime Provinces have for a long time past been asking that mails for the West Indies be sent by direct steamer from Halifax or St. John, instead of via New York. Hon. Mr. Haggart has decided to meet the wishes of the Maritime Province people, and the new service will be inaugurated on Saturday, when the steamer Alpha will carry all West Indian mails direct.

Extensive Fire in Thamesville.

THAMESVILLE, Sept. 11.—A fire occurred here this morning totally destroying the entire beautiful brick block known as the Spackman Block. The ground floor was occupied by G. F. Spackman with three general stores. The upper flats were occupied as tailor and dressmaking shops and Masonic Hall. The losses are as follows: Spackman's on building $10,000, insurance $3000, stock saved; building occupied by John Wonnacott as residence and general store, loss on building $3000, stock and household furniture totally destroyed, loss unknown, insured; a frame building occupied by Dr. Swisher as offices and by Wonnacott as ice cream and refreshment rooms, loss unknown. The fire originated in Wonnacott's store, but the cause is unknown. Mayhew's Hall and the stables of the Western Hotel, owing to the stillness of the air and the incessant and well-directed labors of the firemen, were saved. This is the most extensive fire suffered by this village for many years.

LORD STANLEY OF PRESTON.

The Exhibition at Toronto Formally Opened by His Excellency.

TORONTO, Sept. 12.—Lord Stanley's visit to Toronto practically terminated yesterday. Commencing at 9.45 in the morning he had a round of varied duties till the evening was well advanced. But His Excellency and his gracious lady were equal to the occasion, and both won golden opinions wherever they appeared.

Ten o'clock found the large drawing-room at the Queen's Hotel crowded with members of the Irish Protestant Benevolent Society. President J. L. Hughes read their address to which Lord Stanley replied in fitting terms.

The party then proceeded to the University where Sir Daniel Wilson read an address. His Excellency, replying, said that amongst the many addresses which had been presented to him there was none which he received with more pleasure than that which proceeded from the University which had been foremost in this Dominion in the cause of learning, and which had ever made use of its opportunities to extend still wider education throughout Canada.

Visits were next paid to Osgoode Hall, the Normal School and the Public Library.

In the afternoon the Governor-General formally opened the Industrial Exhibition, and in the evening the address of the Lancashire lads and lasses was presented at Ald. Haliam's residence. Fireworks and illuminations wound up the proceedings.

Four Times a Bigamist.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 12.—Jacob Larding, alias Harry Gillespie Nelson, but more familiarly known to the frequenters of concert saloons as "Bud" Harris, is wanted by the Gloucester authorities on the charge of bigamy. In 1877 he was employed at Snyder's Garden in Atlantic City. While there he married Belle Cushing, a well-known variety singer. He soon left her and went to Wilmington and from there to Baltimore. In Baltimore, it is said, he married the daughter of a well-known liveryman. When the father of the girl learned the occupation of his newly-made son-in-law he drove him from his house and "Bud" left Baltimore. He next turned up in New York. He was employed in Tice Allen's dive on Bleecker street and in the Brighton Concert Garden.

While in New York he married another woman, whom he deserted and returned to Philadelphia. While here he was again married and lived with this wife for about two years. When Director Stokeley closed the dives Harris found his occupation gone. He went to Gloucester and secured employment as a singer in McGade's pavilion. One day he met Lizzie Glennen, of this city, who was visiting some friends in Gloucester. After a brief courtship he married her. Mrs. Harris No. 5 being in her turn deserted, laid complaint and Harris' history became known.

METHODIST MISSION BOARD.

Proceedings of Yesterday's Session at Winnipeg—Encouraging Reports.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 11.—The General Board of Missions of the Methodist Church met in Grace Church this morning, Dr. Williams presiding. Rev. T. G. Williams was elected minute, and A. J. Donly, journal secretary. Rev. Mr. Starr was asked to take part in the proceedings of the board, owing to important matters to come up concerning British Columbia, including the action to be taken regarding the establishment of two or more industrial schools for Indians.

Dr. Douglass proposed to take into consideration appropriations for domestic missions and afterward appropriate to other departments of the work the balance of the funds. Drs. Sutherland and McLaren opposed this method and the proposition was laid on the table for the time being.

The result of the Parsonage Aid Fund shows that in three years there has been a saving of over $11,000.

After a lengthy discussion the Nipissing District was placed back on an equal basis with that of the other districts.

The Secretary's annual report shows a membership gain during the year of 10,000, the communicants now aggregating 46,442. The total revenue was $219,480 and expenditure $195,470. Reports from Japan are most encouraging. The Chinese work in Victoria is progressing fairly. The Indian work continues to receive careful attention, but it had perplexing features, the policy of the Government and the Church being such as not to make Indians self-reliant, yet the spiritual results of the missions were fairly prosperous. There has been no marked advance in French work. Home work prospered, there being 397 domestic missions.

The annual missionary meeting held tonight was largely attended.

The City Council have invited the delegates to a lunch and a drive around the city.

A RANK FAILURE.

A Furniture Concern Dissipates $10,000 of Oshawa's Money.

OSHAWA, Sept. 12.—Messrs. E. H. Heaps & Co., furniture manufacturers, whose failure on Saturday created such a sensation here, have made an offer to their creditors. The offer is 25 cents on the dollar to be paid within 30 days. It is probable that the creditors will accept the offer, seeing that they do not stand much chance of getting any more out of the estate.

E. H. Heaps came out from England in 1886. In September, 1887, he purchased the factory formerly occupied by the Oshawa Cabinet Company. He also purchased the handsome residence of Mr. T. N. Gibb, agreeing to pay for both properties the sum of $21,000. The town granted him a loan of $10,000 for ten years without interest, secured by mortgages on the above mentioned property, which property was exempted from taxation. At the time of his advent Mr. Heaps represented himself to be worth $101,000.

It was a surprise to his creditors when they were called together to find that Mr. Heaps' liabilities were $19,000 and his assets $5,000, this transformation act taking place all within one year.

Stabbed by a Former Suitor.

BELLEVILLE, N.J., Sept. 12.—While Mrs. George Marshall sat by an open window in her house she heard footsteps in the yard and called to her husband, who was in another room. Before he could reach her a man reached in at the window and seizing her by the shoulder drew a large knife. With an oath he hissed: "I'm going to kill you." He then began slashing her with the knife. Mrs. Marshall's screams hastened her husband and other members of the household to her side, but she was only able to articulate, "The window, the window!" and then fell in a fit. Blood was streaming from the cuts in her arms and she was bruised about the face by the ruffian's fist. Friends of the Marshalls say that the assault was made by a rejected suitor, but they decline to give his name. Mrs. Marshall is 24 years old, is very pretty and is in a delicate condition. Fears are entertained that she will not survive the freight, as she has been unconscious almost all the time since the assault was made.

The Woman and the Man Both Dead.

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—George Zintel, a wood-turner, age 21, took Anna Haas to call on some friends at a tenement-house. After considerable beer had been drunk, Anna annoyed Zintel by making advances to him, and he ran away into the street. She thought that he had gone to his parents' rooms, which were on the third floor, and accordingly went there and burst in the door. The father, Andrew Zintel, ordered her to leave the room, but she refused to go. He then seized her and forced her out upon a wooden balcony which ran along the outside of the building. In the struggle which ensued the railing of the balcony gave way and the two fell headlong to the pavement. Mr. Zintel died while being taken to Bellevue Hospital, the base of his skull being fractured. The back of the woman's head was completely crushed, and she also died at the hospital about 11 o'clock yesterday morning. The son was just returning to the house when the fatal fall occurred.

Shot His Girl and Himself.

ELIZABETHTOWN, Ill., Sept. 12.—John Server and Josie Ferrell are prominent young people of this town. They have been keeping company a year, but Server was not a favorite with the girl's family, and in order to break up the attachment she was sent for three months to Metropolis, Ill. She returned last night and was invited out for a walk by Server. A moment later five pistol shots were heard, and the neighbors found the bodies of both lying bleeding in the road. Sever was dead and the girl was dying.

A Cool Burglar.

WINDSOR, Sept. 11. While Mr. Thos. Dow, Grand Trunk Railway station agent and family, were temporarily away from home, their residence was entered by a burglar and all the most valuable male garments carried off. The burglar had very coolly undressed himself and left his old clothes.

A NEW BARLEY QUESTION

WHICH IS AGITATING THE GRAIN MEN OF THE NORTHWEST.

Why Not Try to Find a Market for the Canadian Crop in England, Where there is No Duty, Instead of in the States?

WINNIPEG, Sept. 12.—The barley question is among the greatest that have lately arisen above the horizon in this new country. Whether the Canadian seller or American buyer pays the duty Winnipeg grain men are not agreed. In the meantime it is asked: Why not try to find a market in England where there is no duty at all? Are there not men in Montreal, Toronto or Winnipeg enterprising enough to try the experiment of a shipment or two to England?

It seems as if the discovery had been but newly made, but it must now be considered certain, that the prairie soil and the sun that shines on it will produce excellent malting barley as well as No. 1 hard spring wheat. In no other country in the world is there such extent of soil, with durable substance to it, capable of carrying heavy crops of barley as in the Canadian Northwest.

As for what makes the price of barley circumstances are not now what they were years ago. Then York State, Ohio and Michigan, with their large product, fixed the price. While the farmers of Upper Canada sent their share it was too little of the whole to influence the price very much, but now the time is drawing near when the barley production of Canada's prairies will be so immense as to make the price, not only for Canada, but for the United States too.

The authorities who hold that Canada must always remain too small a fraction in the problem to put prices either up or down, are invited to take this into their serious consideration. It might be reasonable for people to reflect that the case being altered alters the case, and that the entrance of the vast Canadian Northwest into the situation has created a new one. Things are changed now, they are not what they were before.

What other event of magnitude, equal to the development of the Canadian Northwest as an agricultural influence, has been so contemptuously ignored by the school which sees no moving cause of any account except those that are from the States? The discovery of this Canadian Northwest is "a big thing" and great consequences of some kind must result. Henceforth Canada's production will help to make the price of barley.

Winnipeg Railway Rumors.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 12.—Another grist of railwa rumors is afloat, amongst others that the Canadian Pacific Railway will extend the Glenboro branch to the Souris country, heading off the Northern Pacific, and that the latter will penetrate the northwestern portion of the province, and if unable to secure running rights over the Manitoba & Northwestern a new road will be built to Rapid City.

The purchase of the Northwest Central is also contemplated.

The Northern Pacific has purchased a part of the old Grace Church property, and the station will be located on the corner of Water and Main-streets.

Seven Negroes Killed in Revenge.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Sept. 11.—A negro camp meeting was in progress near the residence of a Mr. Milburn, and they obtained drinking water from his well. The water being almost exhausted, Milburn took the bucket away from the well and refused to let the negroes have any more. One of them started into the house to take the bucket and was shot and wounded by Milburn. That night the negroes surrounded Milburn's house and fired over 100 shots into it. The next day a crowd of masked white men went to the negro meeting and shot and killed seven negroes who were supposed to have been ringleaders in the attack on Milburn's house. No arrests have been made.

Buried Over a Bridge.

ST. THOMAS, Sept. 12.—The large Michigan Central Bridge over Kettle Creek, just to the west of the city, was the scene of another most deplorable accident yesterday morning, whereby Henry Smith, track foreman of a portion of the St. Clair branch, lost his life. Smith had been in the city and was returning home on a track velocipede. There was a dense fog hanging over the bridge, and almost before Smith could realize his position he was struck by an engine and hurled to the ground below—a distance of 70 feet. When picked up life was extinct. He leaves a widow and large family of small children.

A Girl Caught on a Wheel.

MONTREAL, Sept. 12.—Zelia Perrin, who is employed at the Montreal Woolen Mills, was the victim of a serious accident. It appears, that she was walking near a wheel, when her arm was suddenly caught by the belt, the wheel of which was then running at about 300 revolutions a minute. Before the machinery could be stopped, and the poor girl, who is but 17 years of age, removed from her perilous position, the whole of the skin of one of her arms was completely torn off, and she was rendered insensible, having also received several other injuries.

A Wedding Tour Cut Short.

MONTREAL, Sept. 12.—The wedding tour of A. Sydney Ben of Mobile, Ala., was cut short yesterday when he was arrested on a capias at the Windsor Hotel. The capias was issued at the instance of Hon. Peter Mitchell, who alleges that defendant is indebted to him to the amount of $600 which he lent him in St. John, N.B., some years ago and for which he held a draft until last August when it was destroyed in The Herald building fire.

A Fire on Shipboard.

LONDON, Sept. 12.—A fire broke out in the coal bunkers of the steamship Pembroke Castle, plying between Southampton and Cape Town. Ten coolies were smothered to death by the coal gas and six seamen who tried to rescue them were nearly suffocated and are in a precarious condition. The fire was extinguished before it extended

GEN. HARRISON'S LETTER.

A VERY PRONOUNCED DECLARATION AGAINST FREE TRADE.

The Principle of Protection Squarely Advocated—The Tariff Question the Issue of the Campaign.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 12.—General Harrison's letter accepting the Republican nomination for the presidency was given to the press last night. The General says:

"That the declaration of the Chicago convention upon the questions that now attract the interest of our people are so clear and emphatic is a matter for congratulation. There is further cause of congratulation in the fact that the convention utterances of the Democratic party, if in any degree uncertain or contradictory, can now be judged and interpreted by executive acts and messages and by definite propositions in legislation. This is especially true of what is popularly known as the tariff question. The issue cannot now be obscured. It is not a contest between schedules, but between wide-apart principles. The assault upon our protective system is open and defiant. The legend upon the banner may not be 'Free Trade,' it may be the more obscure motto, 'Tariff Reform;' but neither the banner nor the inscription is conclusive, or indeed very important. The assault itself is the important fact.

"The Republican party holds that a protective tariff is constitutional, wholesome and necessary. We do not offer a fixed schedule, but a principle. We will revise the schedule, modify rates, but always with an intelligent provision as to the effect upon domestic production and the wages of our working people. We believe it to be one of the worthy objects of tariff legislation to preserve the American market for American producers, and to maintain the American scale of wages by adequate discriminatory duties upon foreign competing products.

"A proper reduction of the revenue does not necessitate and should not suggest the abandonment or impairment of the protective system. The methods suggested by our convention will not need to be exhausted in order to effect the necessary reduction. We are not likely to be called upon, I think, to make a present choice between the surrender of the protective system and the repeal of the internal taxes. The surplus now in the treasury should be used in the purchase of bonds."

The letter denounces the importation of foreign labor under contract, but says that if the protective tariff is removed it will be found to make but little difference whether the cheap laborer is across the street or over the sea. Laws for the prevention of pauper and criminal immigration are favored, as also the exclusion of alien races, like the Chinese, whose ultimate assimilation is neither possible nor desirable. A free ballot and a fair count in all elections is demanded. More liberal appropriations in aid of common school education are favored. The General declares against combines and trusts, advocates civil service reform and goes on to say:

"Our relations with foreign powers should be characterized by friendliness and respect. The right of our people and of our ships to hospitable treatment should be insisted upon with dignity and firmness. Our nation is too great both in material strength and moral power to indulge in bluster or to be suspected of timorousness. Vacillation and inconsistency are as incompatible with successful diplomacy as they are with national dignity. We should especially cultivate and extend our diplomatic and commercial arrangements with Central and South America. The hardships and risks that are necessary incidents of the business should not be increased by an inhospitable exclusion from the near lying ports. The resources of a firm, dignified, and consistent diplomacy are undoubtedly equal to prompt and peaceful solution of the difficulties that now exist. Our neighbors will surely not expect in our ports a commercial hospitality they deny to us in theirs."

AN ABSURD STATEMENT.

CABLED FROM NEW YORK TO LONDON.

The Times and The Great Mackenzie Basin—Sir Charles Tupper and Sir George Stephen.

LONDON, Sept. 12.—An absurd statement has been cabled here from the New York correspondent of the Standard to the effect that Canada would be put immediately in a state of thorough defence and the Imperial Government asked to give a grant of several millions sterling for strategical and other purposes. The statement is quoted and made the most of by the evening papers, but is regarded by all persons conversant with Canadian affairs as utter rubbish and beneath contempt.

The Times recently referred sceptically to the facts and figures of Dr. Schultz' report of the great Mackenzie basin. It has since received fuller information and published two lengthy articles yesterday. Editorially it congratulates Canada upon the good fortune of the discovery of a round million square miles of great resources.

Sir Charles Tupper has promised to attend the autumnal meeting of the Associated Chambers of Commerce at Cardiff on the 25th inst.

Sir George Stephen is still in Scotland, and it is learned has already felt much benefit from the rest and relief from his presidential labors and cares. He shortly returns to London.

THE PROVINCIAL EXHIBITION.

Sir John Opens the Show—The Premier's Reference to Retaliation.

KINGSTON, Sept. 12.—The exhibition was formally opened yesterday by Sir John A. Macdonald, before a vast audience. Touching on retaliation he said that maybe Canada would have to look to its own resources in view of the action of the United States. "Canadians," he said, "are to be excluded for no act of theirs. Well, if they will not allow us to trade with them we can trade with ourselves. We are not afraid or dismayed at any threatened attempt to hamper our commerce or cripple our resources. The effect will be the same as was shown after the abrogation of the Reciprocity Treaty of 1854. It showed that we could rely upon our own resources. While we should like to continue to trade with our neighbors in the freest manner we can afford to do without it and can afford to wait with calm self-respect the out-come of the matter."

Miss H. Baker of Syracuse, N.Y., created a feeling of delight when she rushed to Sir John's side and grasping his hand declared, "I am a loyal American subject, but I can tell you we don't mean to shut the door against you, we are going to open it wide."

Sir John laughed and said: "I am sure you won't against such a good looking fellow as me."

MAILS TO THE WEST INDIES.

A Direct Service From Halifax to be Established.

OTTAWA, Sept. 12.—The Postmaster-General has decided upon a step which will be a cause of satisfaction to all lovers of Canadian progress. The people of the Maritime Provinces have for a long time past been asking that mails for the West Indies be sent by direct steamer from Halifax or St. John, instead of via New York. Hon. Mr. Haggart has decided to meet the wishes of the Maritime Province people, and the new service will be inaugurated on Saturday, when the steamer Alpha will carry all West Indian mails direct.

Extensive Fire in Thamesville.

THAMESVILLE, Sept. 11.—A fire occurred here this morning totally destroying the entire beautiful brick block known as the Spackman Block. The ground floor was occupied by G. F. Spackman with three general stores, The upper flats were occupied as tailor and dressmaking shops and Masonic Hall. The losses are as follows: Spackman's on building $10,000, insurance $3000, stock saved; building occupied by John Wonnacott as residence and general store, loss on building $3000, stock and household furniture totally destroyed, loss unknown, insured; a frame building occupied by Dr. Swisher as offices and by Wonnacott as ice cream and refreshment rooms, loss unknown. The fire originated in Wonnacott's store, but the cause is unknown. Mayhew's Hall and the stables of the Western Hotel, owing to the stillness of the air and the incessant and well-directed labors of the firemen, were saved. This is the most extensive fire suffered by this village for many years.

LORD STANLEY OF PRESTON.

The Exhibition at Toronto Formally Opened by His Excellency.

TORONTO, Sept. 12.—Lord Stanley's visit to Toronto practically terminated yesterday. Commencing at 9.45 in the morning he had a round of varied duties till the evening was well advanced. But His Excellency and his gracious lady were equal to the occasion, and both won golden opinions wherever they appeared.

Ten o'clock found the large drawing-room at the Queen's Hotel crowded with members of the Irish Protestant Benevolent Society. President J. L. Hughes read their address to which Lord Stanley replied in fitting terms.

The party then proceeded to the University where Sir Daniel Wilson read an address. His Excellency, replying, said that amongst the many addresses which had been presented to him there was none which he received with more pleasure than that which proceeded from the University which had been foremost in this Dominion in the cause of learning, and which had ever made use of its opportunities to extend still wider education throughout Canada.

Visits were next paid to Osgoode Hall, the Normal School and the Public Library.

In the afternoon the Governor-General formally opened the Industrial Exhibition, and in the evening the address of the Lancashire lads and lasses was presented at Ald. Hallam's residence. Fireworks and illuminations wound up the proceedings.

Four Times a Bigamist.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 12.—Jacob Larding, alias Harry Gillespie Nelson, but more familiarly known to the frequenters of concert saloons as "Bud" Harris, is wanted by the Gloucester authorities on the charge of bigamy. In 1877 he was employed at Snyder's Garden in Atlantic City. While there he married Belle Cushing, a well-known variety singer. He soon left her and went to Wilmington and from there to Baltimore. In Baltimore, it is said, he married the daughter of a well-known liveryman. When the father of the girl learned the occupation of his newly-made son-in-law he drove him from his house and "Bud" left Baltimore. He next turned up in New York. He was employed in The Allen's dive on Bleecker-street and in the Brighton Concert Garden.

While in New York he married another woman, whom he deserted and returned to Philadelphia. While here he was again married and lived with this wife for about two years. When Director Stokeley closed the dives Harris found his occupation gone. He went to Gloucester and secured employment as a singer in McGade's pavilion. One day he met Lizzie Glennen, of this city, who was visiting some friends in Gloucester. After a brief courtship he married her. Mrs. Harris No. 5 being in her turn deserted, laid complaint and Harris' history became known.

METHODIST MISSION BOARD.

Proceedings of Yesterday's Session at Winnipeg—Encouraging Reports.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 11.—The General Board of Missions of the Methodist Church met in Grace Church this morning, Dr. Williams presiding. Rev. T. G. Williams was elected minute, and A. J. Donly, journal secretary. Rev. Mr. Starr was asked to take part in the proceedings of the board, owing to important matters to come up concerning British Columbia, including the action to be taken regarding the establishment of two or more industrial schools for Indians.

Dr. Douglass proposed to take into consideration appropriations for domestic missions and afterward appropriate to other departments of the work the balance of the funds. Drs. Sutherland and McLaren opposed this method and the proposition was laid on the table for the time being.

The result of the Parsonage Aid Fund shows that in three years there has been a saving of over $11,000.

After a lengthy discussion the Nipissing District was placed back on an equal basis with that of the other districts.

The Secretary's annual report shows a membership gain during the year of 10,000, the communicants now aggregating 46,442. The total revenue was $219,480 and expenditure $195,470. Reports from Japan are most encouraging. The Chinese work in Victoria is progressing fairly. The Indian work continues to receive careful attention, but it had perplexing features, the policy of the Government and the Church being such as not to make Indians self-reliant, yet the spiritual results of the missions were fairly prosperous. There has been no marked advance in French work. Home work prospered, there being 397 domestic missions.

The annual missionary meeting held tonight was largely attended.

The City Council have invited the delegates to a lunch and a drive around the city.

A RANK FAILURE.

A Furniture Concern Disinpates $10,000 of Oshawa's Money.

OSHAWA, Sept. 12.—Messrs. E. H. Heaps & Co., furniture manufacturers, whose failure on Saturday created such a sensation here, have made an offer to their creditors. The offer is 25 cents on the dollar to be paid within 30 days. It is probable that the creditors will accept the offer, seeing that they do not stand much chance of getting any more out of the estate.

E. H. Heaps came out from England in 1880. In September, 1887, he purchased the factory formerly occupied by the Oshawa Cabinet Company. He also purchased the handsome residence of Mr. T. N. Gibb, agreeing to pay for both properties the sum of $21,000. The town granted him a loan of $10,000 for ten years without interest, secured by mortgages on the above mentioned property, which property was exempted from taxation. At the time of his advent Mr. Heaps represented himself to be worth $104,000.

It was a surprise to his creditors when they were called together to find that Mr. Heaps' liabilities were $19,000 and his assets $5,000, this transformation act taking place all within one year.

Stabbed by a Former Suitor.

BELLEVILLE, N.J., Sept. 12.—While Mrs. George Marshall sat by an open window in her house she heard footsteps in the yard and called to her husband, who was in another room. Before he could reach her a man reached in at the window and seizing her by the shoulder drew a large knife. With an oath he hissed: "I'm going to kill you." He then began slashing her with the knife. Mrs. Marshall's screams hastened her husband and other members of the household to her side, but she was only able to articulate, "The window, the window!" and then fell in a fit. Blood was streaming from the cuts in her arms and she was bruised about the face by the ruffian's fist. Friends of the Marshalls say that the assault was made by a rejected suitor, but they decline to give his name. Mrs. Marshall is 24 years old, is very pretty and is in a delicate condition. Fears are entertained that she will not survive the freight, as she has been unconscious almost all the time since the assault was made.

The Woman and the Man Both Dead.

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—George Zintel, a wood-turner, age 21, took Anna Haas to call on some friends at a tenement-house. After considerable beer had been drunk, Anna annoyed Zintel by making advances to him, and he ran away into the street. She thought that he had gone to his parents' rooms, which were on the third floor, and accordingly went there and burst in the door. The father, Andrew Zintel, ordered her to leave the room, but she refused to go. He then seized her and forced her out upon a wooden balcony which ran along the outside of the building. In the struggle which ensued the railing of the balcony gave way and the two fell headlong to the pavement. Mr. Zintel died while being taken to Bellevue Hospital, the base of his skull being fractured. The back of the woman's head was completely crushed, and she also died at the hospital about 11 o'clock yesterday morning. The son was just returning to the house when the fatal fall occurred.

Shot His Girl and Himself.

ELIZABETHTOWN, Ill., Sept. 12.—John Server and Josie Ferrell are prominent young people of this town. They have been keeping company a year, but Server was not a favorite with the girl's family, and in order to break up the attachment she was sent for three months to Metropolis, Ill. She returned last night and was invited out for a walk by Server. A moment later five pistol shots were heard, and the neighbors found the bodies of both lying bleeding in the road. Sever was dead and the girl was dying.

A Cool Burglar.

WINDSOR, Sept. 11. While Mr. Thos. Dow, Grand Trunk Railway station agent and family, were temporarily away from home, their residence was entered by a burglar and all the most valuable male garments carried off. The burglar had very coolly undressed himself and left his old clothes.

A NEW BARLEY QUESTION

WHICH IS AGITATING THE GRAIN MEN OF THE NORTHWEST.

Why Not Try to Find a Market for the Canadian Crop in England, Where there is No Duty, Instead of in the States?

WINNIPEG, Sept. 12.—The barley question is among the greatest that have lately arisen above the horizon in this new country. Whether the Canadian seller or American buyer pays the duty Winnipeg grain men are not agreed. In the meantime it is asked: Why not try to find a market in England where there is no duty at all? Are there not men in Montreal, Toronto or Winnipeg enterprising enough to try the experiment of a shipment or two to England?

It seems as if the discovery had been but newly made, but it must now be considered certain, that the prairie soil and the sun that shines on it will produce excellent malting barley as well as No. 1 hard spring wheat. In no other country in the world is there such extent of soil, with durable substance to it, capable of carrying heavy crops of barley as in the Canadian Northwest.

As for what makes the price of barley circumstances are not now what they were years ago. Then York State, Ohio and Michigan, with their large product, fixed the price. While the farmers of Upper Canada sent their share it was too little of the whole to influence the price very much, but now the time is drawing near when the barley production of Canada's prairies will be so immense as to make the price, not only for Canada, but for the United States too.

The authorities who hold that Canada must always remain too small a fraction in the problem to put prices either up or down, are invited to take this into their serious consideration. It might be reasonable for people to reflect that the case being altered alters the case, and that the entrance of the vast Canadian Northwest into the situation has created a new one. Things are changed now, they are not what they were before.

What other event of magnitude, equal to the development of the Canadian Northwest as an agricultural influence, has been so contemptuously ignored by the school which sees no moving cause of any account except those that are from the States? The discovery of this Canadian Northwest is "a big thing" and great consequences of some kind must result. Henceforth Canada's production will help to make the price of barley.

Winnipeg Railway Rumors.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 12.—Another grist of railway rumors is afloat, amongst others that the Canadian Pacific Railway will extend the Glenboro branch to the Souris country, heading off the Northern Pacific, and that the latter will penetrate the northwestern portion of the province, and if unable to secure running rights over the Manitoba & Northwestern a new road will be built to Rapid City.

The purchase of the Northwest Central is also contemplated.

The Northern Pacific has purchased a part of the old Grace Church property, and the station will be located on the corner of Water and Main-streets.

Seven Negroes Killed in Revenge.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Sept. 11.—A negro camp meeting was in progress near the residence of a Mr. Milburn, and they obtained drinking water from his well. The water being almost exhausted, Milburn took the bucket away from the well and refused to let the negroes have any more. One of them started into the house to take the bucket and was shot and wounded by Milburn. That night the negroes surrounded Milburn's house and fired over 100 shots into it. The next day a crowd of masked white men went to the negro meeting and shot and killed seven negroes who were supposed to have been ringleaders in the attack on Milburn's house. No arrests have been made.

Buried Over a Bridge.

ST. THOMAS, Sept. 12.—The large Michigan Central Bridge over Kettle Creek, just to the west of the city, was the scene of another most deplorable accident yesterday morning, whereby Henry Smith, track foreman of a portion of the St. Clair branch, lost his life. Smith had been in the city and was returning home on a track velocipede. There was a dense fog hanging over the bridge, and almost before Smith could realize his position he was struck by an engine and hurled to the ground below—a distance of 70 feet. When picked up life was extinct. He leaves a widow and large family of small children.

A Girl Caught on a Wheel.

MONTREAL, Sept. 12.—Zelia Perrin, who is employed at the Montreal Woolen Mills, was the victim of a serious accident. It appears, that she was walking near a wheel, when her arm was suddenly caught by the belt, the wheel of which was then running at about 300 revolutions a minute. Before the machinery could be stopped, and the poor girl, who is but 17 years of age, removed from her perilous position, the whole of the skin of one of her arms was completely torn off, and she was rendered insensible, having also received several other injuries.

A Wedding Tour Cut Short.

MONTREAL, Sept. 12.—The wedding tour of A. Sydney Bell of Mobile, Ala., was cut short yesterday when he was arrested on a capias at the Windsor Hotel. The capias was issued at the instance of Hon. Peter Mitchell, who alleges that defendant is indebted to him to the amount of $600 which he lent him in St. John, N.B., some years ago and for which he held a draft until last August when it was destroyed in The Herald building fire.

A Fire on Shipboard.

LONDON, Sept. 12.—A fire broke out in the coal bunkers of the steamship Pembroke Castle, plying between Southampton and Cape Town. Ten coolies were smothered to death by the coal gas and six seamen who tried to rescue them were nearly suffocated and are in a precarious condition. The fire was extinguished before it extended

The Outlook for Farmers.

With good Crops and Fair Prices Prospects are Favorable—Opinions of Men Who Ought to Know.

In this as well as in other agricultural districts the crop outlook is one of prime importance to the farmer and one of at least great interest to the town resident. Everything depends upon the state of the crops and the prospects for good prices, so the following views of some of the largest grain dealers in town will be of value. The EXAMINER on Tuesday got the information together and here it is.

Mr. J. J. McBain says the crops in general in this district are not quite up to the average; wheat is short, barley a good average, oats fairly good but peas unusually short. As regards prices he thinks they will be good on the whole, with wheat considerably better than last year. He however expects a fall in the price of barley, peas to remain about the same as last year and oats if anything lower. Mr. McBain says the unusually large growth of barley in Manitoba this year will have a depressing effect on the prices here. He thinks too that the frosts reported as having injured the wheat in Manitoba will be the means of buoying up the prices here, though to just what extent cannot be determined till the exact damages resulting are ascertained.

Mr. W. H. Wrighton was scarcely prepared to make a statement; so many contradictory reports were brought in that he didn't know just what to believe. However, from what he had heard and seen, he would judge that the yield of barley in this district was light—that is, the acreage was large enough, larger even than last year, but the barley would not thresh more than from 10 to 15 bushels to the acre. The barley will be nearly all bright this year. Spring wheat he considers not quite up to the average, threshing about 12 or 15 bushels to the acre; fall wheat will not thresh out more than 20 bushels. Oats and peas would be below the average. The price of wheat this year, he believes, will be probably 10c. higher than last, and oats and peas and barley good prices. As regards barley, he could not say, as the American market had not yet opened and he had not yet received any advices. However, he thought barley would rule a good price. There was said to be a great need of barley in Wisconsin and Minnesota, where the growth this year is very wet, and as there was less barley grown in this country this season than last, he had reason to believe that barley would rule a fair price. However, it was yet too early to say anything definite.

Mr Davidson, of Meldrum & Davidson, reported fall wheat medium, spring wheat a good quality, yielding well to the straw but only medium per acre; oats and barley fair, and peas a failure. Hay was quite below the average. Prices, he said, ruled about the same here as Toronto, and he believed wheat was selling firm with an advance on the price of last year. It was going now at 95c., and would advance still. Oats were ruling low now but they would advance also. The barley market was not open yet, but he believed it would bring a price about as good as last year. Mr. Davidson accounted for the high price of wheat by the frost reports in Manitoba and the shortage of the yield in Ontario. Regarding roots, he said the late rains had done them much good, but as they were not in his line he could not say much about them. Summarizing his statements, Mr. Davidson expressed the opinion that, on the whole, the prospects for farmers were good; prices would be better, for although the yield was not so great the quality was improved in general.

Mr. H. A. Mulhern, of the Otonabee flour mills, was also seen, but he said he would not care to express an opinion as he had been in the old country all summer and really knew very little about the crops; and as the mill had been idle while the repairs were being made, he had not that daily intercourse with the farmers to enable him to form an opinion.

When our reporter called upon Mr. Hilliard he was absent, but he was got by telephone and he says that his talks with the farmers led him to believe that the yield was not up to the average, but the quality in all grains was good. The straw was short but the grain was plump, and the prices would in general be comparatively satisfactory.

Springville.

(Correspondence of the Examiner.)

This vicinity is enjoying its little boom of prosperity, and the prices for real estate are something like those which prevail in town. Not long since, Mr. Archibald Goodfellow purchased half an acre of land adjoining his store, paying therefor the sum of $500. He has erected thereon a fine new brick dwelling, adjoining the place in which he has done business as a general storekeeper. The new building is 28x36, two stories in height, built of brick and fronting on the gravel road. Mr. W. Fitzgerald was contractor and carpenter, Mr. P. McNamara did the brickwork, and Mr. P. McHugh the plastering. The store is arranged with every eye to convenience, separate apartments being devoted to boots and shoes and bulky goods. A lean-to added to the rear of both structures serves the purposes of a convenient and commodious store house.

Mr. Goodfellow has also a system of waterworks, he has tapped a spring and carries water 600 feet to his building and has a constant supply of the coolest and purest living water inside his walls. Mr. Goodfellow is a well-known resident, one of a family of six, composed of four brothers, James, Andrew and George, and two sisters, Mrs. Thomas Smythe and Mrs. Reid, of Bruce. He has been a liberal supporter of the Presbyterian church. He presented Rev. Mr. Blain, formerly minister at Springville, with a brick dwelling and two acres of land. Eight years since Mr. Goodfellow suffered the loss of his wife nee Anne Stewart, of Monaghan. Mr. Goodfellow has, both as a private citizen and business man, conducted himself so as to win and deserve, the respect of the entire community for the twenty-eight or thirty years he has conducted business here. He has always fulfilled to the letter his business obligations, and has proved himself a friend to all moral and religious movements which appealed to his generosity, or called for active co-operation. He was appointed postmaster 23 years ago and has held that position ever since giving satisfaction to all.

Across the gravel road in Cavan Mr. Goodfellow has a fine farm of 100 acres, upon which eleven years ago he built a fine brick residence, now occupied by his adoptive son-in-law, Mr. James Baptie, who is one of the best farmers in the vicinity. The buildings and equipments of the farm are all of the highest order, and Mr. Baptie uses them to the best advantage. He is known as a most enterprising and successful thoroughbred poultry breeder, and he has taken numberless prizes on his prime birds at Provincial, Industrial, district and other exhibitions. He also runs to horses, breeding some fine stock. He has a Criffle mare four years old, a well marked black beauty, reserved for breeding purposes. His two-year-old stallion, Criffle get, aptly named "Good-enough," is a fine roan from a half-bred Belgian mare. The fine draught filly from that uncomparable draught stallion "John Anderson," is a splendid foal, his dam weighing when in condition 1,675 pounds. Mr. Baptie also deals in bees, and, though the season has been a poor one, his yield has been good.

Mr. Wm. Clarke, of Springville, has been improving his premises by the addition of a fine verandah and back kitchen, which add much to the convenience and comfort of his dwelling.

Mr. R. D. Dundas has shipped four Clydesdales and six fillies to the Provincial at Kingston, whence, after, we hope, securing prizes, they will be taken to the Industrial at Toronto. All this stock is imported from Scotland. Mr. Dundas takes high rank as a breeder and dealer in thoroughbred horses.

Messrs. Brown Bros. near Springville, are enterprising young men and are successful breeders of Cotswold and Shropshire sheep and Berkshire pigs. They will exhibit them in these classes at the Central, and no doubt their pens will give a good account of themselves.

Death of a Beamsville Octogenarian.

BEAMSVILLE, Sept. 11.—One of the oldest of the old men of the village of Beamsville, William Walker, aged 80 years, died this morning. Mr. Walker appeared to be in his usual good health up to the last day or two. He was on the streets yesterday, though not quite well, and was up and dressed, with the help of his aged wife, this morning. After lying down again he said he would get up, and sat on the side of the bed. While Mrs. Walker was helping him to put one of his shoes on he fell backward and died.

Burned to Death.

HAMILTON, Sept. 11.—About 8 o'clock last evening Mrs. Vernon, wife of Dr. Vernon, was entering the bath room in her residence, 78 James street south, when she stumbled on a rug. The lamp fell from her hand and was dashed to pieces; the contents blazed up and caught the clothing of Mrs. Vernon who had fallen among the liquid. She was unable to do anything to save herself, and was fatally burned. She died early this morning from the effects of her injuries in great agony.

He Had Dyspepsia and Manged Himself.

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—Alexander Shotwell, a farmer on a visit to his brother in this city, had dyspepsia so that his mind became slightly affected and he was found in his room hanging to the door knob dead. He had tied a towel tightly around his neck and with another tied to it fastened the end to the knob and falling on his knees strangled himself to death.

The Dark Secret Abandoned.

STAPLETON, S.I., Sept. 11.—The dory Dark Secret, which started on its voyage from Boston to Queenstown some weeks ago, was abandoned at sea by Captain Anderson, who arrived here this morning in the Norwegian bark Nora.

A Single Trial

is all that is needed to prove that Polson's Nerviline is the most rapid and certain remedy in the world for pain. It only costs 10 cents for a trial bottle. A single trial bottle will prove Nerviline to be equally efficacious as an external or internal remedy, and for pain of every description it has no equal. Try 10 cent sample bottle. Sold by druggists. Large bottles 25 cents. Avoid substitutes. 6dw37

A Dozen Years.

Dear Sirs,—For twelve years I suffered from dyspepsia and liver complaint and was so weak I could not leave my bed for eight months, and had little hope of ever being cured. Three years ago I tried Burdock Blood Bitters, and am thankful to say I now enjoy good health, and I advise all who are afflicted to try B.B.B." Mrs. Harriet Hobbs, Muir Avenue, Brooklou, Ont. 6dw36

An Old Favorite

that has been popular with the people for 30 years is Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry for all varieties of summer complaints of children or adults. It seldom or ever fails to cure cholera morbus, diarrhœa and dysentery. 6dw36

From Manitoba.

"I have been cured of chronic diarrhœa by the use of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. I used about twelve bottles of it and am now entirely free from the disease. William McLaren, Clearwater, Man. 6dw36

Prompt Results.

"I was very sick with bowel complaint last summer. I tried other medecines but all were no use until I tried Dr. Fowler's Wild Strawberry. The next day I was like a different man." Geo. H. Peacock, Stroud, Ont.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

The Growth of the Hair

Should always be watched. Inattention to the hair often leads to premature grayness and baldness. When dandruff appears it should be looked after at once. By frequently using a little of Dr. Dorenwend's Great German Hair Magic, the scalp will be kept in a clean healthy condition and the strength and vigor of the hair greatly promoted. It is the only reliable. Do not be talked into using anything else. For sale by all druggists everywhere. dw

Piles! Piles! Itching Piles.

SYMPTOMS—Moisture, intense itching and stinging, most at night, worse by scratching. If allowed to continue tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate, becoming very sore. SWAYNE'S OINTMENT stops the itching and bleeding, heals ulceration, and in most cases removes the tumors. At druggists, or by mail, for 50 cents. Dr. Swayne & Son, Philadelphia. Lyman, Sons & Co., Montreal, Wholesale Agents. dw

An Undoubted Proof

of the beneficial qualities of Burdock Blood Bitters is found in the thousands of authentic testimonials published by the proprietors. The original letters being in their possession, they can furnish proof positive as to their genuineness at any time. 6dw36

DRUNKENNESS

Or the Liquor Habit Positively Cured by Administering Dr. Haines' Golden Specific."

It can be given in a cup of tea or coffee without the knowledge of the person taking it; it is absolutely harmless, and will effect a permanent and speedy cure, whether the patient is a moderate drinker or an alcoholic wreck. It has been given in thousands of cases, and in every instance a perfect cure has followed. It never fails. The system once impregnated with the Specific, it becomes an utter impossibility for the liquor appetite to exist. SUN

LIFE ASSURANCE COMP'Y OF CANADA.

HEAD OFFICE, MONTREAL.

Both in Magnitude and Profitableness, the Business for 1887 has been almost everything that could be desired.

The life policies now in force are 7,128 for $10,873,777.69, on 6741 lives. We have moreover $3,207,600 00 insured under 1,840 accident policies, so that the total current contracts of the Company are 8 969 for $14,081,377.69.

The income for the year shows the very large increase of $122,231.23 over the figures of 1886, the total being $495,831.54. The revenue is now half a million dollars per annum, or as mentioned in the report, over $1,600 for every working day in the year, and even this he believed was but a mere introduction to what it will be in a few years hence. The gains from time to time are well illustrated by the following table:—

Period	Gain in income.	Gain in assets.	Gain in assurances.
1872 to 1876, four years	$ 54,611 21	$169,482 69	$1,149,743 00
1876 to 1880, four years	38,580 67	195,188 29	1,167,386 14
1880 to 1884, four years	136,976 84	363,264 31	2,962,924 90
1884 to 1887, three years	217,451 89	475,607 24	4,029,373 65
Total in 1887	$495,831 54	$1,750,004 48	$10,873,777 69

It is very pleasing to notice that the gains for the last three years only are 60 per cent. more than those of the preceding four years.

A Brace of Runaways.

Last night, Letellier's bread cart came to grief on Crescent street. The horse ran away from near the cemetery while the driver was in the house delivering bread, and in turning a corner the cart was upset and pretty badly smashed, while the bread was scattered about profusely.

Stothart's milk wagon met with a dire disaster this forenoon. The horse ran away from near Gilmour street, down Charlotte street to the station, where it was caught. In turning off Park street the wagon was upset and the top completely demolished, the milk pails being all thrown out and their contents spilled on the roadside.

Typhoid Fever at Bridgenorth.

Dr. Caldwell was seen by the EXAMINER this afternoon with reference to the reported epidemic of typhoid fever at Bridgenorth. The doctor said he himself had ten cases at the village, one house having four of the family down with the disease, which was not of a specially virulent type. He could not say whether any other physicians had similar cases in the village or not. The prevalence of the disease was creating a stir in the village, he said, and the Smith Board of Health were taking steps to prevent its further spread. The Doctor further stated that for some reason or other the village was scarcely ever free from contagion. There are usually a few isolated cases at all times, and occasionally it breaks out into an epidemic. The cause of this was a mystery, and whether it was the lake or impure drinking water caused it, he could not say. The Board of Health were to-day, he said, collecting samples of well water in the village for analysis. As yet, the Doctor said, there had been no deaths from the disease, and as no new cases had been reported to him for a week, he hoped the contagion would spread no further.

The Two Orphans.

A fair sized audience assembled at the Grand Opera House last evening to witness this stirring drama presented by the Star Theatre Co., and although we have had the pleasure on several occasions of witnessing it presented by good companies, we never saw all the parts as well taken as last evening. T. J. Quinn, as Chevalier de Vaudrey and Jacques, an outlaw, fully sustained the good reputation he has made for himself during the entire engagement here. The part of Pierre as a grand one, but was ably handled by J. M. Picard. W. C. Whitlock again deserves special mention for the manner in which he handled the parts of Picard and Mother Frochard. Florence Lytelle's rendering of the part of Louise the blind orphan, was a beautiful piece of powerful acting, and elicited long and hearty applause. Miss Sutherland, as Henriette, the sister, was good. The balance of the cast was fully up to the mark. The afternoon a matinee, with Kathleen Mavourneen as the attraction, and to-night by special request they will repeat Silver King, which will close their engagement here.—Port Hope Guide. 1d

A Young Men's Guild.

At a meeting of the young men of St. Luke's congregation, held in the Sunday school room on Tuesday evening, a Young Men's Literary Guild was organized, with the following officers elected: Rev. W. C. Bradshaw, Honorary President; Mr. John Burnham and Mr. Burt, Vice-Presidents; Mr. W. Washbrook, Secretary; Mr. F. Saunders, Treasurer. A constitution was adopted and the objects and proposed operations of the society discussed. As its name would indicate, the aims of the Guild are altogether in the line of literary instruction and entertainment, and Messrs. Rooney and Burt were appointed to prepare a programme for a series of meetings and draft subjects for debates, etc. A committee was appointed to arrange for a meeting on October 4th, when the first entertainment will be given. At the next meeting further additions or revisions will be made to the constitution and a permanent committee appointed to arrange for the entertainments.

A Landmark Removed.

Mr. Wm. Aldridge is removing the little rough cast house, corner of Simcoe and Stewart streets, to replace it with a new building. This house is the only remaining structure in town and its tearing down is like parting with an old friend. But this is nothing, the tearing down in process of completion, with the rising of brick walls, etc. Here's where you find a real downright boom sale tumble in prices. Six thousand dollars worth of the best boots and shoes, bought at slaughter prices and offered for sale at less than half the wholesale cost. Boots for men at less than half price. Boots for women at less than half price, boots for children at less than half price. Come at once and secure the biggest bargains ever given in Peterborough. Gough Bros. are no friend of burglars breaking into their shoe store. No thief would take the trouble to crawl through the window when he could walk through the door and buy boots at such low prices. And they are all prime goods too. Bought at this bargain and sold on the same part. You don't know what cheapness is till you go to Gough's. You wouldn't believe it if you were told, so come to gough bros. shoe store, 375 George street, and see for yourself. You will not be asked to buy. You'll buy, you can't help yourself.

Personal.

Mrs. Geo. A. Cox is expected in town this evening.

Prof. Doucet left last night for Toronto to take charge of the exhibit of Willam's pianos at the Exhibition.

Mr. A. E. Kidd, Reeve of Dummer, and daughter, left this morning for Kingston, to visit the Provincial. They will return Saturday.

Mr. Whitlock, representing the Star dramatic company, was in town to day arranging for the appearance of the troupe at Bradburn's opera house three days of next week. Mr. Whitlock reports that the company are doing a fine business in Lindsay.

News Nuggets.

—The band again delighted our citizens in the park last night.

—The old Brock street bridge is being torn down. The new one will be begun by Inspector Pope at once.

—The Toronto exhibition attracts a great many visitors from town. Thursday and Monday there will be an unusually large number, special rates being offered on the railways.

The Scott Act a Failure?

Rev. Mr. Lucas says, Never!—His Meeting in the Charlotte Street Church—The Scott Act the Best Temperance Law Yet—To-Morrow Night in the George Street Church.

The audience in the Charlotte street church Tuesday night was rather slim, but the address of Rev. Mr. Lucas was none the less enjoyable. Rev. S. J. Shorey occupied the chair, and after a few remarks introduced the lecturer of the evening.

Rev. Mr. Lucas plunged at once into the subject of his address. Of course the Scott Act ought not to be repealed. Not a Christian man in Peterborough ought to be found away from the polls when the question comes to vote. He himself went 400 miles to vote for the Act, from Montreal to Grimsby, and when he left Montreal he told the people he thought he was going to lose his vote, yet he wanted to have it recorded for the Scott Act and against the liquor traffic. And to-night next time he was called upon he lost his vote also, (for as the chairman had said there was a great falling off in Scott Act sentiment), although he lost his vote when the repeal question came up, yet he was prepared to go another 400 miles to record it every time against the traffic. [A voice—"Hear, hear—so am I."] If a mad dog entered his house, said the speaker, and tried to bite his children, would he throw the poker out of the window because he had no gun to shoot the animal? No, he would fight the brute with the poker, the best weapon he had. That was the way he regarded the Scott Act. It was not perhaps the most perfect thing in the world, but it was the best they had, and anything to keep away the mad dog of drink from the children! Far better that our children should be bitten by real mad dogs, he said, than by the demon drink.

Why do people say the Scott Act is a failure? "Because there is liquor sold in the town of Peterborough in spite of it." Humph! There is a law against murder in the land, and yet there are at present four men lying in gaol at Montreal charged with murder. There never was a law made that was not to some degree a failure; and if so, why do we declare because it is, perhaps, a failure in some particulars? The Dominion of Canada was better to-day because of the Scott Act, failure or no failure. Referring to the success of the temperance cause in the Maritime Provinces, the speaker said they had the same Scott Act and the same difficulties to contend with, but their success was due to the energetic efforts of men like Sir Leonard Tilley and others, who stuck to their principles and to each other. Their success was shown by figures. In the year 1881-82 there was an increase of about two million gallons in the liquor trade; in 1882-83, an increase of about 750,000 gallons; in 1883-84 between 50 and 100 thousand gallons. The river of whiskey was constantly increasing until the Scott Act came in force, and then its flow was checked, until last year Sir Charles Tupper stood up in his place in the House of Commons and said that "during the past year the volume of liquor entered for consumption had fallen off two millions in this country." Would anyone say the Scott Act was a failure in the face of these figures and statements? Take the county of Halton, where last year the Act was repealed. The hotel keepers cried, "the Scott Act is a failure," and sent deputations to Ottawa and engaged grey-haired senators to stand up in their behalf. Previous to the introduction of the Scott Act, the year before, there had been 65 licenses applied for and of these 42 were granted; so that when the Act was adopted 42 places for selling liquor were blotted out; but 18 licenses were curtailed. But what became of the Act? Men, so-called temperance men, were too fond of party strife to adhere to their temperance principles. Everything was sacrificed on the altar of party politics; they were ready to sell their Scott Act vote in order to win over a vote to their side in politics. So the fight went on until the law got so mixed up between the two parties that people gave up in despair. But Rev. Mr. Lucas said he would unhesitatingly affirm that if the law was left as it stood now on the books, the county of Halton would re-adopt the Scott Act three years hence. The Act was a success, so much so that after it was repealed the temperance people were surprised when only 27 licenses were applied for and of these only 18 were granted. The temperance cause was gaining ground right along, and to-day there were only 18 licenses granted in the county against 42 before the Act came in force. The Act was a success, and the speaker defied any one to dare to stand up and

DEFEND THE LIQUOR TRAFFIC.

Some of their opponents said—"you have no right to diminish the licenses to sell liquor;" but if that were so neither had we any right to grant the licenses either. A man holds in his hands a permit to sell liquor, but before he got that permit he was prohibited from selling it. We grant licenses to one man out of 500, and if we had the right to prohibit the other 500 th man if we wanted to. But leaving that question aside, the sale of liquor should be abolished by reason of the danger to personal safety it causes. The speaker detailed the circumstances of a case in Toronto recently, where men, maddened by rum, came forth and deliberately killed their fellowmen. How do I know, asked the speaker, that before I leave Peterborough some man, made a demon by whiskey, may not shoot me down in a mad passion? Oh, someone might say, if he kills you we'll hang him. Yes, but what good will that do me? It won't bring life back to my body. Continuing, the speaker pointed out the dangers to children. Our children, on their road to school, constantly pass hotels and of course cannot help hearing blasphemy and foul language; they become familiar with it, the edge of sin is taken off and their ears become used to the foul streams that flow from these dens of vice. What an awful thing it is! Referring to the habit of wine-drinking in France and Italy, the speaker related a conversation with two men who lived in these countries, both confessing that drunkenness was on the increase and that stronger drinks than ever were now being made to satisfy the growing appetite. These men could see no harm in "taking a glass of wine," but, the speaker said, it was a crime to drink even that much. What right had men to muddle their brains with wine? It was one of the most damning lies ever invented by the devil that God had given us permission to muddle the brains he gave us with the fumes of wine. Returning to the thread of his discourse, he asked: "Have I no right with regard to the morality of my children?" How easy it was, he remarked, for bright boys to be led off? Rev. Mr. Lucas related an incident in his own life, where a son of his, who attended college in Paris, had successfully withstood the temptation in spite of the fact that "everyone took a glass of wine there." That was what he called a brave boy. The speaker referred to other

DANGERS TO THE SCHOOL BOY.

For instance, in a case he knew of himself, a saloon proprietor invited the boys into his place to get a drink of ice water during the hot summer months. His own son had been going in every day for a whole week before the boy happened to mention the fact to him. What danger he had been running! Everything goes along all right for a time, but one day the saloon keeper comes up and pats the boy on the head and calls him a brave little fellow and says:—"Here, take something better than ice water; something that will make a man of you." And so, perchance, the poor young lad is led on until he, too, becomes a confirmed drunkard. Let my life go, let my property go, exclaimed the speaker, but protect my children. It was time this great traffic was set aside. He wanted the people to go straight to the polls and try to bring someone else with them. It was their duty to do their best as individuals for that which was right. Rev. Mr. Lucas said he had met with all sorts of opposition and was acquainted with all its phases. Some men said, "Oh, we are in favor of temperance or prohibition, but we are against the Scott Act. Why don't you give us something else?" The speaker moved his audience to laughter by his amusing anecdotes ridiculing these people who were not satisfied with the earth but wanted the moon. The Scott Act was the best thing they had ever had, yet they were not satisfied. But he was pleased to see that temperance sentiment was improving, especially among the clergy; Methodist ministers were solid for it and Presbyterians were coming out more strongly for it every day. Bishop Grandin, Bishop Baldwin, Cardinal Taschereau, Bishop Lafleche, Bishop Racine, and others, were all for temperance and were giving the cause of their support and encouragement. The speaker vividly portrayed the blowing up of Hell's gate, and likened it to what he believed would be the destruction of the traffic in Canada. He believed it would be all swept away one day with a grand rush.

Brethren, he said, be men! The Scott Act was the best piece of temperance legislation ever yet given us in Canada, and he would hold it to the last. Here Rev. Mr. Lucas announced that on Wednesday night he would speak in the George street church and tell why he believed this thing was going to ultimately triumph. They would hold it fast and hope for something better. It was the best piece of legislation we had at present, and he believed it would be the means, if nothing better was introduced, of redeeming our country from the curse.

A Frenchman had once said to him: "How can that be a good law when the men who made it are drunkards?" That statement, Mr. Lucas held, was untrue, for, thanks be to God, were the exception, not the rule. And in any case that had nothing to do with the matter. The law was the best weapon they had and with it the temperance people were prepared to fight the liquor traffic. And it was a success, too. A great many temperance people felt despondent over its success and the indifference of some of their own fellow workers, and felt that they were not doing as much as they should. Such was not the case, however. The temperance people of Peterborough had been doing a good work, and they had only to look for proof of the fact to the circular issued by the repeal party. The very men who were seeking to repeal the Scott Act gave them credit for making it better for hotel-keepers in this county than in any other county in the province. Rev. Mr. Lucas proceeded to read a circular which had been published by the repeal party, soliciting co-operation against the Scott Act. A portion of it read:—"The hotel keepers here have suffered a greater amount of persecution at the hands of the Inspectors and over zealous Scott Act men than in any other county," so much so that they had each been compelled to pay an average annual sum of $468 in fines since the Act had been introduced. What better proof did the temperance people need that their efforts had been successful? Here were these men admitting that they had been violating the law and had been caught at it to the extent of $468 average a year. The people of this county, said the speaker, had done well and he gave them credit for it and urged them to stick to it. When the people of Halton foolishly gave up the Act, he said, the very men who had been fighting for repeal admitted to him and others that they had run to the end of their rope, and if the Act had been re-adopted they would not have been able to hold out any longer; they could no longer have opposed it. Now, here were men in Peterborough in exactly the same position. They acknowledged by the circular that they had been more persecuted than any others of their class in the Province, and Rev. Mr. Lucas held that this should be encouragement to the people to continue the fight to the bitter end and success would be theirs.

DRUNKEN MEMBERS OF PARLIAMENT

In conclusion a silver collection was taken up and the meeting was closed in the usual manner.

The fruit season has now come and we must prepare to put up our fruit. Now what kind of jars are we to use? Of course, glass jars; but so many of those we had last year cracked in filling that it makes it very expensive. Oh, I remember how Mrs. Goodwife told me last year she bought her jars at "China Hall," and that she did not break a jar in filling or lose a single can of fruit. I shall buy from China Hall this season. As the price is just the same I might as well have the best.

MURDER OR SUICIDE.

A MANITOBA ICELANDER FOUND WITH HIS THROAT CUT.

Ninety Cents Offered for Wheat at Winnipeg—First Oats Sold at Thirty-Seven—Shot at His Employer.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 13.—An Icelander living near Glenboro, who has been missing for several days, has been found with his throat cut and several wounds about his head. It is not known whether he was murdered or committed suicide.

Ninety cents have been offered for wheat. The first oats sold at 37 cents.

Billy Smith of Portage, in an altercation with his employer, fired a pistol at him. A warrant has been issued for his arrest.

Minister Bowell arrived from the Pacific coast last night and will meet the Northern Pacific officials to-day respecting customs facilities.

CANADA WILL STAND FIRM.

Mr. Chapleau's Speech on the Retaliation Question at Laprairie Yesterday.

MONTREAL, Sept. 13.—At the Conservative picnic at Laprairie yesterday speeches on the political issues of the day were made by Sir Hector Langevin and Sir Adolphe Caron. Hon. J. A. Clapleau spoke almost wholly on the retaliation question, it being the first time he has referred to it in public. The action of President Cleveland he termed dishonorable, and one which would leave an everlasting stain on the American escutcheon.

The Government's course would be that which would best guard the interests of Canada, but the people might be assured that it would not be a policy of bluster but one of dignity and self-respect.

Great Britain showed a firm determination not to allow Canada to be bluffed and with such backing the Dominion would not fail to stand for her rights.

The Americans have rejected the treaty because it did not suit them, but Canada had pursued a dignified course when the Ashburton and other treaties gave away a part of our heritage and observed the terms of the treaties. What a contrast this was to the policy of the United States.

A Rejected Lover's Suicide.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Sept. 12.—Frank Martin, a barber called at the home of Lina Webber, to whom he had been paying attentions, and committed suicide in her presence. The girl heard he was a married man and told him he would have to stop coming to see her. After she had positively refused to longer receive his visits he took out a pencil and began writing on a piece of paper. When he had finished he pulled out a revolver and holding it to his right temple fired. He fell dead on the floor. The note he left was to his father, and simply declared his intention to commit suicide and asked that no expense be incurred in burying him. Martin was 24 years old.

Death of Astronomer Proctor.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Prof. Richard A. Proctor, the astronomer, died at the Willard Parker Hospital, at the foot of East Sixteenth-street, from yellow fever at 7.15 last evening. He came from Oak Lawn, Fla., where he has an observatory, arriving here Monday. The health officers will not state where Mr. Proctor was stopping before he was taken to the hospital. He had engaged passage to Europe.

CLEVELAND CONFESSES.

A COMMUNICATION SENT TO THE UNITED STATES SENATE.

The President Admits that Since March 3, 1887, No Outrages Have Been Committed by Canada on American Vessels.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—The President sent to the Senate yesterday a communication in response to the resolution introduced by Senator Hoar, calling for copies of all communications which have been addressed by his direction to the Government of Great Britain remonstrating against discrimination against American vessels in Canadian canals. With respect to the inquiry so far as it relates to the canals, the President transmits copies of correspondence between the Department of State and the United States Consul at Ottawa; between the Department of State and the British Minister; copies of the orders of the Canadian officials in regard to this subject and of the answer of the Acting Secretary of the Treasury to the resolution laid before the House on Jan. 23.

On the subject of the correspondence which has taken place with respect to the denial to American fishermen of the right of transportation of fish or other cargoes in bond the President says: "It will be remembered that though the fishing articles of the treaty of 1871 expired on July 1, 1885, a temporary arrangement was made whereby the privileges accorded to our fishermen under said articles were continued during the remainder of that year's fishing season. No instance of refusal by Canadian authorities since July 1, 1885, up to the present time to allow the entry at Dominion seaports of American cargoes other than fish for transportation in bond across the territory of Canada to the United States has been made known to the Department of State. The case of the vessel Novelty, involving among other things a refusal on July 1, 1886, of the right to permit the transportation of fish in bond at the port of Picton, was communicated to Congress in my message of Dec. 6, 1886, a copy of which I herewith transmit."

The President says the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations has been supplied with a list of cases of alleged ill-treatment of our fishing vessels in Canadian waters, and as relating to the subject of the resolution he quotes the following "point in passage" from Mr. Edmunds' report as of interest: "It is of course of much importance that regulations affecting the commercial and other friendly relations between ports and places in the Dominion and the United States should be mutually reasonable and fair. If an American vessel should happen to have caught a cargo of fish at sea a hundred miles distant from some Canadian port from which there is railway communication to the United States and should be deprived of the privilege of landing and shipping its cargo to the United States it would be of course a serious disadvantage and there is, it is thought, nothing in the treaty of 1818 which would warrant such an exclusion. But the Dominion laws may make such a distinction and it is understood that in fact the privilege of so shipping fish has been refused during the last year.

In answer to the concluding inquiry as to what instances have occurred since March 3, 1887, of wrongs to American vessels in the ports of British North America and what steps have been taken in that respect the President says: "Soon after the passage of the act the negotiation, which had been proceeding for several months previously, progressed actively and the proposed conference and the presence at this capital of the plenipotentiaries of the two Governments out of which the since rejected treaty of Feb. 8, 1888, eventuated, had their natural influence in repressing causes of complaint in relation to the fisheries. Therefore since March 3, 1887, no case has been reported to the Department of State wherein complaint was made of unlawful treatment of American fishing vessels on the part of Canada in which reparation was not promptly and satisfactorily obtained by the United States. A single case of alleged unjust treatment of a merchant vessel has been reported since March 3, 1887."

In conclusion the President explains that this was the case of the ship Bridgewater which was made the subject of a communication to the British Government June 22, 1888, and to which no further reply has been received. The case of the Bridgewater to which the President refers is the subject of a communication dated June 21, 1888, from Secretary Bayard to Mr. Edwards. The steamer was disabled by a storm and on April 5, 1887, put into Shelburne, N.S., for repairs, was surveyed and condemned and her cargo discharged. While repairs were progressing the vessel was seized for non-payment of duties, but subsequently unconditionally released. The Secretary says, "a claim for $20,000 damages has been presented to the Government of Ottawa, but the claimant has failed to secure its recognition and has been informed that he has no redress in the courts against the officers of the crown."

THE BOTHWELL WRECK.

Detectives Think They Have the Right Men in Jail.

LONDON, Sept. 13.—G. T. R. Constable Logan and Detective Ryder have returned from the scene of the Bothwell wreck, but expect to make another trip out there. The two men they arrested are now in Chatham jail and will come up for examination to-day. Campbell is believed to be innocent, and therefore only a charge of trespassing on the company's property has been laid against him. McMaster is charged with train-wrecking. He is said to be hardly responsible for his actions, and was arrested on information given by a 16-year-old boy of the neighborhood. The boy said that he and a companion were out driving, and had just got home when they heard the crash. He hurried over, and as he drew near the scene of the wreck he saw somebody in a fence corner.

"Is that you, father?" he asked.

He got no answer, and asked again "What's up?"

"G—d d—n you, don't you give me away or I'll shoot you," was the forcible reply this time. He recognised the speaker as McMaster.

"What's the matter, Mac!"

"You go on home, d—n you. You have no business around here, quick now, or I'll fix you."

So the boy skipped home and didn't dare to go out again till morning, when he told his story. McMaster was arrested, but declared he knew nothing about the rails on the track. It is said he is mischievously inclined, and gets credit for once burning his father's barn. The neighbors say they are glad to get rid of him as he is continually letting the cattle out. McMaster is 35 years of age. Campbell comes from near Dresden, and was visiting his uncle there. His untruthful tongue got him into the scrape.

The Howe Tragedy.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Sept. 13.—The counsel for the defence in the Howe tragedy is making the best use of the time at its disposal, and the friends of the accused openly state that the public will be astounded when the story is told in court of the conduct of the leaders along the river. It is probable that an effort will be made to make out a very strong justification, that the prisoners believed their lives to be in danger and they feared an attack from Major Howe. The county authorities are dumbfounded by the large tax this case will put on the ratepayers, and an effort will be made to induce the province to bear the lion's share of it. The expenses cannot be less than $2000.

TORONTO TOPICS.

Departure of the Gubernatorial Party—Wedding of a Society Belle.

TORONTO, Sept. 13.—The grand jury yesterday threw out the indictments against Chas. E. Stanbury, indecent assault, and Geo. Armstrong, felonious wounding, and returned true bills against James Lynch and Walter Killer, charged with assault on Policeman Duncan, and Jas. Boyle, feloniously shooting Michael Connors.

At 9 o'clock yesterday morning the private car Cumberland bore away to Kingston the Gubernatorial party. The big crowd that had gathered at the Queen's Hotel cheered again and again as the carriages drove off to the Union Station, where the Mayor, Aldermen and citizens had assembled. The train was a few minutes late in starting, and in the interval the Mayor and Aldermen, Lieutenant-Governor Sir Alexander Campbell and Colonel G. T. Denison pleasantly chatted with Lord Stanley. At the signal to start the visitors ascended their car, Lord Stanley taking his stand on the rear platform and Lady Stanley and Miss Lister in the doorway, and as the train drew out the cheering of the crowd made the old depot shake again.

Fireman Poynton, injured in the collision on King street is a subject for anxiety to the hospital doctors. The bone of the injured leg below the knee is shattered, and fear exists that the unfortunate fellow will lose the limb.

A boy 7 years old, named Edward Berry, had his foot crushed in the hoist at J. Robertson & Co.'s saw works. He was taken to the hospital in an ambulance.

A coal cart and an express wagon collided at the corner of Bathurst and King streets, and James Brown, the cart driver, suffered the fracture of an ankle. He was taken to his home, 65 Muter-street, in the patrol wagon.

The marriage of Mr. George Horace Gooderham to Miss Cora Maud Northrop, only child of Henry S. Northrop, was solemnized yesterday morning by Archdeacon Boddy, in St. Peter's church.

Charles J. Schnell, the diamond thief from New York, agreed to go back yesterday morning with Detective Heidelburg, and both left at 2 o'clock on the Cibola.

Mr. Louis Beauford Stewart of Banff, N W.T., has been appointed to fill the vacancy in the School of Practical Science, Toronto.

A noted thief named Louis Witowski was arrested on the Chicora yesterday afternoon just as she was about to steam out from the dock. A companion jumped overboard to avoid arrest and it is not known whether he was drowned or not as Witowski made a desperate resistance which kept the officers busy for some time. On Witowski was found the greater portion of the proceeds of thefts perpetrated on Tuesday afternoon at the residence of T. H. Carroll and yesterday morning at the house of C. G. Shuttleworth. Witowski made a determined effort to escape from his cell at headquarters, smashing up a wooden bedstead and punching a hole in the ceiling through which he was climbing when discovered.

The receipts for the first two days of the exhibition are $12,823, which is $853 ahead of last year.

MOURNED BY HIS CREDITORS.

A Missing Montreal Trader—The Mysterious Diamond Man in Jail.

MONTREAL, Sept. 13.—H. Norton, a trader in oils and essences, has left this city, leaving a number of creditors behind him bewailing his loss. About a couple of years ago Norton came on from Boston and opened an office here. He took in as a partner a young gentleman to whom he speedily transferred all the experience he possessed in the essence and oil trades, and, as rapidly, in return therefor assumed proprietorship of the partner's capital. Then he made considerable purchases upon which he obtained advances and left for pastures fresh. Norton, who was a widower, has left behind him his little girl, 4 years of age. Friends of the family in Boston have been communicated with and asked to look after her. The exact amount of his liabilities will not be known until a statement is made up by the accountant.

Samuel Johnson, alias T. McPherson, the mysterious diamond man who was arrested in possession of a large number of diamonds was tried before the Recorder yesterday for having in his possession a loaded revolver with intent of doing some one bodily harm and with which he threatened a Mrs. Harris. He was sent to jail for a month.

A lively scene occurred in a case in court in which a Roman Catholic priest was ordered to produce the books of his parish, in an action to render an account brought by a parishioner against one of the church wardens, which he had on a former occasion refused to do. After a lively time between counsel the matter was taken an delibere until to-day.

Embezzler Pitcher's Case.

MONTREAL, Sept. 13.—In the Pitcher case yesterday, at the conclusion of the Crown's evidence, Mr. Archibald asked that the jury be charged to acquit the prisoner because there was no proof that he brought money into Canada. Another point was that no money had been proved to have been found on him. The notes of the United States were not money, a great number were not even United States national bank notes, and under these circumstances none of the paper came under the term of bank bills. He urged also othat foreign bank bills were not money in Canada; it was questionable whether American gold was current in Canada. His Honor held for the present that American gold having currency in this country was money. The prisoner must proceed with his defence. The court then adjourned till to-day.

Fell Under the Wheels.

RICHMOND, Sept. 13.—Just as the westbound express was leaving Richmond station last evening at 5.15, a young man named John Gandy, a passenger from Sherbrooke, attempted to board the train while moving, and missed his footing, fell beneath the cars and was instantly killed, his body being severed across the chest. He was a brakeman in the employ of the Canadian Pacific Railway at Sherbrooke and was on his way to Montreal. He had got off to get some refreshments for some friends who were on the train.

THE DOCTORS IN COUNCIL

CANADIAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION'S MEETING AT OTTAWA.

The President's Address—Need of a Dominion Medical Register and Uniform Laws Regulating the Practice of Medicine.

OTTAWA, Sept. 13.—The 21st annual meeting of the Canadian Medical Association was held here yesterday. Among those present were Drs. George Ross, Roddick, Bell, T. W. Campbell, Sheard, Rodger, Alloway and Gardner of Montreal. Dr. Mullen of Hamilton, Dr. Workman and Dr. J. E. Graham of Toronto and all the local profession. Dr. George Ross of Montreal delivered the president's address, which took in a survey of the general standing of the medical profession in the Dominion and the progress of investigation, discovery and the changes in the system of medical education Attention was drawn to the curious complexity of medical legislation in Canada in consequence of each province being free to look after such matters for itself. There is at present no uniformity in respect to matriculation, curriculum or qualification for apretice. The hope was expressed that before long some arrangement might be come to by which at least a Dominion medical register may be established at Ottawa, so that on entry therein it will be possible to practice medicine throughout the Dominion and undesirable confusion removed. He spoke in eulogistic terms of the Banff sulphur springs and considered them far more beneficial for patients affected with phthisis in an early stage, and for those who may be looked upon as disposed to tubercular diseases on account of family tendencies or defective physique, than the renowned Dance-plats in Switzerland.

Dr. Wright of this city addressed the meeting yesterday afternoon.

The members of the association attending the meeting were tendered a banquet last evening in the Russell House by the local profession. The chair was occupied by Sir James Grant who in a short speech welcomed the members of the profession from all parts of the Dominion to the Capital. Speeches in response to toasts were given by Dr. Geo. Ross, Dr. E. J. Graham of Toronto, Dr. A. J. Alloway and A. M. Campbell of Montreal.

BIG RAILWAY SCHEME.

Canada Getting Ready for President Cleveland's Retaliation.

OTTAWA, Sept. 13.—It is understood that H. J. Beemer, of the Peterboro and Pembroke Junction Railway, who is at present in Paris, has succeeded in organizing a company of capitalists there, with a capital of over $8,500,000, to complete the Peterboro and Pembroke line from Pembroke to Sault Ste. Marie, to lease or purchase from the Canadian Pacific Railway the North Shore line from Ottawa to Quebec, and to obtain from the Government running powers over the Intercolonial Railway to St. John.

The Canadian Pacific Railway have for some time past found the North Shore road, especially that portion from Ottawa to Montreal, a burden, and it is learned on the best authority that the company are willing to get rid of the whole line from Ottawa to Quebec. She scheme is a large one, and the company includes Hon. J. A. Chapleau, Secretary of State, and prominent men in Canada. The object of this new system of lines is to move western grain from Minneapolis and the Canadian Northwest to the Canadian winter ports for shipment.

The argument used with the Government by the company in securing running powers over the Intercolonial, is that the new system of railroads would be of great benefit to the country in case of the American government adopting a course of retaliation, as the amalgamated lines would make a direct route from the Sault to St. John and Halifax. The Peterboro end Pembroke junction is now completed within three miles of Pembroke, and will be completed to that place before winter sets in.

METHODIST MISSION BOARD.

Basis of Appropriation for the Various Districts—A Contemplated Excursion.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 13.—In the Methodist Mission Board yesterday a discussion on the basis of appropriation for Manitoba came up, which was quite animated. It was decided that the basis be as last year, $900 per annum. The basis for Newfoundland was, after considerable discussion, allowed to remain as last year, $800. Why, it was asked, should British Columbia be on a higher basis, $1000, than other sections? Dr. Sutherland stated that living there was much higher than elsewhere, nothing smaller being paid or received for anything than 10 cents. The basis was left as before. The Nipissing district was reconsidered, so as to change the decision of Tuesday. An amendment to raise the basis to $825 was lost.

Much of the time was taken up in discussing the Japan missions but no material changes were recommended.

Letters relating to the "Glad Tidings" mission were referred to a committee.

Dr. Douglass made an eloquent appeal in behalf of a French mission in Eastern Canada.

The City Council invited the members of the board and visitors to take a drive through the city to-day at 2 o'clock.

The Canadian Pacific Railway offered to take the delegates to the Pacific coast and return for $30. The Canadian Pacific Railway and the Manitoba and Northwestern Railway also offered free passage and return to members to any points in Manitoba and west as far as Regina. Arrangements are being made to accept this kind offer.

Singular Accident.

PARIS, Ont., Sept. 13.—A singular accident happened to Robert Alexander, a well-known Adelaide farmer, as he was returning home from Watford the other evening. When about five miles from town it was discovered that the buggy in which he and his wife were seated was on fire, and before they could make their escape Mr. Alexander's clothes were badly burned and his wife's dress damaged by the flames which spread with wonderful rapidity. The carriage was almost destroyed and the horse scorched.

McBain's Improved Grain Storehouse.

Elevating and Cleaning Appliances Added—Now Ready for the Grain Fall Trade.

Mr. J. J. McBain, the energetic proprietor of the grain storehouse at the Midland railway station, has made very important improvements in his premises, which will make them as convenient and complete in every respect as any in the Midland district. The improvements consist chiefly of addition of elevating power and the most improved cleaning apparatus, both run by steam power. Three cupolas have been added, at different points of the building and in these the pipes and spouts for the conveyance of the grain, are placed. As is well-known there is a basement to the storehouse and the boots of the elevator rest in gigantic potash kettles sunken in the ground, thus providing against the effects of damp. The grain received from farmers wagons is conveyed to one of the hoppers beneath each cupola, and is thence elevated to whatever bin is desired, and the contents of any bin may be transferred, if need be from one end of the building to the other. At each cupola spouts are placed to conduct the grain to the cars on the track alongside. The elevating power is communicated by a line shaft running the length of the building. This improvement increases Mr. McBain's capacity and faculties for handling grain to a very large extent, and increases the available storage capacity by about five or six thousand bushels, making the total capacity between fifty and sixty thousand bushels. But perhaps the most important improvement is the addition of the

MOST PERFECT CLEANING MACHINERY OBTAINABLE.

This consists of one of Laidlaw's improved machines for cleaning any grain, but principally barley. This is belted to the main shaft and the grain as received is conveyed to it by spouts and the cleaned grain is elevated where required. The cleaning process removes all dust, dirt, weed-seeds, light grain chaff, "ands," etc., the refuse going into the basement, and leaves the grain as pure and clean as it is possible to make it, without injuring it in the slightest for malting or other purposes. As a consequence Mr. McBain's barley and other grain is shipped in the cleanest possible condition. The demands of his trade have necessitated the making of these improvements, which will doubtless prove to be paying investments. He can now move more grain with much greater facility, and his business will in every way be favorably affected. The delivery of grain from farmer's waggons will be much more rapid, convenient and easy to farmers unloading, and a car can be filled in half the time it required under the old plan, with a very slight expenditure of labour—difficult to obtain in the busy season.

The elevating power is supplied by an eight-horse power engine and twelve-horse power boiler, and a well in the basement affords a full supply of water. Extra precautions have been taken against the danger of fire. The engine and boiler rest on base of masonry. The floor of the engine room is covered with a thick layer of grout, then a layer of brick and above this another thick layer of grout. A solid fire wall of brick separates the engine room from the storehouse proper; in fact all the walls of this room are of brick, and the ceiling is covered with corrugated iron. These arrangements make the engine room practically fire proof.

Mr. McBain now enters upon the fall grain business with the best of premises and equipment, and will doubtless add to the popularity with the farming community which he has so extensively enjoyed in the past. Wisely directed energy and intelligent enterprise are sure to meet with their due reward.

Warsaw Presbyterian Church Renovated and Re-Opened.

From Our Own Correspondent.

WARSAW, Sept. 10.—Sabbath, the 2nd day of September, was a red-letter day in the history of the Presbyterians in this vicinity. The happy and joyful day was brought about in the following manner:—Some four months ago a member of the Ladies' Aid Society in connection with the Warsaw Presbyterian Church indicated to the society that she knew one person who would be willing to give a liberal contribution towards the renovation of the church, conditional that the work be proceeded with as rapidly as possible. The Ladies' Aid Society at once took the matter into consideration, and finally set the society's machinery in motion. The offer was accepted, and in less than a week $140.00 was collected from the members and adherents of the congregation. Feeling assured that there would be little or no difficulty in securing the whole amount required, the following resolution was sent to the managing committee:—Resolved, That the Ladies' Aid Society request permission from the managing committee to undertake the work of re-pewing and renovating the church; the managers not to be held responsible for any debts contracted by the Ladies' Aid Society; and further, if our request be granted, that a committee of two be appointed from the managers to act as an advisory committee. The managing committee discussed the matter at a regular meeting, and upon motion granted the request. Estimates were at once received from several contractors, the successful contractor being Mr. James McDonald, of Warsaw. He proved himself to be the right man in the right place, working early and late so as to finish the contract within the specified time. His work resulted in a complete transformation of the old church. Both members and adherents expressed themselves as being much pleased with his work.

On the above named Sabbath the Rev. James Carmichael, M. A., of Norwood, preached the re-opening sermon in the forenoon to a large and attentive congregation, his sermon being much admired and appreciated. Our brethren of the Methodist body cancelled their service in the evening, and as a consequence, at the evening service the church was crowded to the very door. The Rev. Mr. Power (Methodist) preached a very appropriate sermon, comparing the grand old doctrines of the Bible with those doctrines promulgated by certain so called new lights, showing the superiority of the former over the latter, strongly urging his hearers to cling fast to the grand old doctrines taught in God's word.

On Monday evening the 3rd inst. a social was held, tea being served in the agricultural hall. After the inner wants were supplied the audience found their way to the church where a most enjoyable time was spent. The Rev. R. Hyde, the pastor of the church, occupied the chair. The Rev. Mr. Power opened the meeting with a prayer. The pastor delivered a short address after which the Rev. Mr. McEwen, of Lakefield, delivered a most instructive address, taking for his theme Grumblers. The divisions were 1st grumbling, 2nd the cause of grumbling, 3rd the cure of grumbling. At this stage of the programme the chairman announced that the ladies had still a debt of one hundred dollars against their society, and that it would give him much pleasure to be able to say to the ladies ere the proceedings of the evening were brought to a close, "Ladies your assets more than cover your liabilities". Voluntary contributions being next in order, in a very short time $101.75 was raised. The chairman had the pleasure to announce to the members of the ladies aid society, "Ladies you are free of debt." The Rev. Mr. Power delivered a very telling address on prohibition.

During the evening the choir, under the leadership of Mr. John Kidd, ably seconded by Miss Taylor as organist, sang a number of anthems in grand style. After votes of thanks to the speakers the ladies, the choir and the chairman, the doxology was sung and the benediction being pronounced by the Rev. Mr. McEwen, a most interesting and successful meeting was brought to a close.

The collection on Sabbath and the proceeds of social with the voluntary contribution netted $164.38.

The Fever at Bridgenorth.

Dr. Caldwell called this morning in reference to the paragraph which appeared in yesterday's EXAMINER respecting the prevalence of typhoid fever at Bridgenorth. The doctor says that our reporter misrepresents him in saying that the village is "scarcely ever free from contagion." The idea he intended to convey was that periodically the village and vicinity were subject to cases of typhoid; that is, within an area of three or four miles north of the village. As far as his experience was concerned, he found that at irregular intervals, sometimes once in two or three years or longer, cases would come under his care. Being questioned, the following colloquy took place:

REPORTER—Well, you have ten cases under your charge now?

DOCTOR CALDWELL—Yes, I have; these are confined to four families.

REPORTER—Are there more cases this year than formerly at the village?

DOCTOR CALDWELL—Yes, within my knowledge.

REPORTER—How many more?

DR. CALDWELL.—Well, up to this year I have never attended more than one, at a time in the village, but had more than one within the area mentioned above.

REPORTER.—Have you any idea of the cause?

DR. CALDWELL.—No; I do not know what particular cause originates the fever.

REPORTER.—Is it spreading, or is every precaution being taken to suppress it.

DR. CALDWELL.—So far as my patients are concerned every care is taken. Typhoid fever is not a fever that spreads from the patient with proper care. Of course until the cause is ascertained and removed, cases are likely to occur. The Smith Board of Health are taking vigorous measures. My object in calling is to allay the alarm caused in the neighborhood, for with proper care, I do not think there is any present danger of serious results.

ONE of the reasons why Scott's Emulsion has such a large sale is because it is the best. Dr. W. H. Cameron, Halifax, N.S., says: "I have prescribed Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, with Hypophosphites for the last two years, and found it more agreeable to the stomach and have better results from its use than any other preparation of the kind I have ever used." THE MINING COMMISSION.

Result of Their Investigations—Ontario's Mineral Wealth.

OTTAWA, Sept. 13.—Mr. John Charlton, M. P., chairman of the Mining Commission, was in the city yesterday. Speaking to a reporter he said the commission had made a tour through the region along the north shore of Georgian Bay from Sault Ste. Marie to Sudbury. An examination was first made of the gold mines at Vermillion in Dennison Township, also of the copper mines at Sudbury where very rich copper and nickel were found. The Silver Mountain and Whitefish Lake Silver district were also visited, and Beaver, Badger, Elgin, Porcupine, Silver Mountain East and Silver Mountain West mines were examined and found to be promising properties. The Port Arthur silver district is one of the richest on the continent, and is said by old and practical miners to be far ahead of the silver districts of Colorado.

About 80 miles west of Port Arthur the iron district, which promises to be one of the richest in America, commences.

The investigation of the commission also extended to the Lake-of-the-Woods region, the Rainy Lake region, and the region south of Lac des Milles Lacs, where extensive deposits of iron and rich gold indications were found.

In addition to these discoveries, great quarries of marble and free stone were examined. Further investigation will be made by the commission respecting the iron and phosphate deposits in Eastern Ontario. They will also visit the salt district of Goderich and Kincardine, the petroleum region of Lambton County, and the gypsum deposits in the Grand River Valley. The commission will start for the Madoc region in the course of a few weeks and the work of investigation will probably be completed towards the end of October.

Twice Duped by Deceitful Men.

ST. THOMAS, Sept. 13.—About a year ago a widow owning property at Straffordville and vicinity, and living in the west end of St. Thomas, was united in marriage to an elderly professional man. He left for Sandytown and collected a considerable amount in rent and never returned. It has since been learned that he has other wives living. His dupe in time forgot her trouble and was prepared to receive the advances of other matrimonially-inclined swains of middle age, or younger. A Londoner came to town recently and won her heart, asked for and was promised her hand in marriage, the wedding being fixed. Last week the expected-to-be new husband left for the east to raise $1700 on the widow's property. He has not since returned and the wedding will not take place. How large a sum, if any, he has collected is not known.

SUN

LIFE ASSURANCE COMP'Y OF CANADA.

HEAD OFFICE, MONTREAL.

Both in Magnitude and Profitableness, the Business for 1887 has been almost everything that could be desired.

The life policies now in force are 7,128 for $10,873,777.00, on 6741 lives. We have moreover $3,207,000 00 insured under 1,840 accident policies, so that the total current contracts of the Company are 8,969 for $14,081,377.00.

The income for the year shows the very large increase of $122,231.23 over the figures of 1886, the total being $495,831.54. The revenue is now half a million dollars per annum, or as mentioned in the report, over $1,000 for every working day in the year, and eventually he believed was but a mere introduction to what it will be in a few years hence. The gains from time to time are well illustrated by the following table:—

Period	Gain in income.	Gain in assets.	Gain in assurances.
1872 to 1876, four years	$ 54,611 21	$180,422 00	$1,140,743 00
1876 to 1880, four years	38,580 67	195,188 29	1,167,286 14
1880 to 1884, four years	139,976 84	396,264 31	3,962,924 90
1884 to 1887, three years	217,451 89	475,807 34	4,029,373 65
Total in 1887	$495,831 54	$1,750,894 46	$10,873,777 69

It is very pleasing to notice that the gains for the last three years only are 60 per cent. more than those of the preceding four years.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

Work for the Charitable.

A gentleman called this morning to mention a case of extreme destitution on Antrim street. The family is in a state of extreme want. The head of the family, the mother, who is a widow, the husband dying last spring, has been ill in bed for a long time, and there are five or six children, the oldest only ten years old. The family has positively no means of subsistence, the amount given by the Charity Committee sufficing to merely pay the rent. Therefore, the occasion for the assistance of the charitable is urgent, and it is hoped those benevolently inclined, with the means at command, will see that in this land of plenty no children, as these poor little ones are sure to often do, should suffer from lack of bread.

Again Remanded.

The boy Roach, of Toronto, who has been held by the police here for two or three weeks, was this morning again remanded for a term of eight days. Chief Rossel is gradually learning more of the lad's history, which goes to show that the boy is a terrific falsifier. His story that he hails from Toronto has been knocked in the head by the non-recognition of his photograph by the Toronto police, and a letter received to-day by the Chief from the Chicago superintendent of police, who says the lad lived there but ran away from home owing to the ill-treatment of his father. The boy, the letter stated, was naturally good, and his mother still lived in the city. His name was not Roach, however: that had been assumed after he ran away.

The Army's Anniversary.

The celebrated visitors and Hindoo contingent, who are to form the chief attractions at the Salvation Army demonstration to-day and to-morrow, arrived here this morning and were escorted up town by the local officers, soldiers and band. The Hindoos were dressed in their native costumes, which looked exceedingly airy and uncomfortable for such a cold day. In the band were three Salvation lassies playing brass horns, and they attracted a good deal of attention—in fact interest was divided between the black, smiling faces, half hidden in draped headgear, in the "chariot," and the three lassies who trudged along industriously puffing out their blooming cheeks and keeping their eyes steadily on their notes. The demonstration will go off with a "bang" at the barracks to-night.

Matrimonial Hits and Misses.

Dr. Collins, of Peterborough, went to Cobourg Tuesday night with the intention of marrying Miss Ella O'Neil, of that town. The ceremony was to have taken place Wednesday forenoon, but the prospective bridegroom was taken suddenly ill and the affair had to be postponed for a few days to allow him to recover. Messrs. H. LeBrun and Jno. Moloney accompanied Dr. Collins, the former to act as groomsman. The Doctor's friends will wish him a speedy recovery to health and the higher happiness of which his illness has for the time deprived him.

The marriage of Capt. H. J. Snelgrove, editor of the Cobourg World, and Miss Frances Maude Ferris, of Brighton, was celebrated at Brighton Wednesday evening in the Methodist church, Rev. John Bredin, D. D., assisted by Rev. Wm. Buchanan, officiating.

Boy Burglars.

The repeated instances of mere children taking to robbing tailor shops and boot stores are startling and shocking examples of depravity, but no more than can be expected. If the high price business establishments generally persist in making goods so dear that even children are tempted to steal, that is by no means the style of gough bros., the wonderful cheap men, who have placed a mammoth stock of boots on the market at their shop, 375 george street, at such low prices that it is positively cheaper to buy them than to steal them (considering the risk). Here you are—6,000 dollars' worth of boots and shoes, bought at half wholesale price and offered for sale at less than half retail price. You see the point? Of course you do. You go to gough bros. and you can boot the whole family (including half a dozen children) for the same money it would cost to shoe yourself and wife at one of the high price stores. Reflect on this. A dollar is only a dollar at these places but it becomes two dollars at gough bros. for buying boots and shoes. Nothing like leather, especially the cheap and good leather at gough bros.', 375 george street.

The Young's Point Picnic.

The picnic at Youn 's Point Wednesday under the auspices of the Rev. Father Lynch was fairly successful. The weather was all that could be desired, and the residents of the village turned out in good numbers. A few also went up from Peterborough. The ladies of the parish and vicinity did themselves credit in the excellent baskets of provisions they contributed. Mr. C. Young and Mr. Alex. Kearney were stationed at the gate and report that the gate receipts were very good. A platform was erected for dancing and the quadrille band from Peterborough supplied the necessary music. During the afternoon there were quoit matches, foot races, a baseball match and other modes of enjoyment. Mr. John Leonard, of Rochester, who is visiting in the locality, gave several exhibitions of step-dancing, as did also his little daughter, Mamie, and both received the hearty applause of the gathering therefor. Rev. Father Lynch, the pastor of the congregation, exercised a paternal supervision over the arrangements of the day, and entered heartily into the sports and amusements of the people.

A First Class Company.

Of the Star Theatre Co., which opens in Bradburn's Opera House next Monday evening, the Napanee Beaver prints the following:—"The Star Dramatic Company has been playing the boards at the Opera House this week to constantly increasing houses as their reputation became known. They came in with so little of the ordinary flourish that expectations were by no means high in regard to them, but those who attended the first night were so enthusiastic in their praise that the following evening the house was well filled, and each evening the crowd has increased. The repertoire of the company included some of the most popular plays now before the American public. The company itself is one of unusual talent, with the special advantages of uniformity and skill in management. Mr. Quinn, himself, is admittedly the best actor that has appeared here for years, his talents being suited to the most varied styles of drama. Probably his strongest character was that of Wilfred Denver, in "Silver King." In the emotional passages of the play he was simply superb. Miss Florence Lytelle the leading lady has a fine stage appearance and as an actress has marked elocutionary talent. The most pleasing feature of the company, because so exceptional, is the uniform excellence of the support. Messrs. Howard, Hallock and West are all talented actors, while Miss Gertrude Berkeley gives her parts the prominence of leading roles. Mr. Whitlock, the comedian, is amusing without vulgarity; and is one of the most popular members of the company. Little Georgie, who took the part of "Cissy Denver," in the Silver King, is a perfect marvel. He was not only perfect in his lines, which were of considerable length, but acted his part with ease and intelligence. The stage management is also to be commended. In every respect the company is worthy of our most encouraging words, their business deal being as satisfactory as their acting. We bespeak a hearty reception from the Stars wherever they may appear."

More About the Scott Act.

Continuation of Rev. Mr. Lucas' Series of Addresses—Mr. D. W. Dumble Gives the History of the Act in Town.

The school room of the George street Methodist church was well filled Wednesday evening. Mr. D. W. Dumble occupied the chair and was assisted in the opening and closing exercises by Rev. Mr. Lucas.

Rev. Mr. Lucas said he would speak about the ultimate success of the principles he avowed. He had no doubt about the ultimate success of those principles but he wanted them to succeed as soon as possible; and it struck him that about the best way to bring it about quickly was for the people themselves to work hard to that end. The first question to be considered, was, are these principles right? They were the Bible principles and therefore they must be right. The speaker urged the people to work with a zeal to be sealed only by death in support of those principles. Rev. Mr. Lucas instanced Mr. Gladstone, the "grand old man," and others as an example of this tireless zeal in behalf of what they considered the right principles, and he urged the people to follow out these examples and fight to the end for the temperance cause. The speaker repeated his references, made in a former address, to this earth as the great moral battle ground between the forces of light and darkness. Of all the celestial bodies created by God that filled in the vast space about us, it was probable that this earth was selected to be the great field of conflict between the good and the bad. The conflict was going on all the time, but

TRUTH WAS BOUND TO CONQUER.

On which side was the liquor traffic? On the side of hell, he said, and all that was damnable and wicked. The business of the liquor seller was of the devil, damned. The speaker mentioned the general ridicule that was cast upon temperance lecturers by the opponents of the cause; but he believed they were men who had received a special call for the purpose, and for himself he would say, like Paul, "Woe is me if I preach not the gospel." And he felt that he wanted to be able to stand up before his Maker, when his time came, and say, "Oh, my God, if this liquor traffic still exists on the earth, thou knowest it is no fault of mine." He hoped there were more who felt that way with him. A few men had been pushed to the front to fight the battles for those principles in days gone by, when these principles, first avowed, were exceedingly unpopular, and it was grand to read the record of their successes. To-day there was no such opposition as in the past, and if he (the speaker) had been selected to do his best in the cause, he felt that he must keep "pegging away" at it and never resting. God had laid this same responsibility on every Christian, to be up and doing in the fight, and Mr. Lucas said he felt that he must do the best in his humble way in behalf of the cause.

It was said, "Oh, there are men in your church who use alcohol!" Even admitting that these men were Christians, and that they did do that which placed a stumbling block in their brother's path, he would venture to say that they would be better preachers, better bishops and better church members if they followed out the scriptural injunction to "do nothing that might offend against thy brother." Who was responsible for the death of the man who was found dead in the ditch? Was there no inquiry to be made about the premature death of this poor man? If not, if no one is to be called to account for this lost soul, then the judgment day itself must be a farce. Surely the Lord would hold the brewers and distillers and liquor sellers responsible. Was it wrong to take a glass of wine? Many people said, "Oh, there can be no harm in taking a single glass of wine." A story would do by way of answer, he said, and he then proceeded to illustrate the point by a most pathetic tale of a young man's downfall through

"A SINGLE GLASS OF WINE."

What did this temperance question involve? It included our votes and money, which must be given to God. A vote was a talent given us by the Master to do good with. If people resolved that they would have conscientious men at the head of their municipal affairs and at the council board, and vote for none who favoured the liquor traffic, they would be doing much towards its destruction. But some John the Baptist must, he said, go through the country and sound a warning note that our votes would be so required of us. And what, he asked, can the girls and young ladies do to help on the cause? Very much. For instance: the wedding ceremony is being performed by the minister, who asks of the young lady, "do you take this man," etc. And the answer comes "no." Why, what can be the matter! The young lady came with the intention of marrying the man didn't she? Yes, but hear her explanation. She says: "He promised me faithfully before our betrothal that he would never again touch liquor, and right here I can smell it on him. I won't marry him for he has broken his vow; and I take all responsibility in the matter." Brave girl, and brave words! "Why, girls, said the speaker, we need not trouble ourselves about the Scott Act at all if you only take hold of the matter in this way. Don't, he urged, have anything to do with young men who touch the nasty stuff." The percentage of young men who take a glass "now and then," who are ruined by the demon drink, was so large that he (the speaker) would rather see a daughter of his in the grave than married to a man who touched the cursed liquor. That was the result of his own observation, and of many others. Rev. Mr. Lucas graphically delineated, by way of illustration, the downward career of the most promising young men, who began by taking an occasional glass and died drunkards' deaths, responsible in many cases for the deaths of others and a ruined home. The liquor demon was no respecter of persons; it dragged down the highest and noblest in the land. Whole volumes could be written of the devilish doings of the liquor traffic. Let us be free from this curse, he said, and if by no other means, let us become martyrs to the cause like our forefathers of old. The vigorously expressed opinions of high men in the land were quoted by the speaker, to the effect that the liquor traffic was it caused more deaths than all the war and famine and pestilence ever did; and that nine-tenths of the crime in England grew out of the liquor traffic. Now, can it be cured? Some people say it is an evil that cannot be remedied; but in saying that they belittled and dishonored both God and themselves. With such almighty forces as God had put into our hands, the Bible, the army of martyrs, facts and statements of all kinds, any sort of evil, liquor traffic or anything, could be cured. The speaker exhorted the people to believe and have faith in the cure, and interlarded a couple of stories to illustrate his point. God had left this work, said Rev. Mr. Lucas, to be done by them, and it was not for them to inquire why it was so. It was their duty as soldiers of the cross to obey the command; God, like the general of an army, knew better than the soldiers what was best to be done, and God was going to give us the victory by-and-bye and lift us up to everlasting crowns. God had left this work for us to do, and he would demand an account for it from us. Rev. Mr. Lucas recalled the lines in Horace: "Nil mortalibus arduum est," which he applied to the temperance cause. The old poet had used the motto in describing the attempt to throw down the great god of the Romans, old Jupiter; and the speaker said it could be used the same to-day. Old Bacchus was seated high on the battlements, and he must be torn down from his lofty place—nothing was too daring for the people to try, with the help of God. A concluding anecdote illustrated this point, and the reverend speaker took his seat.

THE GREATEST CURSE OF ENGLAND;

THE ACT IN PETERBOROUGH.

Mr. D. W. Dumble then came forward and made a few remarks. He referred to the repeal petition that was being circulated in Peterborough town and county, and gave a brief outline of the temperance work here. First they had the Dunkin Act, which had failed because the machinery for its enforcement was not perfect. "Then," he said, "we were given the Scott Act, which, I think, is a very perfect Act. We hear many people saying it is a failure. It is not so. The Act was, when passed, a very perfect Act, but the people have failed in its administration; the blame rests not so much upon the Act as on the people." Proceeding, he said in the Act originally there was no provision for the disposal of the penalties, and under the old English law the magistrate, in that case, had the power to award half of the amount to the party prosecuting. Hence the Act was self-supporting, and had in itself the sinews of war. But the Government of the day passed a new law, of course for the purpose of killing the Scott Act, which enacted "that in any Act of Parliament where there is no provision made for the application of the penalty, then the penalty shall be paid over to the Government." So this new Act, passed unknowingly to most people, left the temperance party in this position—if they wanted to enforce the Act, they must do it at their own expense. Then there came a decision of a certain Justice, whose sympathies got the better of his judgment, that a party who broke the law could not be compelled to give evidence. But another decision of the court over ruled the judgment of Justice Galt, and for a time it was law until again the same authority interferred, and sustained Justice Galt's ruling. "So that here," Mr. Dumble said, "you have a parliament deliberately destroying an Act of parliament, the law of the land, making it ineffective." Besides all this, large portions of the people were hostile to the Act; the Mayor, and council, and chief constable. That was the position of affairs here, he said, and was it any wonder that with a hostile government, a hostile municipal board and the people largely so too, that the Act failed here? Mr. Dumble said he didn't think it advisable to that did not meet with the approval of the people. It threw the law into contempt. The Scott Act as enforced to-day was simply a high license Act, and he would rather see an honest license Act than have things running in this shape. "Yet," said he, "when the vote is being taken on the repeal, whilst I do not like to see the Act as it is, I would hesitate to vote for its repeal; for my idea is that at all times when there is an opportunity given to testify on that question, I would hold up my hand for any step that would tend to lessen a great evil. And even under these circumstances I would vote for the Act to show the parliament and the people that I am favorable to temperance and prohibition." Mr. Dumble said that very strangely nearly all the men who drink and who were hostile to the Dunkin and Scott Acts, say they are in favor of prohibition also, however honest they are in the statement. He said he did not believe that men would put their hands in their pockets and never will in order to enforce an Act that should be enforced by the state; but taken simply as a matter of vote, he thought it would be the duty of the people of this town and county to do as they did before and vote for the Act. He said: "I don't think because there was an imperfect application of the law there was a falling off in temperance sentiment. I know after the Dunkin Act there was a large advance in the temperance sentiment of the country, and I believe to-day, notwithstanding the failure of the Scott Act and notwithstanding its repeal in some places, there is no retrograde movement on the temperance question. I believe there will be a larger temperance vote to-day in the abstract than before the Scott Act was adopted, and I believe there is a strong desire for prohibition to-day than ever. If you ask me is the

ATTEMPT TO ENFORCE AN ACT

SCOTT ACT A FAILURE?

I say no. There is less crime in this town and less misery just in proportion as the Act was enforced; and if there is whiskey sold openly, it is because the authorities have said:—"Go ahead and sell as fast as you can because we intend to fine you as often as possible and make the license revenue out of you." When the time came to vote, said Mr. Dumble, he would go anywhere and any distance to vote again as a public protest against the party that destroyed the Act and against the intemperance which was such a great evil. "I don't take the stand," he said, "that there is any particular sin in taking a glass of liquor in itself, but, that as a matter of expediency and of public economy, in anything that lessens the general prosperity and ability of the people, the state has a right to abolish it." In conclusion, he urged the people to vote against the repeal, and as a mark of recognition and thanks to Rev. Mr. Lucas asked for a show of hands. This was given and hearty applause as well.

While the collection was being taken up Rev. Mr. Lucas spoke a few words in behalf of the Royal Templars of Temperance, an organization which he commended as one worthy of every support. He also announced that at the Baptist Church to-night he would tell how to run an hotel as it should be run, and invited every one to attend.

SLIPS.

The Colts and Veterans play again to-morrow. This will probably be the last match of the season.

A team of cricketers may go to Lindsay or Lakefield on Saturday.

There will be a single wicket cricket match one day next week between four players representing the professionals and four others picked from the club. The professionals will be represented by Messrs. Stratton, Pearson, Burnham and Burnon; the other four will be Messrs. Ray, Day, Macdonnell and Parker.

Sporting Notes.

The Hastings' Star says:—Arrangements are in progress for a baseball tournament to take place here at an early day, to which teams from Belleville, Peterborough, Campbellford, Warkworth, Norwood, and other places will be invited. Designs for valuable trophies are under consideration, and the occasion promises to be a most interesting one.

The Zion lacrosse club will play another match with the Ashburnhams, on the latter's grounds on the 27th.

Lindsay Y.M.C.A. lacrosse club's challenge to a match with the local Y. M. C. A. club here on the 20th, has been accepted.

Personal.

Mr. N. H. Ramer, of Guelph, is spending a few days in town.

Mr. W. H. Hill, who is ill with fever at the hospital, is reported better to-day.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. A. Cox arrived in town to-day from their trip to British Columbia.

Rev. Father Lynch goes next week to the Chandos mission. He will take his gun with him and combine his clerical business with the pleasures of the hunt.

The fruit season has now come and we must prepare to put up our fruit. Now what kind of jars are we to use? Of course, glass jars; but so many of those we had last year cracked in filling that it makes it very expensive. Oh, I remember how Mrs. Goodwife told me last year she bought her jars at "China Hall," and that she did not break a jar in filling or lose a single can of fruit. I shall buy from China Hall this season. As the price is just the same I might as well have the best.

THE NEWS IN LONDON.

WORK CUT OUT FOR THE PARNELL COMMISSION.

Michael Davitt's Letter Warmly Approved by Radicals in General—The Home Rule Cause Apparently Advancing.

LONDON, Sept. 14.—When the Parnell Commission begins its investigation an application will be made for the release of Mr. Dillon to enable him to prepare his defence and appear at the hearings either as one of the accused or as witness. Applications will also be made by Mr. Parnell and 84 Parnellite members of Parliament to compel The Times to deliver the details of the charges against each of them, together with the names of the other persons mentioned in the act providing for the commission. The commission will be asked to compel The Times to produce the originals of the letters published by it and to make affidavit regarding all documents on the subject held by Mr. Walters. The question of the appointment of an American Commission will be raised at an early date. The Times has obtained summonses to compel Mr. Parnell and others to make affidavits to documents in their possession, also summonses to ensure the attendance of leading members of the National League.

Mr. Davitt's Statement.

LONDON, Sept. 14—Mr. Davitt writes to the Secretary of the Parnell Commission that he never sanctioned the publication of his statement and did not know that anybody intended to publish it. He admits the authenticity of the document. The Press Association affirms it had assurances that the statement was prepared by Mr. Davitt for the commission, and that he had no objection to its being published.

Reported Elevations.

LONDON, Sept. 14.—The Star reports that Hon. W. H. Smith will be raised to the peerage with the title of Viscount Henley and that Mr. Goschen will become Conservative leader in the House of Commons.

Fun in the Family.

LONDON, Sept. 14.—Radicals in general warmly approve of Michael Davitt's letter. They have long been disgusted with the political procrastination of the Liberals. The inactivity of the situation which they are forced to occupy is what galls them and they hail with delight the sharp words of the Irish patriot who refuses longer to keep back the hot words of indignation that the scenes in Ireland impel him to utter. Many of the Nationalists never willingly gave their adhesion to the Liberal method of conducting the Irish warfare for independence, and are still strong believers in the policy of returning blow for blow. To these Michael Davitt's words are welcome. It is unfortunate, however, that any break should come now, when to all appearances the home rule cause in England is growing stronger. Resort to violence again on the part of the Irish would alienate English electors and the Irish cause would be greatly retarded. Such is the opinion of the more Liberalised Nationalists. The Davitt supporters accuse The Daily News of a political flabbiness which irritates even moderates. The probable outcome of the quarrel will be the establishment in London of a Radical morning newspaper modeled on the lines of The Star.

Canadian Winner at Buffalo.

BUFFALO, Sept. 14.—The premiums in the swine department of the International Fair were awarded yesterday. Cavans, of Galt, Ont., took second in Berkshire boars over six months, first in Berkshire boars one year and over, second in Berkshire boars under one year, third in Berkshire sows one year old, and third in Berkshire sows under one year.

DOINGS IN THE DOMINION.

A HAMILTON LAD'S NARROW ESCAPE FROM DEATH.

Another Case of "Didn't Know It Was Loaded"—The Wages of Labor and Cost of Living.

HAMILTON, Sept. 14.—Between 6 and 7 o'clock last evening William R. D. Grant, son of William Grant, printer, was sitting on the fence in front of Mrs. O'Neil's residence, corner of Picton and John-streets, conversing with some acquaintances, when they were joined by William Harte, son of Mr. Patrick Harte, and Frederick Crofton. The former had a double-barrelled shot gun in his hands, which he had borrowed from a young man named Williamson for the purpose of going out hunting. Harte did not know that the gun was loaded, Williamson not having being present when he obtained the gun to inform him of the fact; but he had noticed, by lifting the hammers, that there was no caps on the nipples, and left the gun at what is known as half-cock.

After conversing a short time Harte raised the gun to his shoulder and pointed toward a telegraph pole which stands near the corner. An explosion almost immediately followed, and this so frightened Harte, assisted perhaps by the kicking of it, that he dropped the muzzle, when the second barrel went off, the whole charge passing over young Grant's head, and entering Mrs. O'Neill's house in a nearly compact mass, the concussion breaking several panes of glass in the window. It is thought that none of the shot entered Grant's vision, but, that his wounds were inflicted by the powder and wadding.

Dr. Wallace was in attendance shortly after the accident and pronounces the wounds very serious but not necessarily fatal, unless erysipelas or inflammation sets in. Young Crofton, who was standing alongside of Harte, had the rim of his hat blown off and his cheek burnt by the powder. The accident was undoubtedly the result of the careless use of firearms, but of course none can be seriously blamed. The doctor in attendance expressed the opinion that no fatal result will likely ensue, but that young Grant will be unable to use his eyes for some time.

Labor and Cost of Living Statistics.

TORONTO, Sept. 14.—The report of the Ontario Bureau of Industries for 1887 has been issued. One part deals with labor and the cost of living in Ontario and is based upon reports from 2961 males and 322 females over the age of 16 and 41 males and 10 females under that age.

According to these reports the average yearly earnings of the males with families were $426.75, which was $1 higher than the average for the four years 1884-87. With extra earnings, and earnings of wives and children, the total average income of these families was $449.61. The days of labor averaged 257½, so that each day's pay averaged $1.70. The cost of living for each of these families was $412.80, and the average savings of each was $36.81 for the year.

The whole 3354 of male and female workers, old and young, were employed on an average 263.21 days each and earned an average of $371.87. The average savings of each amounted to 44.76. The yearly wages of each worker are less by nearly $3 than the average of the past four years, and the average savings are less by nearly $5.

A Circus Breakdown.

QUEBEC, Sept. 14.—Howe's circus arrived at Levis yesterday morning and was attached by the G. T. R. for $900. A number of the employes have also taken out seizures for wages. One of these, a negro fire-eater named Cooper, was appointed guardian by the bailiff, who executed his seizure for $65. When the bailiff left, a man named Griffin, said to be a brother of one of the circus proprietors, took up a coupling pin and brutally belabored Cooper about the face and head, breaking his jawbone and otherwise injuring him. He was sent to the hospital and a warrant issued for the arrest of his assailant, who has taken his departure and cannot be found.

Fire in the Windsor Waterworks.

WINDSOR, Sept. 14.—Fire broke out about 9 o'clock last evening in the Windsor waterworks building, supposed to have caught from a passing Grand Trunk Railway engine. The main building, in which the pumps and engine are placed, was pretty badly damaged, but the machinery itself was not injured. The boilers were enclosed in a frame building adjoining the engine and pumping room and this building was completely destroyed, causing a lot of burning timber to fall on the boilers, damaging them $300 to $500. The coal sheds adjoining the boiler building were completely burned, including a small quantity of coal.

A Mysterious Disappearance.

SHERBROOKE, Que., Sept. 14.—Mr. Wm. Bontelle, a contractor and builder has disappeared. All manner of search had been made without success when a letter written by himself to his wife was received, purporting, by the envelope, to have been sent from Newport, Vt., but neither dated nor signed. He briefly states that he is not well, but hopes soon to be better. No clue can be got in or about Newport. Mr. Bontelle has lately complained of sleeplessness and talked, acted and looked strangely the last few days previous to departure, so it is more than probable that he is in a deplorably demented condition.

Married the Groomsman.

DURHAM, Sept. 14.—A young lady named Miss McDonald, an only and orphan child, with considerable property coming to her at an early date, was to have been married to Edward Bryan, a worthy swain of Varney. He visited Durham to get a license and a clergyman, but only reached his home two hours after the minister. In the meantime the bride to-be, annoyed by his delay, had gone off with the groomsman. In spite of all entreaty she would not come back, and surrendered the dress and shoes which the intended bridegroom claimed as his property. The next day the groomsman and the bride were married at Hanover.

The Fatal Lock-Jaw.

MONTREAL, Sept. 14.—Ten days ago Joseph Lavois, 20 years of age, was at his work in one of the warehouses, when a heavy plank, with a protruding nail in it, fell on his foot. The wound quickly healed up, but yesterday it broke out afresh, and the poor man was seized with tetanus. No hopes whatever are entertained of his recovery.

The Threshing Machine Again

MONTREAL, Sept. 14.—A farmer named F. Corbeil, from Terrebonne while engaged feeding a threshing machine had his arm suddenly caught by it and so dreadfully mangled that he had to be taken to the hospital, where a portion of the injured member was removed by the house surgeon in the institution.

Paris' Bonus By-law Carried.

PARIS, Ont., Sept. 14.—The vote on the by-law to grant Mr. Wyllie, of Brantford, a bonus of $5000 was carried here yesterday, 286 for and 35 against.

The Hudson Bay Road.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 14.—The Hudson Bay road has made another offer to the Government which includes the building of 110 miles to the lake this year. The Government has decided to give a guarantee for $2,500,000, and it is thought the company will accept in anticipation of the action of the Northwest Council passing legislation pledging itself to aid the road.

TORONTO TOPICS.

A Mysterious Case of Attempted Suicide—Three Broken Legs.

TORONTO, Sept. 14.—Yesterday morning a stranger called at Dr. Riddell's, Parkdale, and stated that he had tried to commit suicide. He had a serious wound on the side of the head caused by a bullet. On examination the doctor found and extracted the bullet and dressed the wound. On being pressed, the man gave up the revolver and the doctor immediately went out and gave it to Chief of Police Quinn. Together they returned to the surgery, but the man had disappeared.

A party of Troy firemen to the number of 51, accompanied by a band of 21 pieces, visited the city yesterday.

John McClelland, aged 49, fell off his milk wagon yesterday afternoon, breaking his thigh. Phœbe Duff, aged 50, fell down a pair of stairs yesterday and injured the cap of her left knee. James Bastedo, one of the Italians at work on the Canadian Pacific Railway's Don "spur," fell off a wagon yesterday and had his left leg broken.

In the Court of Appeal yesterday the appeal of McLeod Stewart, mayor of Ottawa, against a judgment of the Queen's Bench Divisional Court was argued. Quo warranto proceedings have been taken to unseat Mayor Stewart on the ground of bribery. Judge Rose issued the writ, which the Queen's Bench refused to set aside, and proceedings are now in progress before the County Judge of Carleton. The contention is that the writ should be granted because bribery is not a ground under the Municipal Act on which to unseat a mayor. The point is a very fine one and the court reserved its decision.

A boy of 16, sobbing bitterly, presented himself at the Mayor's office yesterday. He told His Worship that his name was John Stack, and that his parents lived at 517 Rideau-street, Ottawa. He claims that on Monday night two bigger boys shoved him into a box car and made him make the journey with them to Toronto. He tried to get away several times, but they held him a close prisoner until they got into Toronto, about daylight yesterday. He was starving and had had nothing to eat, according to his story, since the day previous. The Mayor relieved his pressing wants and handed him over to Inspector Archibald for that officer to make enquiries about him.

Waldo E. Barnes and Theodore S. Barnes, two brothers who for a couple of years have been keeping a livery stable here, skipped across the line yesterday, leaving numerous mourning creditors. They are said to have had an unsavory record in Providence, R.I., before coming to Toronto.

At the fifth annual convention of the Ontario Undertakers' Association yesterday these officers were elected: President—J. Gibbard, Napanee, by acclamation; Vice-Presidents—W. P. Power, Bowmanville; S. Hogg, Paisley; F. Rosar, Toronto; F. A. Latshaw, Dundas; E. Miller, Kincardine; Treasurer—J. B. McIntyre, St. Catharines, (re-elected); Secretary—W. H. Hoyle, Cannington (re-elected); Executive Committee—W. H. Stone, Toronto; Mr. Bradshaw, Stratford; Mr. Stephenson, Clinton; Mr. Knott of Port Perry; D. Belleghem, Peterboro. C. A. Blatchford of Hamilton, and the Secretary were chosen as delegates to the N. F. D. A. convention, which meets at Baltimore on Oct. 4.

At the exhibition yesterday Aeronaut Williams and his parachute dropped from a balloon at a height of 3000 feet. In about nine minutes he landed in the lake. The increase in receipts for the first three days over last year is $1272. A. C. Pearcy of Suspension Bridge is going to shoot the whirlpool rapids this afternoon in his famous boat the Water Lily, and if he comes out successful he will be at the exhibition to-morrow.

HE MET HER IN COURT.

A Doctor's Encounter With a Patient Who, He Says, Robbed Him.

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—Pretty, red lipped, bright eyed Nellie Buchner, who attempted to commit suicide on Friday night last by taking rat poison at her home, No. 319 East Fifty-seventh street, was before Justice Ford in the Essex Market Police Court yesterday.

Dr. Jarcus Markiewicz, of Broome-street, who saved Nellie's life the night she took poison and who had not seen her since, was in court. He went up to her and shook hands with her.

Then, as he looked closely at Nellie, he uttered an exclamation of surprise.

"Why," said he "you are the woman who stole my watch a year ago, ain't you?"

"No, I'm not," answered Nellie, looking at him curiously, "but I remember you coming to the house one night."

The Doctor said further that on Aug. 20, 1887, he was summoned to No. 45 Chrystie street to attend a woman who was dying. Nellie was in the room with the sick woman. He took off his coat and vest to perform an operation on the sick woman. When he went to put them on again he found his $300 gold watch and chain gone and Nellie was nowhere to be found. The Doctor offered Nellie $50 if she would tell him where his watch was, but she persisted in saying she had never seen it.

She was held for examination.

Sudden Recovery of a Bedridden Woman

OSHKOSH, Sept. 14.—Miss Emma Bennett resides with her brother, William Bennett a farmer near this city. For nine years past, Miss Emma, who is now 32 years old, has been a bedridden invalid. Her disease was called consumption of the blood. During her nine years' confinement she has not uttered a loud word. Part of this time she was able to lisp in a faint whisper. Frequently she was thought to be dead. For upward of three years one side of her body was paralyzed, rendering her still more helpless. While the family were at dinner, suddenly from the sick room came the sound of a full round voice singing strongly and sweetly the words: "He rose, He rose, He rose from the dead." The startled family rushed into the bedroom, and there was the sick girl sitting in bed singing. She asked to be helped to her feet, saying that she felt that she could walk, and she did walk across the floor. She said she felt as though she had risen from the dead.

A LIVELY CAMPAIGN.

MASS MEETING OF MONTREAL EAST LIBERALS.

Speeches by Premier Mercier, Hon. Mr. Laurier and Others—Resolutions Denouncing the Recent Veto Adopted.

MONTREAL, Sept. 14.—The Liberal campaign in Montreal East was inaugurated last evening by a mass meeting at St. James Market-square to denounce the federal veto of the District Magistrates Bill. Mr. Mercier made the speech of the evening. The bill had been vetoed, he said, because it came from a French and Catholic province and not from a Protestant and English one. The veto by which Mr. Barry had been deprived of his judgeship was an insult to the whole Irish race and they should rise in their might and denounce it.

The magistrates would remain in office until the courts decided whether his Government or the Federal Government were right. Quebec was not going to be menaced and would fight the Dominion to the death.

Hon. Mr. Laurier described disallowance as a slap in the face for the Province of Quebec. The veto was a relic of barbarism, and the people should rise against Federal usurpation of power. He said that the people of Quebec would not forget the insult to their race by the Regina tragedy.

Hon. François Langelier, M.P., mayor of Quebec, and prospective member of the Mercier Cabinet, reviewed the events of the rebellion of '37-'38 and hinted that a necessity for another rising was approaching.

Mr. David, M.P.P., followed with a short address, and resolutions denouncing the action of the Federal Government were adopted.

The Nationalist candidate will be chosen this afternoon. All signs point to one of the liveliest election campaigns ever seen in Canada.

Forty-four New Cases and Four Deaths at Jacksonville.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Sept. 14—The new cases of fever reported yesterday number 44, deaths 4. The day, like every day for almost a week, was exceedingly wet and disagreeable. Physicians and trained nurses are arriving daily but more are needed.

A Case at Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 14.—James Patterson, who says he arrived in this city from Jacksonville, Fla., Wednesday morning, was taken sick on the street. He stated to the police he had been acting as a nurse at Jacksonville and that he thought he had yellow fever. He was removed to the municipal hospital, where the physicians state they are unable to diagnose the case accurately. They think that if the man's story is true he undoubtedly has yellow fever.

Yellow Fever in an Alabama Town.

DECATUR, Ala., Sept. 14.—Another case of yellow fever developed yesterday. There is great excitement among the people and all trains leaving are crowded with citizens fleeing from the town.

WEDDING BELLS AT SARNIA.

Marriage of Hon. T. B. Pardee's Daughter Helen to Barrister Kittermaster.

SARNIA, Sept. 14.—One of the most interesting society events which has taken place here in some time was the marriage yesterday morning in St. George's church of Miss Louisa Helen, daughter of Hon. T. B. Pardee, to Mr. Fred W. Kittermaster, one of the leading barristers of the town. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. T. R. Davis. The church was crowded, there being a large number of invited guests.

The bridesmaids were Miss Armour of Cobourg, Miss Jones, Miss Kittermaster, Miss Johnson and Miss Robinson of Sarnia, and the groomsmen were Messrs. R. H. Tannahill, Will Kittermaster, Fred Pardee, Charles Pardee and John Pardee.

After the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was partaken of at the residence of the bride's parents, after which Mr. and Mrs. Kittermaster left on a trip to Montreal and New England.

A Treacherous Beggar.

HAMILTON, Sept. 14.—A tramp went into the barroom of the Allison House on Stuart-street about noon yesterday and asked Mr. Allison for a free drink. He was refused because he was already the worse of liquor. He then became very abusive and was ordered out. Shortly after when Mr. Allison was standing near the outer door the tramp rushed in and dealt him a fierce blow over the head with a stick. Luckily Allison had a thick felt hat on, but the blow inflicted a severe scalp wound which bled freely. The tramp followed up his assault, but the chandelier caught the uplifted stick and prevented further injuries. Mr. Allison picked up a walking stick and went for his assailant, who ran out and fell down the high flight of steps, lighting on the sidewalk on his head. He received a very bad scalp wound and was rendered insensible. The patrol wagon took him to the hospital, where he was too much used up between the liquor and the injury to tell his name.

A Knife Duel in a Schoolhouse.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Sept. 14.—Yesterday a schoolhouse near Perryville was the scene of a horrible knife duel. The teacher, William Clinton, had whipped one of his pupils, a 14-year-old girl, with a small switch. The brother of the girl sent Clinton word that he would meet him at the schoolhouse and whip him. Yesterday morning the young man came into the schoolroom to execute his threat. Clinton drew a knife, as did his antagonist. The men grappled, stabbing each other in a frightful manner. Some of the older pupils interfered and succeeded in getting their knives from them and separating them, but it is believed that both were mortally wounded.

Defaulter Pitcher Convicted.

MONTREAL, Sept. 14.—At the conclusion of the addresses of counsel in the Pitcher case yesterday, Chief Justice Dorion charged the jury against the prisoner, after which the jury retired and after a short deliberation returned a verdict of guilty. Mr. Guerin then gave notice that to day he would move for a reserved case

A Homily on Hotels.

Rev. D. V. Lucas Tells How to Run a Temperance Hotel—The Possibility of Their Success.

There was a small audience assembled in the Baptist Church Thursday night to listen to the address of Rev. D. V. Lucas on "How to run a hotel." After devotional exercises conducted by the pastor, Rev. P. C. Parker, and Rev. E. F. Torrance, who occupied seats on the platform, the speaker, who was introduced by Rev. Mr. Parker, addressed himself to his subject. He stated that the excuses for keeping hotels in connection with liquor were numerous. The primary object of a hotel was to furnish rest and refreshment to the weary traveller. Hotel-keepers were law-breakers above any other class—their hearts were harder than the nether millstone. Some hotels are fairly respectable, but a dealer had told him that there was not a decent hotel-keeper who was not ashamed of his bar. The average hotel, however, was at night a scene of orgie, not by weary travellers seeking rest, but by those keeping weary travellers from getting rest. Many nice people—very nice people—asked "How are you going to keep a hotel without selling liquor?" "Why," the speaker said, "just the same way I would keep a shoe shop without selling liquor." The patrons of hotels, who went there for meals,

GOT THEIR MEALS CHEAPER

on the profits of whiskey selling. It would be just as logical to add whiskey as an adjunct to any other business in order to furnish goods more cheaply. It had been urged that it was impossible to maintain a decent temperance hotel, but the speaker had seen many decent temperance hotels, and also a great many whiskey hotels, which were not by any means decent. The speaker instanced the case of the success of the cocoa-room system of Liverpool, where a workman can get a good hot mug of coffee for a half-penny, and that, too, in competition with the licensed liquor traffic. There were sixty-three of these rooms, all doing a paying business and conducted by christian men, and the patrons were brought under moral influences. The speaker gave his experience of a considerable sojourn at the Shaftesbury Hotel, Liverpool, conducted on temperance principles, and he heard no loud talk, no noise, and no profanity. It was as quiet and moral as any christian home—where family worship was conducted every day in the year. There was not a drop of liquor sold in this hotel, and the guests were as well served as in any hotel in the country. The speaker instanced the success of temperance hotels in Australia, particularizing one which would cost $300,000, and was furnished with all the accommodation of the best hotels, with the exception of—whiskey. One large hotel in Melbourne, which had failed as a whiskey hotel, was taken in hand and had been conducted as a temperance house, paying a profit of ten per cent. He had been assured that many of the patrons of the Coffee Palaces, as the temperance hotels in Melbourne are called, but they preferred staying at hotels where liquor was not sold, and enjoying the consequent quiet and gentlemanly treatment insisted on. What had been successful there could be successful here, and the speaker favored the establishment of temperance hotels with an equipment and service to compete with ordinary hotels in everything but liquors, and there would be no question of their success.

WERE NOT TOTAL ABSTAINERS,

The speaker also pointed out the folly of raising five millions of revenue that costs twenty millions to collect, and showing that it was better to pay a little more to support temperance hotels; even if more had to be paid, it would be more profitable in the end, and the people would soon get accustomed to the new order of things. Before long the good hotels would crowd out the mere whiskey shops and the decent hotels would prosper. The speaker pointed out that, though at these meetings he did not reach the class of people whose votes might be diverted in favor of the Scott Act, yet he hoped he may stir up some lukewarm temperance people, who might be indifferent to the repeal of the Scott Act, to take an interest in its perservation. The speaker said he had that day spoken to the police magistrate of Halton, who had said that the people felt that they had made a great mistake in repealing the Scott Act, and he thought that if the people had the opportunity they would in Halton to-morrow. He hoped the people of Peterborough County would look at the matter of repeal in the same light and strive to keep a law, which, though not perfect nor well enforced, was the best instrument available for combatting the accursed liquor traffic. In conclusion, he urged the audience to visit St. Paul's church on to-morrow evening.

Rev. Mr. Parker, before announcing the closing hymn said he hoped that the people would take to heart what had been said and stand by the Scott Act, and not be discouraged, because the Act was not enforced, for if it were repealed a license Act would take its place, and the speakers' observation had been that there was as much illicit liquor selling under the license act there possibly could be under the Scott Act, (that is outside the recognized hotels.) He hoped the people would stick to the measure of partial prohibition they enjoyed and that the time would come when perfect prohibition would be secured. (Applause.)

The meeting closed in the usual manner.

Can a Man Swallow a Cannon-ball?

Well, "that depends." He can if his throat is large enough and the cannon-ball not too large. The question really seems worthy of some consideration in view of the size of some of the pills that are prescribed for suffering humanity. Why not throw them "to the dogs" and take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets? Small, sugar-coated purely vegetable, perfectly harmless, in glass, and always fresh. b

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

Havelock

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The school question here has been very exciting for the past two weeks. As the present building would not suit the majority of the children in the section, and as it is too small to accommodate more than half of the children, the trustees saw the state of affairs and called a special meeting of the ratepayers to choose a new site, repair the old schoolhouse or build a new one on the same site. A very large meeting was held and a great deal of unnecessary talk got through with; motions were made and carried in accordance with notices, and contrary to notices of meeting. Then the meeting was adjourned at the call of the chair, at the P. S. Inspector's convenience to meet with the ratepayers at the meeting; the chairman to give six days' notice of the meeting to the ratepayers. This meeting was set aside and a new meeting called by the Inspector to choose a site and decide upon the kind of building to put thereon. The meeting was attended by every ratepayer of the section. The trustees made short speeches in favor of repairing the present house. The people of the village made a motion to repair, along with the trustees, and the resolution was seconded by one of the trustee's supporters; but whichever way the village people would move the country people were sure to be the very oppposite, for we find that the very men that spoke in favour of repairing the house jumped over the traces and moved in favour of building a new house in place of repairing. The village people, seeing this state of matters, wanted to have the meeting adjourned for further consideration, and came to this conclusion, that they would, apply to the council to split the section by the C. P. R. Co.'s land. The petition was signed by 44 ratepayers of the section and handed in to the reeve, who was asked to call a meeting of the council to consider the petition and other matters as well. The council met in Mathison's hall in the village, and received the petition, and the trustees were duly notified of the proposed change in the section. After a good deal of talk from all parties concerned a satisfactory division line was drawn between the two sections, and every one went home rejoicing and merry, and the council prepared their by-law for the establishment of section No. 15. All parties ought to be satisfied with this, as it will stop all strife hereafter, and, besides, be better for the children, as there will be no pathways to cross.

The proceedings of the council in regards the division of the school section have been very fair and impartial to both sections. It is the intention of the ratepayers of sec. No. 15 to build a school house of brick, to contain two rooms capable of accomodating two hundred scholars at present, with not less than two or three acres of play ground; also to have the ground so fitted up that it will be encouraging for the children to go to school instead of playing truant on the way to school, as is now very often the case. Time or trouble to make the scholars joyful on their way to school are never lost.

Robert Bannon, an old resident of Belmont, has passed away to his long looked for happy home.

Mr. Madill the Presbyterian missionary here, deserves great praise, and it is to be hoped he will be well paid, for the way he is bringing the people out to church. His meetings on the Sabbaths are crowded and he gives grand exhortations to the people.

NOTES FROM THE CAPITAL.

Timber Limits Offered for Sale and Withdrawn Because of Low Bids.

OTTAWA, Sept. 14.—The timber limits belonging to Mr. White, of Pembroke, were offered for sale in the Russell House, yesterday afternoon. Among the lumber kings present were Messrs. James McLaren, John Bryson, M. P., and others. The limits are situated on the Black, Coulonge and Ottawa rivers and consist of 241 square miles. The first block put up was the Coulonge limits of 60 square miles. The first bid on this was $20,000. Bidding was slow and the limits were withdrawn at $33,400. The limits on the Black River, 101 square miles in extent, were also withdrawn, the highest bidding being $54,440. Twenty square miles on the Ottawa River were withdrawn, highest bid, $5000. One hundred square miles on the Jasenne de Terre were withdrawn, at $30,000, and twenty square miles on the Hebrem river were withdrawn, the highest bid being $6000.

The Chaudiere lumbermen are experiencing difficulty in getting their log drive down the Ottawa River owing to low water. The principal portion of the log drive is now sixty miles above Des Joachims rapids, about 170 miles from Ottawa, where in all probability it will have to winter as the water on the rapids is so low that the crib containing provisions for the men cannot pass over. The result will be that the lumber firms at the Chaudiere will have to logs to begin next season's cut at the mills.

BUSY BURGLARS

Break Into Edwin Pass' House at Hamilton and Steal Jewelry.

HAMILTON, Sept. 14.—When Mrs. Pass, of No. 103 Walnut-street south left her residence shortly before 7 o'clock last evening to bring her husband, Mr. Edwin Pass, jeweler, his supper to the store on South John-street, she did not think her movements were being watched by burglars. Such, however, must have been the case, for when Mr. and Mrs. Pass returned home soon after 9 o'clock they found that the back kitchen window had been broken and opened. All the drawers in the house were ransacked and a lady's diamond set, and lady's engagement ring (two diamonds and three rubies) were stolen. These articles were in a bureau drawer, which had not been locked. A purse containing $4 was also carried off. Mr. Pass has no idea who the thieves were. It is probable that the burglars thought Mr. Pass kept his money and a large quantity of jewelry at his house. In this they were mistaken. The argus-eyed detectives have the case in hand.

Drowning Accident at Montreal.

MONTREAL, Sept. 14.—A sad drowning accident occurred at the Long wharf, Ho helaga, yesterday forenoon. An intelligent lad, 14 years of age, named Emile Beaudette, of Deschambeault, was taking a trip on his father's barge, the "Victoria," of Quebec, and when jumping from its deck to the wharf he missed his footing and fell between the barge and the wharf. He must have hurt himself in the fall, as he only once rose to the surface. No time was lost in trying to save the drowning lad. Ropes were secured, but there was not much room to work and all hope of saving the boy had to be abandoned. The body has not yet been recovered.

A Single Trial

is all that is needed to prove that Polson's Nerviline is the most rapid and certain remedy in the world for pain. It only costs 10 cents for a trial bottle. A single trial bottle will prove Nerviline to be equally efficacious as an external or internal remedy, and for pain of every description it has no equal. Try 10 cent sample bottle. Sold by druggists. Large bottles 25 cents. Avoid substitutes. 6dw37

A Dozen Years.

Dear Sirs,—For twelve years I suffered from dyspepsia and liver complaint and was so weak I could not leave my bed for eight months, and had little hope of ever being cured. Three years ago I tried Burdock Blood Bitters, and am thankful to say I now enjoy good health, and I advise all who are afflicted to try B.B.B." Mrs. Harriet Hobbs, Muir Avenue, Brockton, Ont. 6dw36

"I have been cured of chronic diarrhœa by the use of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. I used about twelve bottles of it, and am now entirely free from the disease. William McLaren, Clearwater, Man. 6dw36

An Old Favorite

that has been popular with the people for 30 years is Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry for all varieties of summer complaints of children or adults. It seldom or ever fails to cure cholera morbus, diarrhœa and dysentery. 6dw36

Prompt Results.

"I was very sick with bowel complaint last summer. I tried other medecines but all were no use until I tried Dr. Fowler's Wild Strawberry. The next day I was like a different man." Geo. H. Peacock, Stroud, Ont.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

The Growth of the Hair

Should always be watched. Inattention to the hair often leads to premature grayness and baldness. When dandruff appears it should be looked after at once. By its. quently using a little of Dr. Dorenwend's Great German Hair Magic, the scalp will be kept in a clean healthy condition and the strength and vigor of the hair greatly promoted. It is the only reliable. Do not be talked into using anything else. For sale by all druggists everywhere. dw

Piles! Piles! Itching Piles.

SYMPTOMS—Moisture, intense itching and stinging, most at night, worse by scratching. If allowed to continue tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate, becoming very sore. SWAYNE'S OINTMENT stops the itching and bleeding, heals ulcerations, and in most cases removes the tumors. At druggists, or by mail, for 50 cents. Dr. Swayne & Son, Philadelphia. Lyman, Sons & Co., Montreal, Wholesale Agents. dw

An Undoubted Proof

of the beneficial qualities of Burdock Blood Bitters is found in the thousands of authentic testimonials published by the proprietors. The original letters being in their possession, they can furnish proof positive as to their genuineness at any time. 6dw36
